Fires Raze 20 Homes, Hundreds Evacuated

Traffic Death Toll Mounts at 4 an Hour

Holiday Rate Follows Advance Estimate Trend

By United Press-International

The nation's Labor Day weekend traffic toll topped the 100 mark Saturday night with Americans continuing to kill themselves on the highways at the rate of about four an hour.

Gen. George C. Stewart, executive vice president of the National Safety Council, said the death rate was "tragically following the trend" of the advance estimate of 420 deaths, 90 more than in a similar non-holiday period of September.

* * * *

STEWART said it looked "as of now" that the fears of 420 deaths during the 78-hour holiday would be realized.

At 12:30 a.m., EDT, more than 30 hours after the holiday began, United Press International counted 134 deaths in traffic accidents.

The breakdown:

Traffic 134; drownings 21; boating 2; planes 1; miscellaneous 15; total 173.

Virginia led the nation with 10 traffic fatalities, followed by North Carolina with nine and Pennsylvania with eight. West Virginia, Michigan, Ohio, and California had seven. Illinois had six.

A 44-year-old Long Beach woman was injured seriously Saturday when thrown from her car after a collision with another auto at the corner of Artesia Street and Walnut Avenue.

Mrs. Louella Kook, 6764 Walnut Ave., was admitted to Long Beach Memorial Hospital where her condition was described as "very poor" late Saturday. She suffered multiple fractures including a skull fracture.

* * * *

DRIVER OF the second car, Dennis Kir, 57, of 2402 Baltic Ave., was not injured.

Otherwise, police said, the Labor Day weekend traffic situation "was very good." They described the number of accidents as average.

At 10 p.m., Orange County authorities reported 16 accidents during the day and "all mostly fender-benders."

Find Clue to Hit-Run Kill Car

A major clue has been uncovered in the search for a panel truck driver suspected of causing the hit-and-run death of a 15-year-old Long Beach youth, Lakewood sheriff's deputies said Saturday.

Officers indicated that they are close to tracing the truck which struck the boy at Rocket Street and Coldbrook Avenue in Lakewood Aug. 21.

The victim, Burney Kirk Archerd, 791 Via Carmelitos, died Saturday at Memorial Hospital. He had been in a coma for 10 days.

* * * *

FUNERAL arrangements are pending at Rose Garden Mortuary, 638 Atlantic Ave.

After he was hit, the boy hitchhiked to his grandmother's home on Via Carmelitos where he was staying. Two hours later, he was taken to the hospital for minor bruises and a chipped hip bone. While there it was discovered that he had severe brain damage and he underwent surgery.

The youth's grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Mae Archerd, 74, who was his legal guardian, died during the period of grief and anxiety brought on by the boy's hospitalization. His father had died in 1960.

Blast Rips Church

JASPER, Ind. (AP)—A dynamite explosion ripped out part of a wall, splintered pews and blew a hole in the floor of the non-denominational Inman church near Haysville Saturday night.

LIGHTS ON

Forgotten Reminder

Californians for the past several weeks have been urged by officials to drive with their car lights on at all times during the Labor Day weekend as a reminder for others to drive safely.

Miss Eleanor LaBeau, 30, 666 Quincy Ave., heeding the safety warning, switched on her lights while driving during daylight Saturday.

At Alamitos Avenue and Seventh Street, a police car pulled alongside her auto.

"Hey, miss," warned a patrolman, "your lights are on!"

D.A. Plane Ripped by Bomb

WIGGINS, Miss. (AP) — A bomb ripped to pieces the private plane of a Mississippi district attorney Saturday while it was parked in a hangar. No one was hurt.

The explosives could have been planted "by any one of a number of persons who want to kill me," commented Dist. Atty. Boyce Holleman. "There is no question that the explosives were planted in the plane," he added.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Eldon Ladner said the blast was centered just back of the cockpit.

* * * *

RESIDENTS of the area told investigators they heard a loud blast about 2 a.m. during thunder and lightning, but no check was made until daylight.

Holleman, whose district includes Stone, Jackson, Hancock and Harrison counties, told friends earlier that he was planning to fly to New York City today to see a baseball game. He spent Friday night at a fishing camp.

The district attorney said he flew the airplane almost every weekend. The plane was a four-seater Cessna 182 costing $17,000.

101 E. Germans Slip Past Iron Curtain

COBURG, Germany (AP)—Bavarian border police Saturday reported 101 refugees slipped through the Iron Curtain between East and West Germany between Aug. 13, the day the Berlin border was closed, and Aug. 31.

—This is double the number that crossed to seek refuge in the West during the same period in July.

U.S. to Seek New Talks on Disarmament

A-War Fears Bring Demands of Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration this week will make the first of several diplomatic moves designed to sound out Russia anew on the possibility of a peaceful Berlin settlement and fresh disarmament negotiations.

The decision has been made to go ahead with the scheduled moves despite the "atomic blackmail" policy of which the United States accuses Russia because of its resumption of nuclear-weapons testing.

* * * *

INITIAL steps now impending could even lead to a summit conference, provided preliminary negotiations produced a basis for agreement.

In related developments Saturday, Russia renewed charges that the Western allies are abusing Berlin air lanes. First reports of new Soviet notes to Washington suggested that Moscow steered clear of threats which would heighten East-West tension.

Diplomats in London, meanwhile, reported that the United States and Britain have decided against rushing into a new series of nuclear weapon tests.

The preliminary moves on disarmament are seen here as the immediate answer to the swelling chorus of demands at the neutral nations' conference in Yugoslavia for top-level U. S.-Soviet talks to save the world from nuclear war.

These are the steps:

1. The U. S. ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson, is under direction to have a talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and explore what may be negotiable—if anything at this stage—in the Berlin position of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

2. John J. McCloy, Kennedy's top disarmament adviser, is scheduled to meet

U.S. Berlin Units Get Latest Guns

BERLIN (UPI)—The U.S. Army issued new, fast-firing rifles to its Berlin garrison Saturday while Soviet spaceman Gherman Titov was telling a rally five miles away Russia would destroy the West "for all time" if it tried to block a German peace treaty.

The United States rejected an East German protest against the dispatch of 1,500 army reinforcements to Berlin two weeks ago Sunday. It also shrugged off new East German threats to the Allied air coridors to West Berlin.

* * * *

THE U.S. Army's Berlin command announced it had received the first shipments of the new M14 rifle, which can fire 750 rounds a minute. The rifle is lighter than the familiar M1 Garand, the M2 carbine and the Browning automatic rifle (BAR), all of which will be replaced here.

The Army also began replacing Browning machineguns with M60 machineguns. New tanks were promised to take the place of the present M48 Pattons on duty along the East-West city border. No date was anounced for their arrival.

* * * *

TITOV, his dark-haired and unsmiling wife and goateed Walter Ulbricht, leader of the East German Communists, appeared before 200,000 persons at Marx Engels Platz, the former Lustgarten, to boost East Berlin morale.

In West Berlin Germans who hope some day to return to their homes in the East began a weekend rally with a minimum of Communist sniping. Last year the Communists refused passage to Germans wanting to attend the "Homeland Rally."

Titov told the rally the Soviet bloc "will trample into the ground" any Western attempts to block a treaty.

Titov said:

"We do not want a repitition of the horrors of World War II. We do not want a war. But if the imperialists, because of the signing of a German peace treaty, attempt to hurl the world into the abyss of war, the Soviet people, along with all nations of the Socialist camp, will trample the aggressors into the ground and destroy them for all time."

Titov received subdued applause and cheers.

Kills Self Showing Gun 'Won't Fire'

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Edward August Lostman, 36, St. Louis, casually pointed a pistol toward his head Saturday as he began a lecture to his wife on the reasons why the weapon would not fire.

He snapped the trigger and the .32 caliber pistol discharged, sending a fatal bullet through his right temple.

81 YEARS OF PIONEER ROMANCE

SPRUCE PINE, N.C. (AP) —Mr. and Mrs. William Ledford, who have lived most of their married life in a weather-beaten house on the side of a mountain near here, will celebrate their 81st wedding anniversary next Friday.

Ledford is 101, his wife, Laura Pendley Ledford, is 102.

The couple live alone and like it. Mrs. Ledford does the housework.

They moved to the old home on Gouge's Creek many years ago and were the only settlers in the area. Since then a community has grown up around them and is known, appropriately, as Ledford Town.

Disarm, Article by K Demands

MOSCOW (Sunday) (AP)—Soviet Nikita Khrushchev, in a statement published here Saturday, said agreements on general and complete disarmament "would mean the termination of the nuclear tests which cause mankind so much anxiety."

Khrushchev made the statement in a personally written introduction for a collection of documents on the German question being published in the United States, the official News Agency Tass reported.

The Tass summary of the article did not indicate whether Khrushchev had written it before or after the decision announced Thursday to resume Soviet nuclear weapons tests.

* * * *

HIS REMARKS came at the end of a discussion of the Berlin crisis in which he claimed a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany would pave the way toward a settlement of the problem of general and complete disarmament.

"And a settlement of the disarmament question would mean the termination of the nuclear tests which cause mankind so much anxiety," he added.

JFK Eyes U.N. Talk Peace Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is reported considering laying before the United Nations a new world disarmament program to provide a sharp contrast to Russia's resumption of nuclear testing.

Kennedy has discussed with congressional leaders the possibility that he might appear personally before the United Nations to emphasize and dramatize efforts the United States is exerting for peace. The U.N. General Assembly meets Sept. 19.

Presumably, if he decides to take this course, the disarmament proposal would be accompanied by a presidential recital of some rather detailed information of the weapons in the American nuclear arsenal.

* * * *

LEGISLATIVE leaders briefed at the White House Thursday said they learned the American stockpile is "several times" larger than Russia's.

It contains more sophisticated weapons and small battlefield nuclear warheads the Soviets cannot match. American superiority appeared to have been demonstrated by Russia's small first shot Friday.

Chairman Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., of a Senate disarmament subcommittee, forecast a series of tests — as many as eight in a single day. He said the first test indicated the Russians are trying to perfect warheads for missiles.

Guerneville Blaze Rips 1,000 Acres

Incendiary Blamed; 13 Houses Go Up Near Allendale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A rash of fires exploded through Northern California Saturday, burning more than a score of homes, forcing hundreds to flee and blackening thousands of acres of brush and timber.

The historic gold rush towns of Sutter Creek and Amador City were threatened Saturday night by a fire eight miles long and four miles wide. The blaze was a half-mile from Sutter Creek.

During the day the fires were aided by high winds, drought conditions and a swarm of Labor Day weekenders. However, one of the worst blazes was set by an arsonist, the State Division of Forestry said.

* * * *

A SPOKESMAN said the incendiary fire was touched off near Guerneville on the Russian River 60 miles north of San Francisco.

It covered more than 1,000 acres by nightfall and burned or damaged two homes and a pair of outbuildings. The spokesman said a large number of vacationers had been evacuated or left the area on their own accord.

Fire fighters said the fire's speed dropped Saturday night with the wind and that no communities were immediately threatened.

A fire near Allendale 50 miles northeast of San Francisco forced the farming community to be evacuated. About 13 homes in the area were burned, but fire fighters said the threat to the community had ended for the present.

* * * *

AT ELMIRA, near Allendale, about a dozen homes were levelled by another uncontrolled fire that at one point crossed a section of Travis Air Force Base.

The largest single fire was reported near Clear Lake in Lake County about 110 miles north of San Francisco Bay. Some 1,500 acres were blackened by the uncontrolled blaze.

Fire fighters contained about 90 per cent of a 150-acre fire that roared toward the densely populated Big Basin area 70 miles south of San Francisco.

Russ Vessels Seen Near U.S. Station

REJKAVIK, Iceland (UPI) —Russian vessels were reported at two sites inside territorial waters Friday, five of them near the U.S. radar station, the Daily Morgunbladid said Saturday. The vessels were trawlers and tugs.

L.A.C. Says:

Labor Day and Freedom

The great Labor Day parades in this country will be organized and conducted by free men and free labor unions. It will be a demonstration of the most powerful force in this nation. It will be quite a contrast to similar parades in Communist countries where the unions are government-controlled organizations with no freedom of the individual. But these Americans marching tomorrow may well ask how much longer they can maintain their freedom.

Each year they are seeing these freedoms reduced. In most cases they are being lost because union leaders turn to government for settlement of issues free men have settled in the past. They are being lost because some labor unions are completely controlled by ruthless and unscrupulous men whose power is absolute over the men they misrepresent. As these powers grow, the rank and file members are as subject to dictatorship as are the workers of Communist countries.

An example of how honorable labor unions have let down their guard is the invitation, in New York City of AFL-CIO unions, to Jimmy Hoffa's teamsters to take part in the parade. Hoffa and his union were expelled from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges. He has threatened to invade AFL-CIO other unions to build up an even greater strength. But here he is being appeased by the AFL-CIO in New York City.

The freedom of our economy has long been dependent upon unions and management solving their problems across the conference table. Or the problems may have caused a strike which was finally settled by compromises. But there were no edicts by government that certain terms be agreed to, nor threat to force a settlement by seizure of plants and forced work by the workers.

Now we find unions are joining with government in setting up the Secretary of Labor as the sole arbitrator in the Musicians-Metropolitan Opera dispute. His decision is to be final. This same secretary has proposed that the government have the right to seize plants or whole industries to enforce settlement of a labor-management dispute. Unions may think this will benefit them. But they are laying the foundation for the same kind of domination of industry and workers as that which existed under the Nazis and Fascists, and does exist under Communists.

The great danger to freedom is that a people are willing to sacrifice a little of it to achieve some immediate benefits. After a time, they find they have sacrificed so much of it there is little left. But it has occurred gradually, and many benefits have been achieved. But finally, all of these benefits are lost because a dictatorial government tells all the people where they must work and for how much, and tells management what it can make and how much. Few of the marchers tomorrow will think of these probabilities. But it is a power pattern we must change if American workers and industry is to escape complete regimentation.—L.A.C.

Shelters to Shield One in 4

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department hopes to provide radiation fallout shelters stocked with food and water for one fourth of the civilian population by the end of next year. But not much can be done to improve the situation in 1961.

This was the conclusion of Pentagon officials Saturday as Steuart L. Pittman, a Washington lawyer, prepared to take office as the nation's first assistant Secretary of Defense for civil defense.

* * * *

EXCEPT in a few localities where authorities have provided them, fall-out shelters for protection in case of nuclear attack are almost non-existent.

The Pentagon has drawn up a "minimum" program for identifying 50 million shelter spaces, and stocking them with rations and water that could be stretched over two weeks if necessary to protect civilians until the radioactivity died down.

President Kennedy named Pittman to the new post Wednesday but he has not yet been confirmed by the Senate.

* * * *

WITH the Berlin crisis scheduled to come to a head before Jan. 1, his prospective aides said results cannot be expected until next year.

"We hope to have 20 million to 30 million shelter spaces identified and marked by next June, and to increase the total to 50 million by the end of 1962," an official said. "They will be stocked with food, water and medical supplies as rapidly as possible."

The "minimum" program does not contemplate protection against the blast, heat, direct radiation and other immediate effects of a nuclear bomb.

BUT DEFENSE Secretary Robert S. McNamara believes the shelters might save 10 to 15 million lives in a large-scale nuclear attack by protecting them from the residual radioactive fallout which sifts to the ground in the first hours after an explosion.

With an initial appropriation of $58 million available for the purpose, the cost of stocking the shelters is expected to be only $2 per space.

LAWYER WITH A FLOURISH

'King of Torts' Ends Case Here Sans Razzle Dazzle

By LEE CRAIG

Melvin Mouron Belli, the "King of Torts," was back in San Francisco today, his reputation as the country's top personal injury attorney slightly dented by a three-day Long Beach court case.

Belli, the lawyer who had won jury awards of $100,000 and up more than 100 times in the past 10 years, settled out of court for a comparatively conservative $25,000 here Thursday in a $801,830 personal injury case.

The suit here was against the city of Long Beach on behalf of a youth who had suffered permanently disabling injuries in 1957 when he struck submerged concrete while diving from a wooden platform at Marine Stadium.

During the trial's three days, the courtroom was filled with local lawyers anxious to watch the performance of the celebrated attorney.

However, Belli, famous for his unorthodox court behavior, never really cut loose, probably because of the unexpectedly short duration of the trial.

* * * *

BELLI GAINED his fame by cases where he has used demonstrative evidence, or visual aids.

In one such case, he represented a woman who had lost a leg in an accident.

Early in the trial, he brought a leg-shaped package, wrapped in butcher's paper and tied with twine, to court and placed it casually on the table before him.

* * * *

THROUGHOUT the trial, jurors stared with horrified fascination at the package, while Belli blandly went ahead with presentation of his case.

Near the end, he picked up the package, slowly unwrapped it as tension grew and handed what it contained to a pop-eyed juror. It was an artificial leg, such as his client would have to wear for the rest of her life.

The woman received a $100,000 award.

* * * *

IN ANOTHER CASE, he represented a woman who had undergone surgery by a specialist who had promised her "the breast of a virgin" but, she claimed, had mutilated her instead.

She was permitted to disrobe to the waist before the jury in the judge's chambers.

"She stood there, tears dripping down," Belli said, "I figured later they were worth about $30,000 a tear."

* * * *

BELLI, 53, has a flair for flamboyant attire. He is particularly partial to London-tailored suits with button-down cuffs and cowboy-type boots with two-inch heels, which he wore here.

The local settlement was reached by an agreement during recess between Belli and the city's representatives, Deputy City Atty. Leonard Putnam and Clarence Hunt.

It was the second time the San Francisco attorney had come off second-best in a court joust with Hunt, who made the city's presentation.

* * * *

SEVERAL YEARS ago, Hunt and Belli tangled in a Santa Ana case in which the Long Beach lawyer represented the defendant in a personal injury suit.

Hunt's client was a clearly liable participant in a headon traffic crash and expected to make a huge settlement.

However, Hunt obtained a moral victory by ultimately getting an out of court agreement to settle for a relatively small award of $40,000.

* * * *

IF THE LOCAL trial had lasted longer, Belli might have provided the excitement anticipated of him.

In a maneuver reminiscent of his "artificial leg" case, he walked into court here Tuesday with a bundle under his arm.

The package, wrapped in brown paper secured by twine, was shaped roughly like a five-foot human body.

Spectators, opposing attorneys and Superior Judge Joe Raycraft himself, knowing Belli's reputation, eyed the mummy-like bundle with interest, anticipation and trepidation.

They were never to know what it contained.

After the settlement was reached, Belli scooped up the package, still unopened; and disappeared into the elevator with it.

Rayburn's Illness Stirs Successors

By ROBERT E. LEE
I. P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — House Democrats are preparing an alternate leadership team in the likely event that Speaker Sam Rayburn doesn't return to Congress next year.

Rep. John McCormack, D-Mass., longtime Democratic floor leader, already has been elected speaker pro tem for the remainder of the present session with the ailing Rayburn off to Texas. He is expected to carry on in the job next year should Rayburn remain home.

* * * *

IF THAT happens, Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., now the whip, probably will be elected majority leader pro tem.

The election of McCormack by his colleagues next year would be a purely stopgap measure designed to promote party discipline and unity and postpone a knockdown fight over the choice of a permanent party leader in the House.

McCormack isn't particularly popular with many House Democrats and has had numerous squabbles with President Kennedy over the years. House Democrats say he hasn't a ghost of a chance to wind up with Rayburn's job permanently.

However, the present inclination of his colleagues is to reward his years of "faithful, dogged service," as one senior congressman put it.

* * * *

THE HOPE is that the inevitable fight over selection of a younger man will be submerged next year as the party seeks to match the Senate Democrats in ratification of administration legislative programs.

Rayburn, who is 79, and McCormack, 69, frequently have been criticized by many of their younger and more liberal colleagues for not applying more force to obtain passage of bills backed by the liberal bloc.

It was this annoyance which produced the creation of a formal liberal caucus of about 100 House Democrats six years ago. The caucus was influential in getting Rayburn to agree to the administration plan to pack the powerful Rules Committee with extra liberal members this year.

If Rayburn decides his health won't permit him to set through next year's congressional session, and if the present plan for a McCormack interregnum is followed, there nonetheless will be plenty of maneuvering for position among those ambitious to succeed to the speaker's chair.

* * * *

REP. RICHARD Bolling, D-Mo., 45, widely-respected and a protege of Rayburn, long has been considered as the man in the best position to get the job. He has done yeoman service for the White House this year as a member of the Rules Committee.

Also high on the list of possibilities is Rep. Hale Boggs, La., 47, a Southern liberal of great charm and ability who serves on the important Ways and Means Committee.

Others prominently mentioned as candidates for the job are Reps. Wilbur Mills, Ark., 52, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and a moderate voice that carries great influence in the House, and Melvin Price, Ill., 56, a down-the-line New Deal-type liberal now on the Armed Services and Atomic Energy Committee.

WHEN THE showdown finally comes — and it isn't certain that it can be long postponed if Rayburn doesn't return next year — House Democrats doubtless will put together a speaker-majority leader team that is balanced geographically and ideologically.

Protest Over NATO Maneuvers Rejected

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece Saturday rejected a protest by Communist Bulgaria against NATO maneuvers to be held in the Alexandroupolis area Sept. 14-17.

The Bulgarians charged the maneuvers "can be considered as an immediate preparation for aggression against our country." The area is about 30 miles from the Bulgarian border.

Horse Dealer Ready to Give Up at Last

SPALDING, England (UPI) Sam Freir, 52-year-old horse dealer, says the mechanical age is about to put him out of business. He gives it two years.

Freir makes his living renting out his 42 horses to farmers, but said Saturday, "Mechanical harvesters are taking their place and in two years time I don't think my horses will be needed any more."

Nehru in Stern A-Bomb Warning

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru shook the conference of non-aligned nations Saturday with a demand that they forget colonialism for a while and concentrate on saving the world from drifting into disaster.

The veteran Indian leader declared the Soviet decision

to resume nuclear testing, opening the way for testing also by other countries, "brings us to the brink of war."

"Fear creeps into my mind that we might not be able to get out of the the rut of talking and of making resolutions, (that we will be) going home and allowing the world to drift into disaster," Nehru said.

Appealing for moral pressure to break the U.S.-Soviet deadlock over Berlin, he said he considered the situation today worse than at any time since World War II.

U.S. Sending 72 Jets to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Saturday announced it is sending four squadrons of F100 jet fighter-attack planes—about 72 aircraft—to Europe to take part in a NATO training exercise known as Checkmate.

This exercise, said the Defense Department, is intended "to test defense capabilities of NATO air, ground and naval forces."

Just how long the assignment of the jets to the exercises had been under consideration was not disclosed but word of the jet assignment followed by less than 24 hours a Russian announcement that it would conduct combined fleet and rocket maneuvers in the Arctic during September and October.

JFK Guards Discount 'Maniac' Threat

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—A summer White House aide said Saturday reports that a two-gun escaped mental patient had threatened the President's life were being discounted as "not a serious event."

The announcement came from Press Assistant Andrew Hatcher while state police in Massachusetts and Maine threw additional men into road blocks and widespread searches for the man, identified as Howard C. Cooper, 48.

The spreading search of restaurants and rooming houses in Maine was ordered after a report that Cooper, who fled a Texas mental institution in 1945 after 11 years of treatment stemming from a 1934 murder, had been working as a dishwasher in that state.

Man, Girl, 13, Held in 4 Slayings

BIG SPRING, Tex. (UPI)—An unemployed 32-year-old father of five and his 13-year-old girl friend were arrested Saturday and admitted a cross-country journey of death in which they killed four persons since Wednesday for $17.

The pair told police their motive was robbery to finance a trip to Arizona, where they hoped to get jobs picking cotton. But their victims carried very little money.

Two victims died for $1, one for nothing.

Arrested were John Edwin Meyer, 32, and Donna Marie Stone, 13. Their victims were George Ballard, 47, of Near Belleville, Ill., and his daughter Carole, 11; Miss Margaret Wernicker, 39, of St. Louis, Mo. and hitchhiker Lee Dekraii, 30, of Ottumwa, Iowa.

Snowstorm Hits 2 States

DENVER (AP)—A snowstorm that lost its place on the calendar smacked the Rocky Mountain states Saturday, dumping a foot of snow in southern Wyoming and closing 12,183-foot Trail Ridge Road in Colorado.

Rain, sleet and chilly temperatures ranged along the lower elevation of both states. Snow was general in the mountains.

The heaviest fall was 12 inches in the Snowy Range Mountains west of Laramie, Wyo.

U.S. Moves to Revive Disarmament Talks

with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin in New York next Wednesday to make a new effort to work out arrangements for a big new east-west disarmament conference.

This will be the third round of McCloy-Zorin talks this summer.

3. Secretary of State Dean Rusk with the backing of Britain, the approval of West Germany and the reluctant consent of France, plans to have a talk with Gromyko in New York in about two weeks—if Gromyko attends the opening of the United Nations General Assembly set for Sept. 19.

The possibility of personal talks between Khrushchev and Kennedy, even if the Soviet leader shows up at the United Nations, is not highly rated here at the moment, but neither is it ruled out.

The President definitely has under consideration a plan to go to New York and make a major speech on world peace and disarmament. He is due to make a decision next week.

* * * *

ALSO NEXT week, officials indicated, a decision is expectable on resumption of U. S. nuclear weapons testing. Most persons in a high position here say privately that they have no doubt that the United States will resume.

But Kennedy and Rusk want to permit maximum time for the Soviet nuclear-test explosion of Friday to make the deepest possible impact in the world.

While Kennedy has been moving less swiftly than he might, officials said he has no intention of becoming boxed in by delaying so long that events limits his field of action.

He does not, for example, intend to permit the present situation to go on so long that other countries assume it is a normal arrangement for Russia to test and the United States not to test.

AT THE Belgrade meeting there is reported to be increasing talk about a Kennedy-Khrushchev summit conference. Such a meeting was advocated Saturday by President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana. Friday, support for a summit session came from President Gamel Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Nasser Friday, and Prime Minister Nehru of India Saturday, denounced Russia's decision to resume nuclear testing.

Goulart Backers Ask Full Power

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazil's congress Saturday night overwhelmingly approved a constitutional change permitting leftist Vice President Joao Goulart to take office as figurehead president with a prime minister holding executive powers.

Congress leaders hope to install him at an inaugural in Brasilia Moday.

* * * *

BUT THERE was no immediate indication that their solution to the Brazilian crisis would be acceptable to:

1. Die-hard leftists supporting Goulart as full-fledged president or nothing or

2. The military chiefs who have opposed his succession to the presidency in any form because of his leftist ways.

Brasilia's airport was closed to normal traffic Saturday night after the congressional action and it was rumored Goulart was flying there.

The Chamber of Deputies approved the constitutional amendment 235-55 and the Senate later voted for it 47-5 and then 48-6 on the confirming final ballot.

At Porto Alegre, in the far south where Goulart has been conferring with advisers, it was reported he planned to fly to Brasilia Monday for the inaugural. Porto Alegre, isolated from normal communication during the day, gave no official word of whether leftists generally would accept a presidency shorn of power for Goulart.

* * * *

Among the dissenters was former President Juscelino Kubitschek, an influential senator since his retirement from the presidency and a staunch supporter of Goulart.

Kubitschek is one of several considered as likely candidates for the new post of prime minister, and whether he might be induced to take it may have a bearing on Goulart's decision.

Sculler Lost at Sea in Fog off Britain

DEAL, England (UPI) — Jim Gumbrell lost the senior sculls at this Kent coastal town Saturday in a manner that annoyed him exceedingly.

He was leading by several lengths when he rounded the last buoy, got lost in thick fog and rowed out to sea. He made shore half an hour later.

Must Bolster Foreign Aid, JFK Warns

Asks Restoration of Cuts to Thwart Communist Threat

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy Saturday urged Congress in this "climactic hour" to restore cuts in foreign aid funds to bolster the global fight for freedom.

Billions spent for defense will mean little in the end if the world's developing nations topple into Communism, Kennedy said.

The Cape Cod White House issued a statement in which the chief executive cited former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's support of ample funds to assist needy countries.

* * * *

CONGRESS authorized $4.25 billion for the program this year, but the House Appropriations Committee Friday approved an actual money outlay of only $3.35 billion.

Kennedy initially had sought more than $4.7 billion.

He appealed to Congress to appropriate funds "of a magnitude as close as possible to the original request."

Both he and Eisenhower were convinced that requests represented the minimum necessary to meet the country's responsibilities, Kennedy said.

* * * *

WITH THE $4.25 billion ceiling applied in the sum authorized by Congress, it would be impossible now to provide all the money Kennedy at first asked. But his obvious hope was that the House, in which appropriations bills start through Congress, would rebuff the committee and put up money of as close a magnitude as possible to the authorized amount.

Kennedy worked a 3½-hour boat ride on hazy Nantucket Sound into the first full day of his Labor Day weekend on Cape Cod. Mrs. Kennedy and daughter Caroline were among those aboard the cruiser Marlin, which stayed out more than twice as long as aides said Kennedy had allotted.

The House previously rejected his proposal to finance long-term development loans abroad with money borrowed from the Treasury. A Senate-House conference committee finally agreed on a five-year program, but one in which Congress would have to appropriate the money every year. Then the influential House committee administered its severe cuts.

* * * *

"THE FIGHT for freedom throughout the world is in a climactic hour," Kennedy said.

Developing nations, especially in this hemisphere, look to the United States for leadership and help in their efforts to improve the lot of their people, he said.

"For they realize, as do we, that their failure will inevitably bring the dissolution of Democratic governments and greatly increase the threat of the Communist advance," the President said.

Seek Background of Karen Suspect

Emanuel Hajek, whom Harbor detectives described as the "most likely suspect yet" in the mysterious disappearance of 11-year-old Karen Lynn Tompkins of Torrance, remained in jail in San Pedro Saturday night while police checked his background.

Hajek, 41, of 20730 S. Main St., Torrance, was arrested early Saturday by sheriff's officers near his home. The deputies said he had been reported previously trying to entice little girls into his car.

Police said Hajek for the last five months has lived at 21417 Vermont Ave., Torrance, within two blocks of Halldale School from which the Tompkins girl was walking home when she disappeared Aug. 18.

The suspect's black car answered the description of one seen in the neighborhood of Karen's disappearance about the time she was walking home from school.

When Hajek was arrested, Sgt. Gene Tinch of Harbor detectives said he "looks pretty good as a suspect." Detectives did not reveal details of Hajek's interrogation, but said they had not changed their opinion Saturday night.

Russ A-Blast Shocks European Leaders

LONDON (UPI) — A stunned and gloomy Europe expressed shock Saturday at Russia's nuclear test exposion and observed that the Soviet must have been planning it for at least eight months while attending the test ban talks at Geneva.

Japan formally protested to Russia for the test it said may "lead mankind into the path of destruction." Neutral and uncommitteed nations at the Belgrade conference joined Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in condemning the test. Indian newspapers spoke of "dismay and revulsion."

* * * *

FROM GOVERNMENT circles in Western capitals, from the Belgrade meeting and from the Vatican City in Rome came demands for a speedy solution to the Berlin crisis. There were calls for East-West summit talks and United Nations action to prevent war.

The news hit hardest in Belgrade, where Marshal Tito, Nehru, Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah and United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser were outspoken in their concern over the Soviet move. Nehru said the danger of war had been increased.

Swedish nuclear expert Dr. Torsten Magnusson said the small size of the bomb indicated the Russians "developed a new type of nuclear weapon while negotiations for a test ban were going on" in Geneva.

A Yugoslav official denounced Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "cynicism" in sending a "peace, independence and freedom" message to Belgrade while preparing for the blast.

* * * *

BRITAIN described the blast as "deplorable" and noted the nuclear blasts take a "considerable time" to arrange. A spokesman indicated that Britain will do some hard thinking before resuming its own nuclear testing.

The Dutch defense ministry estimated that it required at least eight months for the Russians to prepare Friday's explosion.

West German foreign office circles said it was "brutal" behavior for the Soviets to be making preparations for the tests while they were still at the Geneva negotiating table. Bonn expressed extraordinary concern for the future of humanity.

In his summer home at Castel Gandolfo, Italy, Pope John XXIII said the world situation threatens peace. He has called for a public Mass Sept. 10 to appeal for world peace.

* * * *

FROM KENYA in East Africa, recently released African nationalist leader Jomo Kenyatta, in a newspaper interview, condemned all violence and weapons of destruction and urged the great powers to stop making them.

Kenyatta said, however, he could not condemn Russia because she exploded an atomic device on her own soil and it thus was an "internal affair."

30,000-Year-Old Skeleton Found

VERONA, Italy (AP)—The skeleton of a 7-or 8-year-old boy who died 30,000 years ago has been found in a cave alongside a waterfall in the mountains near Verona. It was the first human skeleton ever found in paleolithic era cave here.

The child had been prepared for burial by bending the knees up under the stomach and placing the hands over the face.

Pope Cites Danger to World Peace

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope John XXIII said Saturday world peace "might be in danger if men did not listen to the call of truth, justice and concord which genuinely come from God."

"We live in moments when world peace might be in danger," the Pope said.

Theater Boss Defects

ULM, Germany (AP)—Peter Politzoch, director of the East Berlin Ensemble Theater, announced here Saturday he will not return to Communist territory.

Russ Roll Out Propaganda With Bomb

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet publicity machine swung into high gear Saturday to make the test explosion of a nuclear weapon high over central Asia appear to be in the interests of peace and world welfare.

The explosion itself has not been reported in the press or on the radio in Moscow, but the decision to shoot off this nuclear device occupied most of the attention of the press. Saturday's issue of Pravda, the principal Soviet mouthpiece, carried statements by the Soviet Peace Committee and the Organization of Soviet Biologists declaring their approval of an action which only a few weeks ago they actively denounced.

* * * *

THE ACTION of the Peace Committee was emblazoned on page one, but the declaration of the biologists, who had a harder case to make, was carried under small headlines on an inside page. The story said the biological branch of the Academy of Sciences met and approved the statement about resumption of nuclear tests.

Perhaps an even greater turn-about was accomplished by the Soviet Peace Committee.

"We, the Soviet peace champions, have always been against nuclear tests," the statement said. "But what can one do if the United States and its allies are threatening to destroy our towns and villages, to turn whole regions into atomic deserts, to kill millions of Soviet people?"

The Peace Committee then denounced the "hyprocrisy of the position of the United States and its NATO allies," declaring that even during the negotiations in Geneva, France continued to explode test weapons.

50 Federal Judges to Be Named Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Kennedy hopes to choose nominees for about half of the more than 100 vacancies on the Federal bench by the time Congress goes home for the year.

He is faced with the largest backlog of such vacancies in U.S. history.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother, is responsible for recommending nominations for the highly-coveted, lifetime jobs. Aides said he hopes to have choices for about 50 vacancies soon.

LAST MAY Congress created 73 new judgeships to handle mounting case loads in the courts. At that time there were 27 vacancie in existing seats through death or retirement. The number has climbed slightly since then.

There has been some grumbling in Congress that the Attorney General was holding up the nominations for Democratic patronage purposes. But Justice Department officials said the procedure for selecting qualified men is complicated and time-consuming. They also note that senators who have a strong voice in the selections have so far failed to make recommendations for filling about 20 vacancies in their constituencies.

Historically, it takes three to four months to fill each vacancy. The President has made about 20 nominations since May and has about 20 more in the works.

* * * *

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S staff has gone over about 1,300 recommendations since the administration came to office in January. It has sifted these to some 200 names which have been passed on to the American Bar Association for its recommendations.

After the Bar Association makes its recommendations, the FBI must run checks before the Attorney General makes the final choice for the President.

Among the 20 nominations already announced were three Republicans serving recess appointments. The nomination of John Feikens for the eastern district of Michigan has stirred a patronage controversy in reverse. Michigan's Democratic Senator Pat McNamara is irked because Feikens is a former Republican State Chairman.

* * * *

FEDERAL JUDGESHIPS are now held about equally by Democrats and Republicans. President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed 194 Democrats and 8 Republicans; Harry Truman named 128 Democrats and 13 Republicans. President Eisenhower balanced the situation by appointing 178 Republicans and only 11 Democrats.

Justice Department officials working on screening of candidates are trying to pay special attention to areas like eastern Pennsylvania and Southern California where the court case backlog is heaviest. But as one official commented "we have to make progress where we can.

New Wage Law Brings Pay Increases to 2.6 Million Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The new minimum wage law goes into effect today, bringing wage increases to about 2.6 million Americans and putting 3.6 million more persons under federal wage-hour coverage for the first time.

For the newly covered workers, the minimum wage will be $1 an hour initially. The Labor Department estimates that about 663,000 of them now draw less than that.

For 24 million other workers previously covered, the minimum rises tomorrow from $1 to $1.15. About 1.9 million of them, including 1.2 million in manufacturing, have been getting less than the new minimum.

* * * *

THESE increases will add $536 million to payrolls in the next 12 months—an added cost employers will absorb or seek to offset by greater efficiency, reductions in work force and price increases.

Further hikes in the minimum wage in the next four years will mean a cumulative increase in payrolls of $1.5 billion. In 1963 the minimum for workers covered prior to 1961 jumps to $1.25 an hour. For the newly included workers the minimum will advance to $1.15 in 1964 and $1.25 in 1965.

The most hotly contested section of the 1961 law was an amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act which President Kennedy signed May 5. This extended coverage to 3.6 million workers in retail trade, services, local transit, construction and filling stations.

* * * *

BUT THE congressional give-and-take saw additional farm workers excluded from coverage. Supporters of the legislation also dropped laundry, restaurant and hotel workers to have the rest of the bill. The administration has pledged it will try to get them included next year.

The bill's backers also accepted certain "dollar tests" for inclusion of specific enterprises in the newly covered categories.

For example, a retail store or service establishment must have gross sales of at least $1 million a year before it is affected. A branch of an enterprise in this category must have annual receipts of its own of $250,000. Also, the enterprise must buy at least $250,000 a year of goods which have moved across state lines.

A CONSTRUCTION firm must have yearly gross receipts of $350,000 or more. Such firms employ about one million persons, but only about 50,000 of them make less than $1 an hour.

A service station must have $250,000 in annual gross sales for its employes to be covered. A transit line must have $1 million of gross receipts a year.

For workers newly covered by the 1961 act, the time-and-a-half rule will not come into force until Sept. 3, 1963, and will apply only after 4 hours. A year later the threshold will drop to 42 hours, and a year after that it will drop to 40 hours.

The 25-cent minimum advanced slowly at first—to 30 cents in 1939 and 39-40 in 1945, it jumped to 75 cents in 1950 and to $1 in 1956.

'24 Killer Faces Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The gunshot slaying of a man in a crowded synagogue 37 years ago has become a current murder case.

The district attorney is looking for witnesses to prosecute the man accused of killing Harry Danny, 55, as Danny was reading scriptures on Sept. 29, 1924, and wounding two other persons. Solomon Ostrow was seized with the gun still in his hands. He was committed to a state hospital by Judge Charles Crail.

Doctors at Atascadero State Hospital have now decided that Ostrow, 72, "has recovered his sanity sufficiently to be able to cooperate in his criminal trial defense," Judge Crail is dead. The case has been dumped in the lap of his nephew, Clifford Crail. Crail doubts he'll be able to find many witnesses.

Doctor Has Delivered 16,000 Babies in 50 Yrs.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Hosea A. White, 78, silver-haired Corpus Christi physician, has delivered more than 16,000 babies in his half century of practice.

He will be presented with a golden "T" certificate for 50 years of practice by the University of Tennessee medical units Sept. 24 in Memphis.

Dr. White practiced medicine in northeast Mississippi after his graduation from the old Memphis Hospital Medical College. He came to Corpus Christi in December of 1915.

"When I came here there wasn't a drainage ditch or graded road in the county," he said. "They called me the 'country doctor.'"

"I delivered a lot of babies in Kingsville and several hundred in Aransas Pass," 20 and 40 miles away.

* * * *

THOSE DAYS when he was a "country doctor" were the best, he feels.

"When I drove on my rounds in a horse and buggy I had time to think and pray between patients. Now with the auto there's no time for that."

The doctor opened White's Maternity Hospital at his office in 1942. He estimates that he delivered about 700 babies a year during the days he operated the hospital. He closed it in 1952.

The doctor laughed when he remembered several experiences with babies that wouldn't wait until they got to the delivery room to be born.

"Once a lady made it to the hospital's front yard, but that's as far as she got," he said. "Her baby was born right there."

* * * *

HE SAID two other women got to the hospital "but they never made it out of their cars."

Dr. White has provided extensive medical care for the city's poor people in his unpretentious office and hospital.

"For a delivery and complete post-natal care, I charged $25," he said. "Sure it was hard, but I made it with God as my partner."

During World War II, before the government provided money for servicemen's wives' natal care, Dr. White delivered their babies free, he said.

* * * *

"I THINK doctors charge too much nowadays," Dr. White said. "If they charge people who can't afford it $100 or $125 for an obstetrical case, they deprive the child they brought into the world of things it needs.

"We will always have the poor. That is something the fortunate forget."

Dr. White is strongly against socialized medicine, however.

"Socialized medicine would cause the profession to deteriorate instead of build," he said. "It would result in doctors having no incentive or determination.

* * * *

"THERE ARE not enough doctors using prayer and common sense anyway. They think all the answers are in laboratories and X-ray machines."

Dr. White, who will be 79 years old in January, is semi-retired now. But he still treats his old friends and any poor people who come to his office.

"If they have money, OK; if they don't, OK," he said. "Just like always."

Although the pace has lessened since the days when he delivered 700 babies a year and the hospital where they uttered their first cries is closed and has been converted to apartments, Dr. White still has plenty to keep him busy.

His hobbies are gardening and experimenting with varieties of grasses.

Plot to Grab Katanga Told by Tshombe

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP) — President Moise Tshombe declared Saturday he had "knowledge of a plot against Katanga by (Cyrille) Adoula's central government together with the United Nations."

However, Tshombe said this was denied by Conor Cruise O'Brien, the chief U.N. representative in this secessionist province.

* * * *

TSHOMBE received U.N. military and civilian representatives Saturday morning. He told a news conference later the alleged plot included the arrest of him and some of his ministers, the creation of internal disorders and the dispatch of Congolese national army troops to Katanga.

Tshombe said, however, he did not believe Adoula would send in troops because, "if blood flows, nothing can be arranged."

Tshombe declared the campaign was started by inciting Baluba tribesmen who have sought refuge with the United Nations. The U.N. has reported more than 10,000 Baluba refugees are at present in its camps.

A deputation of refugees under U.N. escort saw Tshombe Saturday. He was reported to have promised them safety and asked all refugees to go back to their homes and work.

Peace Corps Will Accept Hams' Applications

The Peace Corps will accept applications from members of the Microwave Society of Long Beach, and will go to the American Radio League for assistance in filling needs for radio and electronic technicians.

Robert Sargent Shriver, Jr., director of the Corps, answering a letter from Ralph Steinberg, 110 Argonne Ave., said the ARRL could also help by publicizing needs of the organization. Right now, he said, the need is for agriculturally trained people and certain categories of engineers and mechanics.

OLD MAN AND A BOY

They Find Understanding Though 70 Years Apart

By JACK V. FOX

NEW YORK (UPI)—The old man and the boy sat facing each other across a desk. A span of 70 years separated them but from the moment they began talking a curious rapport sprang up.

The boy was 16. He had grown up in a time that saw man send a rocket to the moon and orbit the earth. Television was old hat; radio a transistor in your pocket; hotrods passe—sports cars the fashion for youth; war the "doomsday bomb."

When the man was that same age on a farm in Hamilton, Mo., there was not a single automobile in the United States. It was to be four years before Edison showed a "magic lantern," six before Marconi patented something called "wireless" and 13 before two brothers got an aeroplane off the ground.

THE BOY WAS asking questions in an "interview" and the old gentleman was answering them seriously and thoughfully. The conversation went something like this:

Q. What advice have you for young people just starting out in the world?

A. I don't believe young people particularly want advice but, since you ask—make up your mind what you want to do and prepare yourself for it. Then give it everything you've got. I don't believe in luck. You may not be the president of the United States but if you work hard you'll be better off for having made the attempt.

Q. DO YOU think young people today are irresponsible and a bunch of juvenile delinquents?

A. I certainly do not believe so. I think our youth has been very much maligned. In some of the big cities a lot of publicity has been given to delinquency but that is not true across the country. If a boy is raised right, he is not going to get into trouble. The responsibility is right square in the home.

Q. You are a successful man and have made a great deal of money. Did you ever think you would be this rich?

A. Heavens, no. When I was 30 years old I still thought if I ever had $10,000 in the bank I would be well off. Then I made my goal $100,000. I didn't realize it but my appetite was just getting started and it finally came to me that there was no limit to what a man could do. But money isn't the important thing anyway. It is a by-product.

Q. YOU HEAR a lot of talk today that there's no use being ambitious and working hard because the hydrogen bomb may wipe us all out anyway. What do you think of that?

A. I don't like it. It's negative thinking and that's something I never have done. When I was a young man I grew up with the Bible and there's a passage which foretells the end of the world. But I never worried about that. I've lived every day of my life trying to do the best I can do.

Q. Do you think there are as many opportunities today as there were in your day?

A. THERE ARE far, far more opportunities. When I was your age I was worried sick what I was going to do. I doubt whether any young man left his hometown with less bright prospects than I did. I bought into a little store in Kemmerer, Wyo., and my wife and baby lived above it. I had $500 and I borrowed $1,500 more for a third interest. Now there are 1,700 stores.

Q. How did you do it?

A. By applying the Golden Rule. It may sound silly and sentimental but it is true—if you are going to be successful in business you must love people. I'm thankful I had such a strict religious training. My father was a farmer and a roving Baptist minister and for a time I thought I might be one, too. I went into business instead and I have tried to give people a good product at a fair price and, most of all, to meet them and give them service.

THE BOY paused and the white-haired man said:

"Now let me ask you a question. What are you going to do with your life?"

"Well," the boy said, "I've thought of going into the foreign service, working for our country overseas."

"That's a good idea," the man said. "President Roosevelt once told me that was one of the finest things a young man could do."

He picked up a book and returned to the fly leaf, where he carefully inscribed: "To Steve Fox. Best wishes. J. C. Penney."

The boy thanked him. On the way out of the office, the young man looked back, then said: "He's quite a guy."

He is quite a guy. Eighty-six years old this month, the founder of the J. C. Penney Stores is at work every day, opening new stores, travelling, writing and making talks to business men on his favorite subject—the Golden Rule.

Naturally, I think the young man is quite a guy, too. He's my son.

EISENHOWER STILL 'FORT KNOX' OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

By SAUL PETT

GETTYSBURG, Pa., (AP) — One of the rarest emotions in the world—only 34 men have known it—is to wake up one morning and realize you are now President of the United States.

Even rarer and as full of impact—fewer men have known this feeling — is to wake up one morning and realize you are no longer President of the United States.

Suddenly it is over. Suddenly it is Jan. 20 and you are riding down Pennsylvania Avenue with the new man and they swear him in and they say goodbye and you're gone. Suddenly you're supposed to pick up your life. How does it feel?

It feels, William Howard Taft once said, "like a giant locomotive pulling a toy wagon." The momentum remains. The payload is gone.

* * * *

FOR SEVEN MONTHS, Dwight David Eisenhower has been gearing down, seeking a new rhythm. He is not, of course, a lonely old man turned out and forgotten in a distant pasture. He remains very much in demand, active, productive and interested. Politically, in the phrase of a former associate, he is still "the Fort Knox of the Republican Party."

But the big job is gone and that takes adjustment.

Like other men in retirement, he both enjoys the absence of heavy responsibility and at the same time misses it. After 20 years of vast power and glory in the main current of great events, the human system does not suddenly adapt to a beach chair, however comfortable.

He still corresponds with Harold Macmillan and Charles DeGaulle and other important people around the world, but the correspondence now has a single tone—old friends writing. It lacks the office behind the man.

* * * *

WHILE HE STILL retains a deep interest in national and world affairs, Dwight Eisenhower has had to learn to sublimate his lack of authority. This is one way he does it:

Reading of some new national issue or problem, he picks up the phone and calls several friends, usually experts in the appropriate field. To each, he presents the problem and asks what the other fellow would do about it. And then they match judgments and seek an accommodation and decide, if they can, on a solution and then they hang up.

That's as far as is can go. It's a dry run, poker for match sticks.

* * * *

DWIGHT EISENHOWER misses the big job in many ways. He misses the power and ability to affect events which deeply concern him. He misses the direct contact with unfolding history. He misses the vast convenience of the office, the huge machinery geared to his wishes, the experts who kept him informed, the planes that flew him, the Secret Service men who cleared his path.

But the shock of transition from the White House to the farm house in Gettysburg has, friends agree, been heavily cushioned by one fact. He left Washington trailed by the affection of his countrymen. He had his critics.

In retirement, he remains a Republican Mecca. From the halls of Congress to the smallest precinct, they still come, or try to come, in the hope of taking back with them a little reflected glow.

* * * *

GEN. EISENHOWER had expected little of this. He had thought Richard M. Nixon would now be President, that the Eisenhower philosophy of government would be relatively safe, that the Party and the country would have little need of him in retirement.

AT WORK at his desk in his office in Gettysburg, Pa., Dwight D. Eisenhower busies himself with heavy correspondence, work on a book about his presidency, and visitors who often include VIPs.—(AP.)

The tourists clot around the front gate of the Eisenhower farm. On the rare occasions he uses it, they sing out "Hi, Ike," and, with an American possessiveness that can be both moving and irritating, move in for autographs and pictures. They climb the battlefield towers and fly the sightseeing helicopter to gawk at his home and, if this occasionally annoys the General of the Army in residence, he resists the temptation to call up an anti-aircraft battery.

Gen. Eisenhower seldom ventures into the life of the community. The one social occasion he attended was a stag dinner, served on card tables, given by a Gettysburg attorney to introduce him to the local pillars. The conversation, one gathers, had its awkward lulls. After all, what do you say to a former President and a General of the Army?

* * * *

MAMIE EISENHOWER and a maid occasionally appear in the supermarket to shop. This is one small ambition Gen. Eisenhower has yet to fulfill in retirement. Supermarkets developed in the years of his greatest celebrity, when he had no chance to visit one. He still foregoes the pleasure until he can be sure of entering a supermarket without creating a stampede.

Instead, six days a week, he drives directly to his office without stops. There he keeps a staff of six busy. He also has the help of his son, Lt. Col. John Eisenhower, who has taken a leave without pay from the Army and now lives with his family in a small house on the corner of the Eisenhower farm.

The office has no security guard as such but visitors don't get in without stating their business into a squawk box at the front door. Any unauthorized intruder breaking into the back room where the general keeps his classified files would immediately touch off an electronic alarm that would bring police.

* * * *

THE DAY IS given over mostly to answering heavy correspondence (a single morning's mail brought equally fervent invitations from a prime minister and a sorority house mother) and to work on the general's book about his presidency. He dictates and then edits furiously in a flurry of chicken scratches.

His appointment calendar is full with substantial names. In a recent two-day period, for example, the general conferred with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York; Sen. Everett Dirksen and Rep. Charles Halleck, the Republican leaders in Congress; former White House Assistant Bryce Harlowe; Robert Humphrey of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee; and publishers C. D. Jackson of Life Magazine and Bennett Cerf of Random House.

Talking or reading, the familiar photogenic face is remarkably mobile, the blue eyes warming instantly at a favorable sight or thought, the wispy brows frowning just as quickly at something unwelcome, the famed smile breaking out like the sun after a summer storm. His hands remain busy too, fiddling with a nail file, twirling glasses or a letter opener.

* * * *

FROM HIS OFFICE, Gen. Eisenhower also runs his personal affairs. He confers frequently with his friend, Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Nevins, who supervises his farm. He has turned down some fat offers, including corporate directorships which would pay him $100,000 a year each for a few hours a month. He refuses to lend his name to commercial ventures.

In addition to his $25,000-a-year presidential pension, Gen. Eisenhower enjoys a sizable return from investments. His first book, "Crusade in Europe," netted him between $400,000 and $500,000 after taxes. Invested in a trust which was completely out of his hands while he was in office, this money has been "considerably enhanced," according to a Wall Street friend.

It was not ever thus. Early in 1948, before the book came out, Gen. Eisenhower retired as Army Chief of Staff at what appeared to be the peak and end of his career. He bought a car and as he and Mamie were being driven out

Negroes Boycott Dilapidated School

WARRENTON, N.C. (UPI)—The parents of about 50 Negro children forced to attend a dilapidated two-room school with bare light bulbs and outdoor plumbing held out for "something better" Saturday.

The parents called a boycott of the school last Monday and kept their children out of classes all week. Only four pupils turned up when Snow Hill School opened for the school year Wednesday.

Marvin Tunstall, a 44-year-old farmer and spokesman for the parents' group, said the boycott had nothing to do with integration.

"We'll take separate but equal (facilities) for now, but can you call this anywhere near equal?" he questioned, referring to the outdated 38-year-old frame building.

Tunstall says there are presently 11 similar Negro schools in Warren County. Negro parents, he said, have about despaired of getting the long-promised consolidated school to handle the 4,200 Negro children in the county.

Duce's Son, Loren Sister Romancing

RICCIONE, Italy (UPI)—A romance that may connect the family of Italy's sexy movie star, Sophia Loren, with that of one-time Italian dictator Benito Mussolini has been flourishing in this little town on the Adriatic coast.

Sophia's younger sister, Maria, and Romano Mussolini, son of Il Duce, has been seeing each other a lot and rumor has it they have matrimonial stars in their eyes.

Donna Rachele Mussolini, the dictator's widow who lives here, said of the reported marriage plans: "I've no objection but it's their business."

* * * *

THE MUSSOLINI family made headlines last year when Romano's sister, Anna Maria Mussolini, married a show business man, Nando Pucci.

Maria, who resembles big sister Sophia very much, has been friends with Anna Maria Mussolini for many years. While Sophia has been making "Madame Sans Gene" up on the west coast of Italy, Maria has been spending her free time with the Mussolinis, on the east coast.

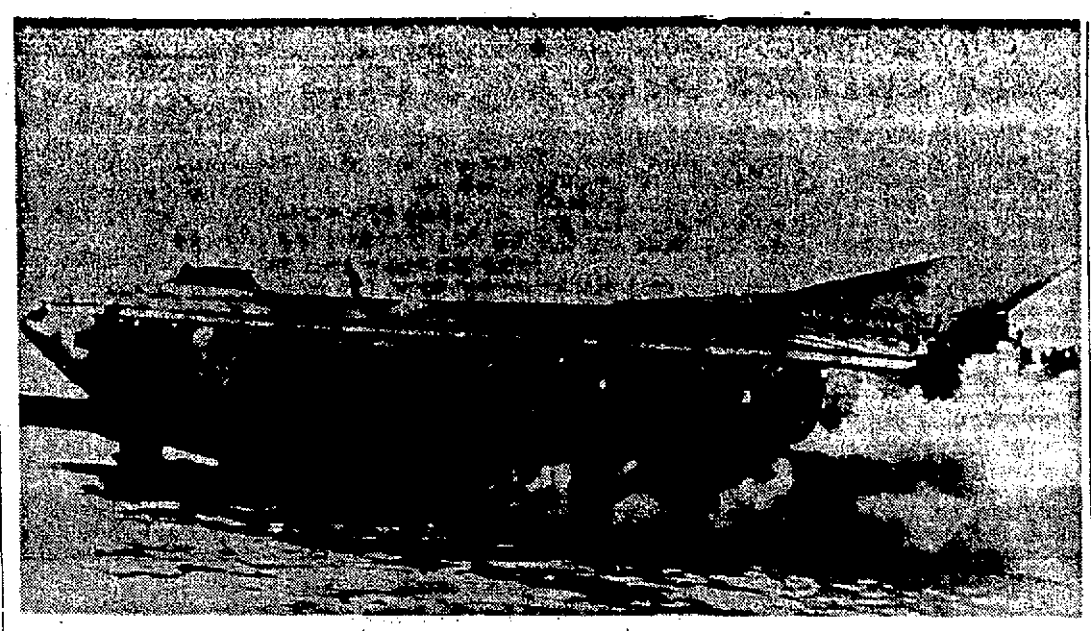

Maria and Romano Mussolini also have been seen together around Rome's night spots, where he has been playing in a jazz combo. Romano is classed as one of Italy's best jazz pianists.

* * * *

WHILE VISITING the Mussolini family, Maria made a pilgrimage to the tomb of Italy's former leader at Predappio. Mussolini was caught and executed by Italian partisans in 1944 while trying to escape in a German military convoy.

Maria and Romano apparently are not yet ready to talk about their plans for marriage. However, Maria wears a ring.

Maria, like her sister Sophia, was brought up in Naples, where they both were born. She is quieter and more reserved than Sophia.

Reds Fence in Hitler's Death Site

BERLIN (AP)—For the first time since Adolf Hitler's body was burned there 16 years ago, no one can approach the garden of his "new chancellery."

The East German People's Army has built a barbed wire fence around all that remains of the building—a grassy mound 15 feet high and 150 feet long surrounded by flowers.

The pinkish-grey wall the Communists have built through the city lies just beyond the mound.

LOOKING OVER Angus cattle at his farm in Gettysburg, seven months after leaving the presidency, "Ike" finds that being outside while important events are under way takes getting used to.—(AP.)

Ike Still 'Fort Knox' of the GOP

of Washington in the new purchase, he said, "we're riding out of town on our entire capital."

* * * *

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER has a host of friends over the country, men who used to come at a moment's notice when he was in Washington to play golf with him or bridge or counsel with him or just supply company. Before he left the White House, he wrote a letter to the wives of all of them, thanking the ladies for their patience and the loan of their husbands.

To his friends, the retiring President wrote a special letter demanding that, since he was leaving office, he be reinstated on a first name basis and he called "Ike." None has yet been able to bring himself to call him that, such is the awesome memory of the office.

In or out of the White House, Dwight Eisenhower has many devoted friends, any of whom would still drop everything to come play golf with him. But geographically, Gettysburg is an awkward place to get to and so he has fewer golfing companions these days.

ON DAYS WHEN his son or Gen. Nevins is not available, Gen. Eisenhower plays alone. Unless, of course, master David Eisenhower, age 13, is not too busy.

The former President is fond of all his four grandchildren but he has a special affinity for his only grandson, who resembles him and would not exactly disappoint his grandfather by going to West Point someday. The two have always been close, a proximity that sometimes dimmed the boy's historical perspective.

Several years ago, President Eisenhower was conferring in the living quarters of the White House with Richard M. Nixon when the boy sailed in.

* * * *

"HI, IKE," David sang out.

"Hello, David," said the President. "You know the Vice President, don't you?"

The boy turned to Nixon and his eyes popped and he exclaimed, "the Vice President! Wow!"

Since then, David has become increasingly aware of the general's eminence, and has come to call him "grandfather." But he remains his own man. On several recent afternoons, when the 33rd President of the United States called to invite him out for golf, the boy declined with regret because he had "people over" or was on his way to play baseball.

* * * *

THE BIGGEST evening in the Eisenhower's week is the one that their grandchildren spend with them. The general enjoys talking with them but has learned to his surprise that kids today are not particularly interested in talking about the past. This is contrary to his own experience as a boy in Kansas when he loved to listen to adults talking about the Old West or the Civil War.

On other nights, when the general and his wife are alone, he usually spends his evening reading foreign affairs pamphlets, biography, historical novels or Westerns. Mrs. Eisenhower watches television, particularly "Father Knows Best" or Danny Thomas or Lawrence Welk. The general occasionally wanders over to watch.

He is fonder of the hi-fi set, which he has not yet figured out how to turn on himself.

* * * *

AND IN THE moments between music and reading, Dwight D. Eisenhower finds his mind drifting occasionally back to the past. He is not a man overly given to reminiscence but when he does it usually is about his Army days.

When he thinks of the biggest single day in his long career, the most satisfying single moment, he thinks always of May 7, 1945, when a terrible war ended in the schoolhouse at Rheims. It was, as he thinks of it, the day he was raised for, the day he fulfilled his orders.

As President, had he been able to sign an effective, lasting peace treaty with the whole world, that moment would have been bigger and the one to remember. But with all its power, with all its grandeur, the Presidency of the United States in mid-20th century could not match the day at Rheims.

Russ Hike Work Day Schedules

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union, following up its decision to resume nuclear tests, announced plans Saturday to increase working hours in some industries "in the interests of further strengthening the defenses of the country."

The disclosure came in a statement by the state-controlled Council of Trade Unions dutifully supporting the renewal of nuclear testing.

* * * *

THE STATEMENT, carried by the Tass news agency, makes it virtually certain that a decision to increase working hours already has been taken. The attempt to pass off such a decision as the spontaneous demand of workers is routine in the Soviet propaganda system.

The trade union council said "the workers of a number of industrial enterprises in the U.S.S.R. have addressed the Communist party with a proposal to switch some enterprises to an eight-hour working day . . ."

Most Soviet factories work a six-day week. Communist officials had promised to put all heavy workers on a six-hour day by the end of last year. Premier Khrushchev earlier this year made considerable propaganda play with promises of a five-hour day.

Space Agency Suffers Growing Pains

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The space agency is suffering acute growing pains stemming from the $20 billion program to land American astronauts on the moon before 1970.

A shakeup is imminent. James E. Webb, chief of the National Acronautics and Space Administration is expected to announce soon his choice of a man and a staff to push the lunar venture.

Some old NASA hands will be shoved aside. Many others will be uprooted and transplanted. Hundreds of newcomers will enter the agency.

On May 25 President Kennedy ordered a speedup in the space porgram with a view to putting men on the moon and bringing them back "before the decade is out."

More than three months later no one can say just how this will be done. Neither the rockets nor the techniques have been picked.

Basic specifications have been developed for the Apollo spacecraft which will carry a three-man crew on earth orbital and lunar missions. But construction cannot get under way before late this year.

Does this mean NASA's leadership isn't pouring enough energy and drive into the job of gearing up to meet the goals? The answer, according to some of President Kennedy's close space advisers is no.

Is everybody satisfied, then, with the present state of affairs? The answer again appears to be no. One official said "no one is satisfied — least of all Jim Webb, or he wouldn't be driving himself early and late to perfect his organization."

"If anybody is satisfied," this official said, "he ought to resign. Considering the gigantic scope of the moon program, it is far too early for anybody to be satisfied."

Vandercook's Wife Is Killed in Fall

DELHI, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Iris Vandercook, 37, wife of radio news commentator John W. Vandercook, was killed in a fall at their summer home here.

Mrs. Vandercook, a well-known painter, was descending a staircase when she fell, authorities reported.

Aluminum Oil Drill Pipe Performs Well in Tests

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The first string of aluminum drill pipe has completed more than 100,000 feet of hole in a Texas oil field.

L. E. Pennington, Richmond, Va., director of petroleum development for Reynolds Metals Co., said Reynolds began experiments with aluminum oil drilling pipe in 1959. Reed Roller Bit Co. of Houston has developed tool joints for the string that has been used by Shell Oil Co. the past 11 months in Dewitt County.

The Shell drilling rig was designed to drill to a depth of only 7,500 feet with steel pipe but has drilled to a depth of 11,500 feet with aluminum.

* * * *

PENNINGTON said aluminum pipe costs more than steel but offers cost saving opportunities that make it more economical to operate.

Aluminum drill pipe currently sells for $9.20 a foot compared to $6.20 for steel.

"But aluminum has a high value of $1.64 a foot as scrap," Pennington said. "Also, the deeper drilling with lighter rigs permits many economies."

FOR shame, says a reader, noting a crack at September in this dept. before the month had hardly gotten started.

Denzil Hedley suggests that after a dozen years here, this writer should become acclimated before too long. She goes on to relate how, as a child, she vacationed in the hot San Joaquin Valley and returned to "cool" Long Beach in September. She calls it a "wonderful month."

Well, it is possible it is cool here compared with the San Joaquin Valley, which is like hell's fire in September, as well as all summer.

But Septembers I've experienced here have been disappointing. It is the end of summer and the beginning of fall, when we'd had a right to expect cool, soothing temperatures. Instead, we've been blasted with hot spells—the hot backwash of summer, as I've dubbed it.

Now I'm not set in my opinion of September. I'm simply going on experience. It seems to me that if I'm to revise my judgment of the month, it is up to September, itself. If it will dish out pleasant, moderate weather for the next 25 days, I'll quit ranting about it.

Let the defenders of September see to it that it delivers the cool goods.

MEANWHILE, a youngster who feels that September is too hot for school—which will take up soon—has a suggestion to make.

Why not, he asks, keep the kids in school later in June, which is usually rather moderate, and let their vacation run on through September?

Well, why not?

LAST week's story here about the early day locomotive head-on crashes at state fairs reminded Iowa newsmen hereabouts of an old newspaper story worth recounting.

It seems that covering the locomotive crash at the Iowa State fair was assigned one year to a reporter who liked the bottle. Not wanting to be bothered by witnessing the crash, he stayed away and wrote a vivid account which he shot in to the city desk before retiring to the nearest bar.

Next day, he asked his editor how he liked the story.

"It was fine," said the editor, "but you might look at this."

And he handed him an Associated Press dispatch which related that rain and hail fell just before the locomotive event, making the rails so slick the wheels of the engines spun and they merely eased up to each other and harmlessly touched cowcatchers.

The reporter handed it back, put on his hat, walked out and was never seen there again.

EACH year, as you may know, a "senior golf tournament" is held in Nevada. The event will be in Reno next weekend.

It's for fellows over 50, which sort of poses a problem for some golfers. They'd like to participate, but in the event they do well, they'll get publicity and that will give away their age bracket.

At least two local golfers, however, have decided to face the issue. Harry P. Forman, wholesale auto supply man, and Brewster Gray, auto dealer, will be in the tournament at Reno.

So now the news is out, no matter how well they do.

WHILE the question rages over what to name the L.B. Auditorium Annex, Charles F. Reed makes an interesting discovery. The oval bldg., he says, is almost a dead ringer for the "Shaker Barn," landmark at Hancock, Mass., built in 1826. He accepts the futility of his suggestion the the L.B. bldg. be called Shaker Barn II.

LOCAL CELEBRATION IN BOSTON

USS Long Beach Commissioning Saturday

By GEORGE WEEKS

A Long Beach celebration will take place this week at the opposite side of the continent.

Twenty city officials and civic leaders will begin leaving Wednesday for the Naval Yard in Boston, Mass., where they will have a prominent part in the commissioning of the USS Long Beach—the nation's first nuclear-powered surface ship—at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Heading the delegation will be Mayor Edwin W. Wade and at least seven of the eight other city councilmen. Others will include City Manager John R. Mansell; Robert McNulty, chairman of the Armed Service Commission, harbor commissioners and Harry Fulton, city public relations coordinator, who first proposed the naming of the ship for Long Beach.

* * * *

LOCAL organizations sending representatives include the Long Beach Naval Shipyard Employes Association, Independent Business Men's Association and Chamber of Commerce.

The Long Beach visitors have been invited by the Navy to make a pre-commissioning tour of the vessel on Friday.

Secretary of the Navy John B. Connally will deliver the principal address at the ceremonies Saturday. Sponsor of the vessel, selected by the Navy at the christening in 1959, is Mrs. Craig Hosmer, wife of the Long Beach Congressman.

* * * *

IN CONNECTION with the commissioning city officials will present to the Navy a $20,000 silver service for use aboard the vessel and also a plaque bearing the city seal and the International City emblem.

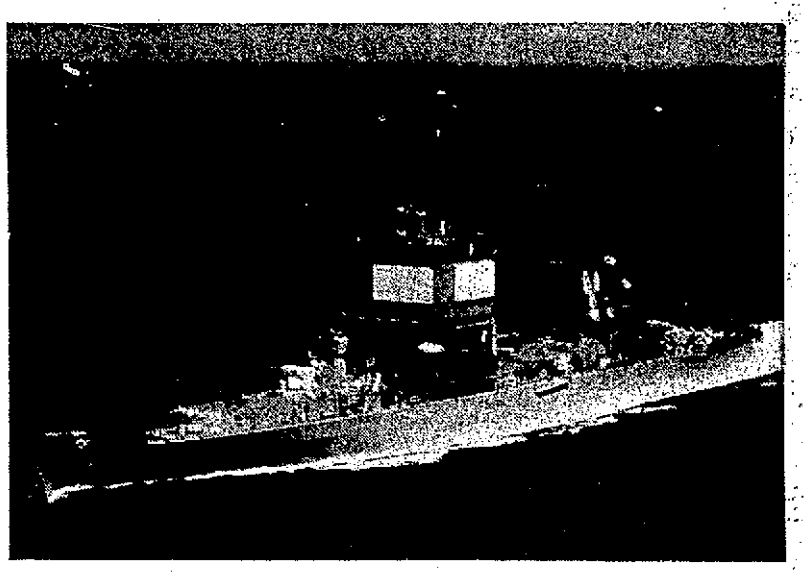

Four years in the building, the USS Long Beach is the nation's first U. S. cruiser to be designed and built from the keel up since World War II and the first surface ship to be armed with a main battery of guided missiles and powered by a nuclear engineering plant.

Keel for the $320,547,000 warship was laid Dec. 2, 1957, at the Bethlehem Steel Co. Shipyard in Quincy, Mass. General Electric built the main propulsion engines and gears. Reactor compartment components were manufactured by Westinghouse Electric.

THE CRUISER is the third Navy ship to bear Long Beach's name. The second, a World War II frigate which saw service in the Pacific, has been loaned to the Japanese Naval Defense Force and renamed. The first was a noncombatant cargo ship (AK-9) acquired from the U. S. Shipping Board in 1917.

Prospective commanding officer of the vessel is Capt. Eugene P. Wilkinson, USN, first commander of the nuclear submarine USS Nautilus. He is a native of Long Beach. About 860 officers and crewmen will serve aboard.

The Philadelphia Naval Shipyard has been assigned to install the Navy's Tactical Data System and perform post-delivery work.

Three Events Slated Here for Holiday

Few public events are scheduled Labor Day as most residents plan a quiet day at home or leave Long Beach for a holiday outing.

Scheduled are only three events: Speeches by Gov. Edmund Brown and State Assemblyman Joseph Kennick and a Long Beach Municipal Band concert.

* * * *

GOV. BROWN will address 10,000 members of the Retail Clerks Union and their families at a Labor Day picnic Monday at Disneyland. The governor is scheduled to speak at 11:45 a.m. under the park's Big Top.

* * * *

ASSEMBLYMAN Kennick will head a slate of speakers who will address Long Beach senior citizens at a rally at 11 a.m. Monday at 1138 E. Seventh St.

Another speaker at the rally, which will generally concern President Kennedy's social security program, will be George McLain, chairman of the California Institute of Social Welfare.

The Municipal Band will perform at a concert at 3 p.m. at Lincoln Park.

Ashtabula Back After 5-Month Pacific Cruise

The USS Ashtabula (AO-51) oiler, returned to her home port here Saturday morning after a five-month tour in the Pacific.

The Ashtabula, with a complement of 12 officers and 234 men, is skippered by Capt. V. G. Lambert, of Long Beach. She returned from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

During the cruise, the Astabula visited Yokosuka, Kobe and Sasebo, Japan and Hong Kong.

Unitization of Oil Field to Be Aired Before Forum

A non-technical discussinn about the successful unitization of Fault Block IV in the Wilmington Oil Field and the benefits to be gained will be held Wednesday at 7:15 a.m. in the Crown Cafeteria, First and Alamitos, at the Chamber of Commerce Community Forum.

Speakers will be city and harbor experts who helped put the unit and unit operating agreements together. Included will be City Atty. Gerald Desmond and members of his staff, Harbor Commissioner H. E. (Bud) Ridings, Port Manager Charles Vickers and M. D. Hughes, director of petroleum and subsidence control in the harbor.

The men will discuss some of the problems encountered in getting hundreds of persons to sign thousands of papers in connection with the anti-subsidence work. They also will tell some of the benefits that the harbor and city can expect from the repressurization of the oil field fault block and some of the economic gains that will result.

City Leaders Praise Life of Vermillion

Long Beach Civic leaders Saturday were unstinting in their praise and recognition of community contributions of George M. Vermillion, former Long Beach mayor for whom funeral services will be held Tuesday.

VERMILLION

One of the tributes came from the current president of the Long Beach area Council of Boy Scouts of America, Jerry S. Jacobs. Vermillion himself served for a time in the same capacity.

"If it hadn't been for Mr. Vermillion, who with his generosity and foresight about a quarter of a century ago provided, in a large part, the funds and property the local scouts now have, I really do not know where we would be," Jacobs said.

See editorial tribute on Page B-2

He said the former mayor was laregly responsible for the scouts' Camp Taquitz at Idlewild.

Harold Paige, a business associate of Vermillion's for 16 years said, "The community has lost one of the finest persons it ever had. George always was busy looking out for the other guy. He never thought of George."

Ill for some time, Vermillion was admitted for cardiac trouble Thursday at a Long Beach hospital. He died Saturday.

* * * *

THE FORMER mayor was prominent for many years in civic and club activities. A summary of his accomplishments is perhaps made clearest in the comments of Francis H. Gentry, himself a former mayor — from 1939 to 1942, said:

"I had known George since he was a druggist in 1918 at the Paschall pharmacy at 21st Street and Atlantic Avenue.

Francis H. Gentry, Mayor of Long Beach from 1939 to 1942, will join a group of civilians Sept. 5 for a nine-day orientation cruise aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea.

Lifeguards to Demonstrate Speed in Rescues

LIFEGUARD TOM DE LONG demonstrates one of the events in the second annual Taplin race set for 5 p. m. next Sunday in front of the Pacific Coast Club, under PCC and Los Angeles Athletic Club sponsorship. Taplin race involves lifeguard teams demonstrating swimming, paddleboard and two-man dory relay races, using standard rescue equipment. The race will begin at the beach entrance to the PCC at the foot of Alamitos Avenue. The course extends seaward 300 yards and back. Purpose of the event is to give the public an opportunity to see Long Beach lifeguards in action in a group demonstration. Approximately one-third of the lifeguard force will participate in the event.—(Staff photos by Bryan Hodgson.)

Junking of 1-Way Streets Would Be Big Step Backward

ANOTHER EFFORT WILL be made next Tuesday in the City Council to destroy downtown Long Beach's one-way traffic system. If that effort succeeds, the city will take a big step backward in the field of traffic control.

THE CASE FOR THE ONE-WAY system is overwhelming.

The system was established on the recommendation of a world-famous firm of traffic consultants, De Leuw, Cather & Co., after a very careful study which demonstrated that one-way streets would move traffic more efficiently and with greater safety.

One-way traffic reduces the number of conflicts between vehicles and between vehicles and pedestrians; the possibility of head-on collision is drastically reduced; it's easier to pass slow-moving cars and cars that are double-parked; streets with an odd number of lanes can be used more efficiently; total traffic load is distributed over more streets; traffic congestion is reduced and street capacity is increased. One-way streets help the bus drivers meet their time schedules, and on one-way streets the motorist has the choice in many cases of using either side of the street for parking. A wholesale change of one-way streets back to the two-way pattern would require the junking of hundreds of signposts and the rearrangement of parking meters.

For these reasons, among others, the City Traffic Department favors the one-way system and the Long Beach Safety Council has recommended that the one-way system be retained.

IN ALL FAIRNESS, IT MUST BE acknowledged that a few citizens, including some business men along the streets in question, have found the one-way system inconvenient. The main argument they offer is that one-way streets hurt business.

Perhaps some spots here and there have been adversely affected, although economic reverses may have been merely coincidental with the establishment of one-way streets. However, the economic health of the entire downtown area and the safety of the people who travel through it are at stake in this controversy. We would like to note that the defenders of the one-way system include numerous representative businessmen from all walks of the community's economic life.

THE WEIGHT OF THE EVIDENCE and the majority of expert opinion are on the side of one-way streets, and for the good of the community, we hope the votes will be on that side when and if the issue reaches the stage of decision at city hall.

George Vermillion

GEORGE VERMILLION was one of Long Beach's finest citizens.

His death ends a career during which he shared generously with his beloved home community the ability and drive which made him successful in the field of private business.

The long list of civic and official positions he held, including the mayorship of the city, does not tell the story of George Vermillion's contributions. He gave generous support both in money and hard, conscientious work to dozens of worthy causes. He was a friend of the needy, often lending aid to the distressed in a way that was never publicized. He was devoted to his family, to his friends, and to the community where he won success after a triumph over a personal problem of alcoholism. Of the latter, he spoke frankly. His achievement was an example and a hope to all confronted with that problem.

It is a tragedy that political misfortune clouded the last few years of his life. After winning a position on the Council and the mayorship, he was defeated for reelection. Because of his devotion to the community, it was a severe blow and it seemed to affect his spirit in the later years. With George Vermillion, the fickle turn of politics could never be accepted as "one of those things."

But he continued to give his best where opportunity opened, and he left a record both in private business and in public-civic service that stands as a worthy monument to a good man.

CAPITAL CAPERS

A Threat From a Lady

By ROBERT E. LEE AND BILL BROOM

WASHINGTON—When Richard M. Nixon was in town last week he lunched at the National Press Club one day as the guest of a group of correspondents. The group ate in the members' bar, which is strictly off-limits to women. Just before lunch time an excessively aggressive woman reporter called the club to announce that she'd heard Nixon was going to have a press conference in the bar — which was, of course, erroneous — and to warn that she intended to attend, regardless of club rules and the fact that she wasn't invited anyway.

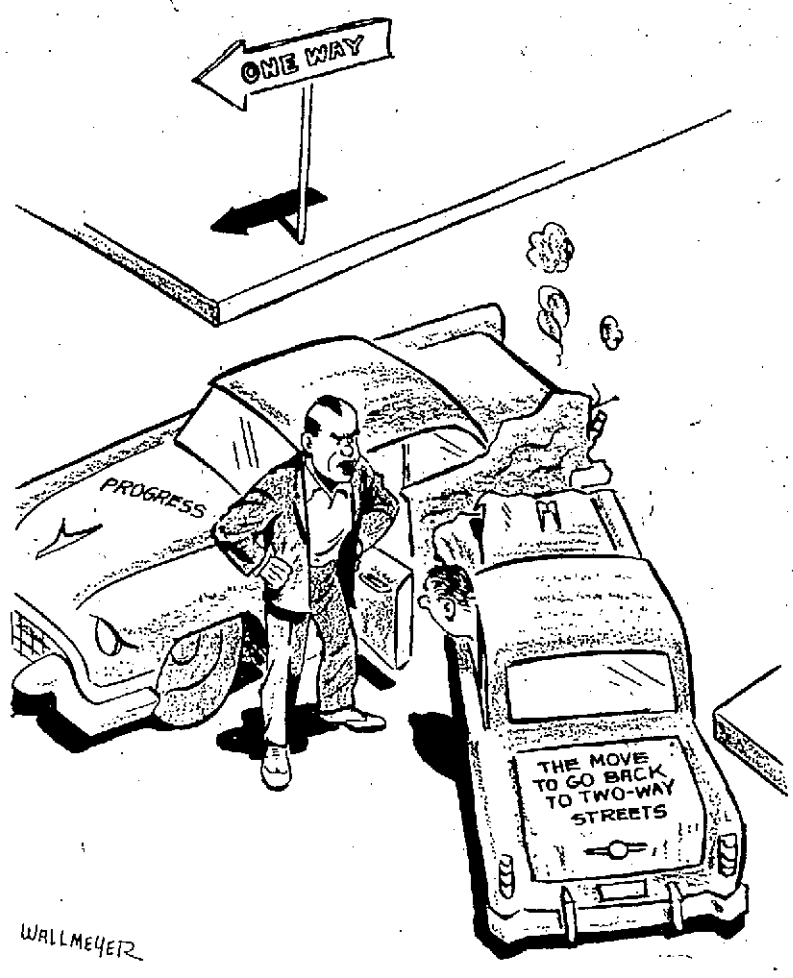

The lady in question is so noted for her self-assertive manner that the club management posted a burly bartender at the entrance to the bar just in case she or anybody else tried to crash the party. Happily for all concerned the lady did not show up and the luncheon went off without incident.

Nixon, a club member, used to drop in at the club occasionally but this was his first visit since his vice presidential days.

ANOTHER MEN'S CLUB, the exclusive Metropolitan club, has been in the news lately because some government officials have criticized its policy of admitting only white members. Angier Biddle Duke, the state department chief of protocol, quietly resigned some months ago because of the policy. When the fact of his resignation become known recently, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) wrote Duke a congratulatory letter calling the club "the last stronghold of mint julep, magnolia and country gentlemen with plantation manners."

Nuclear Fear Used by Nikita as Weapon on Political Front

WASHINGTON — In appraising the significance of the decision of the Soviets to resume nuclear testing, it is important to bear in mind that the ban on tests in the last three years has not meant any ban on the designing and development of new weapons on the drawing boards and in the laboratories. Inventors, engineers and scientists have had no ban placed on their mental operations or research activities.

LAWRENCE

The Soviets undoubtedly have reached the point where, in order to develop or perfect their designs, they now need to make full-scale tests of some of their devices — tests that cannot be conducted underground and remain undetected. So they cover up this phase with a lot of hooey charging the western allies with a planned aggression. The occasion is used to try to scare the west into a surrender on the Berlin issue.

* * * *

IT HAS LONG been suspected that the whole controversy over the nuclear-test ban was started by the Soviets for selfish reasons. A worldwide propaganda was initiated by the Communists which was aided and abetted by sincere and well-meaning scientists, politicians and ordinary citizens in the West who were naively inclined to believe that Moscow really wanted to avert nuclear warfare and that the test ban was the first step toward disarmament.

Actually, it begins to appear now that the Soviets knew in 1958 that the United States was two or three years ahead in the technology of nuclear weapons. Moscow wanted time to catch up—to digest their own information and develop devices to the testing point while making sure that the West would be suspending its tests. The United States government, being responsive to the public opinion that had been created, went along on the voluntary ban on testing. The impression that had been given to peoples everywhere was that a suspension of testing was somehow related to an early abolition of the use of nuclear weapons themselves.

* * * *

BUT NOW THE simple fact stares everybody in the face—the Soviets not only are openly resuming tests but they talk of new and more terrible weapons than have ever before been conceived. How can they know this except by having carried on tests? Have their designs had the benefit of secret tests heretofore and given them some ideas which were converted into threats in the latest Soviet pronouncement? Moscow took advantage of the opportunity also to apply pressure on the political front, and thought all this was worth the risk of alienating world opinion.

Days of Decision Collecting on State Political Calendar

SACRAMENTO (AP)—One by one, days of decision are building up on the cloudy California political calender. So is the suspense.

It's true that five candidates for statewide office set some sort of a record by announcing well before the autumn leaves start falling.

NIXON

Most others, though, are waiting for the traditional period after Labor Day to tell their plans for 1962.

Republicans, of course, are looking for the word from Richard M. Nixon on whether he'll try for the governorship. Until he speaks up, the entire GOP slate will remain unsettled.

The Democrats haven't shaped up their ticket either.

Who, for instance, is going to take on Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel? Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk perhaps? Or Sen. Richards, D-Los Angeles? If it's Mosk, will Richards run for attorney general?

Nixon under mounting party pressure to head the Republican state ticket, has indicated he'll make his announcement somewhere between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1. It may come after a conference of Republican leaders in San Francisco Sept. 23.

IF NIXON SAYS YES, you can promptly write off other Republicans who are waiting for his decision.

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, for one, says he won't run if Nixon does.

Former Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has been urged by friends to attempt a comeback, and he has shown moderate interest in the race.

Knight, governor from 1953 to 1958, is going calling on old political friends in Northern California this week, and nobody will be stunned if they talk a little politics.

Gov. Brown is a certainty to seek reelection, but he hasn't pin-pointed the time and place for staging his announcement.

There is still no sign of a Democratic opponent but there is plenty of talk about a possible protest candidate.

Remembering the big vote that pension promoter George McLain rolled up against Brown in the 1960 presidential primary, the governor's party foes—and he has his share—could well put up somebody to fight his nomination. Stanley Mosk, the Democrats' leading vote-getter in 1958, expects to announce his 1962 plans around Thanksgiving.

SOME DEMOCRATS WOULD like to see the attorney general seek re-election. Others are quietly circulating the idea of Mosk for the U.S. Senate.

Howard Jarvis, Los Angeles industrialist and a right-wing Republican, already has put himself in the race against Kuchel. And it's considered possible that Rep. John H. Rousselot of San Gabriel, reapportioned out of his congressional district, may offer further conservative opposition to the Republican senator.

Among state offices, it's a good bet that 68-year-old Roy E. Simpson will not seek re-election as superintendent of public instruction. He is expected to say so formally at a departmental staff meeting he has called for Sept. 26.

Simpson's job is nonpartisan, and doesn't figure directly in the strictly partisan discussions going on today.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, only Republican holding state office, is a declared candidate for re-election. The Democrats apparently haven't picked out his opponent.

In addition to Jordan and Jarvis, former Lt. Gov. Harold J. Powers and Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles, both Republicans, are campaigning for governor. Democratic Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson has indicated he'll run again.

DIRECTORS OF THE CALIFORNIA Republican Assembly will meet in Salinas Sept. 15-17 to name the CRA's candidates fact-finding committee—first step toward putting together a Republican slate.

The CRA's counterpart, the California Democratic Council, will get together on the Democratic ticket at its convention in Fresno next Jan. 25-28.

You Have to Be FOR Something!

EDITOR:

I would like to take this means of asking a very important question. It concerns the members of the ulta-conservative, far-right, pro-fascist Long Beach Fire Department. These men spend all of their working time either studying the nature of conflagrations or in extinguishing them.

This means that these reactionaries are against fire, although fire certainly has its good points in providing warmth and cooking our food. Besides being anti-Fire, what are these firemen FOR? You can't just be anti; you have to be FOR something.

We face this danger in many areas of our life today. The members of law-enforcement agencies are anti-Crime; and those in the medical associations are anti-Disease. Is this the true nature of Americans; that we be anti-Crime, anti-Fire, or anti-Disease? Surely, we must be FOR something. What is it?

Montreal System One for Us?

EDITOR:

I have reason to believe that our police cars might need a little changing. The Montreal police are changing from regular police cars to an ambulance with a big engine.

The advantage of an ambulance-type police car is almost obvious. I read an article in the press telling about an ambulance driver being sued by Los Angeles because he went out of his district to save a man's life. If the police car in this area had an ambulance set up in back, the police could have taken the victim to the hospital immediately; instead of the two hospitals arguing over which one should send out an ambulance while the injured person lay there dying.

The Montreal police are trained in first aid for about nine weeks.

I don't know if this idea is the solution to an old problem, but I think that it should be considered by our city.

DREW PEARSON

Top Soviet Editors Rib U.S. Journalist

MOSCOW—I called on Daniil Kraminov, a former Russian war correspondent attached to the American Army, whom I had met in Washington and who is now editor of the weekly magazine "Abroad." A few days later Mr. Kraminov invited me to a luncheon at the restaurant Prague "to meet some Soviet newspapermen." I wasn't sure what I was getting into, but I accepted.

PEARSON

Mr. Kraminov also invited Mrs. P., and when we arrived at the restaurant we were confronted with the "top brass" of Soviet journalism, most of them with several years experience in the USA.

They included: Pavel Satiukov, editor-in-chief of Pravda; Alexei Adzhubei, editor-in-chief of Izvestia; Boris Burkov, president of the Novosti Press Agency; Enver Mamedov, vice president of Novesti who used to be stationed in Washington; Alexander Vishnevski, vice director of Tass, who was introduced as a great competitor of Novosti; Pavel Erofeivev, secretary of the Union of Soviet journalists; Eugene Litoshko, chief of the American department of Pravda; Victor Mayevski, chief of the Asian-African department of Pravda; Nicolai Karev, former American correspondent of Izvestia; and Vikentii Matveev, Izvestia's commentator.

I was a bit flabbergasted at first, but we settled down to a give-and-take discussion of capitalism, communism, peace, war, cow barns, and personalities which may give American readers a pretty good idea of what Russian moulders of public opinion are thinking.

When Satiukov, editor of Pravda, asked my preliminary impressions of Moscow, I replied that I had been favorably impressed by the Botkin General Hospital, the secondary schools I had visited, and a state farm, which I said had better cows than mine, but whose cow barn "was not as clean as mine."

Later, Satiukov, in a little speech, recalled how he had been invited to appear on NBC's "Youth Wants to Know" TV program, was grateful for that opportunity. He remarked that newspapermen had a habit of playing up the critical and playing down the constructive, and he added:

"I have already noted your criticism of one of our cow barns."

"Ah, ha," Joshed Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, "I can already see the headline 'Red Barn Houses Dirty Cows'."

I had visions of the farm manager, a very good guy, being fired, and tried to explain. I was howled down. My chief ribber was Adzhubei, the son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev. He has a frank, open face, ruddy complexion, and a contagious sense of humor.

"On the front page of the New York Times," he said, this time in dead earnest, "they carried a story about Kennedy's mail on the Berlin crisis, with the headline 'Poison Khrushchev.' You clean up your journalism and we'll clean up our cow barns."

* * * *

I HAD TO AGREE that this was an unfortunate headline.

"We protect you in the Soviet Union by publishing the good things you have to say about us and omitting the bad things," Adzhubei continued, this time with a smile. "That's how good we are to you. (He was referring to me personally.)

"You also once did me a great favor," I shot back. "Some years ago Izvestia published a very critical editorial attacking me, and when Sen. McCarthy was going after me all I had to do was quote Izvestia in reply."

"We'll do you the same favor again," joked Adzhubei. "How about a headline 'Pentagon Spy Comes to Moscow'?"

"How did you like McCloy?" I asked, referring to Kennedy's disarmament adviser who recently conferred with Khrushchev. "I saw that you and McCloy got your coats mixed up."

"I did that purposely to see if there were any disarmament plans in his pocket," Khrushchev's son-in-law flashed back. "Unfortunately his coat was bare."

Perhaps the question most deeply concerning the Soviet editors was whether extreme right wing or semi-Fascist elements in the United States were gaining in strength and how much influence they had on the Kennedy administration.

Victor Mayevski of Pravda noted that George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi party had gone to the southern states to take advantage of the freedom rider riots and stir up further trouble. Kramenov said that Roscoe Drummond had recently written a column supporting the basic philosophy of the John Birch Society.

I REPLIED that the John Birch Society had only 60,000 members out of 180,000,00 people and that such conservative newspapers as the Los Angeles Times had carried a series of front-page editorials attacking it. The Soviet journalists recalled that Hitler had only a handful of followers at the very start but had caused a world war which almost took over all Europe.

There was considerable interest in the fact that President Kennedy conferred occasionally with Eisenhower and Nixon.

"We thought you had elected a new administration," remarked one editor.

Childhood Colds

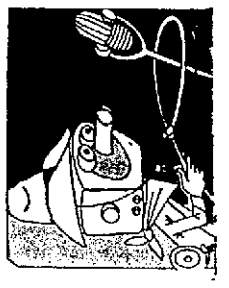

The average child under the age of ten has 40 to 60 per cent more colds and respiratory illnesses than his brother or sister who is over 10 but under 20, researchers have found.

LANGUAGES in the NEWS

By Charles F. Berlitz and Robert Strumpen-Darrie

TV viewers of westerns, both adult and juvenile, are being exposed to considerable vocabulary of Spanish origin. These words of cowboy usage, however, have often wandered quite far from their origin.

"Vamoose!" did not originally mean "go away!" but rather a more polite "let's go" — vamos (VAH-mohs). "Lasso" is lazo in Spanish (LAH-thoh) and means "knot." "Lariat" is la riata (lah-ree-YAH-tah) — "the rope." "Sombrero" has kept its original spelling and means "hat" — sombrero (sohm-BREH-roh), not necessarily a 10-gallon one. "Bronco" is simply "rough," "quarrelsome" — bronco (BROHN-koh). "Desperado" means "one without hope," a contraction of desesperado (des-ehs-pehr-RAH-doh).

Most western desperados eventually land in the "hoosegow" or "calaboose" which means "court"—juzgado (hoos-GAH-doh) and "jail" — calabazo (kahl-lah-BOH-thoh) respectively.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Drug Effective in Wide Range

(Prepared in collaboration with George X. Trimble, M.D., medical education director, Memorial Hospital of Long Beach.)

By BEN ZINSER

British researchers have developed what they say is the first penicillin effective against a wide range of germs.

Called Penbritin, the new preparation acts not only against bacteria ordinarily affected by penicillin but also against those organisms usually treated with tetracycline or chloramphenicol (Chloromycetin).

An important property of Penbritin is its activity against the salmonella germ, which causes food poisoning and paratyphoid fever, and the shigella germ, responsible for dysentery.

Penbritin, which is taken by mouth, is an outgrowth of research conducted by Beecham Research Laboratories of England.

Only two years ago Beecham discovered the process for manufacturing penicillin's nucleus: 6-amino-penicillanic acid. As a result, Beecham developed the first synthetic penicillin, known as phenethicillin and prescribed under such trade names as Syncillin, Alpen, Chemipen, Maxipen and Darcil.

Later came methicillin, trade-named Staphcillin, Celbenin and Dimocillin—a penicillin highly effective against resistant infections caused by Staphylococcus aureus, the "golden staph" germ.

Penbritin is the third and latest product of Beecham's penicillin research, according to the British Medical Journal.

HOT WEATHER may beef up the action of drugs that lower blood pressure, two London doctors report.

And as a result, they say, persons with high blood pressure who take such drugs may possibly suffer fainting spells during a heat wave.

The doctors—E. Montuschi and P. Pickens of Whittington Hospital—caution that physicians may have to reduce drug dosage when a hot spell comes along.

THE TRANQUILIZING drug Librium is safe even when an overdose is taken, according to two psychiatrists at the University of Sheffield in England.

Drs. F. A. Jenner and D. Parkin report in the journal Lancet that a 23-year-old woman patient suffering from depression and anxiety hoarded 185 capsules of 10mg strength. Then she swallowed all of them at one sitting, in a suicide attempt, and went to bed to die.

Twelve hours later the patient's mother went to call her and found her in a semiconscious condition. The patient was taken to a hospital where her stomach was washed out.

The patient was drowsy for three days and complained of headaches and inability to stand or sit by herself. But she recovered.

This case confirms that Librium is a comparatively safe drug, the doctors say. Unlike barbiturates, Librium does not appear to depress a person's respiratory mechanism.

LONG AGO Dr. Dan B. Greer of Cheyenne, Wyo., recognized the value of an automobile seat belt: He made his own out of airplane-belt parts until commercial belts became available.

Nowadays, he reports to Medical Tribune, teenage motorists, noting the shoulder harness he wears with his seat belt, ridicule him with such remarks as, "Afraid you're going to fall out of the car?"

"I am quite certain," he says, "that none of these people would have the stomach to stand in the emergency room and see the mangled bodies and dead bodies that I have observed."

Seat belts are so effective in reducing the death and major-injury figure that Dr. Greer says "the continual preaching (about seat-belt safety) is worth while."

Find $1 Million; Arrest Teacher

NICE, France (AP)—A blond school teacher was arrested Saturday after police reported $1 million worth of gold pieces, jewelry and gems were found in her apartment.

Helene Chanbovet, 25, teacher in a private school at Antibes, said she has been keeping the valuables for a boy friend she has known about four years, but whom she knows only by the name of Sacha, police said.

Exchange Students Return From Orient

SEATTLE (AP)—A summer in the Far East behind them, 83 American exchange students arrived in Seattle Saturday from Tokyo.

They were accompanied by 20 Indonesians who will stay with American families and attend high schools in the United States for a year under the student exchange program sponsored by the American Field Service.

WHY THE EXTRA M?

SMAMA Cause of Great Confusion at Air Base

WASHINGTON (UPI)—How come the Air Force designates the Sacramento Air Materiel Area as SMAMA?

Where, a UPI reporter wanted to know, did the extra M come from?

Not that he cared much, he told Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., but some editor was sure to ask.

Well, Moss, who had used it in a press release, didn't know either. So he asked the Air Force liaison office in the House. No one there knew either. So they asked the Pentagon.

The brass finally came up with an answer: It seems there is an Air Materiel Area in San Antonio, Tex., logically enough, is known as SAAMA.

This meant, the Air Force said, that the Sacramento Air Materiel Area could not be SAAMA—It had to be SMAMA.

Well, does the M stand for McClellan, like in McClellan Air Force Base?

Oh, no. It stands for the M in Mento.

S for Sacra, M for Mento. Get it?

By this time the reporter was so confused he forgot to ask why they didn't simply call it SAMA.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Stewarts' Africa Safari Ends; Anyone for Oryx?

By EARL WILSON

Beverly Hills — Jimmy Stewart is currently buttonholing Hollywood friends and demanding, "Is there any place you could use an oryx head?"

An oryx is one of the beasts he and wife Gloria slew on a recent African safari. What to do with all their jungle trophies is becoming a problem for Jimmy and his rifle-packin' mama.

"We've got a room downstairs for the kids—the kids may have to go," laughed Mrs. Stewart the other afternoon, as she considered their problem.

STEWART

Jimmy, sitting in their luxurious book-filled den here, turned to me. "You're sure you couldn't use an oryx head?"

They were together in the jungle for a month, with only another couple and their white hunters, and returned friends—a pretty good test for a marriage. About the only word they had from the outside world was a cable to Jimmy from John Ford. The cable said: "What's new?"

"Plenty," Jimmy cabled back.

Their description of it would make a good album, TV show, or even a movie. "Weren't you scared?" I asked.

"It's not nearly as dangerous as being in the traffic on the Hollywood Freeway — especially when Gloria's driving," Jimmy insisted.

* * * *

JIMMY got a tiger, and Mrs. Jimmy got a leopard on a previous safari in India. On this expedition, Mrs Stewart at one point was charged by 300 buffaloes. Or it may have been 200. She didn't stop to count.

Jimmy was many yards away at the time, watching the threatened destruction of his wife through binoculars.

"I knew nothing would happen—with the white hunter standing there," Mrs. Stewart recounted. "What did I do? I just screamed and yelled!"

"What did I do?" said Jimmy. "There was nothing for me to do but watch them trample over poor Gloria. But naturally, with Gloria screaming and yelling at them, the 300 buffalo got scared and ran away in terror."

"HOW do you account for your wife's huntsmanship?" I asked.

"Bloodthirsty, I guess," Jimmy said.

Mrs Stewart marveled at it a little herself. "People ask me, how did I feel after I'd walked up 20 yards in front of an elephant, and shot it, and I said, 'Delicious!' You see, I've always been a great animal lover—and still am."

She added that some of the animals, when old, are mangled by the younger ones, and for them to be shot is perhaps merciful.

"But I'm not going to say that you kill them for kindness, even though to the old, old boys it probably is a kindness," she said.

BECAUSE Peter Ustinov is busy with a multitude of things, his family comes to see him on the London studio set where he is working. He's surrounded by his actress wife, Suzanne Cloutier, and children, Pavla, 7; Igor, 5; and Andrea Claudia, 2.

Versatile Ustinov

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Writes, Acts, Directs, Produces

By BOB THOMAS

LONDON (UPI)—The amazing thing about Peter Ustinov is not that he does so many things so well. It is that he does them so easily.

By now, the Ustinov versatility is well known. It has never been more evident than in 1961. Already he has:

Won the Academy Award for his supporting performance in "Spartacus"; released a successful film, "Romanoff and Juliet," which he starred in, produced, directed and wrote from his own hit play; performed the same duties for a film of "Billy Budd," though the original was written by another author, Herman Melville; enjoyed good reviews and brisk sales for his first novel, "The Loser;" written a play, "Photo Finish," for production in London this fall; and produced a best-selling book caricaturing ex-Nazis, "We Were Only Human."

* * * *

SUCH A CREATIVE harvest would lead you to expect Ustinov to be an explosive bundle of energy. But he isn't. With his well-padded frame, he looks and acts like a puckish friar.

"It is quite convenient, not having to go through channels," he said. "I am writing all the time, seeking ways to improve scenes, and I don't have to call a conference to do so. The only trouble is a bit of schizophrenia on my part."

The question arose: How does he keep all his activities separate and unconfused?

* * * *

"I DO ONLY one thing at a time," he explained. "There was a time in my youthful exhuberance when I tried to do everything at once. I could hardly wait to finish one thing so I could get on to the next.

"I am different now. When I get started on a project, I think of nothing else and I am in no hurry to finish it."

And how does he manage to accomplish so much?

"I read somewhere that most humans use only 2 per cent of their actual brain capacity. That might be a bit low. Even if it were 80 per cent, that leaves a lot of creative energy that can be tapped."

* * * *

BORN IN London 40 years ago to a writer-caricaturist and his artist wife, Peter had a solid British education. But his Russian name and ancestry gave him an external and often satiric view of things English. His knack for spoofing pomposity was sharpened during his Army service in the war.

Lew Ayres Returning to Movies After Eight Years

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lew Ayres, once ranked among Hollywood's biggest stars, is returning to movies after an absence of eight years.

Ayres has been signed by Columbia Studios to portray a vice president of the United States in a movie version of the political novel "Advise and Consent."

During his absence from the screen, Ayres has been working in TV. He also traveled the world for a year shooting religious documentary films.

Despite the minor elements of his part, Ayres said the role may get some recognition and remembrance.

"THIS IS NOT the conventional type role for me," he said. "A conventional part for me is generally straight and sincere, perhaps with a sense of humor.

"I can't think of anybody who has played a doctor more than I have," he said with a smile, referring to his work in "Dr. Kildare" movies. "Sometimes I think I should get free treatment."

Ayres said he had offers for other picture parts during his eight years away from the screen, but added "I won't say I was flooded with them."

DISCUSSING current movie production, he said: "There seems to be a general tendency for more and more violence. A lot of it seems to be playing to the geratest common denominator."

Some members of the movie industry don't have "enough social conscience," Ayres said.

"The driving urge seems to be artistic freedom for the artist," he said. "This concerns me too and I don't say it's all wrong. But it's not attuned to the fact that there is a great emergency now.

"I only wish the real artists were attuned to the great problems of mankind. The artist has a chance to encourage mankind to do the nobler things."

Miss America 35 Years Old on Saturday

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) —That grandmother of beauty contests, the Miss America Pageant, turns 35 next week, but Atlantic City never loved her more.

"Pageant week is the only time of the year when this entire town gets excited about anything," said a native. "Most of us figure Miss America is our own private institution."

Local mothers vie to get their daughters on floats in the pageant parade. "It's the nearest thing we have to being presented to society," one mother explained.

* * * *

SOME 25,000 persons usually watch the final night of the pageant. Pageant officials say they believe most of the audience is made up of local people instead of the Philadelphians who outnumber residents at many big events here.

With the Miss America competition the sole topic of conversation here all week, other beauty contests inevitably are mentioned — always without a good word for the imitator.

In fact, the feeling that the Miss America Pageant stands head and shoulders above the others seems to be the source of much of the enthusiasm. "The pageant satisfies their desires for a feeling of self-righteous respectability," an amateur psychologist theorized.

* * * *

"I'VE BEEN TO some of these other contests and I know what they're like," said Mrs. John M. Alton, chairman of the hostess committee for the pageant. "The finest young girls from good families come here. Because we have careful controls, we don't have any of these wild show-type things like the others."

"Miss America sure ain't a leg show anymore," an old-timer said. "The girls today are nearly all good clean college kids. It's a change from the old days, I remember some of the bags they used to bring in here."

The Miss America Pageant was the first of the "leg shows" when it was started in 1921. However, it collapsed after the 1927 contest and, except for one try in 1933, wasn't revived again until 1935.

* * * *

OFFICIALS OF THE reborn event have worked ever since to give the pageant respectability above all else, and to give respect to the title of Miss America.

The pageant now is considered so respectable that even calling it a "beauty contest" causes pained expressions in some circles. It is officially described by the executive director, Miss Lenora Slaughter, as "a contest of beauty, poise, charm, talent and intelligence."

Beginning with last year's pageant, talent counted twice as many points in the judging as any other single category.

* * * *

COLLEGE GIRLS are attracted to the contest today by the scholarship awards program started in 1945, when a $5,000 scholarship went to Miss America. Since 1947, state pageants have awarded other scholarships.

Miss America now receives a $10,000 scholarship and every girl in the national pageant gets some scholarship award, with the total running between $35,000 and $40,000. Local and state pageants give another $250,000 worth of scholarships in their contests.

Besides the $10,000 scholarship and assorted gifts, the girl who succeeds Nancy Anne Fleming of Montague, Mich., next Saturday night will be paid some $75,000 and expenses for personal appearances during the year of her reign.

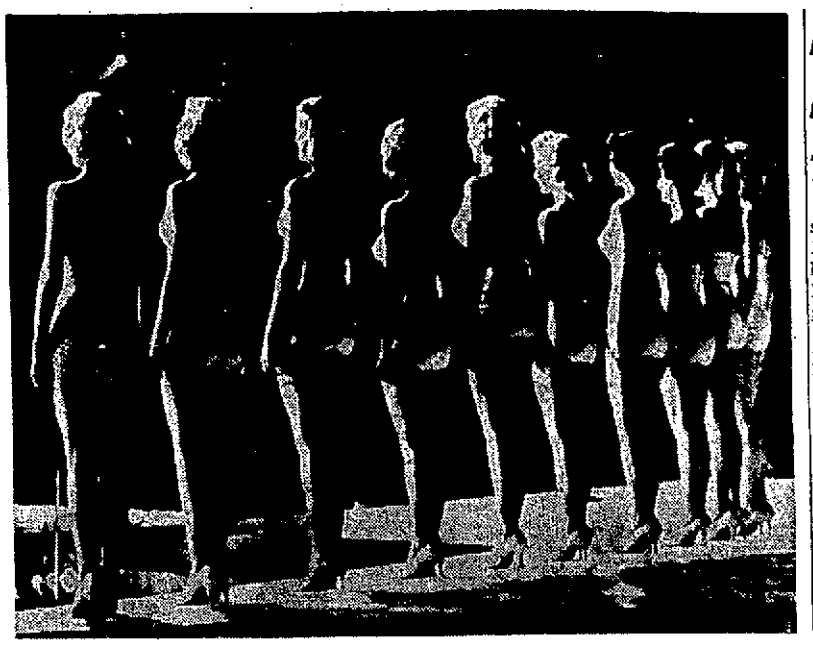

* * * *

IT IS ESTIMATED that 10,000 girls or more entered local contests this year alone.

The theme of this year's pageant will be "Salute to the American Girl."

All but 10 of the contestants will be eliminated by Saturday. Then the judges will narrow the field to five finalists.

And at midnight, one girl will enter a Cinderella world. Her life will never be quite

Exposition Director to Orient

The first overseas representative for the proposed 1966 Long Beach Planet of Man International Exposition left for Japan from Los Angeles Saturday.

George W. Waltz, an exposition director, will open an Orient office for the planned world's fair during his tour of Tokyo and other Far East cities.

* * * *

EXPOSITION president Thomas W. Blodgett said other directors will leave later this month to open other foreign offices to encourage participation in the scheduled Long Beach fair.

Scheduled to establish the overseas offices are Pietro DiCarlo, Europe; Dr. R. J. Carreon, Latin America, and L. O. Griffiths, Australia.

Bidding Waltz success as he boarded a Japan Air Lines plane were Long Beach Vice Mayor Bert Bond; Exposition general manager Fred Hall; Exposition treasurer and former U.S. treasurer Ivy Baker, Priest Stevens, and actor George Murphy who will produce entertainment shows at the proposed fair.

* * * *

THE EXPOSITION would cost more than $100 million and would be built on a pier yet to be built.

The 300-acre international city would be turned over to the city at no extra cost at the end of the 12-month run.

Vermillion Praised for Work

He built a fine career in the city and he served with honor and sincercity as mayor."

Vermilion was mayor from 1954 until 1957. At one time he was the owner of four drug stores.

An oil field worker when he first came to Long Beach in 1923, later served as a member of the school board, from 1941 to 1954. In 1954 he was elected to the city council and subsequently was appointed mayor.

* * * *

In 1957, Vermillion ran unsuccessfully for the post of councilman in the 8th District. He was defeated by Charles Dooley, a North Long Beach merchant.

* * * *

VERMILLION HAD also served in other civic capacities.

He was chairman of the Heart Fund campaign in 1958 and administered at one time the March of Dimes campaign.

He also was president of the Long Beach Boy's Club, a board member of the Children's Hospital Clinic, a member of Kiwanis and president of the Long Beach Pharmaceutical Association.

He is survived by his wife, Hazel, and two sons, George Jr. and Charles. Services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Sunnyside Memorial chapel.

Earth Losing Water, May Become Desert

PASADENA (AP)—The earth is continually losing its water and some day will turn into a desert, an astronomer said Saturday after study of a vast hydrogen cloud surrounding this planet.

But don't lose any sleep over this grim prospect — the water loss is so slow that a billion years may pass before men get really thirsty.

The hydrogen cloud, 800,000 miles in diameter with a comet-like tail four million miles long, was discovered by rockets fired from White Sands, N. M., by the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory.

The rockets carried devices to measure the hydrogen in the thin upper reaches of the atmosphere. With these measurements Dr. John C. Brandt, National Science Foundation astronomer working at Mount Wilson and Palomar observatories, charted the probable extent of the hydrogen cloud.

HYDROGEN is the stuff of which the most powerful nuclear bombs are made. Could proposed nuclear testing in space touch off a chain reaction through the earth-enveloping hydrogen cloud?

Not a chance, says Dr. Brandt—the hydrogen atoms in the cloud are too far apart.

The existence of the cloud was discovered when rockets carried radiation counters high into the sky. Among the radiation encountered was a kind given off by hydrogen subjected to strong sunlight. It cannot be detected from the earth's surface because it is absorbed by the dense lower atmosphere.

How did the hydrogen get out that far into space?

* * * *

DR. BRANDT, in a report released by the California Institute of Technology, explains it this way:

Water vapor from rain clouds sometimes rises as high as 50 miles. Here it becomes so thin that when sunlight strikes the vapor it breaks down into its basic atoms of hydrogen and oxygen.

The heavier oxygen drops back down through the atmosphere. The lighter hydrogen atoms rise on up, forming the vast cloud, and eventually escape into space, never to return.

This process means the earth is continually losing water which cannot be regained. But it's a very slow process.

In a billion years, however, the loss may become critical. The actual length of time, Dr. Brandt ventures, will depend on how soon the sun fulfills its predicted destiny—turning into a blazing red giant of a star.

Dahlia Show

Dahlia hobbyists from San Diego to San Francisco will exhibit in mass display and specimen bloom competition at the show next Saturday and Sunday in Mayfair High School, 6000 Woodruff Ave., Lakewood. The show will be open from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

'WINGS OVER THE WORLD'

23rd Annual Display of Aircraft Here Sept. 24

The 23rd annual "Wings Over the World," aid show, featuring displays of military and commercial aircraft, will be held Sept. 24 at Long Beach Municipal Airport.

The event, sponsored by the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 10 a.m. and continue to 4 p.m.

In addition to military and commercial aircraft displays, said Myron R. Godwin Jr., of the Junior Chamber, there will be numerous static displays, airplane and helicopter rides and continuous entertainment.

"Miss Wings Over the World," to preside over the event, will be selected at 8 p.m. Sept. 23 at 8 p.m. at a Mayor's banquet in the Lafayette Hotel. She will be selected from among stewardesses from leading airlines.

Club Will Install Glogauer

Dr. Otto Glogauer will be installed president of the Long Beach After Dinner Speaking Club when the group begins its 36th year of regular meetings at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Jones Dining Room, 120 E. Fifth St.

GLOGAUER

Other officers to be installed are: Dr. Russell Squire, vice president; B. J. Young Jr., secretary; W. M. Huddleston, treasurer; Dr. John Harris, parliamentarian and Dr. Otis Castleberry, mentor.

The speakers will include Charles Evett, long time member of the group, and Dr. Squire.

"Your grandchildren will grow up under Communism!"

says NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

Will the Soviet threat come true? Will your grandchildren live under Communism? Forget God? Salute the Soviet flag? "Never!" you say. But are you sure? How can you oppose Communism? One sure way is to help Radio Free Europe.

The voice is that of Nikita Khrushchev.
The audience is American.
"Your grandchildren will grow up under Communism!" he shouts.
Do you believe that?
Will your children live to see the Free World die?
Will your grandchildren live in barracks with their hair shaved off? Forget God? Salute the Soviet flag?
"Never!" you say. But are you sure?
What can you do to oppose Communism? There is one sure way. It is to help Radio Free Europe.

What does it do?
Every day, to 79 million captive people behind the Iron Curtain, it broadcasts the plain truth . . . religious services . . . folk songs they love . . . the real news of the outside world.

It helps keep these 79 million people from turning to Communism. The Poles, Czechoslovakians, Bulgarians, Rumanians and Hungarians.
It keeps alive their belief in the Free World . . . their hope for the future . . . their friendship for America.
Broadcasting from 28 transmitters . . . manned by escapees from Communism . . . working 18 hours a day . . . it reaches over 90% of these people, despite Communist jamming.
Thousands of smuggled letters echo the same plea:
"God Bless You! Please keep Radio Free Europe on the air!"

These 79 million people are vital to the cause of freedom . . . the future of your children.
They are the buffers between Russia and the Free World. They help tie up 30 Russian divisions, stationed to prevent uprisings.
They pose a major obstacle to the Russians starting any war. And they depend on Radio Free Europe. It is their strongest link with the Free World.

But Radio Free Europe needs money to continue this important job . . . to grow . . . to become ever more effective.
It is privately supported and depends on individual Americans for its very existence.
How about it? Will you help fight Communism? Secure the future of your children?
. . . Give a dollar?
. . . Give five dollars?
. . . or more?
Surely, your heart tells you to give something so that our children—and all children—shall live in freedom throughout the world.

Give Now To . . . RADIO FREE EUROPE

French Seize 20 Rightists for Terrorist Campaign

PARIS (AP)—French police said Saturday they have seized important documents from one section of the widely scattered anti-government movement in France and arrested 20 of its members. The leaders are still in flight, however.

Acts of violence were blamed on the plotters, including a murder with a plastic bomb.

A spokesman at the Interior Ministry said the seized documents confirmed existence of a "provisional government for a French Algeria" and clearly identified Joseph Ortiz as one of its leaders.

Ortiz is under a death sentence for his part in the 1960 Algerian barricades uprising and is believed to have been living in exile on the Spanish island of Majorca since the insurgent movement collapsed.

Police said that the right-wing network was responsible for a number of recent plastic bomb attacks in France. The captured documents indicated Ortiz sent instructions for the attacks through an elaborate courier network.

Most of the arrests, which took place during the past few days but were kept secret, were in southwestern France.

Among the attacks which police attribute to the movement were the plastic explosion which killed Camille Blanc, mayor of Evian, a few days before the opening of peace talks with the Algerian rebels last May, and an explosion and fire in the National Assembly in Paris last spring.

Many blasts of plastic, a sticky type explosive, have been blamed on rightists.

The police identified Ortiz, Gen. Jacques Faure and Dr. Bernard LeFevre as other members of the nebulous "Provisional Government of French Algeria."

Gen. Faure is being held in Sante prison awaiting trial for a part in the generals' revolt in April. Faure long has been identified with right-wing actions in Algeria. Dr. LeFevre, known principally as a political theoretician, was expelled from Algeria for his rightist activities. His whereabouts are unknown.

Germans Protested by Welsh Marchers

CARDIFF, Wales (UPI) — About 500 demonstrators marched through the streets of Cardiff Saturday in protest against the presence of 400 West German troops and 40 tanks in Wales.

The organizers had expected about 5,000 to turn out.

Dodger, Tiger Pennant Hopes Jolted

Spahn Spins 7-Hitter, 4-0

By GEORGE LEDERER
I, P-T Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — Warren Spahn passed another name in the record books and the Dodgers all but passed out of the pennant picture Saturday.

The 40-year-old Spahn, who, like bourbon improves with age, was 100 (fool) proof in pitching the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-0 victory that dropped the Dodgers 3½ games behind the league-leading Reds.

With 26 games to play, the Dodgers' magic number for pennant elimination has been reduced to 21. Any combination of 21 Dodger defeats and/or Cincinnati victories will sew up the flag for baseball's oldest franchise.

The Dodgers brought home a 5-10 record from their next-to-last trip of the season and they displayed some dime store wares along the way. Ahead is a seven-game series with the always troublesome Giants, beginning at the Coliseum this afternoon.

* * * *

JOHNNY PODRES (17-4) is matched against Mike McCormick in the opener. Night games Monday through Wednesday complete the Coliseum half of the series.

Manager Walter Alston believes that the Dodgers "ought to win four of the seven to stay close. It would be nice to win five and I'd say that would put us in pretty good shape. It's tough to say exactly what we have to do. It all depends on what Cincinnati does."

PLANK'S RECORD is listed in some books as 304, 305 in others and 325 in one, counting 21 wins in the outlaw Federal League.

Spahn, who still has only a 17-31 lifetime record against the Dodgers, didn't care about the dispute. He was happy to register his first shutout over his jinx club since 1949 and to beat the Dodgers three times in one season the first time since 1950.

Only two Dodgers reached third base as Spahn fashioned a seven-hitter for his 17th victory against 12 losses. He

Seyfried to Tigers

Long Beach rookie pitcher Gordon Seyfried was called up by the Detroit Tigers Saturday. He had a 12-7 record with Denver of the American Assn.

2-Year Pact for Birdie

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Milwaukee Braves manager Charlie Dressen was fired Saturday in a surprise move and executive vice-president Birdie Tebbetts was named to replace him.

Tebbetts, who said three years ago he'd never manage again, resigned voluntarily from his front office job to "go back to the sweat and action" of the playing field.

He added, however, that by taking the job he was not eliminating himself from further executive positions in baseball. General manager John McHale, who made the announcement at a press conference following the Braves' 4-0 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers, said Tebbetts will "finish out this season as field manager." He has signed a two-year contract for 1962 and 1963.

* * * *

DRESSEN, who was in the second year of a two-year contract, said he didn't know about the firing "until this afternoon." He said it would take him a couple of days to clean out his desk, "and then I'm going back to the West Coast." He said he had called Los Angeles Dodger general manager Buzzie Bavasi as soon as he learned of the firing, but didn't say what they talked about.

McHale said Tebbetts was hired and Dressen fired at this time "because Tebbetts might not be available next year." He said that Braves' owner Lou Perini has been trying to hire Tebbetts as manager since 1946.

MCHALE SAID the Braves are not displeased with the way Dressen ran the club, but "there were a lot of disciplinary problems and friction among the players."

Dressen said, "I wanted to stay on and I wanted a new contract. I thought Tebbetts was going to be president."

Dressen blasted the timing of the move. "If they had thought of making a change," he said, "they might have wanted to make it before the All-Star game."

Reds Collect 17th in Row From Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds boosted their National League lead to 3½ games over the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday with a 7-4 victory over their favorite "cousins" the Philadelphia Phillies.

Home runs by Vada Pinson, Jerry Lynch and Gene Freese helped the Reds to their 17th straight of the season over the last place Phils.

The victory moved Cincinnati within five games of becoming the first team in major league history to blank an opponent over a season's play.

* * * *

JOEY JAY won his 19th against only eight defeats although the husky right-hander wasn't as sharp as usual and several times prompted bullpen action.

He finally needed help on this hot, sultry day — the temperature was in the 90s—when the Phillies rallied for a run in the ninth on a single, a hit batsman and Tony Taylor's double. Bill Henry came on to strike out John Callison for the final out with two men on base.

ACTION GALORE AT WRIGLEY FIELD

Action was hot and heavy at Wrigley Field Saturday as typified by pictures of staff photographer Skip Shuman. On left, Angels' Leon Wagner is forced at second as Dick Howser of K.C. relays throw to first in fourth inning. Jerry Lumpe is in back of Howser and ump Jim Honochick in background. On right, Angels' Tom Satriano is about to slide home safely in seventh inning as Haywood Sullivan can't pick up throw from Bobby Del Greco.

Yanks Surge Ahead by 3½

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roger Maris crushed the Detroit Tigers with his 52nd and 53rd homers Saturday, spurting eight games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace while powering the New York Yankees to a 7-2 victory that increased their lead to 3½ games in the American League.

Maris' first homer of the game came off loser Frank Lary in the sixth inning and broke a 2-2 tie. His second wallop was at the expense of reliever Hank Aguirre with one on in the eighth and capped a four-run rally.

All told, Maris collected three of the Yankees' eight hits and drove in three runs with a double in addition to his two homers.

* * * *

EVEN WITH Maris' slugging, relief ace Luis Arroyo still had to put down an eighth-inning threat that earned him his 26th "save" of the year and preserved Ralph Terry's 12th victory.

The Tigers jumped in front in the first inning when Rocky Colavito hit his 40th homer with Al Kaline on base. But the Yankees scored single runs in the second and fourth to tie the score and set the stage for Maris' tie-breaking homer with two out in the sixth.

McBride's Six-Hitter Stifles K.C.

By ROSS NEWHAN

The names are the same, only the place has been changed to protect a harassed American League schedule maker.

The Angels and Kansas City continue their "eight-game series" this afternoon in Kansas City, where everything's up-to-date except the Athletics. After splitting the first four games of the set at Wrigley Field, the Angels and A's play a single game today, a doubleheader Monday and a single night game Tuesday in spacious Municipal Stadium.

Attempting to notch the Angels' ninth win in the 15th meeting with K.C. will be Jack Spring (0-0), the recently acquired southpaw who hurled hitless ball for five innings in his first start

Same Old Bill Wade

Ram fans unhappy with the early performances of Zeke Bratkowski and Frank Ryan can take heart with some news the writer picked up in Chicago two days ago: Bill Wade is doing no better—maybe worse—for the Bears.

The Rams unloaded Wade to George Halas U. during the off-season for undesirable Zeke Bratkowski. When the deal was completed, Papa Bear Halas immediately declared Wade almost certainly would be his No. 1 quarterback "because he's the kind of man we've been wanting for a long time."

BILL WADE
Still No Fireball

Apparently, Halas better keep on looking for his man. During the past seven weeks Halas has been observing Wade as the Rams had glimpsed him for seven seasons. This was Halas' summation of Wade after seven weeks:

"The present situation with Wade and Brown (Ed) is no different from the days of Bratkowski and Brown. The Bears still have no first quarterback.

"Wade has a tendency to be very good or very bad. There's no in-between with him. We could go for a big afternoon with Bill or get run out of the stadium. His passing is outstanding, but his field generalship is not in the class of a Unitas."

Give Halas credit for one thing: He learned in six weeks what it took the Rams to discover in seven years.

"It looks like another dubious season for the Bears," commented a Chicago writer who covers the NFL club. "We've never had that real good quarterback for a long time. The Bears drafted Bratkowski as an undergraduate at Georgia, but he never fulfilled his destiny.

"As Halas says, Wade lies in the same mold of both Brown and Zeke."

My earlier selection of the Bears to wind up sixth in the seven-team Western Division wasn't ridiculed by the Bear scribe.

He pointed out the Bear defensive secondary is so poor that Harlon Hill, the onetime great offensive end, has been installed at a defensive back spot. Rick Casares apparently has slowed up so badly at fullback that rookie Bill Brown from Illinois may spend more time there than man-about-town Rick.

It does look like a dubious season for the Bears . . . even with the great Monday morning quarterback, Mr. Wade.

THE BEARS AREN'T ALONE in the Outstanding Quarterback Dept. When you count noses only three clubs seem strong in the vital passing role.

Johnny Unitas at Baltimore, Milt Plum at Cleveland and Bart Starr at Green Bay stand alone in the league and on their respective teams.

Bobby Layne will have no competition at Pittsburgh—although he's obviously over the hill—and Sam Etcheverry probably has the Chicago Cardinal job sewed up. Likewise George Shaw of the toddling Minnesota Vikings.

ALL THE OTHER CLUBS have problems with two mediocre quarterbacks. The Rams are fidgeting each game with Bratkowski and Frank Ryan . . . the Bears have Brown and Wade.

New York has a threesome — Charlie Conerly, Y. A. Tittle and Lee Grosscup.

Detroit hasn't yet drawn a line between Jim Ninowski and Earl Morrall. Ditto at San Francisco, where there's John Brodie and Bill Kilmer (and maybe even "Muddy" Waters).

Sonny Jurgensen and King Hill are neck-and-neck at Philadelphia . . . Eddie LeBaron and Don Meredith are on an even basis at Dallas . . . Ralph Guglielmi and young Norman Snead are clashing at Washington.

This evaluation lends more than a little nourishment to this corner's selection of Baltimore to sack the Western Division title this season.

Unitas is the very best at the most important spot. Why buck the chalk, when everything else is equal?

I WILL BE INTERESTED to learn if there was another reason why the Rams unloaded Del Shofner (and another player) to the Giants for a draft choice.

The unsolicited opinion of this corner is that this deal might have paved the way for the Rams' acquisition of Y. A. Tittle.

Despite denials from Hirsch, Waterfield, Teele and Company, I'll have to think the Rams may have given away Lazy Legs Del for the very-soon acquisition of ancient Y. A.

And wouldn't you think that venerable Y.A.T. will be responsible for a few more TDs than Lazy Legs? You bet your life you would.

RICHARDS TO BOSS HOUSTON

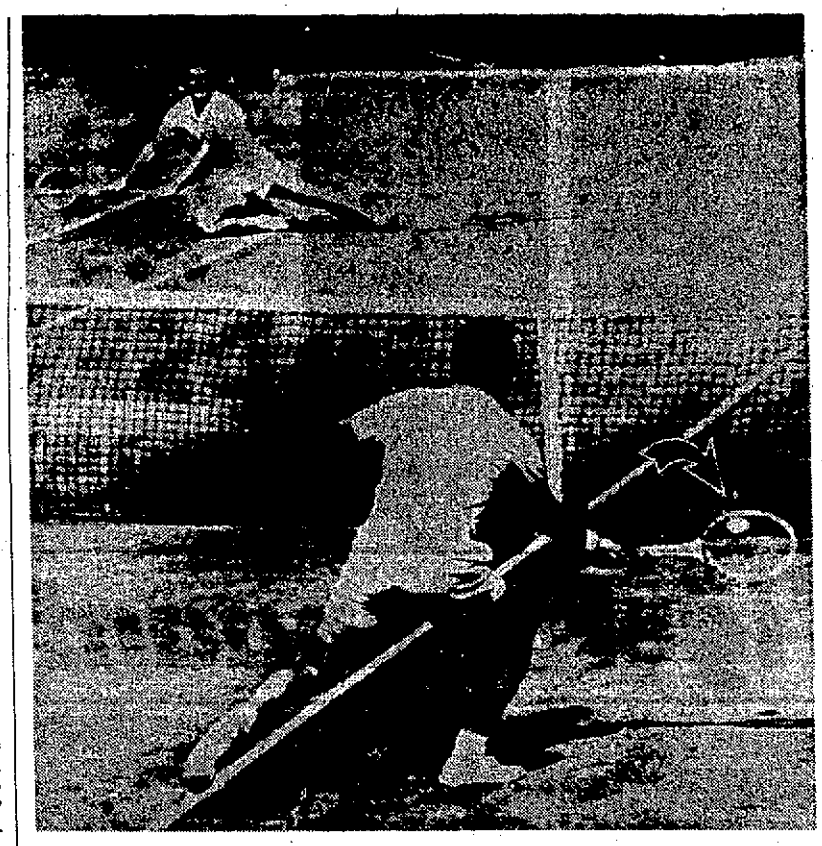

HOUSTON (UPI) — Paul Richards, a gentleman farmer said to be one of the finest managers in baseball, formally agreed Saturday to take the helm of Houston's National League Colts and build his native state's first major league team.

The 52-year-old Waxahachie, Tex., resident verbally agreed in a long distance telephone call from Baltimore to a three-year contract as general manager of the Colts.

Richards' agreement climaxed four months of negotiations between him and officials of the Houston club.

He is the only man the Colt owners talked to since Gabe Paul resigned as general manager of Houston on April 27.

After Paul resigned, the Houston owners decided Richards "best fit the requirements for Houston" and permission was obtained from the Baltimore club to talk with him. The commissioner's office was advised of this arrangement.

Seixas Romps at Forest Hills

History-Making Comeback Registered by Old Master

By OSCAR FRALEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Vic Seixas, 38-year-old Philadelphia veteran who was a ranking star two decades ago, played it from memory Saturday to win a history-making first-round match in the U.S. Amateur tennis championships.

Seixas, the 1954 champion who now is an investment broker, dusted off husky Dennis Lynch of Rumson, N.J., but the 7-5, 6-4, 6-0 triumph merely served as the setting for another "first" at Forest Hills.

On the courts where Althea Gibson broke the tennis color line, the Seixas-Lynch match was the vehicle through which a Negro umpire was the first of his race to officiate on the famed center court. He was Titus Sparrow of Boston, one of the best umpires from the New England area.

Sparrow's appearance went almost unnoticed by the handful of sun-blistered spectators as Seixas, depending primarily on his big service and an assortment of drop shots, dusted of his opponent with an ease which wasn't reflected in the score of the first set.

Seixas' old Davis Cup sidekick, Hamilton Richardson of Dallas, had an upset in the making when he won the first set from seventh-seeded Jon Douglas, former Stanford quarterback from Santa Monica, Calif.

* * * *

BUT RICHARDSON, who also is a seldom playing investment broker these days, buckled under the 93-degree heat and a rash of double-faults to bow out in the first round, 3-6, 6-2, 10-8, 6-1.

In another feature match, Billy Bond, the 1957 champion from La Jolla, Calif., who is being mentioned as a Davis Cup replacement for the suspended Dennis Ralston, scored a crushing win over John Powless of Cincinnati. Bond beat the assistant basketball coach from the University of Cincinati, 6-0, 6-0, 6-2.

Three foreign threats, headed by Wimbledon champion Angela Mortimer of England, powered their way into the second round in women's play.

* * * *

MISS MORTIMER, seeded second to defending champion Darlene Hard, disposed of Virginia Brown of Fort Worth, 6-0, 6-2.

Sixth-seeded Lesley Turner of Australia scored a comeback 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 triumph over Belmar Gunderson of Indian Lake, Fla., while seventh-seeded Ann Haydon of Great Britain beat Barbara Benigni of San Francisco, 6-0, 6-3. Karen Hantze of Chula Vista, Calif., breezed past Susan Behlmar of Yonkers, N.Y., 6-0, 6-3.

HAWKS KEEP TITLE HOPES ALIVE

Nip Ogden, 3-2, After 4-0 Loss

By RAY CUNNINGHAM

ROCK ISLAND, Ill.—The Long Beach Nitehawks nipped Ogden, Utah 3-2 here Saturday night to keep alive their title hopes in the International Softball Congress world tournament.

Earlier in the day, the Hawks were blanked by El Paso, 4-0, in a game continued from the rained-out Friday card. It was the first time Long Beach has ever been shut out in a tourney.

The Nitehawks' winning run came in the sixth. Corty Van Dyk singled to right and raced to second on a misplay of the throw in. Then with two away Roger Hull banged a single to center to score Maris.

* * * *

LONG BEACH loaded the bases in the first and scored when Paul Peterson was hit by a pitch. Ogden went ahead in the second, but in the bottom half Nick Hopkins doubled, was sacrificed by Art McCary to third and then stole home.

If the Hawks are to repeat as world champions they must win doubleheaders tonight and Monday night. They face the host Rock Island, tonight, and if they win they come back later in the evening against the loser of the Tulsa-El Paso game.

Perry Hurls Blank, Earns Indians Split

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Jim Perry blanked Baltimore on four hits Saturday night as the Cleveland Indians earned a split of their day-night doubleheader with a 6-0 victory after the Orioles won the opener, 3-2.

Perry was never in serious trouble enroute to his 10th win against 12 losses. In the afternoon game, Milt Pappas, with a last-inning assist from Hoyt Wilhelm, notched his 11th victory against seven defeats.

Monbouquette Hurls Bosox to 2-1 Triumph Over Twins

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Bill Monbouquette, with ninth inning relief help from Arnold Earley, pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday.

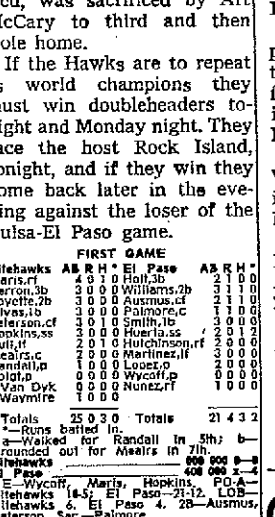

Monbouquette was sailing with an eight-hitter until the Twins put two men on base in the final frame. Earley then got pinch-hitter Ted Lepcio to hit into a double play to preserve Monbouquette's 11th victory against 12 defeats.

Arnie's 69 Opens 3-Shot Dallas Lead

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Golden boy Arnold Palmer conquered an errant putter, tricky winds and par Saturday in fashioning a one-under-par 33-36—69 that gave him a halfway mark total of 136 and a three-stroke lead over the $30,000 Dallas Open golf tournament field.

The muscular Pennsylvanian made his move toward the $4,300 first prize money by pulling out of a first-round three-way tie for first place despite what he termed some "awful putting."

Host pro Earl Stewart Jr. and defending champion Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., who started the day's activities bracketed with Palmer at three-under-par 67s, couldn't master Oak Cliff Country Club's wind-blown treachery and wound up with two-over-par 35-37—72s and 36-hole totals of 139.

"I played real good, but I did some awful putting," Palmer said. "I missed a bunch of times for birdies."

* * * *

HIS SECOND sub-par round, coupled with a second consecutive struggling round by top-money winner Gary Player, gave every indication Palmer might wipe out much of the nearly $5,000 bulge the South African holds over him in the money race. Going into this tournament, Player had pocketed $64,401 to Palmer's $55,499.

Palmer two-putted for a birdie on the par five second hole and dropped six and 10-foot putts for his other birdies on the fifth and 16th greens. But he three-putted the 10th from 10 feet and did the same from 20 feet on No. 15 for bogies.

U.S. Routs British to Win Walker Cup

SEATTLE (AP)—America's razor-sharp amateur golfers renewed their lease on the Walker Cup for another two years Saturday by polishing off the British 11 matches to 1 in a record equaling rout.

To Charles Coe, Oklahoma City oil broker and non-playing captain of the American side four years ago, went the distinction of clinching the victory, the eighth straight for the United States since the British won their only title in 1938. Coe stormed home a 5 and 4 winner over Mike Lunt.

Prior to Coe's triumph, Deane Beman of Arlington, Va., had registered a 3 and 2 conquest of Mike Bonallack in a battle of national champions, while Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia crushed Dave Frame, 7 and 6.

Only Martin Christmas, the youngest member of the British team at 21, was able to stem the American tide. He triumphed over Charles Smith of Gastonia, N.C., 3 and 2.

Other triumphs in the American landslide were by Dr. Bud Taylor of Pomona, Calif., 3 and 2, over James Walker; Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, who mastered Joe Carr, 6 and 4; Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., who defeated Maj. David Blair, 5 and 4, and Robert Gardner of New York, who closed out the British massacre with a 1 up triumph over Ronald Shade.

Cubs Sock 4 Homers, Cardwell Stifles S.F.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs unloaded an extra-base hit attack which included home runs by Ron Santo, George Altman, Ernie Banks and Billy Williams Saturday, hammering the San Francisco Giants, 7-0, behind right-hander Don Cardwell.

The Cubs collected 11 hits, eight of them for extra bases in routing Jack Sanford and tagging him with his eighth defeat in 18 decisions.

Cardwell limited the Giants to five hits and evened his record at 12-12, hurling his third shutout of the season. The loss dropped the Giants into fourth place, one-half game behind the Milwaukee Braves.

Cardwell has yielded but three earned runs in his last four games. He lost two of those games, however, by 1-0 and 2-1 scores.

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Dick Stuart connected for two homers and drove in all five runs to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Saturday.

The loss was the first suffered by the Cardinals at home after 13 straight wins. Pittsburgh was the last club to win in St. Louis when they slaughtered the Cardinals, 19-0, during its last visit.

Changes Needed, but None Seen for Rams

As we have been warning readers for the past month, there can be no great optimism over the Rams this season . . . in their present form.

And with the final cutdown to 36 players only a week away, it appears as if the Rams will have to go with what they have. There are no signs of any major deal being pulled off to strengthen them enough in the critical spots this year.

BOB ST. CLAIR
Rams Need New Twist

Any big improvement in the current outlook will have to come from some new offensive fireworks devised by the coaching staff . . . perhaps its own version of the "shotgun" — the "Waterfield Rifle."

As the veteran Bob St. Clair pointed out, "the Rams won't threaten with the personnel they have unless they get something new on offense . . . some gimmick to pose a few new problems for the defenses, like our 'Shotgun' is doing. They don't have the offensive line power to punch their way through now. Although the young Ram linemen are big and strong, it will take time for them to develop. In the meantime, a new gimmick might help nullify the great superiority of the defensive lines they will have to meet."

Another veteran tackle, Leo Nomellini, agreed. "The Rams have everything to be a big winner but top line play. Could be that a new gimmick could overcome some of their deficiencies up front."

As St. Clair points out, "the real secret of the Shotgun's success is that it tires opposing defensive linemen. That's what it was devised for last year . . . to nullify the greater strength of Baltimore's big defensive line.

"Chasing a tailback going wide takes more out of the league's real big defensive linemen in four or five plays than it does in 10 to 15 minutes of sitting in the middle of the line plugging a hole.

"By spreading these lines and making the big boys run more is what gives us a better chance of making our offense go with the type of manpower we have. As it stands, we can't meet the stronger clubs head-on and expect to do much consistently.

"The Rams are in the same position. Something new could give their offensive linemen a big lift."

DESPITE THE FACT THEY LOST, to the 49ers Friday night by a 38-20 score, there is hope from the Rams play that there will be a few bright spots to cheer about during the forthcoming season.

After playing the likes of the Cleveland Browns the week before, the Rams—as they say in horse racing—dropped down a bit in class and found the type of company they might be able to go against in the championship race.

The lop-sided score was due to the worst rash of Ram mistakes of the season. Where they were outgunned by the Browns in all departments, it was their own "goofs" which enabled the 49ers to run up the count.

In the first 16½ minutes, for instance, two crippling penalties cost the Rams potential touchdowns and they had to settle for field goals. That meant a difference of eight points right there.

Then, just before halftime, three straight interceptions set up a 17-point 49er surge in a period of just one minute and 26 seconds. And a fumble in the fourth quarter set up the final touchdown.

In all, Ram errors meant a difference of 32 points in favor of San Francisco.

THE WHOLE 49ER CAMP WAS pleased with the performance of rookie Bill Kilmer from UCLA who steered the club to three touchdowns in the second half in his first appearance of the season as the "trigger" in the "Shotgun."

"He did what we expected," coach Red Hickey declared. "That's why we picked him No. 1. Pretty good showing for his first appearance, eh?" he asked. "And isn't that the kid they said couldn't pass?" He laughed with deep satisfaction as he looked at the statistics that showed Kilmer threw touchdown passes of 66 and 10 yards.

"But don't let Bill's performance allow you to overlook John Brodie's first half. He played an amazing game. The first half, too, is always your toughest half."

WHAT DO THE 49ERS' FEEL ABOUT their chances in the Western Division title race? They believe they'll fight it out with Green Bay and Detroit.

"Green Bay appears to be the class," said St. Clair. "The Packers have the best balance," chimed in Nomellini. R. C. Owens of "Alley-Oop" fame, said that "Green Bay has to be the favorite. We feel we should be rated next. Detroit is the sleeper. Baltimore appears to be going down and the Bears are not particularly outstanding.

"Injuries, however, will determine the championship," Owens added. "Last year Green Bay was lucky not be get any major injuries."

TEAM STUMBLES CAUSE PLAYER GRUMBLES

Rams 'Hit Road' to Minnesota

By JERRY WYNN

The Rams have chosen an excellent time to leave sunny, fun-filled Southern California. After a month and one half under the searing Redlands sun and four red-hot nights at the Coliseum, a week in cool and friendly Minnesota is just what the doctor ordered for a slight case of shotgun-shell shock.

Or to put it another way, instead of being asked publicly to jump in the lake—a large one like the Pacific Ocean—they now will be able to dowse their sorrows privately in the famed northern land of 10,000 lakes.

Too, when they arrive in St. Paul early Friday to play the Minnesota Vikings Sunday, the Rams will have a chance to renew acquaintances with old buddy-boy Norman Van Brocklin, coach of the Vikings; Stan West, line coach, and Bert Rose, general manager, all Ram alumni tried and true.

On the field Sunday, they can chat with former teammates Will Sherman, Jack Morris, Don Ellersick, Jerry Stalcup and Gene Selawski and exchange back-slaps with such old rivals as Hugh McElhenny (remember, he was always at his worst at the Coliseum) and Don Joyce (the lovable former Colt linebacker who once clobbered Les Richter with his helmet).

Sounds like a ball, eh?

In fact, the Rams expect to have such a fine time in Minnesota, they'll remain at St. Paul through Friday, Sept. 15, before enplaning to Baltimore for the league opener against the Colts, Sept. 17. Needless to say, they don't expect such comradery in nasty Baltimore.

There was a game at the Coliseum Friday night. The Rams would like to forget it, because they were awful. Against a team with inferior personnel, the hated San Francisco 49ers, the Rams made rival kittens look like lions and tigers in absorbing a 38-20 licking.

The Rams felt the defeat keenly, and there was grumbling for the first time among players in the dressing room. Star end Red Phillips stalked out asking for the number of boss Elroy Hirsch, Quarterback Frank Ryan had a verbal spat with coach Bob Waterfield.

"I haven't heard a word from Phillips, and I don't have the slightest idea what he wants," Hirsch told this reporter Saturday. "Red's a team leader, a guy who never grumbles so I'm certain there's nothing wrong.

"Ryan was upset about not playing more. The whole team was upset at kicking the game away. They wouldn't be normal if they weren't upset."

And so, Friday, it will be off to the land of sky blue waters for the hams, errr Rams.

SURF WAS FINE, NOW BACK TO THE TURF

Surf and sand days are over for these two Long Beach State gridders, Alex Augusta (left) and Tommy Wright, as 49ers drilled for benefit of lensmen Saturday. Coast's Grid Prestige at 20-Year High

By JEROME HALL

The West Coast's prestige on the football map, which rises and falls with the final score in the Rose Bowl, is at a 20-year high as the '61 season approaches and the best football menu outside the Big Ten country awaits college fans along the Pacific slopes this season.

A wholesale "import" program that was launched with the breakup of the PCC comes to fruition in three weeks.

UCLA is expected to head the West Coast brigade, but the season will be anything but a one-team show. Not only is SC on the upswing, but California's Bears look like headline-getters and two of the PCC castoffs—Oregon and Oregon State—have the glow of a winner.

As an example of the caliber of competition available along the Pacific Coast, the opening weekend (Sept. 22) finds SC tackling Georgia Tech, Oregon State host to omnipotent Syracuse, Tulane plays at Stanford and Purdue is at Washington.

Before the season is little more than warmed up, Coliseum spectators will get a first-hand look at Iowa, most popular pick for the national championship, a g a i n s t the Trojans.

UCLA's Coliseum foes include always-powerful Pittsburgh, air-nutty Texas Christian and the Rose Bowl kings from Washington U.

It was Washington and its Rose Bowl performances the last two years that brought the bloom to the Pacific. The Huskies have brought the Big Ten people to their knees after 11 embarrassments in the New Year's Day classic.

* * * *

THOUGH THERE no longer is a tieup with the Big Ten and the Rose Bowl, it generally is believed there will be no departure this time. The Big Ten is clamoring to get in. The next Rose Bowl game well could be a rematch of a game played during the coming season.

It could be UCLA vs. Ohio State. They will meet Oct. 7 at Columbus. Or it could be SC vs. Iowa. They clash Oct. 7 in the Coliseum.

The Bruins and the Trojans are the one-two picks for the AAWU title. Iowa and Ohio State are interchangeable selections to win the Big Ten.

A brief rundown on the prospects of the West Coast's major teams, aside from SC and UCLA w h i c h will be chronicled in minute detail before the schedule opens, finds that the two Oregon teams are loaded for spendid showings.

* * * *

TOMMY P R O T H R O at Oregon State has shown rare courage in changing his style of play to fit the players on hand. He's abandoned the single wing, the only thing he's ever taught, and gone to the T formation. He did this because he possesses an outstanding T quarterback in Terry Baker, who did a good job when converted to tailback in '60. He should be better in the T.

But Prothro doesn't want to alternate his two aces at tailback so Baker goes to QB and Don Kasso to the running halfback spot.

Oregon has an all-veteran (except at QB) team that could rival UCLA for the West Coast's quota of consideration on the e a s t e r n-dominated rating polls. The QB could be Ron Veres, a pass-master up from El Camino College in Torrance.

Galimore Sparks Bear Win

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI) —Willie Galimore and Roosevelt Taylor reeled off runs of 61 and 70 yards Saturday to lead the Chicago Bears to a 30-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings in an exhibition football game before 12,500 fans.

Roger LeClerc put the Bears in the lead, 3-0, in the second quarter with a four-yard field goal and the Chicago club was never in trouble.

LeClerc added three more points on a f t e r-touchdown conversions and missed the uprights on a fourth attempt.

The Bears pulled into a 10-0 lead in the third period on Rick Casares' one-yard scoring sprint followed by the first of LeClerc's conversions.

* * * *

THE VIKINGS struck back for their only score moments later when Francis Tarkenton raced nine yards for a touchdown and Mike Mercer booted the extra point.

Then the Bears broke the game wide open. On the first p l a y after receiving the Vikings' kickoff, Galimore scampered 61 yards to score. LeClerc's conversion failed.

Before the quarter ended, Taylor took a Minnesota punt and returned it 70 yards across the goalline. LeClerc kicked the extra point to give the Bears a 23-7 lead.

The Chicagoans s c o r e d again in the final quarter on a 30-yard sprint by Charles Bivens. Again LeClerc converted.

CHARGERS, TEXANS VIE

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The only two pro football teams that can boast of never having lost an exhibition g a m e—the San D i e g o Chargers and the Dallas Texans—put their perfect records on the l i n e this afternoon when they meet at Balboa Stadium.

The Chargers, who were 4-0 in preseason games last year in Los Angeles, have won three more in succession this season and hold a 7-0 exhibition record over two years. The Texans have won all nine games they're played in 1960 and 1961.

50-Yd. Goal by Martin in Detroit Win

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions broke loose for 10 points within five minutes of the second period Saturday night and went on to overpower the St. Louis Cardinals, 20-7, in a National Football League exhibition.

A Tiger Stadium crowd of 12,621 saw the Detroiters dominate play most of the way as they posted their third win in four NFL preseason exhibitions. It was the third straight loss for the Cardinals.

The Lions' second-period spree included a 50-yard field goal by Jim Martin and quarterback Earl Morrall's scoring dive from the one.

It was all Detroit in the final half as Jim Ninowski threw a five-yard touchdown pass to Danny Lewis while Martin added the extra point and a 32-yard field goal to tuck the game away.

Eagles Edge Redskins

BRISTOL, Tenn. (UPI) —The world champion Philadelphia Eagles came from behind to edge the Washington Redskins, 17-10, to win their fourth consecutive National Football League exhibition game Saturday night.

The Eagles overcame a 3-0 Washington lead late in the second quarter when quarterback Sonny Jurgensen passed 10 yards to flanker back Tommy McDonald. The Skins came right back, however, on a 41-yard pass from Ralph Guglielmi to Dick James.

BROWN PACES BROWNS, 38-6

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Brown went 71 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage and the Cleveland Browns went on to trounce the Pittsburgh Steelers, 38-6, in a National Football League exhibition game in the Rubber Bowl tonight.

The big fullback took the flip from quarterback Milt Plum and moved around his right end for the payoff run. He was sprung with a couple of good blocks, outmaneuvered two defensive backs and was in the open at midfield.

Plum overcame considerable pressure from the big Steeler line to pass for two touchdowns in guiding the Browns to their third victory in four preseason games. The loss was the second for the Steelers in four games.

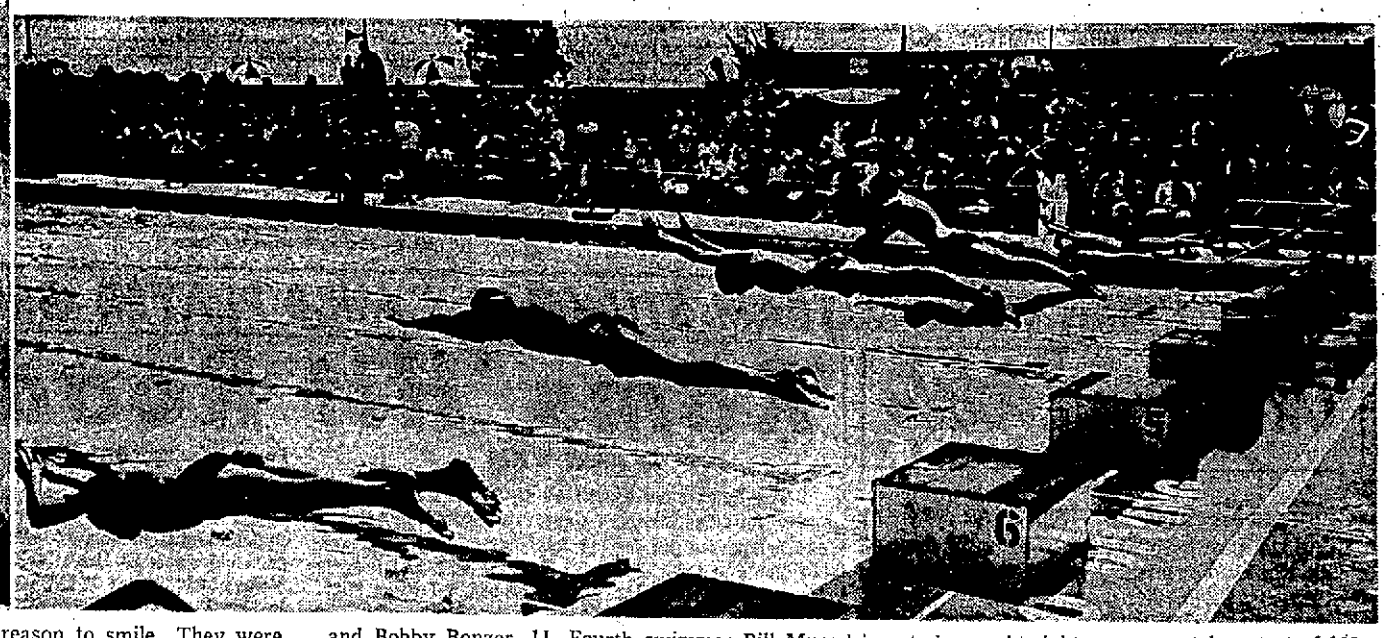

Plum hit Rich Kreitling with a 20-yard scoring pass for the Browns' second touchdown in the first quarter and threw nine yards to Bobby Mitchell, who went into the end zone to end a 77-yard drive in 10 plays in the second quarter.

RICH WIN FOR SPARK PLUG

Romps to 4½-Length Triumph

By MAC McGUIRE

C. V. Whitney's Spark Plug, no relation to the Slow Plug of Barney Google's comic strip days in the mid '20's, made a show of the eleventh running of the $60,180 Del Mar Debutante by streaking to a four and one-half length victory Saturday.

A crowd of 18,048 cheered the gray lass as she shot to the front on the backstretch in this richest running of the Debutante for 2-year-old fillies, widening on her field almost at will. Kabema was second by a neck over Savail, who led Corolla by a nose. Spark Plug had been long gone by the time this trio finished like a team in the eleven-horse field.

Without a race under her belt at the meeting, Spark Plug, ridden by apprentice Bobby Yanez, was clocked in 1.09 2/5 for the six furlongs, just a tick off the race record for the distance.

* * * *

THERE WERE five supplementary entries for the race at $2,500 each, and the first three over the wire were supplementals. Spark Plug earned $36,105, Kabema $9,125, Savail $7,375 and Corolla $6,375. The supplementary fees were divided between the first four finishers.

Kea tried to force Spark Plug on the early pace, and she managed to hold second to the far turn, where she began to tire. Kabema then took over but was unable to endanger Spark Plug as Savail and Corolla rushed up to challenge for the place money.

Stanford, which lost all 10 games last season, now has lost ace QB Dick Norman and has 36 sophomores on the team. But coach Jack Curtice says "we won't be any worse than last year." It would appear he is much too optimistic.

Washington State may have the Coast's all-American in end Hugh Campbell who started the 1960 season on the bench and wound up setting national records for pass receptions (66) and yards (881). The thrower, QB Mel Melin, is still there.

Accidents Mar Ascot Racing

A series of spectacular accidents, in which all drivers escaped without injury, forced Ascot Park race track officials to stage two main events Saturday night.

Allen Heath of Northridge captured the feature, an abbreviated 35-lap stint, followed by Jack Brunner and Al Unser.

RIDAN COPS SEVENTH STRAIGHT

Carry Back Wins in Stretch

NEW YORK (AP)—Carry Back, staging another one of his great home stretch drives, got up in the final strides Saturday for victory in the $57,700 Jerome Handicap at Belmont Park.

The son of Saggy, owned by Mrs. Katherine Price of Miami and trained by her husband Jack, won just as he did in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Florida Derby and Flamingo before being sidelined by a leg injury while finishing seventh in the Belmont Stakes three months ago.

With jockey Johnny Sellers biding his time, Carry Back trailed far back during the early part of the mile race for 3-year-olds. But he was no more than five or six lengths back as he swung wide into the home stretch with one-fourth mile remaining.

It was nerve-tingling battle from there on for the 34,168 fans but Carry Back got up in time for a head decision over Garwol. Calumet Farm's Beau Prince was third.

Carry Back was timed in 1:36 and paid $5.90, $4.70, and $2.80. Garwol returned $14.70 and $6.90 and Beau Prince $2.80.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Unbeaten Ridan galloped to his seventh straight victory Saturday to win the richest race run in the United States so far this year, the $213,750 Washington Park Futurity by one length over Obey.

Ridan, grabbing his fourth stake victory, earned $128,250 to increase his earnings in seven races to $284,050, and put himself in good position to become the leading two-year-old money winner of all time.

The current two-year-old money winning champion is First Landing with earnings of $396,460 in 1958. Ridan could surpass this easily by winning the Garden State Futurity in November.

Ridan was timed at 1:18 for 6½ furlongs and paid $2.60, $2.40 and $2.20.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — John S. Kroese's Mozart passed On-And-On and Wise Ship in the stretch Saturday to win the $46,950 Kelly-Olympic Handicap at Atlantic City.

Q-HORSE CLASSIC MONDAY

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (Special) — The state of California and the city of Long Beach will seek to apply a stranglehold to the richest quarter horse stakes in history Monday when a field of 10 of the fastest 2-year-olds in training springs from the gate in quest of this $202,425 All-American Futurity.

Undefeated Bunny's Bar Maid from Fresno looms the overwhelming odds-on favorite off her string of six straight victories while the Earl Holmes-trained Long Beach entry of Dale and Curly Burr's Golden Note and Frank Vessel's Three Chicks shapes up as a solid second choice for the 400-yard classic.

Another California entrant, Hugh Huntley's Pokey Bar from Madera, figures a highly-regarded third choice for this rich jackpot that will gross the winner more than $100,000 for little more than 20 seconds running time.

Krause Bothered by Bad Shocks at Santa Barbara

Almost 1,000 yards behind him was Paul Reinhart, Oakland, piloting another Corvette.

Bill Krause, ace Long Beach entry, toured his E-Jaguar to third place. Krause, bothered by bad shock absorbers, battled to retain second spot until the fifth lap when Reinhart passed him.

McEwen Clocks 175, Proffett 110 at Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Twenty-five class winners were crowned Saturday in the national championship drag races at the Indianapolis raceway.

Bruce Morgan of Garden Grove, the current point leader for the division's world championship, was upset by Dick Hilt in the Class B stock.

Tom McEwen of Long Beach has the fastest clocking to date, 175 mph in Class AA.

Hayden Proffett of Anaheim, won the Class-O super stock division in a Pontiac owned by Mickey Thompson. He hit a speed of 110.29 mph.

Hurtubise Okay After Auto Crash

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (UPI)—Jim Hurtubise, 28, Lennox, Calif., auto race driver who holds the Indianapolis "500" qualifying record, escaped injury early Saturday in a two-car collision at a Wabash River bridge here.

Authorities said a car driven by Farrell Pifer, 25, Terre Haute, drove in front of Hurtubise, whose car was pulling a racer toward DuQuoin, Ill.

13 Records Broken in Jr. Olympics; Dolphin Boys Lead

Thirteen more records were washed away and the Lakewood Dolphins boys' team surged into the lead after the second day of the Jr. Olympics swimming meet at the Mayfair Pool in Lakewood Saturday.

The 13 new records, which included National Jr. Olympics and Southern Pacific Association AAU marks, eclipsed by one the number of marks set opening day Friday. Action concludes today with heats at 9:30 a.m. and finals at 3:30.

Lakewood's Dolphins turned in impressive performances to run up 57 points in boys' competition and take an eight-point lead over the Sammy Lee Swim School. Rosemead leads the girls' division.

Dolphins Chip O'Rourke, Bill Murrel, Robin Durnin and Larry Low set an NJO record with a 2:06 flat clocking in the boys 11-12 200-meter freestyle relay.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

(Outdoors editor Donnell Culpepper is ill. He will resume Fishin' Around upon recovery.)

By JEROME HALL

Hitting the high spots on the fishing scene, with some observations by rapidly-recovering Don Culpepper:

Best time of the year for the angler who longs for the High Sierra is just around the corner. As Labor Day passes and the hills empty of vacationers, a quiet settles over the high-country valleys. Only the tunkle of the stream and the shrill of a flitting bird breaks the stillness.

Relax.

Veteran I, P-T outdoors editor Don Culpepper, recovering from surgery, turned in a "Best Place to Fish" report as he begins to catch up on the scene, and pinpointed:

BIG BEAR—"The only place in Southern California that you can catch trout right now." Culpepper reported Big Bear is rapidly drying up, though it's still fishable. It will be dry within three or four weeks.

LAKE CACHUMA—This lake, north of Santa Barbara, is giving up bass now "though it usually takes someone who knows how," according to Culpepper. Blue gill are being taken on worms.

BISHOP COUNTRY—"Depend mostly on the planted streams" as revealed each Thursday in the Press-Telegram and Friday in the Independent. "Otherwise," says Culpepper, "you'll have to pack in and that will take more than a weekend."

BEAR IN MIND, POINTS OUT the I, P-T outdoors editor, "that this is not the weekend to make a last-minute decision on going to a popular fishing area.

Some of the better spot further from home:

KLAMATH RIVER—Good size salmon being taken in this Northern California coastal area. They're being taken at the mouth of the Klamath and three to four miles upstream. September and October are the best months for Klamath steelhead.

"If you want to go further north," says Culpepper, I just got a letter from a friend saying they're having a great time with salmon along the Washington coast."

AND IF YOU WANT TO STAY close to home over this rush-rush holiday, why not try the surf fishing right along our Long Beach-Seal Beach shoreline?

Reports say the takes have been good, with perch, spotfin and corbina topping the list.

Check at the bait shops along Pacific Coast Highway for the exact locations showing up best.

DOVE SEASON GOT OFF TO a winging start Saturday, with early reports confirming the predictions by the DFG that it will be a good year.

Mourning doves flocked across the Colorado River into the Imperial Valley regions only hours before the season opened. But white wing doves are scarce.

The season lasts 30 days. Limits have been set at 10 per day for both bag and possession.

The split duck season is Oct. 14-Nov. 20 and Dec. 9-Jan. 7. Bag and possession limit will be five.

REGATTA LURES U.S. CHAMPS

A devil-may-care crew of newly crowned national speedboat champions will be out in force to defend their titles Monday when Southern California Speedboat Club and Long Beach Pilot Club stage the season's largest local speedboat racing regatta at Long Beach Marine Stadium.

Out to take on all comers in the annual Labor Day classic will be national champs Bob Patterson, in Crackerbox; Duane Easton, for the B-Racing Runabouts; Wayne Thompson, leading the 135 Hydro field; and Mike Waters, chief of the 266 Hydros.

All won their titles in last week's 1961 national competition at San Diego.

A featured attraction in the E-Racing Runabout class will be the highly anticipated three-way duel between speed merchants Red Wilson, Ed Olsen and Bob Ellis in three new SK-type hulls. The new hulls will be introduced for the first time in Monday's race.

In the Crackerbox racing, Patterson will be gunning for the class perpetual trophy currently held by Wilson. Patterson recently upped the class competition mark from 68 mph to a new 72 mph world's record.

Marine Stadium gates open at 8 a.m. Monday with 10 classes of racing boats scheduled to hit the starting line at 11 a.m. Presiding as regatta queen will be Miss Welcome to Long Beach, Donna Kelly.

Virginia Golfers in Lead Tie

Cliff McKnight and Bill Bailey of Palos Verde fired Saturday's low round of 60, but two crack twosomes from the host club still lead Virginia Country Club's 13th annual Invitational golf tournament going into today's third and final round of play.

Virginia's Fred Yerger-Paul Albert and John Connolly-Bill Cook share first place at 120. They hold a two-stroke lead over Jim Ferrie and Jim Crooker of Virgina, who added a 64 Saturday to their first-round score of 58 for a 122 total.

* * * *

IN THIRD place and four strokes off the lead at 124 is Fred Yeager-Roy Spawr of Virginia.

The 54-hole best-ball partners' tourney concludes today. Action starts this morning at 8. Leaders:

120—Fred Yerger and Paul Albert, 61-59; John Connolly and Bill Cook, Virginia, 59-61.

122—Jim Ferrie and Jim Crooker, Virginia, 58-64.

124—Fred Yeager and Roy Spawr, Virginia, 62-62.

125—Dr. Ed Neushutz and John Walter, Virginia, 60-65; Murphy Fish and Bill McArthur, Hacienda, 62-63; Tom Summers and Ed Rosa, Woodland Hills, 61-64; V. Anderson and Hank Schlueler, Santa Ana, 60-65.

L.B. Junior Golf on Wednesday

The Long Beach City Junior Golf Championship will be played Wednesday through Saturday at Recreation Park.

Qualifying is Wednesday with the low 32 shooters entering match play Thursday. There will be two rounds Thursday and Friday and finals Saturday. First-round losers form the first flight.

Entries will be taken at the course Wednesday as boys arrive to play. There is a $1 entry fee. Times will be assigned upon arrival.

Tryouts Slated for New L.B. Soccer Club

Tryouts for a new soccer team in Long Beach will be conducted every Wednesday night at Pan-American Park in Lakewood beginning at 7 p.m.

Herb Rogers, manager of the Long Beach Soccer Club, will be in charge of the tryouts. He may be contacted at GA 6-2734.

Wrestling Switches to Thursday at Aud

The autumn wrestling seasons opens Thursday at Municipal Auditorium with a double main event scheduled. Former world champion Edouard Carpentier opposes Fritz Von Goering in half of the main with the remainder not yet announced.

The fall and winter series of professional matches will be held on Thursdays.

49ers Invite Frosh Gridders to Report

Long Beach State freshman coach Carmen Ness invites all high school graduates with football experience to try out for the junior varsity team. Two-a-day workouts are scheduled starting Monday on the 49er field.

L.A. Hockey Blades to Televise 15 Games

Fifteen home and away games of the Los Angeles Blades ice hockey team will be televised on KTTV (11), the club's general manager, Jack Geyer, announced Saturday.

Away games to be televised include Portland (Nov. 1) and San Francisco (Nov. 29, Dec. 19, Jan. 5, 6, 17, Feb. 16 and March 21).

has allowed only seven runs in his last eight victories, all complete games.

* * * *

SANDY KOUFAX (15-12) was the loser, getting off to a rocky start in the first inning. An error by shortstop Maury Wills opened the way to three quick Milwaukee runs, two of them unearned.

The first of three singles by Eddie Mathews followed Wills' boot of a Frank Bolling grounder and Hank Aaron walked to fill the bases. Two runs crossed on Joe Adcock's broken-bat blooper to left and another scored as Frank Thomas grounded out.

Catcher Sammy White's first National League homer provided Spahn with an extra run in the seventh inning.

Koufax allowed seven of the Braves' eight hits and Roger Craig was touched for the other in the eighth.

THE DODGERS had two runners on base only in the ninth inning as Spahn did not walk a man. Frank Howard and Gil Hodges singled with one out in the final round, but were stranded when Wally Moon popped up and Charlie Neal flied out.

Moon, the only left-handed hitter in the Dodger lineup, responded with two singles.

THE A'S will oppose with their ace, Jim Archer (8-11).

The Seraphs moved back into seventh place Saturday as Ken McBride limited the A's to six hits and the Angel bats came to life in the late innings to fashion a 6-3 victory.

Wayne Causey's eighth-inning home run was the only legitimate run the 26-year-old right-hander allowed as third baseman George Thomas' two fourth-inning throwing errors produced two unearned runs.

It was McBride's (12-11) 11th complete game and the first by an Angel pitcher in the club's last nine outings. Strangely, it was his 11th win at homer haven compared to only two defeats. On the road, McBride is 1-9.

"It's funny," said McBride after his fine performance, "but I'm not trying to be any more careful here (Wrigley) or at least I don't think I am.

"I've pitched some good games on the road but lost."

Professor Soars in Space With New Ideas

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA (AP)—Imagine:

—Converting the sun into a giant space cruiser to explore distant galaxies while our earth, with life going on as usual, whisks along for the ride.

—Changing the size and orbits of the other planets in our sun system so they can be colonized by earth's exploding populace.

—Honeycombing the moon and the earth itself with bomb-proof, inhabitable tunnels bored at a rate of several feet a second by a vehicle that melts rocks.

—Rocketing through the ocean's depths in a super-submarine that uses water as part of its fuel.

—Aircraft and space ships as big as mountains, made of new materials stronger than steel but lighter than air.

* * * *

THESE PROJECTS, which make science fiction sound as dull as a lab report, were outlined recently in "Engineering and Science," a monthly publication of The California Institute of Technology.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, professor of Astrophysics at Caltech and one of the keenest scientific minds of the century, advised his colleagues that these awesome undertakings are possible through extension of present-day knowledge.

Not only possible, said Zwicky, but imperative.

"If we don't do them," he warned, "the Russians will."

* * * *

AS AN EXAMPLE he cited the rock-melting machine, which he calls a terrajet. He has actually built a small experimental model, Zwicky says, but has not been able to interest the U. S. government or industry in financing full-scale versions.

"Unfortunately, while inventors in this country have talked to deaf ears," Zwicky says, "the Russians again seem to have taken over our ideas and have already built terrajet engines for military purposes."

In an interview, Zwicky said a typical machine would operate this way:

Jets in the nose would spurt a reagent such as molten lithium ahead of the vehicle, dissolving the earth and rock into liquid and gas. This would be sucked through the machine and expelled out the back to provide propulsion.

* * * *

ZWICKY SAID the dissolving could be done fast enough to drive the vehicle several feet per second through solid rock. Five feet per second, for instance, would give it a speed of almost three miles an hour.

Breaking down the rock this way would provide operators of the vehicle with plenty of oxygen and water. Thermocouples, which convert heat into electricity, would draw power for the vehicle's instruments from electrodes thrust into its hot exhaust.

A similar principle, using chemicals which break down water into its basic elements, could power submarines far superior to today's best nuclear subs, Zwicky said.

* * * *

THESE ENGINES, which he calls hydrojets, would generate hydrogen gas at great pressure for thrust and release tremendous heats for electric power.

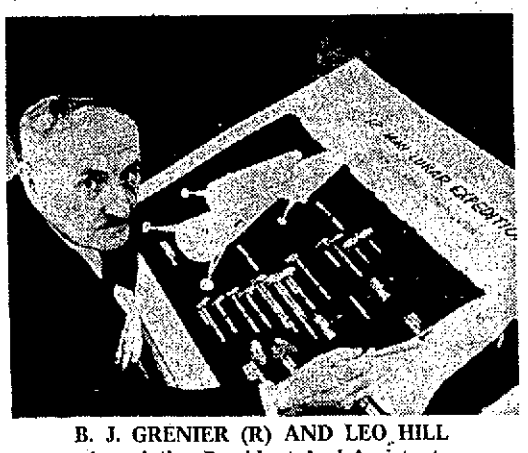

"Vehicles driven by hydrojet engines," said Zwicky, "could move through the water in any direction, including straight up and down, and attain speeds far in excess of 100 knots."

Zwicky, 63, who as chief research consultant and former director of research for Aerojet-General Corp. helped develop a number of present-day rockets, foresees a new material for building all kinds of vehicles—automobiles, airplanes, missiles, satellites, spaceships.

* * * *

"NOTHING SEEMS to stand in the way of producing bubbly solids—the bubbles to contain high vacuum or light gases like helium, such that the whole solid is lighter than the air and exceedingly strong," he said.

"Not only can the proverbial magic carpet be made of such spongy materials, but rocket chambers, solid propellant sticks (the fuel of so called "solid" rockets such as Polaris and Minuteman) and vehicles of all kinds can be visualized which are very light — possibly lighter than air."

B. J. GRENIER (R) AND LEO HILL
Association President And Assistant

These new materials, he said, "will make it possible to drive space ships of any dimension off the earth with ease."

* * * *

VEHICLES AND engines like these along with foreseeable developments in nuclear energy, Zwicky said, will help man reconstruct the whole planetary system to suit himself.

Mercury and Venus, now unbearably hot because they are too close to the sun, can be shoved into orbits near earth by nuclear explosions, he said. Frozen planets like distant Jupiter can be blasted nearer the sun.

"Jupiter is so big and its gravitational pull so strong that man would find it difficult to move about on the surface," Zwicky said. "The answer is to whittle it down to proper size with terrajets and nuclear power, using the debris to increase the size of Jupiter's moons so they too can be colonized."

* * * *

PLANETS AND moons with insufficient atmosphere could be provided with oxygen and water as by-products or large-scale models of the terrajet earth-borer, which could at the same time be digging channels for lakes and rivers.

Poisonous atmospheres could be dissipated by the same nuclear blasts that shove their planets into more favorable orbits.

Studies now under way indicate nuclear bombs need not be highly radioactive, so the surfaces of the transported planets would not be permanently uninhabitable.

* * * *

WHILE ALL this is going on in our solar system, the sun with all its planets orbiting around it might as well be exploring the universe, instead of just standing still in space, said Zwicky.

"Any space ship we could build in the foreseeable future would take tens of thousands of years to reach the nearest star," he said, "so why bother to build it? Why not send the sun itself on the journey, dragging the planets along with it?"

This could be done, said Zwicky, by shooting large bullets into the side of the sun opposite to the direction in which we wish to go. The bullets would have velocities of 1,000 miles per second or more, which would cause great jets of nuclear energy to erupt from the sun—by nuclear fusion reactions — and drive it through space at high speed.

* * * *

LIFE WOULD go on as usual on earth because there is no sensation of speed in space.

If we timed the shot so the bullet hit the sun while the earth was at the opposite side of its orbit, he said, the earth would be out of range of any dangerous radiation in the sun's jet trail. The radiation would have dissipated into space before the earth returned to that point in its orbit.

"We wouldn't want to cause too big an explosion on the sun at any one time," Zwicky said, "just continuous little jolts to keep it speeding up. Over the years the build-up in speed would be incredible—high enough to get us to the nearest stars in a few hundred years."

What material would he use for the bullets?

"I won't tell you that," he said. "The Russians might use it to make bigger bombs."

Lightning Kills Boy, 5, Man

EXETER, R. I. (UPI) — A bolt of lightning struck a crowd of persons at a bathing beach Saturday, killing a Connecticut man and a 5-year-old boy and injuring several others.

Rhode Island State Police identified the victims as Jack Holt, 38, and James Venvenuto, both of Bristol, Conn. Holt and the boy were part of a swimming party at Beach Pond State Park here.

Police said reports indicated that Holt and the boy were not in the water at the time lightning struck.

JOHN McSHANE
Buena Park Leader

Buena Park Mayoralty to McShane

Fred De Camp lost his seat on the Buena Park City Council in a special election vote recount Saturday afternoon, and the council named John McShane as mayor.

Paul Wishek was sworn in to succeed De Camp. Richard Crenshaw was sworn in to succeed John L. Parise, who was recalled in the special election Aug. 22.

De Camp, who trailed by one vote in the election and who challenged the tally at a canvassing session Aug. 29, lost by two votes in the recount. The vote against him was certified finally as 1,829 and the vote to keep him as councilman was 1,827.

* * * *

THEN MAYOR Robert A. Thompson asked for a vote of confidence and failed to get it.

McShane was named mayor on motion of Wishek. Crenshaw also backed the ouster of Thompson and election of McShane. In the council reorganization vote.

Hydraulic Failure Perils Jet Airliner

CHICAGO (AP) — An American Airlines 707 jet airliner with 98 persons aboard landed safely at O'Hare International Airport Saturday after the pilot radioed the plane had lost hydraulic pressure in its landing gear system.

Fire equipment was alerted, but the big jet landed without incident. The plane was flight 34 from Los Angeles to Detroit with a stop at Chicago. It carried 90 passengers and a crew of eight.

Democratic Tea Slated Sept. 16

By BOB HOUSER

A number of Democratic club women of Long Beach will attend the "Fashions and First Ladies" Teas for TV luncheon Sept. 16 in the Beverly Hilton International Ballroom, Mrs. Adrienne Becker, 18th District Central Committee cochairman, announced Saturday.

The second and final United States showing of Oleg Cassini's fashion collection will be featured. Proceeds of the $10 donation luncheon will be used to sponsor television time for Democratic candidates in the 1962 elections.

Mrs. Becker said the New Frontier Democratic Club of Long Beach has reserved two tables for the affair. She said she will take local reservations until Sept. 8 at HE 2-2337.

DEMO ASSOCIATES TO HONOR BROWN

Gov. Edmund G. Brown will be guest of honor at the monthly luncheon of Democratic Associates, Inc., at 12:15 p.m. Sept. 13 in the Ambassador Hotel Venetian Room, 3400 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Hugh Evans, board chairman, announced.

Reservations may be made at Democratic Headquarters in Los Angeles, Hollywood 6-2101.

Symphony Sets Auditions for Thursday Night

Auditions for places in the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra for the 1961-62 season will be held at 7:45 p.m. Thursday in the Municipal Recreation Center rehearsal hall, 350 E. Ocean Blvd.

String, woodwind and brass players will be auditioned.

The orchestra, conducted by Lauris Jones, rehearses Thursday nights. Six concerts are planned for the regular series, and seven for young people.

'Food Shower' Given Nurse by Co-Workers

Co-workers of Mrs. Juanita Ellington, 41, of 6562 Brayton Ave., a nurse's aide at Rancho Los Amigos County Hospital, staged a "grocery shower" for her Saturday.

Mrs. Ellington, who recently underwent brain surgery, was presented with nearly 300 cans of food and other grocery items.

The woman, who is divorced, is the mother of a 10-year-old daughter, Carolyn Sue.

Square Dance Classes Start in Park Sept. 23

Square dance classes for children will begin at Houghton Park Sept. 23, district supervisor Bob Van Antwerp of the Recreation Department announced Saturday.

The classes will be open for boys and girls in grades four through eight. Beginners will meet at 1 p.m., intermediates at 2 p.m.

Study Stone-Age Man

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (UPI)—A Harvard-Peabody scientific expedition including New York Gov. Nelson D. Rockefeller's son, Michael, returned safely Saturday after five months study of a stone-age tribe in the remote Baliem valley.

6 Muslims Held in L.A. Melee

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—Six alleged "Muslims" were booked for battery Saturday after a melee ensued outside a Western Avenue market where they were distributing leaflets.

Special agents Marsh King and Fred Prendergast made citizens arrests of the six with the assistance of four policemen.

Police identified the suspects as members of a "Muslim group" and said the struggle occurred when the special agents, employed by the market on South Western Avenue, told the group to move away from the entrance.

Machine Venders Growing

In the future, you'll be able to buy everything from a loaf of bread to a necktie at your neighborhood vending machine on a street corner.

That was the prediction Saturday night by B. J. Grenier, of Culver City, president of the National Automatic Vendors Trade Association.

* * * *

THEY ARE even selling fishing worms through the push-button machines today.

And, in Chicago, a chain department store is experimenting with sale of ready-to-wear clothing items by way of automatic vending machines.

There are machines that will serve you up a chilled cup of beer.

* * * *

GRENIER, who is presiding at the first annual conference of the association at the Lafayette Hotel, predicted a "fantastic growth for the industry in the next few years." The two-day conference ends today.

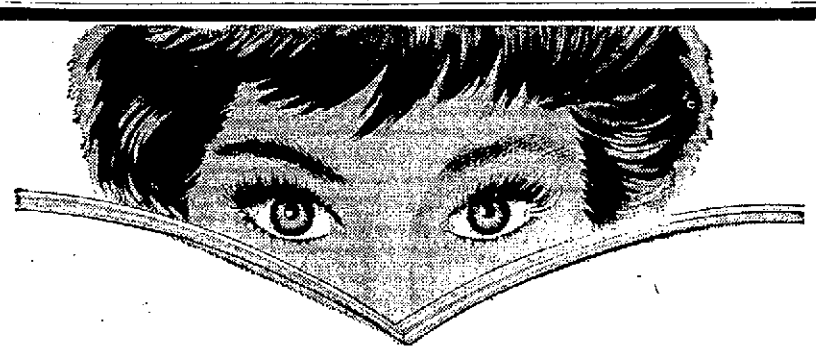

"Why one vending machine company had gross sales of $13 million two years ago," he said. "Last year, it sold $60 million. This year, it expects gross earnings of $120 million."

Grenier—who himself has 170 vending machines at Los Angeles International Airport, credits the popularity of the vending machine to these reasons:

1. Low cost of operation. "Little overhead charge."
2. Quality of products. "You can't fool the public."
3. Engineering. The machines are built to sell anything. "They can take a frozen item, heat it and serve it," Grenier said.

THERE'S LUXURY IN SOL VISTA'S NEWEST HOMES

Newest Sol Vista Luxury Unit Opens in Santa Ana

Al Solomon, president of the Alco-Pacific Construction Co., developers of Sol Vista Luxury Series Homes, announced the grand opening of Unit 20, another new subdivision in Santa Ana.

Other developments are located in Huntington Beach, Garden Grove and Westminster. All of these developments are near the present model homes located on Beach Blvd., three miles south of Garden Grove Blvd.

The Sol Vista Luxury Series Homes are one of the fastest selling developments in the entire Southland, and Solomon attributed this fact to the increase of industry in this area.

Sol Vista features the Medallion "all electric kitchens." They include the Frigidaire range and oven, and the Frigidaire dishwasher. Also included is color coordinated range hood and light with electric fan, whirlaway disposals and ash cabinets which are easy to reach.

* * * *

ANOTHER FEATURE is the hardwood floors of genuine oak with two-inch tongue and groove sub-flooring on "raised' foundations. Also included is rock wool insulation by Johns-Manville, acoustical ceilings, Armstrong Excelon tile, American Standard Plumbing and forced air heating with thermostat control.

The living rooms feature dramatic floor-to-ceiling wood-burning fireplace of stone or brick with gas log lighter included. The bathrooms have convenient pullmans, colored fixtures, and stall showers with safety glass doors in the master bedroom bath. Most plans include a beautiful dressing table with mirror.

The homes are priced from $17,800 with no money down on VA terms (except costs and impounds) FHA with minimum down payment, Cal-Vet and conventional loans are also available.

The homes are located near several golf courses, shopping areas, churches, elementary and high schools, and in particular the higher educational institutes which include Long Beach State College, Orange Coast College and Orange State College. They are also near the beaches, swimming, surfing and fishing.

* * * *

THE MODEL HOMES are open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and only until 6 p.m. Saturday. For your convenience there is a hostess available in each model home to answer preliminary questions. The sales program is directed by C. "Faye" Stites, president of the C. LaFaye Co. Inc., exclusive sales agents of Sol Vista Homes.

Sol Vista is located on Hwy. 39 (Beach Blvd.) 3 miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. From Long Beach, go out Carson or Garden Grove Blvd. to Hwy. 39 and turn right to models. From Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway to the Artesia turnoff, follow Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) south to models.

Sol Vista developments are also conveniently located in Riverside and Santa Maria.

SPEAKER

The Thursday noon speaker at the Advertising Club of Long Beach luncheon in the Lafayette Hotel Boulevard Room will be Robert L. Hicks, vice president and general manager of the Business Extension Bureau, Los Angeles. His speech is entitled "Smoke Signals," a talk on direct mail advertising.

Code for Realtors to Get New Study

Realtors will launch a program to develop detailed canons of professional practice in real estate work at a special meeting of the Committee on Professional Standards of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in Chicago Sept. 11, S. Denmead Kolb, Salisbury, Md., chairman of the committee, announced.

"For nearly half a century," Kolb said, "Realtors have rendered their services to buyers, sellers, and owners of real property under a code of ethics that is one of the first of its kind to be established in the United States. Growing complexity in the real estate market and the need for more specialized real estate services indicate the value of detailed interpretations of the 30 articles of the Realtor's code of ethics in widely varying circumstances.

* * * *

"WORK WE undertake in Chicago will initiate a series of interpretations to constitute modern canons of conduct for maintaining a professional caliber of service in real estate work.

"This understanding is a continuation of the work that has been carried on by Realtors for two generations through their local, state and national organizations to provide the basis for reliable, competent, and considerate service in real estate matters."

The term Realtor is registered as a collective mark (similar to a trade mark) in the U.S. Patent Office, and may be used only by the 69,815 active members of NAREB.

Church Building Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Church construction reached $1 billion in 1960, a 10 per cent gain of 1959, according to building authorities at Allied Chemical Co.

Name Two Chairmen for Chest Campaign

William A. Harrington and Howard Wing have been appointed Community Chest division leaders according to James H. Crooker, campaign chairman.

Harrington, a member of the Harbor Commission, will head the harbor division for the drive with Thomas J. Thorley, assistant port manager, as his vice chairman. Harrington, who is manager for Bethlehem Steel Shipbuilding Division, is a former member of the Chest board of directors and of the Catholic Welfare Bureau. Thorley was division chairman for last year's drive.

W. A. HARRINGTON
Heads Harbor Division

Harbor division's quota of the $1 million campaign goal is $12,148.

* * * *

DOWNTOWN BUSINESS division will have Howard Wing as chairman and three co-vice chairmen.

James G. Craig, Jr., a former Chest president and campaign chairman, will work with Harlan Miller and Mottell Peek in setting up the organization of the division.

With a $11,639 quota for the 669 business prospects, Wing will enlist a team of 68 solicitors with the help of three loan executives: R. H. Beach, Robert K. Ritter and Herman Moskowitz. Miss Florence Genschmer, executive director of the Visiting Nurse Service, is the agency director assigned the division.

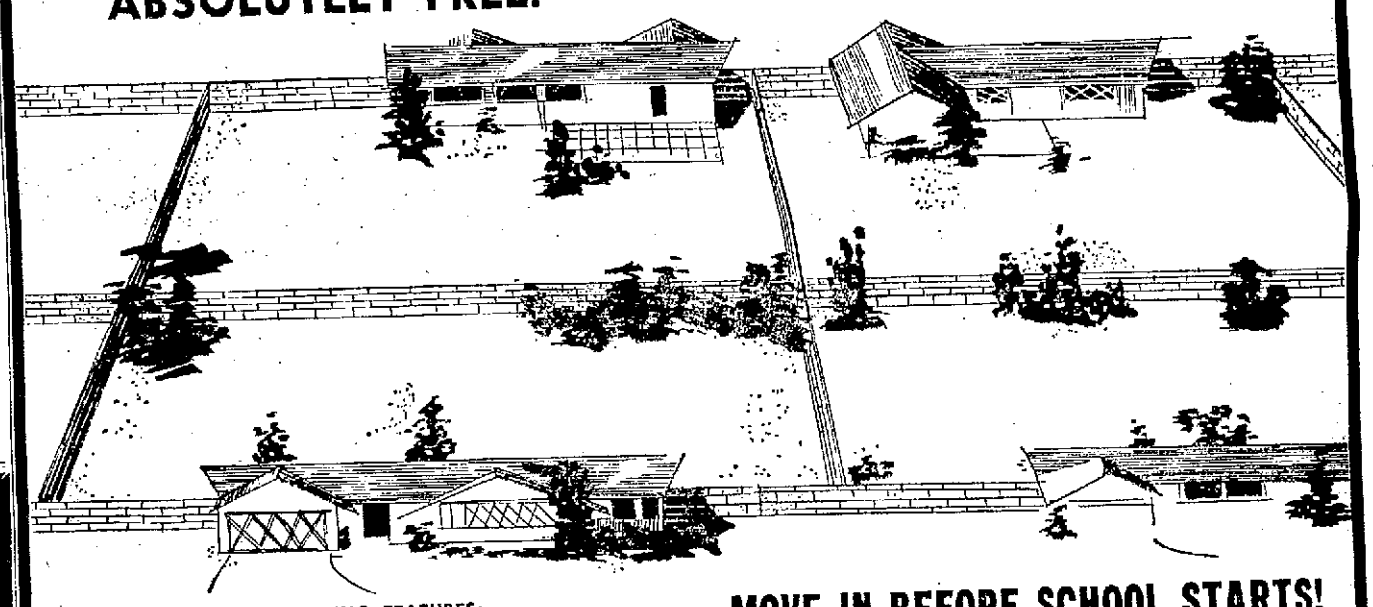

Wing, who is manager of the Wing Chinese Art Store, was one of the division's captain's last year. Peek is with Eastman Dillon Union Securities Co. and is a member of the Chest board of directors. Miller, a member of the board of the Community Volunteer Office, is a partner in the Miller-Roudebush Insurance agency.

Dutch Haven's Newest Unit Is Selling Fast

A DUTCH HAVEN INTERIOR
Recently opened in Dutch Haven unit 18, homes such as this are finding quick buying response due to the many features at nominal prices, salesmen report. They are in Huntington Beach.

The steady sales increase experienced since the mid-August grand opening at Dutch Haven's Unit 18 on Beach Blvd., Huntington Beach, is not only being maintained, said Edward S. Boyd, sales agent, but during the past week has been accelerated to a new high.

Boyd said that, apart from the desirable location, modest ate price and custom features offered by the subdivision's "American Home Series" models, an important factor in stimulating increasing sales for the community has been the suitability of the development for family living. Environment is suburban and uncrowded, play areas are generous and all homes feature both spacious living quarters and larger-than-usual storage facilities.

* * * *

HE ADDED that buyers were finding a host of other ways in which the Dutch Haven development was eminently suitable for young children. Not only are schools nearby and a new shopping center under construction in the area, but the community has an ideal climate which is healthful and invigorating. From the standpoint of recreation, it is but minutes away from several of the Southland's finest beaches and facilities for boating and surfing are excellent.

Prices of Dutch Haven homes start at $14,950 with $95 move-in cost to veterans on VA terms. Also available are Cal-Vet terms and FHA loans at the newly authorized 5¼ per cent interest rate.

* * * *

PURCHASE includes title to land, with property rights protected by Title Insurance and Trust Co., and tax rates are unusually low due to city-owned oil royalties. There are no hidden charges, second mortgages or balloon payments. Improvements such as street lighting, sidewalks, streets, curbs, sewers and utilities are covered in the original cost.

Homes are either three to four bedrooms with family room and up to two full baths. A total of 16 exterior elevations are available to buyers, including the popular Dutch Provincial, Ranch House, Colonial and Hawaiian Modern styles which have been consistent top sellers in other Dutch Haven communities.

* * * *

BOYD SAID that visitors touring the model homes have commented favorably upon the quality of "custom features" offered in the homes.

To reach the furnished models from Long Beach, drive east on 7th St. to Beach Blvd., then south to models; or drive south on Coast Hwy. to Beach Blvd., then left on Hwy. 39 to models.

Realtors to Hear Talk on Titles

Barbara Moss, program chairman for September, of the Long Beach Board of Realtors, announced that Edward A. Lawton, vice president and manager of Los Angeles title operations, will be the guest speaker at the regular breakfast meeting to be held at 7:15 a.m. in the Supper Room of the Lafayette Hotel, Tuesday.

Lawton is well known among local real estate circles and his topic will be "Coordination of Efforts of the Realtor, the Escrow, the Lender and the Title Company.

Can't Copy Home Plans

Two recent United States District Court decisions in Southern California have again affirmed that copyrighted architectural drawings may not be legally duplicated by unauthorized builders and designers.

The findings for the plaintiff were based on two suits instituted by builder Ross W. Cortese against other building firms and architects.

Cortese charged that his copyrighted designs for Frematic Homes built at Rossmoor were being copied to build homes in Glendora and Apple Valley.

The courts' decision not only enjoined the defendants from use of plans for construction purposes, but also ordered their destruction and further stated that copyrighted plans could not be reprinted without authorization of the owner.

A LAKEWOOD EAST HOME

S. V. Hunsaker & Sons offer homes such as this in Lakewood East Sunshine at moderate prices on low terms. The location has great appeal to buyers.

Location of Homes Appeals to Buyers

Choice location close to schools, churches and shopping center and only minutes to the prime metropolitan industrial area, plus an unusual array of popular features are responsible for the continued purchases of Lakewood East Sunshine homes, according to S. V. Hunsaker, president of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders and developers.

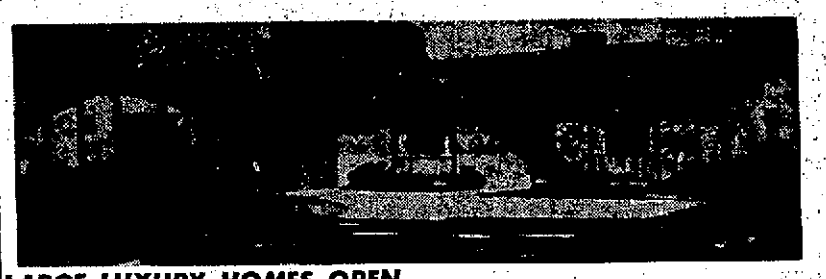

Hunsaker further stated that the new down payment of $195 for the quality homes, with monthly payments less than rent, and the opportunity to move in immediately before school starts are contributing factors to the buyer acceptance.

THESE THREE BEDROOM, two full bath, two-car garage homes, priced at $16,595, have silent force-air heat, disposal, vinyl tile, Formica counter tops, hood and exhaust fan over range, and natural finish cabinets. Features which appeal to most prospective home buyers include choice of front or rear family room and wall-to-wall carpet.

Parkway trees are planted and sewers and sidewalks are in and paid for.

Model homes may be inspected daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Centralia Road just west of Pioneer Boulevard.

Garden Park Estate Homes Preview Today

LARGE LUXURY HOMES OPEN

Built by S & S Construction Co., homes in Garden Park Estates will be shown in a preview opening today on Garden Grove Blvd., just east of Long Beach at Knott Avenue.

Discriminating home shoppers will find a lot of answers at today's preview opening at Garden Park Estates. This first showing presents an exciting "city within a city" of spacious, all-new luxury homes distinguished by quality construction, design excellence and a prime location at Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway.

Plus, and a very important plus, unusually modest prices and convenient "four way" terms, says a spokesman for the homes.

This new series offers new designs, new concepts of comfort and beauty and the top quality components typical of its builders, S & S Construction Co., winners of two recent national awards for the use of quality contruction methods and materials.

DESIGNED WITH three and four bedrooms with two baths, a dining area and a family room, the new Garden Park Series affords a widely diverse selection of exterior designs ranging from Conventional to timeless Contemporary, many of the latter enhanced by subtle Hawaiian Modern and Far Eastern motifs.

The modest full prices from just $17,450, include the many luxury and convenient features. Sales Director W. R. Effinger explained that the "four way" financing offers veteran terms of nothing down except impounds and closing costs with monthly payments from $96.60 including principal and interest, Cal-Vet loans and, for non-veteran buyers, excellent FHA and conventional terms with lowest possible down payments.

* * * *

HIGHLIGHT AMONG the many attractions list massive wood burning fireplaces, sliding walls of glass opening to patio and garden areas, luxurious baths with colored plumbing fixtures and pullman lavatories, and beautifully appointed kitchens with built-in wall oven and range, rangehood with light and fan, semi-automatic dishwasher, and superamic tile worktops.

Sound conventional construction includes lath and plaster, rockwool insulation in ceilings, forced-air heating with thermostat and summer cooling switch and red cedar or crushed rock roofs.

To drive to the model homes go east on 7th St. past Long Beach State College to the homes at Garden Grove Blvd. and Knott Ave.

Brentwood Location Appeals

A close-in location which averages 12 minutes driving time to Long Beach and 20 minutes to Los Angeles central manufacturing district is helping draw crowds of veterans to Brentwood Gardens, one of the largest subdivisions in Orange County, said Larry Weinberg, president of Larwin Co., builder-developers. Homeseekers who purchase here, he said, will save time, tires, and gas, while enjoying more leisure moments with their families.

The development has been congratulated by Look Magazine for its imaginative and creative use of nationally-advertised products.

* * * *

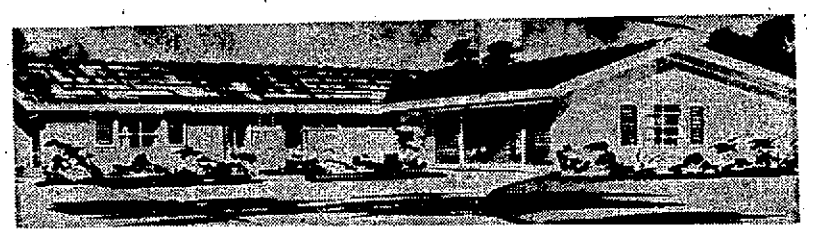

VETERANS can move into the Brentwood Gardens community for a total of $95. Pricing is from $15,700, while monthly payments begin at $87, including principal and interest. Now available are a few credit rejects with $1 total move-in costs for veterans.

Offered with three or four bedrooms (or three bedrooms and family room) and two baths, the Brentwood Gardens homes include an array of quality features seldom found at the low price, Weinberg said. Among these are: Spacious kitchen eating areas, vinyl floor tiles, ceramic tile counter tops in kitchen, lath and plaster walls, forced-air furnace, Waste King Pulverator, Norris Thermador double sink, aluminum sliding doors, roof insulation, 100-amp electrical service, and oversized gas water heater.

* * * *

THE HOMES are close to beaches, tree-studded parks, children's playgrounds, and golf courses.

From Long Beach, Brentwood Gardens may be reached via Carson (which becomes Lincoln Avenue) east to Knott Ave. and the model homes.

VETS NEED ONLY $95

Homes like this are offered in Brentwood Gardens for only $95 for veterans. They are priced from $15,700.

First of 300 Unit Apartments Ready

F. Stevens Macey, president of Kimberly Investments Inc., announced completion of the first 44 units of the 300-unit Provincial Gardens apartments in Anaheim. According to Macey, this is the first segment of a four-stage project that will eventually total more than 2,000 units.

Macey said that Keystone Management Co. will administer the development program during and after construction. W. E. Carroll has been named to serve as general manager of the recently organized property management company which is headed by Macey.

THE FIRST units of Provincial Gardens, now ready for occupancy, are a contemporary design and provide a wide selection of floor plans. This flexibility is illustrated by two-bedroom studio apartments with two baths ranging to one-bedroom ground-floor apartments, all with private patios. Color-coordinated carpets and drapes are included in each unit which can be furnished on an optional basis.

General contractor on the project was Epperly Construction Co. of Anaheim. Provincial Gardens, as well as additional units now under construction, were designed by R. S. Jones of Garden Grove. The new apartment units feature "balanced power" for efficiency and convenience.

Provincial Gardens are at Citron and Provincial Streets.

Canadian Gas

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canada's ultimate reserves of natural gas, located primarily in the western provinces, are estimated at about 300 trillion cubic feet, according to the American Gas Association.

GOLDEN WEST HOME

With down payments from $800 the new FHA 35-year loans are available on Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach. This is one of many models there.

35-Year FHA Loan Offered on Homes

The first new 35-year 5¼% FHA terms in Huntington Beach are now available at Golden West Estates, less than 10 minutes from famous California beaches, report George and Merlin Sant of the Sant Construction Co., joining with McCarthy Co. in building the Golden West homes. The new FHA terms are offered with down payment from $800. Buyers may also take advantage of veterans' no-down payment terms and conventional terms with down payments from $695.

Priced as low as $17,500, Golden West homes are available in 22 exterior stylings, including Provincial, Colonial, Spanish, Monterey Ranch, Contemporary and Hawaiian. The homes offer three or four bedrooms, two baths, large family rooms, and oversized two-car garages. The Pageant Realty Co. sales agents, administer an exceptional trade-in plan which allows buyers a cash refund or lower monthly payments when their equity in their present home exceeds their down payment.

LEADING ALL SALES is a unique new double-patio plan, with both patios giving access to an enormous kitchen-family-living room complex. The front patio serves as an impressive enclosed entryway. Desirable features of the Golden West Estates homes include: gleaming modern breakfast bars, lustrous natural ash cabinets, wide-and-high sliding glass doors, forced-air heating with thermostatic control, enormous stall showers, Wilson-art sink tops with coved splashes, large service area, washbasins and baths with Mixet fixtures, exhaust fan in kitchen and baths, center entry halls.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached by going east on 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to Golden West St., then right (south) to furnished models.

Sells, Leases Store Building

The Broadway-Hale Stores, Inc., has sold its Whittier store in the Whitwood Shopping Center, Whittier Blvd. and Santa Gertrudes Ave., to the New York Life Insurance Co. for approximately $3 million. The store will be leased back to Broadway - Hale Stores, Inc., for a 30-year initial term.

The branch store contains about 130,000 square feet plus storage area.

Fuglie Joining Leisure World

Lloyd G. Fuglie has been named treasurer of Rossmoor Leisure World, $150 million senior citizen housing project now under construction in Seal Beach, Ross W. Cortese, president of the building firm, announced.

Fuglie, a certified public accountant, previously was vice-president-finance of M. J. Brock & Sons, Inc., general contractors and subdividers.

Rossmoor Leisure World, which, upon completion, will comprise 6,750 own-your-own apartments, will be the nation's largest privately developed senior citizens' project as well as the first to include complete medical care and drugs, short of hospitalization, as part of the monthly payment.

IN BOLSA PARK

Over half million dollars in sales has been recorded at Bolsa Park, where homes such as this are offered from $19,250 on new, long-term financing.

Bolsa Park Sales Continue to Soar

A sales volume in excess of one-half million dollars has been registered at new Bolsa Park, situated on Bolsa Chica Road at Bolsa Avenue in Huntington Beach, said builder Robert C. Werbel.

Buyers crowding to Bolsa Park are reportedly pleased to find genuine lath and plaster construction.

The homes are offered with new 35-year, 5¼ per cent FHA financing, VA no down payment terms, and 6 per cent conventional financing. Pricing is from $19,250.

* * * *

CUSTOM ENTRY and loggia areas are among the unusual features of Bolsa Park's four new plans. Bolsa Park's loggia areas give access to all rooms, minimizing wear-and-tear on living areas.

Especially popular with the crowds is the new four-bedroom Plan 4, which includes a sleeping wing separate from the living-entertaining area, Werbel said.

Offered with three or four bedrooms, two full baths, and a family-dining room, the homes are situated on pool-size lots within three minutes' drive of beaches.

* * * *

INCLUDED ARE such quality features as: floor-to-ceiling fireplace of brick or Palos Verdes stone with log lighter; shake, cedar shingle, or rock roofs; custom vinyl floors in entry and loggis; ceramic tile breakfast bar; ash kitchen cabinets ceramic with ceramic tile drain boards; colored gas range and double-window oven with rotisserie; garbage disposer; custom range hood with recessed light and fan; automatic dishwasher; floor-to-ceiling sliding glass doors; 75,000 BTU forced air heating and concrete rear terrace.

From Long Beach, the homes may be visited via 7th Street (which becomes Garden Grove Boulevard) east to Bolsa Chica, turning right two miles.

New Head of Branch Bank

Raymond P. Johnson has succeeded Orville L. Wostenberg as manager of Bank of America's Dutch Village branch in Lakewood.

R. P. Johnson

Wostenberg, who has headed Dutch Village since 1956, will manage the Lawndale branch. His entire 22-year career has been spent in the Long Beach area, beginning as a messenger.

Johnson takes over as manager at Dutch Village branch following a year at the bank's Los Angeles headquarters. He previously worked for the bank in Norwalk, Hollywood, and Los Angeles since joining it in 1948.

Max Nichols at Bank School

Max E. Nichols, vice president and manager of the Long Beach office of First Western Bank & Trust Co., is attending the Pacific Coast Banking school on the campus of the University of Washington, Seattle.

A part of the Wisconsin School of Banking and Stonier School of Banking of Rutgers University, the sessions are designed to provide advanced education in theory and practice of banking and related subjects.

Nichols is in his final year of the commercial division of this three year residential school. At least six years of banking experience are required before a bank executive may enter the school.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees have hit 142 home runs in World Series play compared to 42 for the opposition.

Vet Needs No Cash in Sun Ray Estates

A revolutionary concept of home purchasing is making Sun Ray Estates in Westminster the "hottest" tract in Southern California," says a spokesman.

An innovation in financing permits a veteran to buy one of these award winning homes without one cent of investment (no down, no costs and impounds) and the purchase, starting at $19,300, includes wall-to-wall carpeting, concrete block fencing, plus over 15 other features distinctive of the Providence Series as seen in the recent Los Angeles Home Show.

FHA terms are also available requiring a minimum of investment.

Immediate occupancy is available.

* * * *

CREATING a great interest is the 64-inch decorative concrete block fence that encompasses the rear yard of all the homes in the tract, making it a truly "walled city." Not only does the inclusion of this feature eliminate a costly initial expense to the new home buyer, but it prevents what has been in the past a source of many a feud between neighbors based on "what kind of a fence to put up and who is going to pay for it."

* * * *

THE HOMES are three or four-bedroom plus family room with breakfast bar. All have forced air heat thermostatically controlled, built-in range and oven by O'Keefe and Merritt, natural pine cabinets in the kitchen, and the front yards are landscaped. Attached or detached garages are available and several elevations have fireplaces with log lighters.

The model homes are on Garden Grove Boulevard at Seneca, which is about five miles east of Seventh Street and Pacific Coast Highway in Long Beach, or about one and one-half west of Highway 39 (Beach Boulevard) if coming from the other direction.

Hospital to Benefit From Event

Some of the Southland's finest horses will be on view next weekend at Los Alamitos Race Course when Long Beach Community Hospital Auxiliary sponsors its first annual Hay Day benefit horse show.

All proceeds from the event will be used by the auxiliary to support the Epileptic Clinic and to buy equipment for the hospital. A nominal donation will provide admittance to both day's performances and children under 14 years will be admitted free. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Food will be available at a number of booths operated by the auxiliary.

Among high points of the two-day event will be an appearance Saturday by Clint Walker of "Cheyenne" TV fame who will present the trophy to the winner of the American Quarter Horse Association Youth Pleasure Horse.

AFS Gives a Taste of America--Burgers

Nine foreign students, recently arrived, will have their first taste Tuesday of an old American custom: hamburgers.

The lend-lease teenagers, here on American Field Service international scholarships, will also have the trimmings — baked beans, potato salad, Cokes and ice cream sandwiches.

The event: a get-acquainted barbecue at the Lakewood Village home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cossarek, 3329 Harvey Way.

* * * *

RESEMBLING a Little U.N., the group will include high school students from South and Central America, Europe and the Orient. Their names and places:

MARIA ELENA SOLER CORVALAN, Mendoza, Argentina, who will attend Jordan High. Her host family: Dr. and Mrs. Philip Young, 5956 Brayton Ave.

MIRYAM RUTH LEAL-ESCOBAR, Guatemala City, Central America. She will attend Lakewood High; will stay with the John Hellers, 4133 Lomina Ave.

CHRISTIAN - JACQES WAYSER, Paris, France; Lakewood High; host family, Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Wachs, 4246 Lakewood Drive.

MARIA TERESA FIGUEIRA DE MELLO, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Millikan High; Mr. and Mrs. Al Harris, 5914 Wardlow Road.

MASSIMO CAMPITELLI, Rome, Italy; Millikan High; the Earl Witschers, 3103 Pattiz St.

UTA GUNTER, Graz, Austria; Poly High; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Petersen, 3735 Pine Ave.

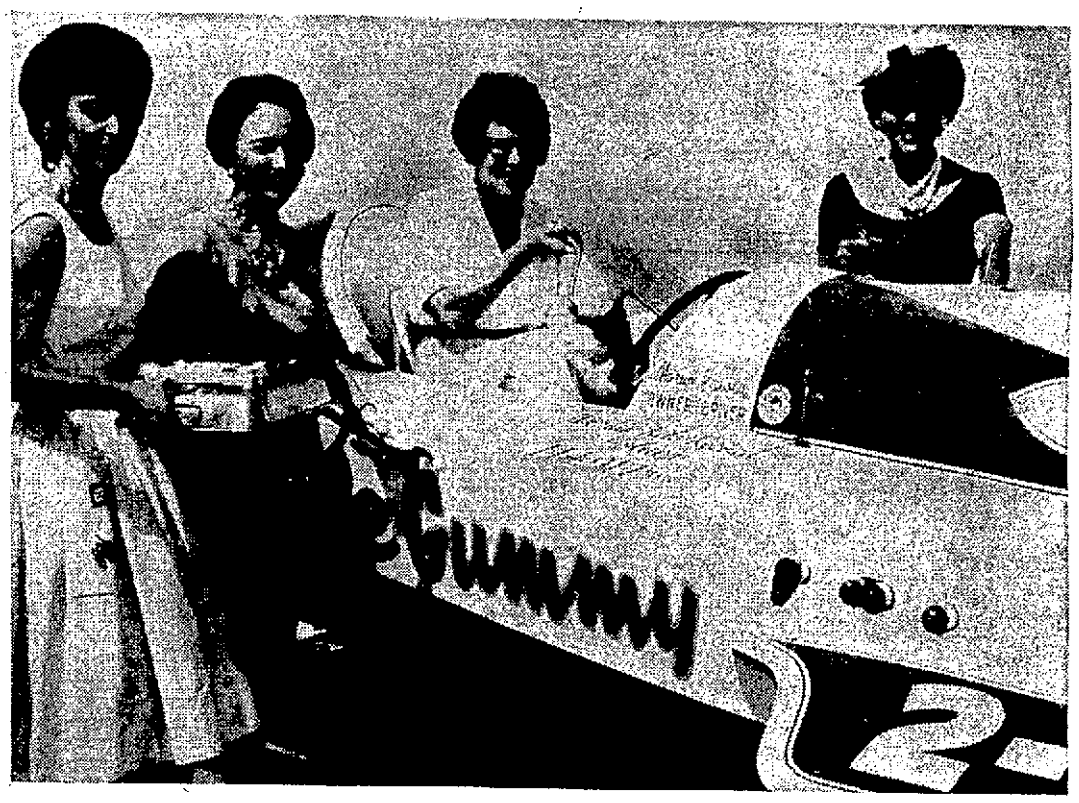

ALBERT ANTHONY COLAVITA, Mendoza, Argentina; also Poly. Host family: the Phillip Fawcetts, 1172 Cartegena Drive.

KEIKO MATSUZAKI, Hiroshima-shi, Japan; Wilson High; Mr. and Mrs. William Meinecke, 4526 DeOra Way.

WILLEM JAN GOEBEL, Amsterdam, Netherlands; Wilson High; the Ralph Gordons, 5127 Los Flores Ave.

Says Mrs. Cossarek, hospitality chairman for AFS, about the barbecue: "Where can you find a better place than your own backyard to promote international harmony."

Labor Day Regatta Will Attract Out-of-State Drivers

Pilot Club in Fourth Year as Sponsor of Boat Classic

Many out-of-state boats and drivers are expected in Long Beach Monday for the 16th annual Inboard Race at Long Beach Marine Stadium.

Among those journeying here for one last entanglement with Southern California drivers before heading home from last weekend's inboard nationals at San Diego will be four new national champions, crowned during the San Diego meet. They include Mike Waters, 266 Hydroplane; Duane Easton, B Racing Runabout; Bob Patterson, Crackerbox, and Wayne Thompson, 135 Hydro.

In its fourth year under sponsorship of Pilot Club of Long Beach, international women's classified service club, the Labor Day Regatta is conducted by the Southern California Speedboat Club.

* * * *

TEN CLASSES of boats will compete with a special match race between the Crackerboxes and E Racing Runabouts. Red Wilson, who has had the perpetual trophy in his possession for four years, renewed his claim to that trophy on July 4.

Gates will open at 8 a. m. for the two heats in each class which precede the first race at 11 a. m. First, second and third place trophies will be presented by Donna Kelly, Miss Welcome to Long Beach, who added "Regatta Queen" to her list of titles during a recent Pilot Club luau. Crowning ceremonies were conducted by Glenn Davis, vice commodore of Southern California Speedboat Club.

* * * *

LORENA YETT is president of Pilot Club. Heading regatta arrangements are Hope Case, chairman; Bey Glover, program; Ruthelyn Wilson, publicity; Virginia Rogers and Anna Louise Gruber, finance; Helen LeManquis, program sales; Mildred Devine, depositor.

Proceeds will go to Pilot Club philanthropies, among them, Crippled Children's Society of Long Beach, VA Hospital, Long Beach Day Nursery, Long Beach County Hospital, and Salvation Army.

Petticoats Swing Into Action

chamber women's division sets membership tea

The Chamber of Commerce's brand new petticoat is showing—and the men aren't embarrassed a bit.

In fact, during a rapid-fire, step-by-step series of events the past week, directors of the chamber:

1. Accepted the by-laws for the new women's division;

2. Publicly endorsed the division as one that "can be a definite force in furthering civic and cultural development of the city"; and

3. Recommended that directors encourage their wives to become charter members of the newly-formed women's division.

AND TO START the ball rolling, the C of C's First Lady, Mrs. Ken Hemphill, became the petticoat division's first charter member.

Her comment: "There is a real place for the newly-formed division, as there are many areas of community development which are of especial interest to women and in which their ideas and abilities should be utilized.

"I feel it is an honor and a privilege to become the first charter member of this splendid new group which can so ably supplement the work program being carried out by the Chamber."

MEANWHILE, chairman Wilma Hastings and her 12-member pilot committee are busy working up a who's who list of local leaders in the female ranks.

This nucleus of local professional, industrial, civic and business pace-setters will be invited to attend a kick-off membership tea Sept. 29, 4 to 6 p.m., at the Pacific Coast Club.

And they will be asked to become charter members of the new division at the history-making event. History-making because, as Mrs. Hastings puts it:

"There's no limit to the things we, as a group, can accomplish for betterment of our burgeoning city.

"This is not another tea party or sewing bee, but rather a 'women at work' group dedicated to beautifying our city, supporting the arts and promoting orderly urban development."

MRS. HASTINGS noted that the women will function as a cooperating, working division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dues in the women's division will be $25 annually. The group will have a voice in affairs of the main chamber through a representative appointed to the board of directors.

An invitation to the Sept. 29 membership tea is extended to all interested women, said Mrs. Hastings, who noted that reservations should be made with the chamber office.

Also, this week pilot committee members for the women's division are asking local industrial and professional executives to attend a refreshment hour Wednesday at the chamber offices.

The purpose: to acquaint the men with the division's projected program and ask them to appoint women leaders from their firms for membership.

Their theory, of course, being that behind every successful man, there's a woman.

TRAVELS IN STYLE . . . ANYWHERE, ANYTIME

Cords Afford Greater Go-Power

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

In fabrication of the fall fashion story, the corduroy plot thickens — and thickens — and thickens.

So much so, in fact, that more-luxurious-than-ever corduroy this year looms as a contender for best-seller lists.

Never has this Cinderella of the fabric world been so much in its glory. This season, often treated like its haute sister, velvet, it has no "pumpkin" tendencies by day—but, rather, travels in style . . . anywhere, anytime.

WITH NEW go-power it can be found in the most exciting or matter-of-fact places—on vacations, at the office, out to lunch, in smart shops, on mountain trails, at the theater or on the golf course.

In suits, there are a wealth of wide wale Chanel-types. Often designed in soft autumn colors (cashmere, walnut and pecan), they can be dressed up or down, depending on accessories.

Example: Wear yours for day with a print blouse, leather bag and medium heels. For dates, play up the velvety look with a satin blouse, high-heeled pumps and eye-catching jewelry.

Or, select one in jewel tone and wear the jacket over a long, sleeveless crepe dress for evening elegance.

THAT AGE-OLD favorite, the corduroy raincoat, this season has been designed with dress-up dash. Too pretty to save for a rainy day, it's the coat you'll find yourself reaching for in fair weather, too.

As for weekends, it's versatile enough to go from train to dinner — then double as a bathrobe!

And, ton, there's that gem of gems — the warmly-lined coat processed against rain. Here wide wales are a standout—for city, for country, for interurbia.

Often laminated or lined with cuddly pile, they're made either straight and sporty, with big pockets, or wide and flared for day-to-evening wear.

In many instances, there are "his and hers" separates to give you and yours that compatible, inseparable look.

Corduroy, up from grade school "whistle britches," has truly entered the world of sophistication.

FOR GOING SPORTY or dressy, separates in Crompton water-repellent corduroy by Sunset House. Ladies' browser jacket tops slim skirt, can be dressed up or down at will. Man's browser jacket features action back. In cashmere, walnut or olive.

ALL-WEATHER COAT, too pretty to save for a rainy day, leads double life—is equally smart in city or country. Here it's coupled with matching capri pants. Coat features laminated lining, huge patch pockets. Available in cashmere, pecan, olive, red. (Available locally.)

Stephens - Brightman Wed

The lovely dark-haired bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Latham Head Brightman, 199 Prospect Ave., and is the granddaughter of Dr. Mary C. Brightman and the late Latham H. Brightman, pioneer residents of the city.

Elegant simplicity characterized the bride's gown of silk organza trimmed with Alencon lace. Her dainty crown of pearls held a short bouffant veil. White orchids and bouvardia formed her bouquet.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Stephens of Portland, Ore., and was graduated from UCLA in June.

ATTENDING the couple were Mrs. Robert E. Freelen, sister of the bride, who wore a powder blue gown and blue veil, and Roger Pinkstaff, best man. Judge Charles Smith performed the nuptial ceremony.

Following a reception at the country club the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Santa Barbara and Carmel. They will make their home in Los Angeles.

The new Mrs. Stephens was graduated from Wilson High School where she was a member of SFO, and attended U. of Oregon before her graduation from USC. She was affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

Out You Go, Auntie

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I had to go back home to see my folks because my dad was ill, and as I was going to be gone for at least a month, I decided I'd get a live-in baby-sitter for our twins, aged two.

A friend of mine recommended a widow aunt of hers, 43 years old, certainly old enough to be harmless as far as staying here with John, but young enough to be able to run the house capably and look after the kids.

As it turned out, I was gone six weeks. I talked to my husband regularly, and as he assured me everything was shipshape and running on six cylinders, as he put it, I stayed on after Dad came home from the hospital to help Mom.

When I got home auntie was still there and my husband explained that she ran the house so much better than I did, and was so awfully good with the kids, he had engaged her to stay.

Now, I'm a stranger in my own home, but he refuses to let her go. I don't know.—WHAT TO DO.

DEAR WHAT TO DO:

For one thing, don't let anyone, especially a husband, make you feel like a stranger in your own home.

It is your home, you know—yours and your husband's—and if you feel auntie is an unwelcome outsider, tell her so and politely ask her to leave.

Your husband's protests must not count in this case. The whole situation looks dingy.

Take things in your own hands, Mrs. What To Do. It's high time!—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Quickly, what am I to do? Joe wants me to start going steady when school starts and Art doesn't want me to, but he doesn't want me to go steady with him, either. I'd like a steady beau, but I'm kinda in love with both guys. I've got to make up my mind.—GLORIA.

DEAR GLORIA:

Don't make up your mind. A wise young lady would keep stalling until one or the other makes up her mind for her. YOU have the advantage, you know, when you can pick and choose.—M.M.

CAREER WOMEN

National Secretaries to Hear R. A. Wenke

National Secretaries

Patently Efficient and Pretty, Too

By MARY NETH
I. P-T Women's Staff

She looks much too young, but you might say Mary Frances Graves is a "mother of invention."

She helps bring brain-children to maturity.

As feminine half of Graves and Baumgartner Drafting Company, this dynamic blue-eyed blonde sees that new inventions get to the U. S. patent office as black and white, easy-to-understand drawings.

It's not always easy. Sometimes the inventor has the idea but doesn't know how to bring it to life until it's on paper, says she.

Which means her partner, Frank W. Baumgartner, who does the drafting, sometimes has to do a little inventing of his own.

* * * *

ONE THING for sure, the job never gets old. "In what other business could you see something really new everyday?" says Mary Frances.

The inventions range from girdles to steel girders: office equipment, trucks, cars, oil well derricks, hair nets, TV gimmicks, ash trays, water skis, a cow wash and even a Disneyland ride.

"You name it and we've drawn it," she says.

And Mary Frances' job is just as varied. She's as apt to be perched on a high ladder, a Polaroid camera in hand, as behind her desk. Field trips take her to such contrasting places as oil fields, factories, farms and attorney's offices.

"The outside jaunts are fun but hazardous," says Mary Frances. "If there is a puddle of grease or oil anywhere, I'm sure to sit in it, and I always end on top of something slippery or teetery to take pictures."

* * * *

THE PICTURE taking proves that Mary's a pretty inventive girl herself, for taking photographs of inventor's working models was her idea. "A good idea too," says Frank, who wonders now how he got along without a camera.

Remembering how a tricky piece of equipment works after seeing it once is no snap. With the pictures he and his employes have something to refer to.

HOW DOES a slim, attractive blonde in her 20s get her name in gold letters on the door of a drafting business?

For vivacious Mary Frances, who flunked her one and only art course, it meant giving up a career as a legal secretary and switching from typewriter to pen, ink and bristol board.

It all started when, working at Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., she decided to ink-in patent drawings for pin money.

"Frank had just started in business for himself as a patent draftsman and was swamped with too much work," she explains.

Mary Frances tackled her first job over a weekend and ended up still working on it at 3 a.m. Sunday morning.

"I went to work with my eyes feeling like sandpaper," says she.

The drawings, quite detailed pencil studies of each invention, have to be inked just so—without smudges, smears or wavers. Shading goes by strict patent office rules to indicate color, shape and material.

PATENT PENDING

Electric eraser in hand, Mary Frances Graves shows partner, Frank Baumgartner, inked patent drawing she's completed. Mary Frances learned to ink invention drawings on part-time basis while secretary. Now business she and Frank operate at Ocean Center Building is expanding, soon may include architectural landscape design.—(Staff photos.)

MARY FRANCES GRAVES

"I erased more than I inked," says Mary. "Until finally the electric eraser got so hot I couldn't pick it up."

* * * *

BUT EVEN though Baumgartner admits those first inkings of Mary's were "far from perfect" (he had to re-do them) she DID learn.

With the result that she soon quit her first job of six years standing and bought into the organization.

And she's been quite an asset. As Baumgartner puts it, "adding a pretty blonde partner hasn't hurt business."

Even at first Mary Frances was not just a silent, decorative partner.

During the lean days, when they couldn't make ends meet, she took over and lined up work from lawyers while Frank took on another job.

Then there were the many evenings with deadlines to meet that she and Mrs. Baumgartner sat in front of TV grinding out drawings, production line fashion.

Now besides taking pictures, contacting attorneys for contracts, and inking drawings, Mary Frances keeps the company books and tries to keep the office at the Ocean Center Bldg. neat.

"The men don't always appreciate my picking up," says she. "They grumble that they can't find anything."

* * * *

WITH ALL her work, Mary Frances still has time for her favorite hobby.

A foreign car fan, with an MG of her own, she spends a great deal of time "polishing, cleaning, racing and paying for it."

As to marrying, this pretty miss says "There is always a chance, if the right man comes along," but for now her main interest is seeing that patents get down pat.

Nancy Webb in St. Thomas Rite

St. Thomas of Canterbury Episcopal Church was setting for the recent ceremony uniting in marriage Nancy Elizabeth Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnes Ray Webb, 4419 California Ave., and Coleman Anderson Doggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Doggett of Shelby, N.C.

The bride was charming in a Sabrina gown of white silk peau de soie. Her dress was embellished with Swiss applique and seed pearls as was the crown which held her illusion veil. She carried a cascade of butterfly orchids and bouvardia.

In the bride's entourage were Mary Edith Cline, maid of honor; Jane Runnels, Carol Featherman, Janet Anderson and Barbara Young.

* * * *

THE FATHER of the bridegroom served as his best man, and seating the 250 guests were George Doggett and Reed Webb, brothers of the couple; James Dart, John Heffner and James McWilliams.

Following a reception at the bride's parents' home, the newlyweds left for Palm Springs and a motor honeymoon trip to the Grand Canyon and east to Lincolnton, N.C., where they will reside.

The new Mrs. Doggett was graduated from Polytechnic High School and Occidental College where she was affiliated with Zeta Tau Zeta. Her husband has degrees in entomology and forest management from North Carolina State College.

Overseas League Women to Meet

Ruth Stewart, president of Women's Overseas Service League's Los Angeles Unit, will call the first fall meeting of the Unit to order at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Catholic Women's Clubhouse, 927 S. Menlo Ave. Serving with Miss Stewart are Mrs. Henry F. Droste, Mrs. Katherine Pyle, and Marjorie Shumway, Lillian Bushnell and Lucy Birdsall.

Four Couples Hear Chime of Wedding Bells

Back from their honeymoon at Grand Tetons National Park, Wyo., and residing at 1321 Roycroft Ave., are newlywed Mr. and Mrs. James Sperling Whitney.

The bride is the former Jane Elizabeth Ely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion F. Ely, 3161 Shady Park Drive; and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Whitney, 2879 Montair Ave.

At the wedding in North Long Beach Brethren Church attendants were Mrs. M. F. Ely II, matron of honor; Mmes. Harold E. Johnson, David Lee Whitney, Misses Theda Reinertson, Diane Fulljames; David Lee Whitney, best man; Marion F. Ely II, Hal R. Rogers, Donald Lee Sterrenburg and Harold E. Johnson.

THE BRIDAL gown of white organza over taffeta was designed by the bride with white rose appliques.

Both young people were graduated from Jordan High School, and the bride from Long Beach State College where Whitney is now a senior. Mrs. Whitney will teach at Rogers Junior High School this fall.

Shelly-Ebersole

North Long Beach Community Church was setting for the ring exchange when June Elizabeth Ebersole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Ebersole, 6462 California Ave., became the bride of Robert P. Shelly.

The bride was gowned in nylon tulle edged in lace over pale ivory satin. Attendants were Pat Moore, Mrs. Martha Nosches, maid and matron of honor; Mrs. Harold Johnson and Charlotte Brazil.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Shelly of Fresno, chose William Shelly as best man, with Donald McKay, Jerry Jackson and Robert Witkowski as ushers.

Mrs. James S. Whitney

Mrs. Robert P. Shelly

Mrs. Donald Christenson

Mrs. Monte Haberman

THE NEW Mrs. Shelly is an alumna of Jordan High and attended LBCC. She is a graduate of Los Angeles General Hospital School of Nursing. Her husband was graduated from Fresno State College and has his master's degree from UCLA. He is affiliated with Sigma Nu, Alpha Kappa Psi, Beta Gamma Sigma and Bru-Vets.

Huntington Park is the new home for the couple, following a San Francisco honeymoon.

Christenson-Oyler

Carol Lee Oyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Oyler, 4743 Levelside Ave., Lakewood, became the bride of Donald Morris Christenson, son of the Carroll M. Christensons, 5010 Matney Ave., in an afternoon ceremony in Lakewood Village Community Church.

Preceding the bride were Jacqueline Roy and Mrs. Thomas Christenson, maid and matron of honor; Karen Smith, Sharon Hughes and Kathy Oyler. Ronald Helbron was best man, and ushers were Thomas Christenson, Dave Dales, George Vafis and Ralph Crabtree.

* * * *

CARRYING a cascade bouquet and wearing a pearl trimmed crown, the bride was gowned in silk organza and peau d'ange lace with chapel train.

The bride was graduated from Lakewood High School and the bridegroom from Poly, as well as USC School of Dentistry where he was a Delta Sigma Delta.

Haberman-Gandaubert

Before a large guest company of 500 in California Heights Methodist Church the wedding of Darleen Gandaubert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gandaubert, 3745 Gardenia Ave., and Monte Ray Haberman, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Haberman, 4420 Hazelbrook Ave., was solemnized.

CHANTILLY lace over satin was selected for the bridal gown designed with a bouffant skirt with scalloped border and chapel train. The veil was held by a crown of pearls and crystal. The bride carried a bouquet of Madonna lilies.

Mrs. Haberman was graduated from Poly High and USC where she was an Alpha Gamma Delta. Her bridegroom attended Progress School and Pierce Agricultural School.

The newlyweds are now living in Long Beach following a honeymoon in Carmel.

The Wild Waves Say . .

By IOLA MASTERSON
I, P-T Women's Editor

While Women's Editor Iola Masterson is on vacation this column is being written by Betty Wentworth.

Flags are snapping in the breeze and the veranda is swarming with sailors and their crews this weekend at Alamitos Bay Yacht Club as members and guests compete in the annual classic Labor Day regatta hosted by ABYC on bay and ocean courses.

Commodore Bob Hoffman welcomed the salts and briefed them at the skipper's meeting yesterday prior to the starting gun for the first classes. There are more scheduled today and Labor Day, starting each day at 12:50 p.m.

Last night at the clubhouse tiki torches blazed and strings of Japanese lanterns swayed on the porches, with the scene wreathed in the aromatic scent of steaks sizzling on a battery of braziers for the annual dinner.

"They're Gaining!"

Among the 150 guests were 30 Star fleet members who had been entertained at cocktails by Jean and Vice Commodore Tom Knight in their La Canada home prior to the dinner.

Marje and Ken Hodges Jr. were in charge of the gala evening assisted by Margaret and Roy Conn, with Julia Arnold doing the decor. There was dancing afterwards with a pleasant family admixture of the junior and senior yacht clubbers.

Good luck, sailors—we suggest that you avoid the following if you want to take home a glittering trophy—DSQs (disqualifications, to you all on the beach), port-starboard fracases, bumping those sometimes magnetic marks and hitting that starting line ahead of the gun. Now, you have NOTHING to worry about if you follow our sage advice.

* * * *

IT'S A MOST unusual occurrence, you'll agree, when the choir at All Saint's Episcopal Church is discovered chuckling during the service. This transpired last Sunday when small Howard Scott Gebb was being christened.

He was enjoying the occasion hugely, and chortled and squealed in high good humor. This charmed the entire congregation which added its smiling approval of the event.

Young Howard, seven months, is the first child for Sheldon and Barbara Gebb, who've been spending the summer with Sheldon's mother, La Vona Gebb on Santiago. They'll leave shortly to return to Berkeley where the new father will be in his second year at Boalt Law School.

Also witnessing the baptism were grandparents Howard Bakken, after whom the little angel was named, and Edith. Afterwards everyone went on to Mrs. Gebb's home for a family luncheon for 24, where the honoree again basked happily in everyone's admiration.

CHINA, FABRICS, pearls, obi chairs, ginger jars, Okinawa screens—all these and other glamorous objects are on the list of things that Phyllis Sebring hopes to bear home with her from her travels which began Friday.

She and her husband, Keeney, winged off to visit her sister and husband, Dorothy and Lt. Merle Tree (USN) in Japan for three weeks. Tokyo, Kyoto, Kobe and the resort city, Hacone, are on their list of must-visit places.

The Trees, and daughters, Patty Ann and Marilyn, are former localites and also lived in Midway City for several years, hence there'll be much reminiscing sandwiched in between tours.

INVITATIONS have gone out from Florence and Dr. Orville Cole to 200 friends for the beautiful luau they give annually. This will be the seventh year for the event which is always greatly anticipated.

It's to be next Saturday evening beginning with cocktails at 7 p.m. and followed by dinner and dancing around the pool and on the lawn. Everyone comes in costume making a colorful shifting kaleidoscope of color against the Hawaiian background.

"I'm Tahitian!"

The orchestra will play on an island constructed of styrafoam which floats gently about on the pool — this may sound like airy construction but take heart, because it can hold 5,000 pounds!

Included in the guest list are cast members of the Community Playhouse production of "The Pleasure of His Company" which is now in rehearsal, and in which Florence is taking the part played by Cornela Otis Skinner in the Broadway production.

The Coles' daughters, Gloria and Joyce, will greet guests wearing identical muu muus which Gloria has just brought back from the Islands where she's been attending the U of Hawaii.

Invited to assist are Artie and Albert Stevenson, Corinne and Vernon Fay, Luba and Alex Kadvany, Janice and Clifford Cole, Marjorie and Frank Stanton and Eldred and Vernon Brickey.

THOSE PULSATING rhythms issuing from the new Palos Verdes Estates home of Barby and Bill Beasley were provided by a real steel band from the Virgin Islands, when the Beasleys threw a frolicsome calypso party recently.

It was their tenth wedding anniversary and they invited 36 guests in to help celebrate their "tin-th" year. Forgive us, please. Anyway, costumes ranged from slinky Carmen Miranda gowns and fruit laden hats to that of one imaginative character who came as a banana tree. Scout's honor!

Ebell Fashion Show, Tea

Once again the annual Ebell fashion show heralds the arrival of the fall season. Always much anticipated, the event will take place on Friday at 1 p.m. at the clubhouse, with Group Y in charge. Mrs. Grace Schick will present "Couturier Fashions for Fall."

Mrs. Dorothy Ritter, popular commentator, will describe the fashions with Harriet Wood, harpist, contributing background music.

There is to be a gift at the door for every guest, and under the supervision of Mrs. Merton Betts Smith, numerous attractive prizes will be given from the platform.

* * * *

FOLLOWING the style showing guests will assemble in the patio and dining room for a beautifully appointed tea. Table decorations are being prepared under the direction of Mrs. H. L. Frankenburger, and are to be centered around French fashion dolls from the collection of Mrs. H. L. Beckley, group chairman. Assisting are Mrs. E. T. Beckman of Group X and Mmes. Everett Findlay and Homer D. Redford, Group Y.

Mrs. M. A. Sneed is in charge of tickets which may be obtained from any member of Group Y or at the door.

Ushers will be under the guidance of Mrs. Max Bachr. Other chairmen include Mmes. B. TuckleyThompson, music; Will H. Winston, lighting; Merton B. Smith, King C. Light, prizes. Tea hostesses will be Mmes. Homer C. Moody, H. A. Beardsley, Walter Hunsaker and Leo Lynes and their committees.

* * * *

NEW CLUB president, Mrs. Harold O. Gray, and board members, plus Mrs. Henry M. Hoffman, Junior Matrons Dept., and Mrs. Clifton J. Belcher, chairman of Adrian Dept., will pour at the tea tables under the direction of Mrs. J. Roscoe Howell.

Board members of Group Y who are assisting to make this event a high light of the club year are Mmes. Beckley, Beardsley, Moody, Glenn H. Knowles, U. B. Killingsworth, W. M. Cobb, Martin Spark, Floyd R. Lee and Charles W. Legeman.

Mrs. Tim McCormick

Reception Today for Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Raymond Ullery, 214 Park Ave., are entertaining 75 guests today at a wedding reception honoring their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Clifford McCormick.

The pair wed in mid-August in Chimes Wedding Chapel. The bride, the former Marna Redmayne, chose for her vows a gown of white Chantilly lace trimmed in organza and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

* * * *

BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kruger of El Monte, received early schooling in Rosemead and will attend Long Beach City College. His bride is an alumna of Wilson and attended LBCC.

They are at home in El Monte.

End-of-Summer Tea Is Sparkling Party Finale

Cars lined California Avenue for blocks on Wednesday when 75 guests responded to Marion Groshong's "come for tea" invitations. They were greeted by Myrtle Murphy, Vi Hunter, Dorothy Jean Ellery and Lorraine Doyle upon their arrival and ushered into the lovely garden where vari-hued umbrellas dotted the lawn, their supports twined with ivy and hydrangeas.

"Lais Roses"

Masses of pink and red roses nodded their full-blown heads from a pressed glass compote on the tea table in keeping with the Colonial decor of the charming Groshong home. Those pouring were Irene Woodruff, Emily Persons, Lillian Crawford and Blanche Herley.

Pretty young assistants serving at the punch bowl were Gayle Fairley and Kathleen Doyle. We think a garden tea an eminently appropriate way with which to write finis to summer's parties.

Linda Hossom Is Bride

In a gown of pale ivory which cascaded into a chapel train and a delicate seed pearl tiara holding her tiered veil of tulle, Miss Linda Lee Hossom was a picture of bridal radiance when she said her vows with Harry Schiller Redeker Jr.

Mrs. Harry S. Redeker Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Overton Hossom, 5621 Corso di Napoli, prominent Long Beach residents. She entered St. Luke's Episcopal Church escorted by her father for the late afternoon ceremony.

Her peau de soie gown was appliqued with lace and featured a portrait neckline and bell-shaped skirt. The bridal bouquet was of stephanotis, Queen Anne's lace and orchids.

Gowns of turquoise silk linen were worn by attendants, Sherrill Hossom, her sister's maid of honor; Sheryl Stevens, Linda Loveren, Sandra Hunt, Mmes. William Martin and Roy Millender.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Redeker Sr. of Ardmore, Pa. J. Douglas Burke served as his best man, and seating the 350 guests were Richard Redeker, Jack McSherry, Roy Millender, Anthony Vienna and Rodney Bunson.

GARDENS OF the Hossom home bordering Alamitos Bay were setting for the reception.

The bride attended Bishop's School, La Jolla, and is an alumna of Wilson High School and UC, Berkeley, where she was a Gamma Phi Beta member and officer.

A graduate of Penn Charter School, and Connecticut Wesleyan University, the bridegroom was a Sigma Chi and on varsity football and baseball teams.

The newlyweds will reside in El Cerrito. They will both attend UC, Berkeley, where she will work toward her teacher's credential and he will continue at Boalt Law School.

Doctor's Wives Plan Luncheon

Wives of Navy Doctors will meet for luncheon Sept. 13 at 1 p.m. in the Virginia Country Club. Reservations for the event, which will include a cocktail hour at noon, are being handled by the hostess, Mrs. Walter F. Hanley, 5620 E. Ocean Blvd.

Civic Chorus Issues Call for Vocalists

The Civic Chorus, adult singing group sponsored by the Recreation Department, will begin the winter season's rehearsals on Monday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Dewey High School Auditorium, Eighth Street and Locust Avenue.

The group will prepare for two Christmas programs to be presented at Municipal Auditorium. Music to be practiced this fall includes interesting choral arrangements of Christmas melodies from other lands in modern and traditional settings. There will be opportunity for solo voices and small ensemble work. The "Messiah" also will be prepared for the December concert, assisted by the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra.

Young singers who have had experience in church choirs or high school singing groups are invited to audition for Frank Ahrold, choral director, at 7 p.m. Mondays.

HOLLYWOOD?
Robert K. Gronendyke's "Hooray for Hollywood" was chosen for display in the annual exhibition of Artists of Los Angeles and Vicinity at Los Angeles County Museum.

Opening Friday at Magnolia

Casting for Magnolia Theatre's production of "Send Me No Flowers" has been completed and rehearsals for the Norman Barasch-Carroll Moore comedy are under way.

The play, opening Friday, concerns a hypochondriac who, thinking he is about to die, makes plans to assure his wife a good life and a husband to succeed him.

Sal Mungo has been cast in the lead as George Kimball; Barbara Crooker will play his wife, Judy.

Others in the cast are Carl Yates, Jerry Brady, Bill Dusablom, Paul Teschke, Jay Stipal, Dick Hunter, Marjorie Watson and Virginia Sharp. John Williams directs.

The play will run Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays for six weeks.

Exciting New Exhibit at County Museum

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"Artists of Los Angeles Vicinity" at the County Museum until Oct. 1 is packed with inventiveness, originality and excitement. We suggest you go to see it soon; undoubtedly you will want to go back again.

On odd-numbered years like this one, the big annual juried show includes everything but oil paintings, permitting a much greater showing of sculpture, water colors, prints and drawings. The jury chose 180 works to be hung from 2,394 submitted.

THE SCULPTURE of two of these illustrates the range of subject matter and materials. Gronendyke's "Hooray for Hollywood" is pure fun and satire; on the entry blank space for materials, he wrote "junk." This consists of a wooden paddle on which are nailed a smashed trumpet and tin toys on one side, an old kid opera glove with a photo of a lady, circa 1910, peeking through the wrist opening, all surmounted by a halo of dead-hued sequins.

BARBARA JOHNSTON'S "Figure" is a poetic abstract of idealized feminine curves done in open and closed spaces in smooth white plaster.

Critics of the recent welded metal sculpture exhibit at Long Beach Museum of Art will find this medium well represented in the show, including prize-winner Oliver Andrew's "The Reaper." Among the many wood sculptures, Robert Ortlieb's "Todtentanz," suggesting two skeletal figures, and Eva Rappaport's "Baby," in spruce, were particularly impressive.

We were more drawn to the sculpture than to the other works as there are few opportunities to see so many different examples of three-dimensional works in one show. The same degree of excellence is to be found in the prints, drawings, water colors and mixed media. Allow yourself plenty of time when you go to see them.

Yamamoto Show at Museum

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., today opens an exhibit of oil paintings by Noriko Yamamoto. Approximately 20 works will be on display in the downstairs west gallery through Sept. 24.

Remaining galleries will continue to show the survey of museum acquisitions over the past 10 years.

Miss Yamamoto, a resident of San Jose, has exhibited nationally and abroad. Last year she won the Whitney Annual competition, open to artists throughout the United States.

A museum reception is slated for next Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

On Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. the museum docents will be on hand to guide visitors through exhibits. The service is carried on without charge in order to acquaint viewers with art movements of the past and present. Facts about each exhibit, otherwise known only to the museum staff, are shared during the continuous tour which is conducted informally to allow visitors to join those portions which interest them.

WILLIAM F. LaVALLEE, who was director of Long Beach Art Association's second annual art fair last Sunday in Bixby Park sends the following report:

During the afternoon, 3,200 people visited the fair. Forrest G. Hooper won First Most Outstanding for his oil painting, "Earth Heritage;" Pearl Jones was second with her oil, "Breath of Spring."

Other awards were: Oils, Paul Seydlitz, first; Goeffrey Holt, second. Waterbase, Harold Scott, first; Forrest G. Hooper, second. Graphics, David Denevan, first; Louise Vann, second. Sculpture, Kenn Glenn.

Audre Hutchins won the crafts award and membership prizes went to Willene Luckett, Marie Bucher, Edward Kane and Heinz L. Reien.

ANY PAINTING media is acceptable for the All-Southern California Artists open exhibit at Catalina Sept. 22 to 24. However, since there are no facilities for displaying the sculpture, that category is omitted. Paintings will be judged between 2 and 4 p.m. Saturday.

Top prize is $400. Others are $100, $50, and a $50 popular prize. The Santa Catalina Island Company has donated $150 for the best Catalina scene painted by other than a Catalina artist.

Entries must be delivered by hand to the exhibit; there is a $2 registration fee per painting.

DIVIDING budding West Los Angeles art students into age brackets 9 through 11, and 12 through 15, University Extension at UCLA this fall plans Saturday classes in "The World of Art for Children."

Through the two classes, which start Sept. 23 at the Extension Art Studio, 1063 Gayley Ave. in Westwood Village, Mrs. Selma Moskowitz hopes to present "the historical significance of art and its relationship to society to students at an age when the basic elements of art and art history can become meaningful to their future development as appreciators and/or practitioners."

Her class for pre-adolescents will meet from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. for 10 sessions while the teenagers will meet from noon until 2 o'clock.

Maior & Minor Notes

CONCERTS A MATTER 'OF BLOOD, SWEAT, RAIN'

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P-T Music Critic

In the New York Times Magazine of July 16, there appeared an article by Mrs. Charles S. Guggenheimer of New York City, the lady who started the Lewisohn Stadium concerts there, which are comparable to our Hollywood Bowl concerts. I found the story very interesting and I would like to share parts of it with my readers. Almost singlehandedly she founded these concerts 43 years ago and still runs them, although she is now 80 years old.

"Ever since that memorable night in June, 1918, when America's first outdoor symphonic concert was given—music for me has been largely a matter of blood, sweat and rain. The blood and sweat have been my own, poured annually into raising upward of $75,000 against the inevitable operating deficit of a season involving a symphony orchestra of 96 men vigorously championed by the American Federation of Musicians; 40 to 50 of the highest paid and most tempermental stars of opera, concerts, radio, television, motion pictures and the Broadway theater; a dozen or more gentlemen presumably wielding batons of solid platinum; and 25 or more totally different programs designed primarily for the enjoyment of people who may never be able to afford a ticket to Carnegie Hall or the Metropolitan Opera House.

"THE RAIN is something the United States Weather Bureau trumps up all by itself, expressly for the purpose of keeping people away from the Lewisohn Stadium.

"But music has meant other things to me as well during the past 43 years. It has meant the fun of getting to know great artists on an intimate, first-name basis. It has meant the excitement of discovering brilliant new talents and giving them their first boosts up the ladder of fame. It has meant a formidable array of citations, plaques, honorary degrees and medals from city officials, colleges and universities, and two quite delicious kisses on the cheek from a handsome gentleman representing France's Legion of Honor. And, most of all, it has meant a steady stream of letters and phone calls from people I have never met and whose names I can't even remember. But then, I can't even remember the name of the man who wrote the Verdi Requiem!

Dixie in Bowl

It's to be "Dixie in the Bowl" next Saturday night, when some of the hottest horns in Dixieland music will be on hand. The Dukes of Dixieland will blaze away, and other attractions will be clarinetist Pete Fountain and his Dixie quartet, Kid Ory and his quartet, plus vocalist Barbara Dane.

Greek Tragedy

Final event of the Greek Theater ninth annual season will be the premiere American appearance of the famed Greek Tragedy Company from Athens, opening Tuesday night.

This renowned troupe of thespians will be seen in Sophocles' immortal "Electra" performed in modern Greek. Following the five-performance engagement through Saturday here the company will embark on a tour of the United States.

On Stage--

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Stew Best Without Beef

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.P-T Food Editor

His name isn't really "Harry" at all. Today's Chef of the Week is Robert Henry Fulton. "Harry" isn't a nickname, either. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, and in Ireland "Henry" automatically becomes "Harry."

Now, if you're still with us, Harry Fulton came with his family straight from Belfast to Long Beach at the age of 6. His father was associated with the Craig Shipbuilding Co.

Fulton is presently special assistant to Long Beach City Manager John Mansell. We like to think, however, that he is first and foremost a newspaper man—secondly, a public relations expert. He spent many years with the Independent, Press-Telegram in many editorial capacities, including columnist, political editor, editorial writer and special assignments.

* * * *

AND, FOR his service above and beyond the call of duty, he won the California Newspaper Publishers' Associations' award for "Outstanding Public Service" in 1958.

His educational background, which resulted in these awards, began at Jane Adams Elementary School, continued on to Lindbergh Junior and Poly High Schools, then City College, with the grand finale at UC, Berkeley.

Somewhere along the line, Harry found time to devote four years to World War II, as a lieutenant in the Navy. On destroyer duty in the Pacific theater, he indulged in maneuvers for two and a half years without returning to the States.

Harry Fulton

His wife, Lorraine, as well known and as popular as he, daughter Ann, 15, and Janet, 6, and son Bill, 12; share his enthusiasm for community affairs.

* * * *

NOT POSSESSING one iota of domesticity his recipe today is for "Community Stew," which is terrific! Of that he says:

"The secret in making a good pot of community stew depends upon fulfilling two requirements. First, you have to have the proper basic ingredients to make a good stew. Second, the cook must show the proper amount of enthusiasm for his work if he expects to turn out a tasty dish.

"Here in Long Beach we have all the basic ingredients required for the making of a good community stew. Trouble is, too many of us spoil the stew because we lack enthusiasm as cooks.

"Far too many of us put to much beef in our stew. We're always beefing about what's wrong with Long Beach instead of bragging about what's right about the city. And you just can't expect to make a good pot of stew if you keep mixing in sour grapes.

"Here, then, 'Miss Porkchops,' is my recipe for a good community stew:

Basic ingredients:

A homogeneous, prosperous and happy population;

Unexcelled recreation, cultural and entertainment facilities;

Educational facilities and standards which are models for other communities;

Health and hospital facilities that are unmatched anywhere;

America's most modern port;

Public and private agencies which want to progress in the future.

"Add to these ingredients a magnificent section of the California shoreline and an inviting portion of the Pacific Ocean, and allow stew to simmer in the mild Southland sun.

"Now mix in a heaping spoonful of personal interest and a generous helping of community pride.

"Stir vigorously, enthusiastically, and you've got a Long Beach Community Stew — a treat the whole world will enjoy."

Carl Flinn Jr. Claims Pasadena Girl as Bride

Mrs. Carl D. Flinn Jr.

Carl D. Flinn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Flinn of Lakewood, claimed as his bride Mary Lynn Chambosse of Pasadena in a recent candlelighted ceremony in Pasadena Presbyterian Church.

His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Halsey K. Chambosse. She selected for her wedding a gown of imported Alencon lace, fashioned with full chapel train. Her crown of sequins and crystals held a fingertip length veil.

Preceding her to the flower banked altar were Mary Ellen Coughlin, maid of honor, and Barbara Beebe, Renie Cass, Gail Salisbury, Mary Lou Thomas and Sally Seamans, bridesmaids.

* * * *

BRIDEGROOM asked Ted Branstine to attend as best man, and ushering the 500 guests were Curtis Cribbs, Dominick Penterpe, Richard McElroy, Robert Beebe and Floyd Cass. Nephews of the bride, Robby and Brad Beebe, were junior ushers.

A reception followed at the Huntington Sheraton Hotel with the newlyweds later departing on a honeymoon trip to northern California. They will reside in Long Beach.

Mrs. Flinn attended Pasadena City College. Her husband, an alumnus of Lakewood High School, attended Long Beach City College.

Oswald Jacoby Exception Wins Anew

There is no telling how great a bridge player Louis Watson might have been. He was only 29 when he died and he had already won several championships and had established himself as one of the 10 best players in the world.

Louis' strongest point was that he was a perfect partner in bidding, play and postmortem analysis when he would try to take personal blame for any bad results.

Here is one of Louis' favorite hands. He sat, East and while South was planning his play before playing from dummy to trick one, Louis had plenty of time to see that his partner's lead had been the top of nothing. A count of his own high card and dummy's points left one jack as the most West could hold.

	NORTH 2 ♠ 8 7 3 ♥ A Q 5 ♦ K Q ♣ Q J 10 7 3
WEST ♠ 5 4 ♥ 9 6 3 2 ♦ 8 5 4 3 ♣ 8 6 5		EAST ♠ A J 10 9 6 ♥ J 10 7 ♦ 10 7 6 2 ♣ A
	SOUTH (D) ♠ K Q 2 ♥ K 8 4 ♦ A J 9 ♣ K 9 4 2

Both vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠ 5

THEREFORE, Louis Played the ten of spades. Not only did this play violate the rule of third hand high, but it also was a false card since it denied the nine.

South won the trick and led a club which Louis won. Now Louis led the jack of spades.

South went into a long huddle. He finally decided that West's opening lead had been a normal fourth best lead from a suit headed by ace, nine, six, five and that if West also held the four spot the jack would be Louis' only remaining spade.

So South played low, whereupon Louis ran off the rest of the spades and set an iron clad contract.

DEAR ABBY

Stay Off the Airways

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What does a girl do when she finds out that a boy for whom she cares a great deal has betrayed her confidence by broadcasting to all his friends things that should have been kept secret?—BETRAYED.

ABBY

DEAR BETRAYED: There is nothing you can do about it now. But you can profit by your own sad experience and never again give a boy anything to "broadcast" about.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: While I am writing this, my 22-year-old daughter is stretched out on the lawn chair in her bikini bathing suit with her sun glasses and movie magazine, and she will be there all day. She spends every Saturday and Sunday that way. She is the laziest, most self-centered, inconsiderate person I have ever known. She has a job which pays well, but she never offers to pay a cent toward her room and board. She is up to her neck in debt because she bought herself a car and dresses like a millionaire's daughter. She has never lifted a finger to make her own bed or rinse out a pair of stockings. She talks to her father and me like we were dogs. I never know who she runs around with because she never brings her friends home. What does a mother do with a monster like this?—HER MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: Who raised this monster?

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I read about the grandmother who was so upset because she had to be bothered by her grandchildren over the weekend. I wish she could know how my heart would sing to see my dear little grandchildren trooping into my kitchen, leaving fingermarks on my refrigerator, dropping jam and chewing gum on my clean floor and making joyful noises because they are glad to be alive.

My son and his wife have left with their six children to live in a foreign country. I will probably never see them again. Here I am, left alone to enjoy my clean floor, spotless curtains and quiet home, but with that endless longing for "the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still."

—GRANDMOTHER.

Recipes From Readers Should Please Gourmets or Dieters

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Independent, Press-Telegram Food Editor

"All were different — but each was best" — that would be our summation of the thousands of recipes entered in The Independent, Press-Telegram Seventh Annual Cook Book. As you peruse it, may we ask that you take it philosophically . . . and enjoy it to the fullest.

For you who are absolutely dedicated to dieting — there are some pert suggestions and recipes. For those who like a real cooking fling — there are some gourmet "goodies." The general trend, however, is intended to appeal to our readers as a whole. Strangely enough, with all the calorie counting being done these days, the classification which brought forth the most recipes were cakes, pies, refrigerated desserts and hot breads.

WOMEN (AND MEN) responded generously; and the recipes have been outstanding. We thank you for your worthy and timely cooperation. We wish you could all have won.

From calls received by this department throughout the year, we have determined that "measurements," "substitutions" and "equivalents" are important to you. And this year space will be devoted to that information.

To the club women, and those sturdy males, who assisted in judging, a world of thanks for a job well done. The judging was entirely impersonal, with the various clubs of the city perusing them all, preparing, testing and tasting many.

PARMESAN CRUSTED SWISS STEAK

- 2½ lb. high quality round steak—2 inches thick
- 2 tblsp. flour
- 1 tsp. season salt
- ½ tsp. EACH paprika and instant coffee
- ⅛ tsp. garlic powder
- 2 tblsp. shortening
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ½ cup EACH bouillon and white table wine
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
- 2 tblsp. mayonnaise

Pound first five ingredients into steak and brown it in the shortening. Use pan which will be fitted later with a tight cover. Drain off excess fat. Add bouillon and wine. Cover pan and simmer (gently) for about 1½ hours. Test for doneness. When done, spread mayonnaise and Parmesan cheese over meat and slip in broiler until glazed and browned.

FIRST PRIZE

CHICKEN A L' ORANGE

- 1 3½ lb. chicken into frying pieces
- ½ cup flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- ½ tsp. mace
- 4 tblsp. melted oil
- 2 oranges, grated peel and juice
- ¼ cup brandy
- bread crumbs or wild rice

MRS. MAYE OTSUKI

Coat the pieces with the flour, salt, pepper and mace mixture. Brown the chicken well in the hot oil. Cover and cook about 15 minutes. Grate the orange peel; squeeze the juice and add to the brandy. Pour over the chicken and cover and simmer 10 minutes more or until sauce is thickened and reduced by half. Sprinkle the chicken with the grated orange peel and serve with butter-browned bread crumbs or wild rice. Serves four.

MRS. MAYE OTSUKI

SECOND PRIZE

FRIED CHICKEN PUFFS

- 1 3 lb. fryer
- ⅓ cup flour
- salt and pepper to taste
- ½ cup shortening
- 1 cup flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 3 eggs
- 1½ cups milk
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- black pepper

Cut chicken into serving size pieces. Mix the flour, salt, pepper in a paper bag and drop in pieces of chicken and shake until chicken is well coated. Brown on all sides in the shortening; remove from skillet and drain. Save drippings in pan for gravy. Sift cup of flour, measure and sift with baking powder and salt into a bowl. In another bowl, beat the eggs until light and frothy, add milk and melted butter. Stir egg mixture into dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Pour into greased baking dish. Arrange cooked chicken over top of batter and sprinkle with the black pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) an hour. Serve with cream gravy; a few sprinkles of chopped parsley in the batter gives more flavor and color. Serves four.

MRS. ODESSA FORSBERG

REAL ITALIAN SALAD

- 1 head romaine lettuce
- 3 quartered tomatoes
- 3 slices cotto sandwich meat cut in strips
- 1 handful croutons
- ½ cup gabonza beans
- 3 slices sharp cheddar cheese cut in strips
- salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
- 1 clove garlic
- 2 hard cooked eggs

Separate leaves of romaine, wash in cold water and wrap in tea towel. Place in refrigerator several hours to crisp. Also, place salad bowl in the refrigerator to cool.

Rub inside of bowl with clove of garlic. Tear, but do not cut, leaves of romaine into bite-size pieces and place in bowl. Cut meat, and cheese into long, narrow strips and add to romaine. Add croutons and gabonza beans. Salt and pepper to taste. Use Italian dressing or vinegar and oil. Toss all the added ingredients to blend thoroughly. Cut tomatoes into quarters and place on top of salad. Slice hard cooked eggs and garnish top of salad.

AVOCADO SALAD RING

- 1 envelope gelatin
- ¼ cup ice-water
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 tblsp. unstrained lemon juice
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 cup mashed avocados
- ½ cup heavy sour cream
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- salt, pepper, cayenne

Soak envelope of gelatin in one-fourth cup ice-water, then add to the cup of boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add the lemon juice and 1 tsp. sugar, stirring until well blended. Chill this mixture until slightly thickened.

In a bowl mash enough avocados to make one full cup, add the lemon juice alternately with the heavy sour cream mixed with the mayonnaise, season the mixture highly with salt, pepper and a few grains of cayenne. Add the slightly thickened gelatin and blend well. Pour into oiled ring mold and chill for 2 to 3 hours. Unmold on well-chilled lettuce leaves and fill the center with diced fresh tomatoes.

WILTED LETTUCE AND SOUR CREAM

- 1 lg. head romaine lettuce
- 1 cup sour cream
- 2 tblsp. lemon juice
- 1 tblsp. chopped green onions
- 1 sm. clove finely chopped garlic
- 2 tblsp. grated onion
- 1 tsp. salt
- dash of cayenne
- tomato wedges
- pitted black olives
- hard-cooked eggs

Wash the lettuce, separate leaves and drain well. Break into bite size pieces. Make a dressing of sour cream and lemon juice. Add the finely chopped green onions and small clove chopped garlic, grated onion, salt and cayenne. Toss the lettuce with this dressing in a wooden serving bowl, and let stand sometime before serving so that the lettuce will be slightly wilted. Tomato wedges, black olives may be added before serving and garnish with thin slices of hard-boiled eggs.

Candy & Nuts

FIRST PRIZE

STRAWBERRY DIVINITY

3 cups sugar
¾ cup light corn syrup
¾ cup water
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 3 oz. pkg. strawberry flavor gelatin
½ cup flaked coconut
1 cup chopped pecans

Combine sugar, corn syrup and water. Bring to boil, stirring constantly; reduce heat and cook to hard ball stage (252 degrees), stirring occasionally. Combine beaten egg whites and gelatine. Beat until mixture forms peaks. Pour hot syrup in thin stream into egg whites, beating until candy loses gloss and holds shape. Fold in coconut and nuts. Pour into greased 9-inch square pan. Top with rows of chopped pecans and coconut. Makes five dozen pieces.

Popular Bixby Knolls Hostess says "Our LIKEN designed Flexalum Aluminum covered patio is my recipe for success in entertaining. We love it."

"Why did we choose T. H. Liken and Sons to design and construct our patio," Mrs. Johnson continued. "We found out that this firm was tops in Southern California for this type of work; learned that they were foremost in design, that their workers were craftsmen, that their product, FLEXALUM aluminum, had not only earned the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval but carried a 5-year bonded guarantee by Continental Casualty, a protection of which no other awning manufacturer can boast. Likens gave us a superior job worth every dollar of the Fair price they charged."

Thank you, Mrs. Johnson, we appreciate your satisfaction with the new out of doors, protected room we added to your lovely home. In case you readers of this popular recipe supplement want a recipe for successful entertaining, give us a call. We'll be happy to serve you too.

SECOND PRIZE

BEEF ORIENTAL

- 2 lbs. boneless beef chuck, cut in 1-inch cubes
- ½ cup flour
- 1½ tsp. salt
- 1 can (13½-oz.) pineapple tidbits
- 1 can (8-oz.) water chestnuts, sliced
- 1 cup liquid, drained from pineapple and chestnuts
- 1 cup water
- 1 tblsp. soy sauce
- ½ tsp. ginger
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 green pepper, cut in strips
- 1 tblsp. cornstarch
- Cooked rice
- 2 tblsps. lard
- ⅛ tsp. pepper

Coat beef cubes with flour which has been combined with salt and pepper. Brown meat on all sides in hot lard in heavy kettle. Add liquid from pineapple and chestnut, water, soy sauce and ginger to meat. Cover mixture and simmer over low heat for one and one-half to two hours or until meat is tender. Add green pepper and onion during last half hour of cooking time. Add pineapple and water chestnuts during the last 20 minutes cooking time. Dissolve cornstarch in a little cold water and stir into meat mixture. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened. Serve over fluffy rice. Serves six.

THIRD PRIZE

BRICK CHILI

- 2½ lbs. fatty hamburger
- 1 lb. onions
- 3 cloves garlic
- 3 slices dry bread
- 1½ tblsp. salt
- ½ tsp. ground cumin
- ½ tsp. oregano
- 3 tblsps. ground pure chili powder, bright red
- ½-1½ tblsp. crushed red peppers

Break up hamburger into a large, heavy, hot skillet or Dutch oven. Fry over a high fire for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. In a food chopper, grind with a fine blade the onions, garlic, and dry bread. To the fried hamburger add the ground ingredients, salt and spices. Stir well to mix thoroughly. Let fry slowly uncovered, 20 minutes (this lets the moisture escape). Now cover and simmer 15 minutes. Pour into a one loaf bread pan. When cooled and set, cut in half. This makes two chili bricks which may be wrapped well in freezer paper or aluminum foil and stored in freezer.

STEAK, KIDNEY PUDDING

- 8 oz. flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 3 oz. margarine
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 lb. beef steak
- ½ lb. kidney
- 1 cup of cold bouillon

Mix flour, salt and margarine, and make a stiff dough with cold water. Cut off half, roll it out and line a well greased pint bowl. Cut meat and kidney into small pieces, roll it in flour into which a little salt and pepper has been added, put into bowl and then add the cup of bouillon. Moisten the edge of the pastry, then roll out the remaining dough and place on top and crimp the edges together securely. Prick the top with a fork then put pudding into a steamer over boiling water and steam for three hours, keeping the water boiling continuously.

STRAWBERRY PINWHEELS

- 2 pkgs. 8 ozs. cream cheese
- 2 cups strawberries, washed, hulled and sliced
- 2 tblsp. confectioners sugar
- 1 loaf unsliced white bread

Soften cream cheese in medium size bowl; gradually blend in strawberries and powdered sugar until smoothly spreadable. Cut crusts from loaf of bread, then slice bread lengthwise into 9 or 10 thin slices; cover with a dampened towel and let stand 10 minutes. Spread slices, one at a time with cheese mixture, using three or four tablespoonfuls per slice. Roll up, jelly roll fashion, wrap tightly in waxed paper, chill at least two hours. Makes six or seven dozen sandwiches.

CHEESE SANDWICH LOAF

- 1 loaf sandwich bread
- 6 skinless wieners, ground
- 2 dill pickles, minced
- 4 hard cooked eggs, mashed
- salt and pepper to taste
- 1 3 oz. pkg. cream cheese
- ½ cucumber, grated

Remove crusts from loaf and cut lengthwise into four equal long slices. Prepare filling with enough salad dressing to make easy to spread.

Spread each slice of bread first with the ground wieners and pickles; next slice with hard boiled eggs, and last soften the cream cheese with sweet cream and spread on outside of loaf as you would ice a cake. Decorate with sliced stuffed olives and toasted almonds. Wrap the loaf in a cloth and chill in refrigerator three hours or more.

Dishes Made With Wine or Beer

FIRST PRIZE

ALMANDRADO WITH SHERRY CUSTARD SAUCE

1 tblsp. gelatine
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup boiling water
1 cup sugar
6 egg whites
½ tsp. almond extract
⅓ cup sherry wine
⅓ cup chopped almonds

Put gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until gelatine dissolves. Add sugar and stir. Chill the mixture until it begins to stiffen. Then beat until frothy. Beat egg whites until stiff; then add to beaten gelatine. Beat until mixture is completely blended. Then add flavoring and sherry. Pour into mold, alternating layer of mixture with chopped almonds. Two hours in refrigerator will stiffen it.

Sherry Custard Sauce
6 egg yolks
1 pt. milk
⅛ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vanilla
½ pt. whipping cream
3 tblsp. sherry wine
¼ cup sugar

Put milk in double boiler and scald. Beat eggs lightly. Add sugar and salt. Pour milk slowly into mixture. Return to double boiler. Cook until mixture coats spoon. When cool, add vanilla, whipping cream and sherry. Serves eight.

SHERRY ROASTED CHICKEN

1 lg. fryer or roasting chicken
1 clove garlic, mashed through press
2 tsp. salt
½ tsp. ground pepper
1 tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. ginger
½ cube butter
¾ cup sherry wine

Combine all ingredients in small pan and heat slowly until mixture bubbles, brush chicken inside and out. Place chicken breast side up, in oven of 400 degrees approximately 20 minutes, basting frequently. Reduce oven to 325 degrees remainder of time. Pour the sherry wine over all and continue baking and basting until chicken is tender, about 45 minutes.

THIRD PRIZE

NEWBURG A LA JAMAR LOBSTER OR SHRIMP

First Sauce
2 med. onions
1 clove garlic
2 tblsp. butter
1 8 oz. can tomato sauce
2 cups cooked lobster or shrimp
1 tsp. worcestershire sauce
¾ tsp. salt
Dash pepper
½ cup sherry wine
Second Sauce
2 tblsp. butter
6 tblsp. flour
1½ cups milk

First, quarter and slice onions, press garlic, cook in 2 tablespoons of butter in covered skillet, until soft; stir occasionally (do not scorch or burn). To this add tomato sauce, uncover and simmer over low heat, while making second sauce.

Second, melt two tablespoons butter in sauce pan, take off heat and blend in flour, gradually add milk keeping smooth. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly to make a very thick white sauce.

Third, add white sauce to tomato, onion sauce, and blend well. Season with salt, pepper and worcestershire sauce. Add lobster or shrimp, simmer, stirring occasionally, until very thick; thin by adding sherry, simmer until hot. Serve on toast. Serves six.

PINEAPPLE CREAM PIE

¼ cup cornstarch
⅔ cup sugar
¼ tsp. salt
2 cups milk, scalded
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tblsp. butter
½ tsp. vanilla
½ cup crushed pineapple, well drained
1 9" baked pastry shell
1 cup heavy cream whipped

Mix cornstarch, sugar, and salt; gradually add milk. Cook in double boiler until thick (about 10 minutes) stirring constantly. Slowly add a small amount of the hot mixture to egg yolks; stir into remaining hot mixture and cook 5 minutes. Cool, and add butter and vanilla. Stir in well-drained crushed pineapple. Pour into baked shell. Top with whipped cream.

SECOND PRIZE

CREAM CHEESE KEFLES

- 1½ cups all purpose flour
- 1½ tsp. baking powder
- 2 small pkgs. cream cheese
- ½ lb. butter
- 3½ tblsp. milk
- 3½ tblsp. cream

Filling

- 1 lb. walnut meats
- ¼ tsp. cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. lemon juice
- ¼ cup granulated sugar

Sift flour and baking powder. Work the cream cheese into the flour, then the butter. Add the milk and cream, work dough until all is blended. Form into balls about the size of small walnuts, place in refrigerator overnight. Roll the balls on a floured board as thin as possible. THIRD PRIZE

EGG PLANT AND CHEESE

- 2 eggplants
- 2 eggs
- ¼ clove garlic
- 1 small onion
- ¾ cup grated tillamook cheese
- 2 tblsp. melted butter

Peel the egg plants, slice and boil until tender for about 15 minutes. Mash and add the beaten eggs, salt and pepper to taste, chopped clove of garlic and chopped onion. Mix in the cracker crumbs grated cheese and melted butter. After mixing all together place in buttered baking dish, top with extra cheese and crumbs. Bake 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

MRS. JOHN QUAYLE
444 Chestnut Ave.

CHEESE BUBBLES

- 1½ level cups plain flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. cayenne pepper
- 1½ tblsp. butter or margarine
- 1¼ cups grated natural cheddar cheese

Sift the flour, salt and cayenne into a bowl. Cut in the butter and cheese with a knife. Gradually add ¼ to ⅓ cup of cold water, just enough to make a stiff pastry. Divide into several pieces. Roll each piece fairly thin, then fold three times and reroll a couple of times. (This folds in the air that makes the bubbles.) Now roll paper thin and cut any shape desired. Bake on an ungreased pan in a quick oven, about 425 degrees about 5 minutes.

CHEESE CAKE FLUFF

- 3 cups Graham cracker crumbs
- ¼ lb. melted margarine
- 1 pkg. lemon Jello
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 tall can evaporated milk
- ½ lb. Philadelphia cream cheese
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 2 tsp. vanilla

Crush Graham crackers and

mix the ¼ lb. margarine. Keep out ½ cup of crumbs to sprinkle on top of dessert. Press remainder in bottom and sides of large oblong baking dish. Dissolve the lemon Jello in the hot water. Let chill until right consistency to whip. Beat with electric mixer until fluffy. Beat the can of chilled condensed milk until thick as whipped cream. Beat the cream cheese, sugar and vanilla until light. Using mixer, beat Jello into whipped milk, then add cream cheese mixture, mixing thoroughly. Pour over the Graham cracker crust and sprinkle the remaining ½ cup crumbs over the top. Chill six to eight hours or overnight.

FIRST PRIZE

TEQUENOS

- 4 cups white flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 cup water
- 2 egg yolks
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 lb. Monterey Jack cheese
- 1 heaping tblsp. butter or margarine

Combine all ingredients except cheese, using only enough water to make a rather soft dough. Set aside for a few minutes. Cut cheese into strips ½" wide by 2½" long. Divide dough into four parts. Roll each part as thin as possible, then cut into ½" strips, and wind around cheese strips so that the latter are completely covered. Fry in hot deep fat until golden brown. Drain on paper towels and serve at once. These tequenos can be made up and frozen uncooked. Do not defrost to use, simply remove from freezer and fry in hot deep fat until golden brown. Makes about 60.

PICKLED CARROTS

- 2 lbs. carrots
- ½ cup water
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. savory
- ½ tsp. thyme
- 1 tsp. dill seed
- 1 bay leaf
- ⅛ tsp. garlic salt

Peel carrots and cut in strips about ½" thick and 3" long keeping as uniform as possible so all will require the same cooking time. Place in flat bottom pan such as skillet or electric fry pan so they are not over two layers deep. Add water and spices (everything but vinegar) cover and cook 10-12 minutes or until only partially done, they are best when still crunchy—water should be almost gone. Add vinegar and bring to boil, remove from heat and cool. Pack in plastic containers and cover with vinegar and spices. Let stand 24 hours before using.

VIENNA PUFFS

- 6 oz. pastry flour
- 3 oz. bread flour
- 1 oz. non fat dry milk
- 7 oz. water
- 4 oz. whole eggs
- 1½ oz. yeast

Mixing ingredients should be done in two stages. First, dissolve yeast in milk and add the eggs, water and flour and mix together in electric beater for 3 minutes. At end of this stage the batter resembles waffle batter.

Second stage:

- 2 oz. sugar
- 10 oz. shortening
- ¼ oz. salt
- 9 oz. bread flour

Mix these ingredients at low speed for an additional 2 minutes. Since this pastry is a quick fermenting dough it should come from the mixer at 65 degrees. Now roll out the dough to a thickness of ⅛ inch and cut in strips wide enough to wrap a Vienna sausage which are then placed on a greased cookie sheet and let rise for 30 minutes at room temperature. Bake at 400 for 10 minutes.

THIRD PRIZE

CHOCOLATE PRALINE CAKE

- 6 tblsp. cocoa
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ½ cup boiling water
- 1 egg
- ¼ cup sour milk
- ½ tsp. soda
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup flour

Topping

- ⅔ cup brown sugar
- 1 tblsp. flour
- 5 tblsp. melted butter or margarine
- 2 tblsp. water
- 1 cup chopped nuts

Combine the cocoa, butter and half cup boiling water in saucepan and bring to boil. Beat the egg, sour milk and soda together. Remove cocoa mixture from flame and add sour milk mixture. Sift together and fold in the flour, sugar. Pour into greased and floured 8-inch square pan. Bake in 350-degree oven 25 minutes. WALNUT WITCHERY ROLL

- 1⅓ cups walnuts
- 6 eggs, large, separated
- ¾ cup, granulated sugar
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- powdered sugar
- sweetened whip cream

Grind walnuts with food chopper, using fine blade. The nuts take the place of the flour, therefore must be very fine. Beat yolks, adding sugar gradually. Continue beating until very thick. Sprinkle nuts and baking powder over yolk mixture; beat until well mixed. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, and fold in nut and egg yolk mixture. Pour batter into 11 x 18 inch jelly roll pan, which has been greased and covered with wax paper. Bake at 375 degrees 20 minutes.

Sift powdered sugar over towel and invert cake on towel. Remove pan and let stand for 5 minutes before peeling off paper and rolling up as for jelly roll. When cool, unroll and spread with sweetened whipped cream, jelly, custard or any filling, roll up again. Top with chocolate butter cream frosting.

PINEAPPLE MERINGUE CAKE

- ⅓ cup butter
- ½ cup sugar
- 4 egg yolks
- ½ cup flour
- ¼ cup milk
- 4 egg whites
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ¾ cup sugar
- ¾ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 tblsp. baking powder
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 2 tblsp. flour

Cream butter with sugar. Beat egg yolks and mix with creamed ingredients. Add flour alternately with milk and set aside. Beat the egg whites to froth, add sugar gradually. Beat until mixture holds stiff peak. Add vanilla. Sift baking powder, salt, and flour. Mix this in by hand to the butter, sugar mixture. Divide into two cake pans (use wax paper in the bottom). Spread the meringue on unbaked layers, sprinkle with nuts. Bake 25-30 minutes at 325 degrees. Allow to cool. Place on layer meringue side down on plate. Make a filling of:

- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1½ tblsp. powdered sugar
- 1 cup drained crushed pineapple

Spread filling on first layer, then put second layer meringue side up on top. Frost side of cake with whipped cream.

SECOND PRIZE

HALIBUT FLORENTINE

- 1½ lbs. hallbut fillets
- 1 cup med. thick white sauce
- 1 pkg. (1¼ cups) frozen chopped spinach
- ¾ cup grated sharp cheese
- 3 green onions, finely chopped
- 1 cup water
- ¼ cup dry white table wine
- 4 tblsp. lemon juice
- salt and pepper to taste
- 2 egg yolks or whole eggs
- 1 tblsp. butter

Cook spinach, drain. Grate the cheese, and chop the onion. Put fish in shallow saucepan or casserole that can be placed over direct heat. Simmer five minutes. Drain broth from fish into saucepan. Boil uncovered until reduced to two-thirds. Gradually stir broth into white sauce. Blend in spinach, onion and one-fourth cup cheese. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Bring to boil. Remove from heat. Quickly stir in egg yolks or slightly beaten whole eggs. Sprinkle remaining grated cheese on top. Dot with butter. Bake in oven at 400 degrees until golden brown (about 10 minutes). Makes four to six servings.

SHRIMP JAMBALAYA

- 1½ lbs. of shrimp, peeled
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 1 clove garlic finely chopped
- 2 tblsp. butter melted
- 2 tblsp. flour
- 2 tblsp. chopped parsley
- ½ tsp. thyme
- ½ tsp. chili powder
- 2 bay leaves crushed
- 1 dash ground cloves
- 1 dash cayenne pepper
- 1 lb. can of tomatoes
- ¾ cups of uncooked rice
- 1 tsp. salt

Saute the onion and garlic in butter until tender. Blend in the flour, herbs and spices. Stir in the stock and tomatoes gradually; then bring to a boil. Add the rice and shrimp. Cover, reduce heat and simmer for 30 minutes or until rice is tender.

SECOND PRIZE

FROZEN FRENCH CHOCOLATE

- 1 pkg. custard flavor dessert
- 1⅔ cups evaporated milk
- 1 4-oz. pkg. sweet cooking chocolate
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine custard-flavor dessert, milk, and chocolate. Cook over medium heat, stirring until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat (mixture will be thin). Cool. Pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze until partially frozen. Tun into bowl. With electric or rotary beater, beat until fluffy. Fold in whipped cream. Freeze until firm. Makes 1 quart.

MRS. WILMA E. SCOTT
350 Wisconsin Ave.

THIRD PRIZE

VANILLA ICE CREAM

- ⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
- ½ cup water
- 1½ tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup whipping cream

Mix sweetened condensed milk, water, and vanilla thoroughly. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing pan. Place in super-freezer. After mixture has frozen to a stiff mush (one to two) hours, remove from refrigerator. Scrape mixture from sides and bottom of pan. Beat two minutes. Smooth out and replace in super-freezer for one hour or until frozen for serving. (Two to four hours freezing time.) Serves 6.

MRS. RAY DURYEA
5480 Lewis Ave.

ORANGE MILK SHERBET

- ⅔ cup sugar
- ½ cup milk
- ¾ cup (6 oz.) concentrated orange juice
- ⅔ cup light cream
- ⅛ tsp. salt
- 1 tblsp. lemon juice
- 1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Warm the milk enough to dissolve the sugar. Add balance of ingredients except the egg white. Place in freezer tray, add egg when mixture is partly frozen. Beat several times with a spoon as it freezes. Freezing time 3-4 hours.

MRS. GLEE UNSELL
3639 Gundry Ave.

PEANUT BRITTLE ICE CREAM

- 1½ cups milk
- 1 tblsp. cornstarch
- 2 eggs
- 6 tblsp. sugar
- ¾ cup peanut brittle
- 1 cup whipping cream
- 2 tsp. vanilla

Scald the milk and add sugar and cornstarch mixed. Boil over low flame for 5 minutes — stirring constantly. Beat egg yolks. Roll peanut brittle fine. Add egg yolks and peanut brittle and cook in double boiler for 2 minutes. Beat egg whites very stiff, and fold into hot custard mixture. Chill and add the whipped cream and vanilla. Freeze until solid about one inch from the edge of the freezing tray, about 1 hour. Beat thoroughly, freeze for 1. hours more and serve. Serves 6.

MRS. DONALD EVANS

Yeast Breads

FIRST PRIZE

SUGAR & SPICE PUFFS

- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- ¼ cup soft shortening
- 1 large egg
- 1 pk. yeast
- ⅜ cup warm water
- 2¼ cups flour
- ¾ tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. nutmeg
- ¼ tsp. ginger
- ¼ tsp. allspice

Cream the sugar, salt and shortening. Then add the beaten egg. Add the yeast to the warm milk. Stir well until yeast dissolves. Add to creamed mixture and blend well. Sift the dry ingredients into the creamed mixture. Beat one minute. Scrape dough from sides of bowl. Cover with damp cloth and let rise until double in bulk. Beat well. Drop by spoonfuls into greased muffin tins. Let rise until light. Bake 15 minutes in 400 degree oven. Remove from oven and brush top and sides with butter. Roll in mixture of:

- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tsp. cinnamon

SECOND PRIZE

SHREDDED WHEAT BREAD

- 2 shredded wheat biscuits
- 1 pt. boiling water
- 1 tblsp. vegetable shortening
- 2 tsp. salt
- ½ cup molasses
- 1 yeast cake or 1 pkg. dry yeast
- ½ cup warm water
- 5 cups flour

Break shredded wheat biscuits into a large bowl and pour the boiling water over it. Add the vegetable shortening, salt, and molasses. Let cool until just warm. Dissolve the yeast in the one-half cup warm water. Add to above mixture. Also add the five cups of flour. Stir with big spoon until thoroughly mixed. Let dough rise in the bowl; stir down and put in two greased bread pans. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 350 degrees about 45 minutes.

MRS. F. W. KANE
2135 Linden Ave.

THIRD PRIZE

SPICY KURL-A-ROUNDS

- 1 pkg. active dry yeast
- ¼ cup lukewarm water
- 6 tblsp. butter, melted and cooled
- 1 egg, beaten
- ½ cup sour cream (commercial)
- 3 cups sifted flour
- ⅔ tsp. salt
- ¼ cup sugar
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tsp. ground cinnamon

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Combine the sour cream, beaten egg, cooled butter and dissolved yeast. Sift together the flour, salt and sugar. Beat into egg mixture, half the dry ingredients; then knead in remaining dry ingredients thoroughly. Put dough in greased bowl, cover, let rise in warm place until double. Punch down, knead three minutes; roll out on lightly floured board to little less than one-half inch thickness. Cut in strips 1¼x10 inches, using ruler as guide. Mix the one-half cup sugar and cinnamon together. Roll each strip of dough in sugar-cinnamon then lay strip on greased cooky sheet in a semi-circle; take both ends of strip, one in each hand, and make two twists in the dough, keeping ends free. Pinch ends of strip into top of semi-circle to form pretzel.

Note—If desired, form strip in any shape—curl around like a cinnamon roll or criss-cross in any shape; but I think the "pretzel" shape is attractive. Repeat with all strips. Cover and let rise in warm place 20 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees 20-25 minutes or until golden brown.

BROWN OATMEAL ROLLS

- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup rolled oats
- 3 tblsp. salad oil
- 1 cake of yeast
- ⅓ cup lukewarm water
- ⅔ cup brown sugar
- 2 tsp. salt
- 5-5½ cups flour

Pour hot water over rolled oats; cool to lukewarm. Add salad oil, yeast softened in lukewarm water, brown sugar, and salt. Beat in flour to make soft dough. Knead. Let rise until doubled in bulk; punch down: let rise again. Roll one-half inch thick, cut any desired shape. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes. Makes three to four dozen rolls.

MRS. G. WOOLHISER
13821 Richardson Way
Westminster

MONKEY BREAD

- 1 cup milk, scalded and cooled to lukewarm
- 2 pkgs active yeast
- 4 tblsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 egg, beaten
- 4 tblsp. melted butter or shortening
- 3½ cups flour

Dissolve yeast in milk, stir in sugar, salt, egg, butter and flour; mix well, cover and let rise in a warm place until almost double in bulk. Roll out on a lightly floured board to one-fourth-inch thick. Cut in diamond shaped pieces about 3 inches across. Dip each piece in melted butter and arrange in a large ring mold. Fill about half full. Let rise almost double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. It is served whole and each guest pulls off the buttered layers.

MRS. E. R. FERRELL
2325 Daisy Ave.

"KOEKSISTERS"

- 1 cup milk
- ½ yeast cake
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup lukewarm water
- ½ cup butter and lard mixed
- 4½ cups flour
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 tsp. grated nutmeg
- Frying oil

Heat milk to boiling point, and then cool to lukewarm. Add yeast cake soaked in the lukewarm water, the salt and enough flour to make a soft batter. Let rise overnight in warm place. Next morning add melted butter, sugar, well beaten eggs, nutmeg and about three and one-half cups flour to make a stiff dough. Leave in a warm place to rise again. Then put the dough on to floured pastryboard and roll out. Cut in strips, 3x1 inch. Divide each strip into three for about 2¾-inch and plait. Fry in deep frying oil until golden brown. Drain "Koeksisters" on absorbent paper and dip in the following syrup:

- 3 cups white sugar
- 2 cups boiling water
- cinnamon or lemon peel

Dissolve sugar in boiling water, add cinnamon or flavoring and heat to boiling point. "Koeksisters" are served cold.

PINEAPPLE-NUT COFFEE CAKE

- 1 cup scalded milk
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- ¾ tsp. salt
- 6 tblsp. butter or margarine
- 1 pkg. active dry yeast (1 cake compressed)
- ¼ cup warm (not hot) water
- 1 egg
- 3½ cups sifted all purpose flour
- 2 tblsp. melted butter or margarine
- 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple, drained
- ½ cup chopped pecans or slivered almonds

In large bowl, combine scalded milk, sugar, salt and six tablespoons butter. Cool until lukewarm. Sprinkle or crumble yeast onto warm water, stir until dissolved. Add with egg to lukewarm milk mixture. Beat well. Stir in flour. Let rise in warm place (about 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk (about 30 minutes). On lightly floured surface, knead dough until smooth. Divide into two parts. Roll one part into one-half-inch rectangle. Brush with melted butter, spread with half of pineapple and nuts. Roll up, jelly roll fashion, starting from long side. Place in crescent shape in well-greased 9-inch layer pan. With scissors, make about five slits in top. Repeat in other half of dough. Let rise in warm place about 45 minutes. Bake in 400-degree oven 20-25 minutes. Makes two coffee cakes.

For Men Only

FIRST PRIZE

CHICKEN VALENCIANS

- ⅓ large tender chicken
- 3 Valencia oranges
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 cup water
- 1 onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 tblsp. seedless raisins
- 20 slivered almonds
- 1 tblsp. capers
- pinch of saffron
- ⅛ tsp. cinnamon
- ⅛ tsp. cloves
- 3 tblsp. cooking oil
- salt and pepper

Cut the chicken in pieces, salt, sprinkle with condiments and brown quickly in the oil. When the fowl first starts to turn golden, add the garlic whole and chopped onion. With the meat a uniform brown, but not crusted, add the orange juice, water, raisins, capers, almonds and saffron. Bring to a bare boil, cover and cook over low heat until fork tender; this should take a minimum of 40 minutes. Remove the garlic cloves and adorn with peeled, sliced oranges. Serve with fried rice and chilled white wine.

CREAM OF CARROT SOUP

1 cup diced carrots
1 cup diced white potatoes
1 med. size onion, minced
2½ cups boiling water
3 tblsp. flour
1 tblsp. butter or margarine
3 cups milk
1 tsp. sugar
1½ tsp. salt
⅓ tsp. pepper
1½ tsp. minced parsley

Combine the carrots, potatoes, onion, and water and simmer for half an hour; then rub through a sieve. Add the milk and then rub together the seasonings, flour, and butter. Add a little of the milk mixture to this, then return to the whole amount, and stir until the soup boils. Let boil for two or three mins. and serve with a sprinkling of parsley.

CREAM OF CHEESE SOUP

¼ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely chopped carrots
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¾ cup margarine or butter
¼ cup flour
2 cups chicken broth or beef stock
2 cups milk
1½ cups grated sharp cheese
1½ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. monosodium glutamate

Cook carrots, onions, and celery in 2 tablespoons butter until tender. Melt the remaining butter and blend in flour to a smooth paste. Gradually stir in broth until well blended and thickened. Add milk and continue stirring until smooth. Add cheese and stir until blended. Add seasonings and cooked vegetables. Serve hot. Yield 5 cups. For a cold soup, thin slightly with light cream and chill.

NEW ENGLAND CORN CHOWDER

⅓ lb. salt pork
1 can cream style corn
3 potatoes
3 onions
1 pt. half and half
salt and pepper
paprika and parsley

Dice the salt pork and fry slowely in a heavy skillet or Dutch oven. Meanwhile peel the potatoes and onions, cut in bite size chunks, and boil in a very small amount of water until done and the water is about boiled away. When the salt pork is a golden brown, combine with the potatoes and onions, slowly. Then add the corn, and heat through. Season to taste, being careful with the salt. Add the cream, and remove from the heat when it is just heated through, being careful not to boil. Then is better when kept and reheated. Just before serving sprinkle paprika and a pinch of parsley.

SWEET PETALS COFFEECAKE

- 1 pkg. dry yeast
- ¼ cup warm water
- ¾ cup scalded milk
- 3 tblsp. shortening
- 2 tblsp. sugar
- 1½ tsp. salt
- 2½-3 cups sifted flour
- melted butter
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- ¾ cup nuts, chopped
- ½ cup sifted powdered sugar
- 1-2 tsp. milk

Soften the yeast in warm water. Combine the scalded milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Stir to melt shortening then cool to lukewarm. Stir in the softened yeast and gradually add the sifted flour to form a stiff dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and satiny (three-five minutes). Place in greased bowl and cover and let rise in warm place until light and double in size. Place a 15-inch sheet of aluminum foil on baking sheet. Grease and turn up edges to form a 12-inch round pan. Pinch off small pieces of dough, enough to roll into a 6-inch strip one-half-inch thick. Dip in melted butter, cinnamon and nuts mixture. Wind into a flat coil in center of pan. Place other strips close around. Cover and let rise 45 to 60 minutes. Bake in 350-degree oven 25-30 minutes. Cool and drizzle with glaze of powdered sugar and one to two teaspoons milk.

GERMAN SOUR CREAM TWISTS

- 3½ cups sifted flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 cup shortening (part butter)
- 1 pkg. yeast
- ¼ cup warm water
- ¾ cup sour cream
- 1 egg, whole
- 2 egg yolks, well beaten
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup sugar

Sift flour, salt into mixing bowl. Cut in shortening. Dissolve yeast in water. Stir in flour mixture with sour cream, eggs and vanilla. Mix well by hand. Cover with damp cloth and refrigerate for two hours. Roll half of dough on sugared board into an oblong 8x16 inches. Fold ends toward center, ends overlapping. Sprinkle with sugar, roll again to same size. Repeat a third time. Roll about one-fourth-inch thick. Cut into strips 1x4 inches. Twist ends in opposite directions, stretching dough slightly. Put in shape of horseshoe on ungreased baking sheets, pressing ends to keep shape. Repeat with rest of dough. Heat oven to 375 degrees and bake about 15 minutes. Remove immediately and cool on rack.

Salad Dressings

FIRST PRIZE

ROQUEFORT CREAM DRESSING

- 8 oz. cream cheese
- ½ cup evaporated milk
- 1 bunch green onions with tops, chopped
- 3 oz. roquefort
- 4 tblsp. sour cream
- ½ cup olive oil
- ½ tsp. salt

Put milk and onions in blender and turn on until pulverized. Add remaining ingredients one at a time, turning off blender each time you add, then turn on only long enough to blend the added ingredient.

MRS. FRANK HACKETT

Norwalk

SECOND PRIZE

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING

- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- ⅓ cup honey
- ⅓ cup lemon juice
- 10 lg. marshmallows
- 1 cup sour cream

Combine the ingredients and cook over low heat to a soft custard, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add the marshmallows. Let cool and stir in the sour cream. This becomes quite thick but fruit juice from salad thins it when mixed.

MRS. CLYDE DIXON

SECOND PRIZE

MYSTERY DESSERT

- 3 egg whites
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1 cup white sugar
- 12 single graham crackers (crushed)
- 1 cup chopped nuts
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Beat egg white until stiff, add 1 teaspoon baking powder. Continue beating and add sugar. Fold in graham crackers and nuts. Add vanilla. Pour into 10 inch greased pie plate. It will be hard and crusty when done. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

When cool whip ½ pint cream and cover pie and refrigerate. It is even better if after putting the cream on it, you free it. Remove from freezer ½ hour before serving.

MRS. V. L. WOODSON
216 West 68th St.

THIRD PRIZE

FROZEN DESSERT

- 1 quart sherbet
- 2 dozen coconut macaroons, broken up in small pieces
- Add 1½ cups chopped nuts
- Whip 1 pint whipping cream fairly stiff and sweeten with:
- 2 tbsps. sugar
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Fold in nuts and macaroons. Using 2 ice cube trays, make 1 layer of cream mixture, then layer of sherbet (any kind desired) — then another layer of whipped cream mixture. Keep in freezer until ready to use.

MRS. HAZEL BEENEY

PETIT MOUSSE AU CHOCOLAT

Filling:

- 1 pkg. semi-sweet chocolate chips, melted
- 6 eggs
- pinch of salt

Melt semi-sweet squares of baking chocolate in double boiler (the amount needed will depend upon size of the paper cups used). Coat the inside of paper cups with the melted chocolate, at least ⅛ inch thick, a little thicker on the bottom. Place in refrigerator until needed.

Melt the chocolate chips and eggs, which should be beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold chocolate into the eggs. Fill the cups. Chill in the refrigerator until needed. Two or three curls of grated chocolate may be put on top for a finishing touch.

MADELEINE RHINE
1810 McNab Ave.

ALMOND-CHOCOLATE PUDDING

Put in top of double boiler on a slow fire, the following:

- 10 marshmallows
- ¼ cup milk
- 3½-4 ounce almond chocolate bars

When melted, remove from fire. Cool thoroughly. Then add to chocolate mixture: ½ cup whipped cream. Top with cherry. Refrigerate until served. Thinner pudding may be made with ½ cup milk.

This recipe also makes a delicious pie filling when put in graham cracker crust.

ALMA KAISER
1848 Poppy St.

ANGEL PARFAIT

- ¾ cup maple syrup
- 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped
- ½ cup chopped pecans

Bring the syrup to boil and cook it until it spins a thread or registers 228 degrees on a candy thermometer. Beat the syrup gradually into two stiffly beaten egg whites and continue to beat until the meringue is cool and very thick. Stir in the teaspoon of vanilla and fold in the whipped cream and the chopped pecans. Spoon the mixture into 6 individual fluted paper cups, sprinkle with chopped pecans and freeze for two hours.

MRS. J. AGNEW
4402 Linden Ave.

POLKA-DOT MOLD

- ½ gal. vanilla ice cream
- 1 pt. pistachio nut ice cream
- 1 pt. strawberry ice cream
- 1 pt. lemon custard ice cream
- 1 pt. chocolate ice cream
- 2 pkgs. Lady Fingers

Into a spring-form round pan, pack all the above ice creams alternating the colors and flavors to form the "Polka Dots". Place Lady Fingers on ice cream in pan to form a covering layer. Place in freezer overnight and just before serving, invert on platter and rub with warm cloth. Mold will ease out with Lady Fingers as cake on bottom. Garnish with whipped topping from can and maraschino cherries. Slice into generous servings and drizzle with hot fudge sauce.

FIRST PRIZE

TUNA TAMPICO

- 1½ lbs. margarine
- 3 qts. onions, chopped
- 2 qts. green peppers, chopped
- 2 No. 10 cans tomatoes
- 2 qts. tomato paste, canned
- 2 No. 10 cans kidney beans
- ⅓ cup chili powder
- salt and pepper to taste
- 12 7 oz. cans of tuna

Melt butter or margarine and add onions and green peppers. Cook over medium heat until onions are lightly browned. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, beans and chili powder. Season with salt and pepper. Cook uncovered over low heat for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Break tuna into large pieces and add to chili mixture. Turn into greased individual casseroles. THIRD PRIZE

WHOLESALE CANDY LOAF

- 6 cups white sugar
- 3 cups coffee cream
- 2 cups heavy white syrup
- ¾ tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- butter size of large walnut
- 1 lb. shelled english walnuts
- 1 box candied cherries
- 1 box candied pineapple

Combine sugar, syrup, salt and cream and boil to soft ball stage. Remove from fire, add vanilla and beat until very thick and quite heavy so that it can hardly be stirred. Then add halves of walnuts, whole cherries, and cubes of pineapple and blend thoroughly. The candy at this stage will be so heavy you can hardly work it, but very creamy. Have a large square bread pan buttered and pull the candy from the kettle to the bread pan and press into a loaf. It will set in a few minutes. When real firm, turn from pan onto a bread board and cut in 1 inch slices, then cut slices into cubes. Makes 5½ lbs. candy.

MACARONI DINNER

- 3 lbs. elbow macaroni
- 1 can pimiento
- 2 cups stuffed olives, sliced
- 3 lbs. grated cheddar cheese
- 4 cans mushroom soup
- 2 qts. milk

miento, olives, and cheese. Heat the mushroom soup with the milk. Pour over the macaroni mixture or mix gently. Pour into casseroles and bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves 100.

MRS. ANITA GUSTUSON
82 W. 49th St.

BANQUET SALAD

- 7 No. 2½ cans pineapple
- 12 large apples
- 2 cups flour
- 2 cups sugar
- 18 eggs
- ½ cup butter
- 2¼ lbs. marshmallows
- 6 cups chopped pecan nuts
- 3 lbs. California grapes

Drain juice from pineapple and add to it sugar and flour mixed. Beat eggs. Add eggs and butter to juice and cook until thick over low heat stirring constantly. Peel and cut apples into small pieces. Dice the pineapple and pour over the top of the apples as this keeps the apples from turning dark in color. Cut marshmallows in quarters. Halve and seed the grapes. When the salad dressing is cold, pour it over theses ingredients and mix thoroughly. Serve on shredded lettuce leaves. Serves 80.

MRS. FLOYD R. MAYNARD

- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup margarine
- 1 cup chopped nutmeats
- 4 cups flour
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. cloves
- 1 tsp. nutmeg
- 1 lb. dates or raisins

Cream butter and sugar. Put soda in applesauce and add to creamed ingredients. Then add the flour in which seasonings have been mixed; add nuts and dates last. Bake in 13x9x2 cake pan at 325 degrees for 50 minutes. Serves 20.

MRS. RICHARD CLOUD
6541 Atlantic Ave., Apt. 51.

WEDDING CHICKEN

- 3 6-lb. capons
- 4 cups cold water
- 1 carrot and onion
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1½ tsp. mixed poultry herbs

Combine capons and seasoning and vegetables and simmer for 1 hour, until tender then cool and strip meat from bones and cut into bite size pieces. Return bones to broth and simmer another hour. Strain and chill.

SAUCE

- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1½ cups flour
- 3 cups chicken broth
- 3 cups heavy cream
- 2 tblsp. salt
- 1 tsp. paprika
- ¾ tsp. each white pepper and nutmeg
- ½ tsp. saffron

Cook all of these ingredients in double boiler until thick, stir occasionally. Strain and cool. Seed, core and slice:

- 3 green peppers into 1 inch paper thin strips
- 1½ lbs. mushrooms wiped and sliced
- 6-7 pimentos finely chopped
- 6 tblsp. melted butter
- 3 medium onions, peeled and chopped fine

Saute the vegetables in the butter until onions are transparent. Drain on paper toweling. Combine chicken and vegetable with sauce. This can be prepared the day before and refrigerated. To reheat place over simmering water for 1 hour. Just before serving add ½ cup lemon juice and mix well. Serve over 2 inch pastry diamonds, three to a serving made from favorite pastry recipe. Serves 20.

ASPARAGUS CASSEROLE

- 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen asparagus
- ½ cup sliced mushrooms
- 1 tblsp. butter or margarine
- 1 tblsp. flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tsp. salt
- ⅓ tsp. grated onion
- 2 eggs, hard boiled
- pinch of pepper

Boil asparagus until just tender. Drain. Saute mushrooms in butter until lightly browned. Remove from fire and mix with flour. Add milk gradually, stirring until smooth. Cook until thickened, stirring. Add salt, pepper and onion. Mix, arrange asparagus and eggs (sliced) in casserole. Cover with mushroom sauce and heat in slow oven 10 minutes. Serves six.

FIRST PRIZE

DENMARK'S FYLDT HVIDKAAL

(Stuffed cabbage with horseradish sauce)

- 1 lb. round beef ground twice
- ½ lb. shoulder pork, ground twice
- 1 large onion, grated
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ cup packaged dried bread crumbs
- 1 tblsp. pepper
- ¾ tsp. pepper
- ½ tsp. mace
- 1 cup milk
- 3½ lb. green cabbage
- 2 cups hot water
- ½ tsp. salt
- 6 whole black peppers
- snip parsley

MARGARET KURTZ

Blend ground meats with onion, eggs, bread crumbs, salt pepper, mace and milk; refrigerate. Remove wilted leaves from cabbage; cut one-inch slice from top of cabbage; reserve slice and leaves. With paring knife, scoop out center of cabbage, leaving one-third inch thick shell. Firmly pack meat mixture into cabbage shell; place the slice on top then top with wilted leaves. Now tie up cabbage with string, securing top and wilted leaves. Place in large kettle; add hot water, salt and whole black peppers. Cover kettle tightly. Simmer 75 minutes or until meat filling is firm to touch. Then lift cabbage onto heated platter; remove string and wilted leaves. Sprinkle top with parsley. Serve, cut into wedges. Pass horseradish sauce.

Sauce: Into two tblsp. melted margarine stir two tblsp. flour. Stir in one and one-half cups canned condensed chicken or beef broth, a little at a time. Add three tblsp. fresh lemon juice, three-quarters tsp. salt, one-eighth tsp. pepper, one tblsp. sugar and one-quarter horseradish. Simmer two to three minutes.

SOPAIPILLAS

- 2 cups flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1½ cups milk
- ½ tsp. shortening

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together, then add milk and shortening. Roll dough out to one-half inch thickness, cut dough in 2-inch squares. Fry in deep fat until golden brown on both sides. They will puff up and be hollow inside. This is a Mexican light fried bread that is delicious with butter and honey.

MRS. DONALD KUEHNERT
4223 Rutgers Ave.

SECOND PRIZE

FRENCH CHOCOLATE CAKES

- 1 lb. sweet chocolate
- 1 tblsp. flour
- 1 tblsp. sugar
- ⅔ cup soft butter
- 4 eggs

Start your oven at 425 degrees. Line a round eight-inch cake pan with waxed paper. Melt the sweet chocolate (must be sweet kind) and teaspoon of water over hot, not boiling water. Remove from heat and stir in flour, sugar and soft butter thoroughly. Separate yolks from whites of eggs and beat yolks vigorously then stir them into the chocolate mixture gradually and smoothly. Beat egg whites until they hold a definite shape and mix gently into the batter.

Transfer to the pan and bake 15 minutes. No longer. Your cake at this point is still soft but cooling stiffens it to the right consistency. When cold, remove from pan and serve. Serves six.

MRS. JACK L. HARRISON
305 Coronado, Apt. 8

THIRD PRIZE

HAWAIIAN PORK

- 1½ lbs. lean fresh pork, cut in 1-inch cubes
- ¼ cup cooking oil
- ¼ cup water
- 2 tblsp. cornstarch
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- ¼ cup vinegar
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 2 tsp. soy sauce
- ½ cup green pepper, chopped
- ½ cup onion, thinly sliced
- ½ cup tomato, peeled, seeded and chopped
- 2½ cups pineapple chunks

HUNGARY—CALF BRAINS

- 2 cups cake flour
- 2 eggs
- salt to taste
- milk, enough to make thin batter

Filling

- 2 finely chopped calves brains
- finely chopped onion
- 2-3 beaten eggs
- ¼ pint cream
- salt, paprika, chopped parsley

Take the flour, eggs, salt and enough milk to make thin batter. Fry the batter into 10 pancakes about 9" wide. Keep them hot until filling is ready.

Chop the calves brains and fry slowly for 20 mins. in a batter flavored with chopped onion, beaten eggs, cream, salt, paprika, and chopped parsley. Cook this until it thickens. Put filling between pancakes in layers. Keep warm in oven about 10 mins. before serving, then cut them diagonally and serve with sauce.

BEEF STEAK, KIDNEY PIE

- 2 lbs. lean beef
- 1 lb. beef kidney
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- 2 tblsp. flour
- 1 small onion
- 2 tblsp. suet
- 1 tblsp. minced parsley
- ½ tsp. curry powder
- 1 tblsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 3 cups water

Cut meat into cubes, sprinkle with salt and pepper, flour over meat. Melt suet, brown meat and onion well. Add the rest of ingredients and water, then cover tightly and simmer an hour, or until meat is tender. If more liquid is needed, add accordingly. When meat is tender, thicken gravy with paste (1 tblsp. flour and 2 tblsp. water). Pour meat into baking dish and cover top and sides with your favorite baking powder biscuits, cut one-half inch thick. Bake at 450 30 minutes.

BARONESS' PUDDING
(Scotch Recipe)

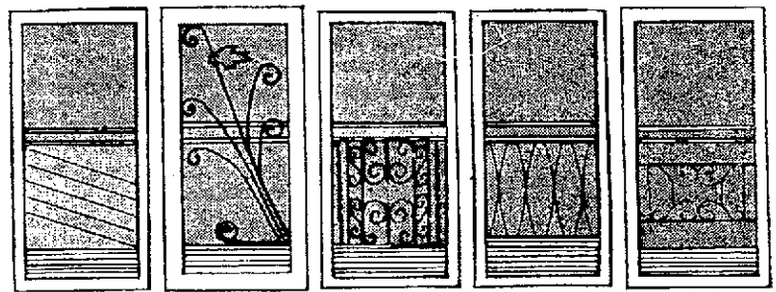

- ¾ lb. suet
- ¾ lb. raisins (muscats)
- ¾ lb. flour
- ½ pt. milk
- ¼ tsp. salt

Chop the suet fine—stone the raisins and cut them in halves. Mix the ingredients with the salt and flour — moisten with milk, stir the mixture well and tie the pudding in a floured cloth previously wrung out in boiling water. Put the pudding into a saucepan of boiling water and let it boil 4½ hrs. Serve with plain sifted sugar.

SAUCE BECHAMEL

- 2 tblsp. butter
- 2 tblsp. flour
- 1 cup hot milk
- 1 sm. onion sliced
- ½ small bay leaf
- ¼ cup light cream
- 2 tblsp. dry sherry
- ½ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. white pepper

Heat the milk and cream in a small saucepan, but do not boil. In another saucepan, melt the butter, then remove from the fire to keep from browning. Stir in the flour. Blend well. Slowly add hot milk and cream. Stir well. Add onion and bay leaf. Return to a slow flame. Simmer, don't boil, or sauce may burn. Cook for 20 minutes stirring frequently. Add sherry, salt and pepper. Strain.

Combine Sauce Bechamel with cooked fresh mushrooms, crab meat or shrimp.

MRS. M. BLANKENHORN

Use it as an escort for croquettes or cutlets or as a base for cream soups.

DANISH APPLE STUFFING FOR WILD DUCK

- 2 cups pared chopped apples
- 4 cups fine bread crumbs
- ½ cup seedless raisins
- 2 tblsp. melted butter
- ⅓ cup sugar
- 1 tblsp. lemon juice
- 1 tsp. lemon peel
- ½ tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. salt
- ¼ cup water
- 1 egg

Combine all ingredients, mix lightly. Mixture should be rather dry since apples add moisture as it bakes. Stuffing is enough for a 4-5 lb. duck.

CARROT MARMALADE

- 3 oranges, sliced thin
- 1 lemon, juice and grated rind
- Water, to cover
- 6 carrots
- ⅔ cup sugar for each cup of combined fruit

Place oranges and lemon rind in enough water to barely cover. Let stand overnight. In the morning cook until rind is tender when pierced with fork. Then wash, scrape and slice thin the six carrots and cook until tender. Combine with citrus fruit mixture and measure. Add the ⅔ cups of sugar for each cup of combined fruit. Cook until the juice sheets from the spoon or when it jells after a small amount is dropped in cold saucer.

MRS. BARBARA ZAHARRIS

ROSY APPLE BUTTER

- ⅓ cup orange juice
- 1 orange peel
- 5 cups apples, chopped, including peel and core
- 1 can tomatoes (1 lb. can)
- 1½ cups sugar
- 1 2" cinnamon stick
- 1 tblsp. vinegar

Squeeze juice from orange and save. Chop orange peel in small pieces (about ½ cup). Combine peel, apples, and tomatoes in medium sized saucepan; cover. Cook slowly about 20 minutes or until fruit is soft. Press mixture through strainer into second saucepan; add sugar, cinnamon and vinegar. Bring to boiling; boil rapidly, stirring frequently, about 15 minutes or until mixture is thick. Remove cinnamon stick; stir in orange juice, continue cooking until mixture is again thick. Pour into hot sterilized glasses. Makes four to five 6-oz. glasses.

MRS. JACK F. DUCLO

GINGER, MOLASSES COOKIE

¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
½ cup molasses
1 egg
1 tsp. of baking soda
½ cup hot water
2 cups flour
1 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt

Mix well, all ingredients and chill for one hour. Drop on lightly greased cookie sheet—drop from a teaspoon, not too close together. Bake in 350-degree oven 15 minutes or until nicely browned. Cool and remove to wax paper.

Norwalk

THIRD PRIZE

TEE BALLS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ tsp. salt
¾ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup grape-nut cereal
1 cup butter or margarine
½ cup sifted powdered sugar
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift the flour and salt together and add the walnuts and grape-nuts. Cream the butter, powdered sugar and vanilla together and gradually add the dry ingredients, blending well after each addition. Chill the dough for one hour. Then shape into balls one inch in diameter. Place on ungreased cookie sheet one inch apart. Bake at 400 degrees 12 to 15 minutes until edges are lightly brown. Roll in powdered sugar while warm. Makes six dozen.

Mrs. Grace G. Heath
1015 Appleton St.

CHOCOLATE REFRESHERS

1¼ cups sifted flour
½ tsp. salt
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup butter
2 unbeaten eggs
½ cup milk
¾ tsp. soda
1¼ cups dates, chopped
½ cup water
1 cup (6 oz.) chocolate chips
½ cup orange juice

Sift flour with soda and salt. Combine dates, brown sugar, water and butter in large pan. Cook over low heat, stirring until dates soften. Remove from heat. Stir in chocolate chips, beat in eggs. Add dry ingredients alternately with orange juice and milk. Blend thoroughly. Bake in greased 15x10x1 cookie sheet 30 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Cool and spread with glaze. Cut into desired shapes.

Glaze

1½ cups sifted powdered sugar
1-2 tsp. grated orange rind
2 tblsp. soft butter
2-3 tblsp. cream

Mix ingredients and spread over cookies.

Mrs. Cecelia G. Buckman
4133 Gaviota Ave.

PEANUT BLOSSOMS

1¾ cups flour
1 tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup peanut butter
½ cup sugar
½ cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift the flour, soda, salt together and cream the shortening, peanut butter, sugar and brown sugar. Blend in the egg and vanilla. Shape by rounded teaspoon into balls. Roll in sugar and place on greased baking sheet. Bake 10 minutes at 375 degrees. Top each with candy kiss, pressing down firmly so cookie cracks around edge. Return to oven two to five minutes.

COFFEE-PECAN FANCIES

½ cup margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup brown sugar, packed
½ tsp. vanilla
2 tblsp. instant coffee
1 egg
1 cup sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup finely chopped pecans

Cream margarine, gradually beat in sugars, vanilla, coffee and egg. Sift flour with salt; add to mixture along with pecans. Chill. Form into marble-sized balls; put on cookie sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Store in airtight container or can be frozen. Makes 60.

LEMON CRUMBLES

¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup shortening
1¾ cup soda cracker crumbs (about 20 crackers)
½ cup white sugar
1 cup shredded coconut
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt

Sift flour, baking power and salt together. Cut in shortening with pastry blender, until crumbly. Add remainder of ingredients and mix well. Spread one-half of mixture in buttered eight-inch square pan and press firmly together.

Filling

1 cup white sugar
2 tblsp. all purpose flour
1 cup water
1 egg, well beaten
⅛ tsp. salt
2 tblsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. lemon rind, grated

Mix flour, sugar, salt, and add egg and water and mix well. Cook over boiling water until thickened. Remove, add juice and lemon rind and pour over mixture in bottom of pan.

MRS. EDDY SHEDLOWSKI

PINEAPPLE-FILLED COCONUT BARS

Filling

¾ cup granulated sugar
3 tblsp. cornstarch
½ tsp. salt
1 cup crushed pineapple juice and all
1 tblsp. lemon juice
1 tblsp. butter or margarine

Mix first four ingredients together in a small saucepan; bring to a boil. Continue cooking until thickened and clear, about five mins., stirring constantly to prevent sticking. Remove from heat and blend in lemon juice and butter. Cool slightly before using.

Crust

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups shredded coconut

Cream butter and sugar together until creamy. Add flour, salt, and coconut. Mix until well distributed and crumbly. Press one half of crumb mixture firmly into a greased and floured baking pan 9x9x1½ inches. Spread pineapple filling evenly over surface. Cover with remaining crumbs and press top layer down firmly. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 35 minutes or until golden brown. Turn out on wire cake rack to cool. Cut into 24 bars.

IRISH OATMEAL BREAD FOR MAN'S LUNCH

Van de Kamp Varieties for Dad's Lunches

Take the monotony out of lunch-packing with Van de Kamp's variety breads. One of the most versatile of the 24 Van de Kamp's bread is the Irish Oatmeal Loaf. This unique bread, which originated in Ireland, is made with steel-cut oatmeal imported directly from Ireland and is lighter than rye bread and a little darker, more flavorful than white.

Try a combination of one 3-ounce package cream cheese with 1 tablespoon honey, ½ teaspoon grated orange peel, 1 tablespoon orange juice and ⅓ cup peanut butter for a variation of the ever popular peanut butter sandwich in the lunchbox. Or, for Dad's lunch, blend ½-lb. finely grated Swiss cheese with ¼ cup chopped olives, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, and ¼ cup mayonnaise.

QUAIL ON TOAST

Prepare the birds in the usual way, cleaning and removing all pin feathers, then stuff with a nice chicken filling, truss like miniature turkeys, season with salt and pepper, and wrap each bird in thin slices of bacon. The flesh of the quail is dry and the bacon gives an additional amount of fat as well as preventing burning. Roast in a moderately hot oven, 400 degrees. When done, remove the bacon and arrange the birds on hot buttered toast, brush with melted butter to which a little lemon juice has been added; serve with currant jelly.

CHERRY ANGEL JUBILEE

- 1 angel food cake, cut in 12 wedges
- ¾ cup currant jelly
- 1 No. 2½ can, drained pitted bing cherries
- 1 pt. heavy cream, whipped
- 6 sugar cubes dipped in lemon extract

Cut the cake into wedges and arrange in one large circle, alternating 2 wedges pointed in, with 1 wedge pointed out. In skillet melt the currant jelly, add the drained cherries, heat until simmering, turn into bowl that will fit into center of cake.

Frost cake all over with the whipped cream and set the bowl of cherries in center. Just before serving, dip six sugar cubes into lemon extract and light, then whisk cake to the table.

MRS. ROSE WEBER
44Panama Ave.

FLAMING OMELET

- 2 tblsp. butter or margarine
- 6 eggs, whipped lightly
- 4 tblsp. water
- Salt and freshly ground pepper
- ½-¾ cup rum

Place the butter or margarine in top pan of chafing dish. Beat the eggs lightly with the water. Add eggs to butter and turn flame to medium. While the mixture is cooking, stir sides with a fork and tilt the pan so as to let undone portion reach the heat. Just as it is done, dust with salt and pepper. Then fold and sprinkle sugar lightly over the top. Pour the rum around the omelet and ignite it. Ladle up some of the burning rum and pour it on the omelet. Serve at once.

MRS. DAWNALINE OLSON
2227 Belmont Ave.

SPECTACULAR PEACH PIE

- 1 No. 2½ can cling peach slices
- Pastry for single crust pie
- 1 tblsp. flour
- ¾ cup brown sugar, packed
- ½ cup sifted flour
- ¼ cup soft butter
- 6 sugar cubes
- Lemon extract

Drain peaches thoroughly. Line piepan with pastry. Rub into it a tablespoon flour. Turn peaches into unbaked shell. Blend sugar, flour and butter until crumbly. Sprinkle over peaches. Bake in hot oven (425°) 25 to 35 minutes, until pastry is browned and topping crisp. Saturate sugar cubes with lemon extract. Arrange on warm pie. Ignite cubes and serve flaming. Six slices of peaches may be arranged on top of pie to resemble a wheel.

MRS. O. P. GOODSPEED
6542 Lemon Ave.

FLAMING OMELET

- 4 eggs separated
- ½ tsp. grated lemon rind
- ¼ cup brandy or rum
- ½ cup mincemeat
- Sugar

Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; stir in lemon rind and tablespoon of brandy; fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a buttered hot skillet and cook over low heat until nicely browned on the bottom. Test by lifting the edge with spatula. Then place in a 350 oven for 10 minutes or until top of omelet springs back when pressed lightly with the finger. Heat the mincemeat and spread over omelet. Make a crease down the center with a knife and fold over carefully. Pour remaining brandy over the top and light. Serves

Leftovers.

FIRST PRIZE

RE-VAMPED HAM PATTIES WITH SOUR CREAM

- 2 cups ground leftover ham
- ½ cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup choped green onions
- ⅓ cup milk
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ⅛ tsp. pepper
- 1 cup commercial sour cream
- 4 tsp. chopped green onion tops

Combine ham, bread crumbs, chopped green onion, milk, egg slightly beaten, and pepper, mix well. Shape in six patties. Brown slowly on both sides in small amount of fat. Heat sour cream until just hot; spoon some hot cream on top of each browned patty; sprinkle some chopped green onion tops on cream and serve. Leftover ham makes a glamorous comeback this way.

TYROLEAN ONION SQUARES

Biscuit Mix

- 2 cups sifted flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- ½ cup shortening

Blend the above into a coarse meal—or if preferred, and you're in a hurry, packaged biscuit mix may be used. If so, follow directions on package, then proceed as follows:

Onion Squares

- 1 egg, well beaten
- ¾ cup milk
- 2 tblsp. poppy seeds
- 2 cups sweet onions, chopped
- 2 tblsp. butter
- ¾ cup sour cream
- 1 egg
- ½ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- paprika

Blend egg and milk with biscuit mix and poppy seeds. Turn into greased 9x9 inch pan. Fry onions in butter until tender and lightly browned. Spread on dough. Beat egg with sour cream and season with salt and pepper. Spread over onions. Bake at 400 degrees 25 minutes. Cut into squares, sprinkle with paprika and serve very hot.

OUR COVER

With a handsome and devoted spouse supervising, Jayne Mansfield lives happily at home on a wooded Hollywood estate with husband Mickey Hargitai, three children and an assorted menagerie of dogs, cats, goats, burros and tropical fish. The world sees Jayne as a glamour girl, but her intimates and a few especially favored interviewers have the opportunity of knowing the star's real-life role as wife, mother and homemaker. She manages well to combine a homemaking career with a successful life in the entertainment world, devoting all the time she can find from professional demands to give her family personal attention. She is shown on today's cover with two of her children. For more about Jayne Mansfield Hargitai, see Page 7.

INFORMATION FREE

ARNOLD E. HAGEN

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy on HIRSCH.—Mrs. D. A., Harbor City.

D. A.: HIRSCH is a distinctive German surname that translates as "red-deer stag." Hirsch had two origins in the days of knighthood. One was a painting of a stag on an inn sign, which became the owner's surname after a generation of usage. Hirsch was also a word denoting undaunted bravery, typified by the courageous stag-deer. The Hirsch coat-of-arms, granted in medieval Bavaria has a red stag horn centered on a golden shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on HAYWORTH.—Mrs. A. H., Joshua Tree.

A.H.: HAYWORTH was assumed by this lineage's founders from their home village of Haworth in Yorkshire, England. The ancient Saxon-English source phrase was "Haga-Worth" meaning "Hedged estate." Property was often enclosed by a thorn-bush hedge to exclude wild animals and marauders. Late 14th century Yorkshire forebears include John, Otes and Alicia de Haworth. Haworth and Hayworth coat-of-arms has a gold diagonal band between two gold stag heads on a blue shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have genealogy on MALONE and MALONEY.—R. M., Downey; R. M., A. M., Long Beach.

R. M., A. M.: MALONE and MALONEY, spelled similarly, have divergent Irish origins. Malone is from the Gaelic clan O'Maoil-Eoin, meaning "Sons of the adherents of St. John." Their original home was at Clonmacnoise on the River Shannon. This family were created Barons Sunderland in 1785. Their coat-of-arms was a rampant silver lion between three silver stars on a red shield. The Malone motto "Fidelis ad urnam" means "Faithful unto death." Ancestors include Luke Malone of Dover, N. H., in 1667. Maloney is based on O'Maoildhomhnaigh, translated as "Sons of the man devoted to the Church." The Maloneys were natives of County Clare.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please print the origin of HARRIS.—J. H., Mrs. J. V. H., E. Y., Long Beach.

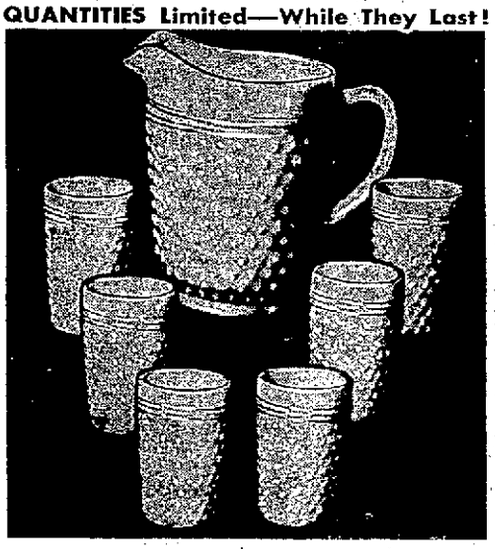

J. H., J. V. H., E. Y.: HARRIS is from the nickname Harry (for Henry) meaning "Ruler of an estate." The Harrises were baronial land owners in Devon and Cornwall, south England, as early as 1422. Their coat-of-arms has three silver crescents on a black shield. William Harris was born in England in 1610 and settled at Boston, Mass. in 1630. Thomas Harris of Bristol, England, came to Rhode Island at the same time.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze BARNHART.—M. B., Long Beach.

M. B.: BARNHART, a family from Alsace-Lorraine on the French-German border, has used this German form of their name as well as the French "Bernard" interchangeably over the centuries. The family coat-of-arms has a blue band above two stars and a crescent moon on a gold shield. Barnhart, meaning "With the strength of a bear," was first taken as a given-name in honor of the beloved St. Bernard or Bernhart of Clairvaux who founded the Cistercian Order of Monks in A. D. 1115.

Nostalgia in Glass

By Helen L. Gillum

LITTLE GLASS containers from the days of rock candy and hoarhound sticks once delighted childish eyes with their colorful contents of candy. Mrs. Jack Gordon of 16402 Harris St., Compton, owns 85 of the novelties.

Old candy containers, with their quaint shapes and nostalgic allusions to past events, are much in demand today by collectors. In fact, anyone desiring to "collect something," yet who does not know just exactly how to get started, could choose no better item than candy containers. They become more and more interesting as the hobby progresses, yet do not draw too heavily upon the purse.

NOR ARE the little glass objects too difficult to find. It is fun to search in out-of-the-way places, such as those dusty boxes of "junk" stashed away in the attic "back home," or prowl about a rummage sale. Or, perhaps you can talk a friend out of a "satchel" container that she had when a little girl, or a relative out of the "Kewpie" container she has been using as a toothpick holder. And of course, there are always the antique shows, shops and auctions in which to browse, and advertisements in the antique magazines to answer.

Some containers were designed to commemorate certain events or persons, just as modern toys reflect the life and times of our atomic age. A serio-comic item in Mrs. Gordon's collection is her "Spark Plug," inspired by the squint-eyed racehorse caricature created by cartoonist Billy de Beck in 1919. This little glass creature is 2½ inches high; he wears a large blanket inscribed "Spark Plug."

LINDBERGH'S flight to Paris is recalled by an airplane container. It is inscribed "Spirit of Good Will," and is 5 inches long, 3¾ inches wide, and 2¾ inches high. It bears the head and shoulders of a man intended to represent Charles Lindbergh.

Another figure resembles Charles Spencer Chaplin, the English-born moving picture actor. Chaplin stands beside the crystal glass container wearing the typical baggy trousers, huge shoes, tight jacket, derby hat, and carrying the familiar cane. The object is 4 inches high, with traces of blue and brown paint still visible.

Rose O'Neill's famous Kewpie doll stands beside a panelled container of crystal glass. It is 3⅛ inches in height and 2¾ inches in width. Mrs. Gordon also has a Santa Claus going down a chimney, a lantern bearing the patent date of 1904, and an old-time satchel with metal parts and straps clearly defined in glass.

Quaint shapes and nostalgic allusions of old containers for candy lend interest to this hobby collection.

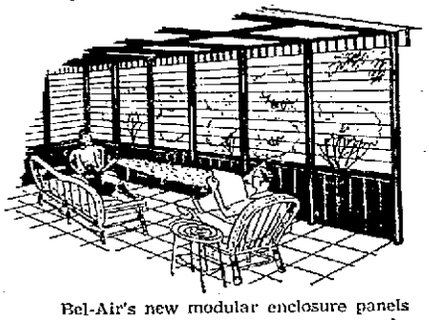

THREE UNUSUAL specimens all contain what Mrs. Gordon believes to be the original brightly-colored candies. They are quite old and are from the Victory Glass Company of Jeanette, Penn.

Faces in the Fronds

By John Ronson

"MAC," who for 12 years operated fishing barges, mostly using Pierpoint Landing as base, is turning into an accomplished wood carver.

It began a couple of years ago when Edward E. McNeil, 1517 E. Fourth St., happened to have a piece of myrtle wood and a pocket knife in his hands.

He carved a giraffe.

It turned out so well that he branched into masks from palm fronds. "You take a frond and keep looking at it, and pretty soon you see a face," he explains. He has made Oriental, Mexican, African and Indian masks, plus cowboys and pirates, and now he is working on a beatnik.

A trip to the desert brought a new appreciation of manzanita, and now he spends a good deal of time looking for gnarled, twisted growths that can be used for interesting planters, table arrangements, wall plaques. "They're good for a lifetime — you can change flowers or plants in them, for varied decoration schemes."

HE CARVES tables, mostly from myrtle wood or monkey pod. One has a lighthouse and a Spanish galleon; another, a realistic frog on a lily pad.

Visitors are interested in two-foot tall cats, vaguely Siamese, with glistening eyes. Some of the cats, and modernistic cranes, appear in wall plaques.

One of McNeil's favorite pieces, is a planter made of a piece of charred cedar picked up on the desert, topped by a manzanita ming tree.

'String Tripod'

Shutterbugs who forget to take along a tripod when a shooting occasion calls for one have found that a simple trick with a bit of heavy cord or fish line will provide a fairly adequate substitute, stopping unsteadiness when a camera is hand-held for even a 1/100-second exposure.

It's done this way: Tie a loop in one end of a string or fish line so that you can slip your foot through it. At about eye-level height tie another loop that you can slip loosely over the top of your camera. With your foot holding one end of the string firmly to the ground, raise the camera upward until the line is taut.

Real-life princess in a Southland castle

Jayne Mansfield Stars at Home, Too!

By Stella George

REAL-LIFE PRINCESS living in a castle is a word picture of Mrs. Mickey Hargitai, internationally famous as Jayne Mansfield. Her home is, in every sense, a castle, from the four-inch white carpeting, velvet couches, and fountain in the living room to the heart-shaped bathtub in one of the 13 bathrooms. (Note: Hargitai is the correct spelling, not the more common "Hargitay." The name is of Hungarian origin.)

Jayne and Mickey live happily with three children, 11 dogs, two cats, one bird, two goats, two burros, and assorted tropical fish. Jayne Marie, 10; Mickey, 2½, and Zoltan, 11 months, are perfect examples of well-bred youngsters.

Jayne Marie and Mickey display manners and breeding far beyond their years, and Zoltan gives every indication of following suit. Jayne's philosophy is, "We believe in smothering them with love, yet at the same time tempering it with stern discipline." Jayne and Mickey practice this philosophy every minute they are with their youngsters.

FROM CANDY, the Great Dane, to M. Oui Oui, the toy poodle, the Hargitai menagerie is an integral part of the household. A not unusual sight in the wooded area of their Hollywood Hills estate is a safari—headed by Jayne, followed by Mickey Jr. and the tail-wagging dogs, with a small goat baaing his way in the rear. Later, one of the tiny Chihuahua puppies frequently receives his baby food while sitting contentedly on Jayne's lap, hand-fed every mouthful. His favorite sleeping spot is the heart-shaped bathtub.

Jayne runs her household with a minimum of help. She prefers and enjoys caring for the children herself. Every inch a movie star in appearance, nevertheless, at the slightest provocation she will engage in a rough-and-tumble act with Mickey Jr., or listen attentively while Jayne Marie plays a tune on her toy grand piano. Politeness is a byword in this home. Jayne insists upon a "Yes, Mother," rather than a simple "Yes" or a slurred "Yeah," from her children. Company behavior is everyday routine.

AS A WIFE, Jayne sees that her husband is head of the house. If a visitor comments upon a handsome room decoration, for example, Jayne usually says, "Oh, that was Mickey's idea." Many husbands might envy the status Mickey has in Jayne's eyes.

Jayne manages to combine an efficient, well-run home life with a highly successful career. She has just finished a new record album based on her recent Las Vegas show, "House of Love." It will come out this month. Her movie, "Too Hot to Handle," will be released in the fall.

Jayne and Mickey starred together in "The Loves of Hercules," which is now a smashing success all over Europe, and which is set for U. S. release this fall. At the present time, while "It Takes a Thief" is playing to packed houses, Jayne has worked on "The Life of George Raft."

FOR PICTURES the studios have occasionally asked her to change her famous blonde tresses from silver to dark brown, but nobody has ever suggested any modification of the renowned Mansfield figure! Blonde or brunette, Jayne has a personality of her own, the charm of which is well known to those who work with her. Not-so-plain Princess Jayne needs no coaching to play her starring role at home surrounded by her husband, children and pets. In this production she is producer, star and critic, as she performs each function with award-winning talent.

Two goats share the family life. Jayne likes animals and enjoys feeding them.

With daughter, Jayne Marie, Jayne goes through her carefully tended scrapbook.

Poisonous fish sometimes dress in magnificent colors

Beautiful Killers Beneath the Sea

—Photos by the Author

Lionfish is a venomous creature of the scorpion fish family. Long spines in the right hand of Dr. P. R. Saunders (above) of USC, have poison sacs.

By Jack B. Kemmerer

RECENTLY, a young man was skin-diving in about 15 feet of water in an atoll of the Marshall Islands. His attention was attracted by an extremely beautiful fish whose movements were deliberate.

He had never seen such a fish. It had beautiful and strikingly colored long fins, long spines, and silky and bushy tenacles on the head, body and fins. The fish's magnificent colors were rich reddish-brown vertical bars, margined with white, with the interspaces a light pink. The fins were barred with reddish-brown and white.

Desiring a better look, the skin-diver reached out and grabbed the slow-swimming fish. And that is where he made a serious mistake, for disguised in such beauty were needle-sharp spines that pierced his skin and injected a poison that could have been fatal. Fortunately for this particular skin-diver, he was able to reach shore and obtain the help of a nearby military doctor within 30 minutes of the injury. He was seriously ill for a day or two and finally recovered. Had aid not been available, the sting might very well have caused his death.

Venom of stonefishes, ugly denizens of the sea, possesses fatal potency.

THE BEAUTIFUL but poisonous fish that stung the swimmer was of a kind commonly called the lionfish or zebrafish and belongs to the very large scorpion fish family. It is not found on either coast of the United States. The lionfish occurs from the Polynesian region in tropical seas on coral reefs westward to eastern Africa, including the Red Sea.

But that's no reason for complacency—many beautiful lionfish can be found in the United States — in the home aquarium! Some tropical fish stores have imported the lionfish not knowing of its deadly nature. In recent months there has been a case of lionfish poisoning in Beverly Hills and two in New York City. Undoubtedly there are more cases across the country that were incorrectly diagnosed by doctors not familiar with the venom secreted by the deadly lionfish.

The U. S. Navy became seriously alarmed by the numerous cases of poisoning from creatures of the sea. The Office of Naval Research instituted a contract to study the field closely. Heading up the program is Dr. Paul R. Saunders of the University of Southern California's School of Medicine's Department of Pharmacology. Beginning his research in 1956, Dr. Saunders traveled thousands of miles and spent many hours in both the sea and his laboratory in collecting and studying poisonous specimens.

His work has been primarily concerned with both the lionfish and stonefish of the scorpion fish family and a group of marine snails belonging to the genus Conus.

Dr. Saunders went to the Marshall Islands and Singapore to obtain live stonefish and to study them in the field. The stonefish, an ugly monster looking just like an old, weathered stone, has 13 poisonous spikes down its back that can cause extreme pain and even death.

STONEFISH occur around rock or coral, or in sandy areas. They lie, usually, partially buried in the sand and are so effectively camouflaged that they blend perfectly with their background and are seldom noticed until stepped upon. Each of the 13 dorsal spines possess two large venom sacs and when puncture wounds are inflicted by the very sharp spines venom apparently diffuses into the wound.

The initial symptom is excruciating pain which originates at the wound and then spreads rapidly, soon involving the entire limb.

A noted ichthyologist, J. L. B. Smith, was accidentally stung on the thumb by two spines of a stonefish. Smith, in describing the pain, said it was of an intensity never before experienced and the injection of morphine had no apparent affect upon the pain. When the stings have been bad enough and considerable venom diffused into the wounds, death has been reported in several cases.

THE THIRD GROUP of poisonous sea animals being investigated by Dr. Saunders is the Conus genus of marine snails. From all reports these snails possess one of the most virulent but least studied venoms existing in the animal world.

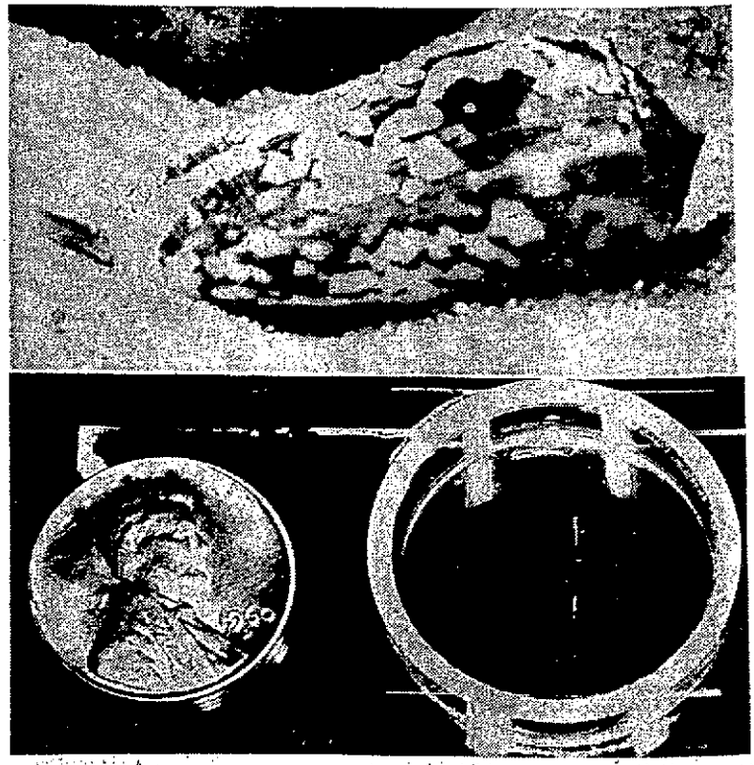

Conus, more commonly called cone shells or just plain cones, is a very large family with about 12 species on the Atlantic Coast and one specie on the Pacific Coast. None of the species carry a venom lethal to humans. There are species, however, that possess a very lethal venom and numerous cases of fatal stings to humans have been reported.

The lethal species of cones, about six in number, are found in tropical waters and at least two—the striated and the textile cones—are found in Hawaii. There have been several non-fatal cases of stings from the textile cone and none from the striated cone reported in Hawaii. Stings from several of the non-lethal species of cones have also been reported in the Hawaiian Islands.

While the poisonous cones apparently do not deliberately attack, they're extremely dangerous because they bury themselves in the sand in shallow waters and are often stepped upon. They are also a very beautiful shell and most cases of stings have been reported when they were picked up to admire. Natives of the South Pacific have been stung by a cone snail and died within two hours.

THE POISONOUS nature of these cones has been known for many years and the Dutch naturalist, G. E. Rumphius, reported several centuries ago on a case he had witnessed. Rumphius wrote, "It is suspected as venomous from the experience in Banda of a female slave. She kept this shell in her hand after she had picked it up when

The corner filling station has come a long way in 50 years

'Fill 'Er Up!'

By Frank L. Remington

WHEN A HIGHWAY PATROL car recently flagged him down, a Midwest motorist was in for a surprise. "Don't worry, you haven't broken any laws," the officers reassured him.

And then came the shocker: "But you did leave something at that service station about 50 miles back—your wife!"

While at the filling station, it developed, the driver's wife had left the car to freshen up. After paying his bill, the man had driven off. Somewhat miffed, the wife explained her plight to the dealer, who promptly notified the highway patrol. About an hour later the unsuspecting husband was located. "I thought you were asleep in the back seat," he sheepishly explained to his wife when he returned to the service station.

Such incidents are not too rare among the experienced filling station operators. The service rendered in this case is just one of the myriad ways the gas station men aid motorists. In a normal day, they not only sell gas, oil and accessories but throw in a multitude of gratis services: checking tires, batteries and radiators, and giving road information.

MOTORISTS once had to get along without service stations for the very good reason that none existed. In that pioneering era, the "devil wagon" owner stacked his vehicle high with extra cans of gasoline. The five-gallon can was the nation's service station and the motorist was his own attendant. If his vehicle sputtered and ran out of gas along the highway, it was usually a case of "get a horse."

Before his tank registered empty, however, the driver could usually locate a bicycle store or blacksmith shop that stocked gasoline. More often than not, the storekeeper grumbled at the necessity of cranking gas from a roadside or portable pump, and many times a customer had to wait for service until the blacksmith finished shoeing a horse.

The early-day car owner usually bought his gasoline, oil and grease from the grocery or hardware store. Often he purchased gasoline in bulk and stored it in a tank in his own back yard. From there he transferred it to his automobile tank as needed, straining it through a chamois to catch foreign material.

JUST WHO established the first real service station remains somewhat of an enigma. However, almost 50 years ago John McClean, an ingenious Seattle sales manager for Standard Oil of California, thought something ought to be done to eliminate the back-breaking and dangerous maneuver by which a five-gallon tank was up-ended over a funnel set in the gasoline tank of a horseless carriage.

McClean had no special pump or meter, but he knew about the law of gravity. So he had one of his engineers install a 30-gallon hot water tank alongside the main plant gate. The bottom of the tank was set on a platform at eye level and to it was fixed a hose with a faucet-like valve. The gasoline was drawn by gravity from the main storage tank through water pipes leading in under a planked surface on the driveway. Probably this was America's first service station.

McClean's new station served about 15 cars daily at first, but he quickly built up a trade of more than 300 daily. Because this was Seattle's only station and people were already beginning to get the weekend driving habit, Saturday might see a line of cars nearly three blocks long.

FREE SERVICE was unknown in those days and the motorist did just about everything for himself. As a matter of fact, for some time after the service station idea had established itself generally, it was felt that an offer to polish the windshield was a reflection on the individual motorist's habits of cleanliness.

The station offered only gasoline and oil—and kerosene, for the "steamers," which burned this product. If a motorist wanted a tire changed or some other service he didn't want to do himself, he went to a blacksmith.

In Los Angeles, the Union Oil Co. inaugurated one of the earliest services for motorists about 1913 at Union's Los Angeles Terminal. Primarily a depot for the storage and distribution of fuel oil, it boasted 30 horse-drawn tank wagons and 72 horses. The yard contained a row of 50-gallon gasoline tanks. On each was painted the name of an automobile owner. When he needed gas, the customer simply piloted his car to his designated tank and filled up.

A bit later, Union Oil's first service station opened for business in a small shack with two one-gallon hand pumps. When a customer pulled up for service, the attendant stretched the hose across the sidewalk to the tank under the automobile seat. A slow cranking of a pump handle transferred a gallon of gas at a time from a drum.

By 1920, the United States supported some 15,000 service stations and today the number has mushroomed to around 202,000, or one for every 271 cars, trucks and buses. In the aggregate, they sell a daily 100 million gallons of gasoline. And American motorists spend close to $10 billion a year on the stuff. It's a one-horse town, indeed, that can't boast at least one filling station. A high percentage of service stations these days are operated by local proprietors who either lease or own the facilities outright.

"Filtered gasolene" was the offering from this curbside pump at an early day service station. Operator could lower the hood to lock up at night.

LIKE THE automobile it services, the gasoline pump also has undergone a continuing revision until today it is a sleek, efficient device that the average motorist takes for granted. It has no resemblance to the early method of spigot-in-a-barrel, or a glass measuring bowl and a hand pump.

Some 2,000 service stations across the nation cater to the nine million trucks that roll on America's highways, offering highly specialized service and equipment. King-sized truck stops may include restaurants, showers and bunkhouses for drivers. One of the world's largest such installations in Bakersfield spreads over seven acres, employs 200 persons and was built at a cost of $750,000.

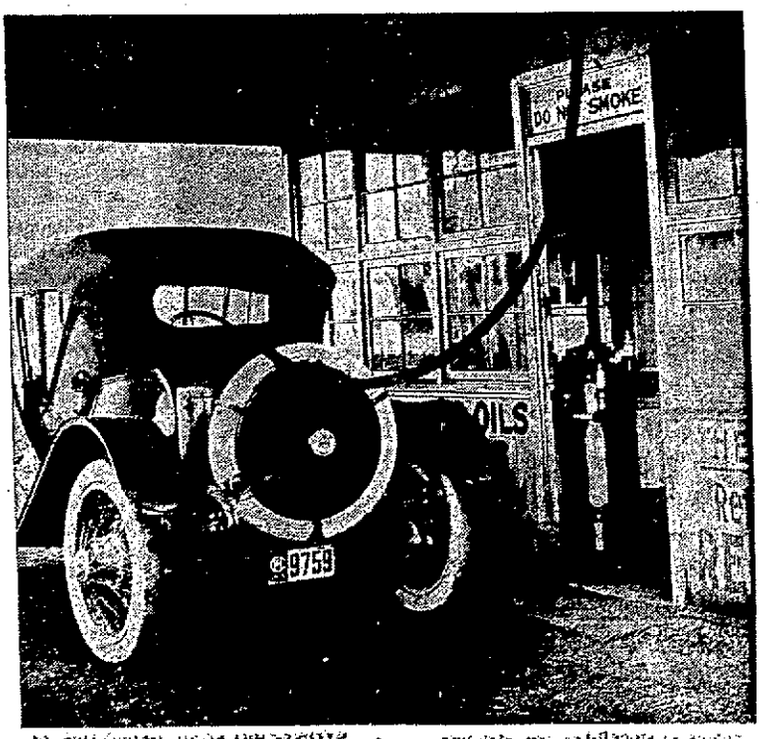

Competition is keen in most areas and service has become a by-word with filling station operators. Some enterprising proprietors have built up large centers around the basic business of gas and oil, including full lines of automotive equipment from cotter pins to tires, garage facilities, cafes, notions counters and what-have-you.

RELIEF THAT prayer mixes well with gas and oil as a motorist wends his way through traffic has led I. W. Tucker of Wynnewood, Okla., to install a tiny chapel on his premises. While motorists pause in the chapel —some 25 to 50 make use of it each day—Tucker services their cars.

Some stations at remote crossroads have developed into community centers, attracting patronage from miles around to dance on Saturday nights to the tunes of juke boxes.

One such operator was even equal to the occasion when a couple wheeled into his station, exhibited a wedding license and asked for a parson. A phone call located a minister and soon the wedding took place with gas pumps for an altar.

And then, there's the sign at a combination service station and snack bar on U. S. 66 which reads: "Eat Here and Get Gas!"

Gravity was employed by most pioneer filling stations to get fuel into auto tanks, gas having been previously hoisted into containers by hand.

Glass Walls That View Infinity

Photos by Joe Risinger

THOSE FAMILIAR with the neighborhood know that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milkes, 3051 E. Ocean Blvd., looks out across the east beach park and bluff and the view is to the photographer's infinity—limited only by atmospheric conditions. To capitalize on this magnificent spectacle, the Milkes home has exterior glass walls beneath wide overhang of roof to shield the interior from glare.

A wide porch runs along the front and along the side in front of the glass walls. The "front" entrance is actually on the side near the rear. Here the entry hall has access to the kitchen on the right, hallway to the bedrooms on the left, and the main living quarters straight ahead and to the right rear.

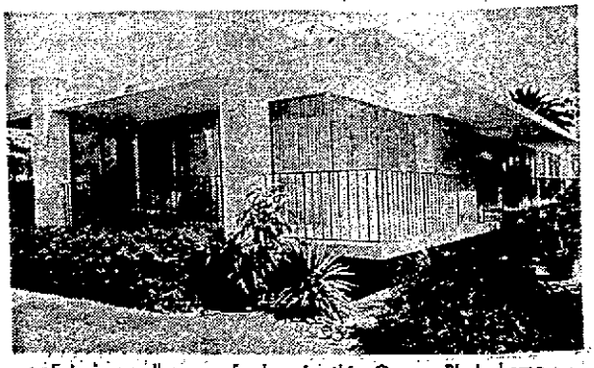

CHAMPAGNE carpeting is used throughout, adding a feeling of even greater space to an already large home. Living room and dining room form a great L, with the dining room and a portion of the living room in the front of the home. The latter is furnished in bold, daring colors, reflecting exquisite, impeccable taste. Twin purple satin chairs flank a long, off-white couch. With a highly dramatic effect, an avocado sectional couch (out-sized like the other one) backs the window corner. Thus, there are two living room conversation corners. At the far end of the living room is the den, separated by a shoji screen, which, when folded back gives an even greater expanse to the living room area. Closed, it forms a cozy den-family room with all necessities such as comfortable couch and TV set as well as a desk.

Accessories are as handsome as the larger pieces of furniture, the Italian marble coffee table, for example. The dark wood of the dining set complements the white carpeting and drapes. The Russian samovar on one low table in the dining room dates back to an interesting history in that land. Mrs. Milkes uses it for entertaining today.

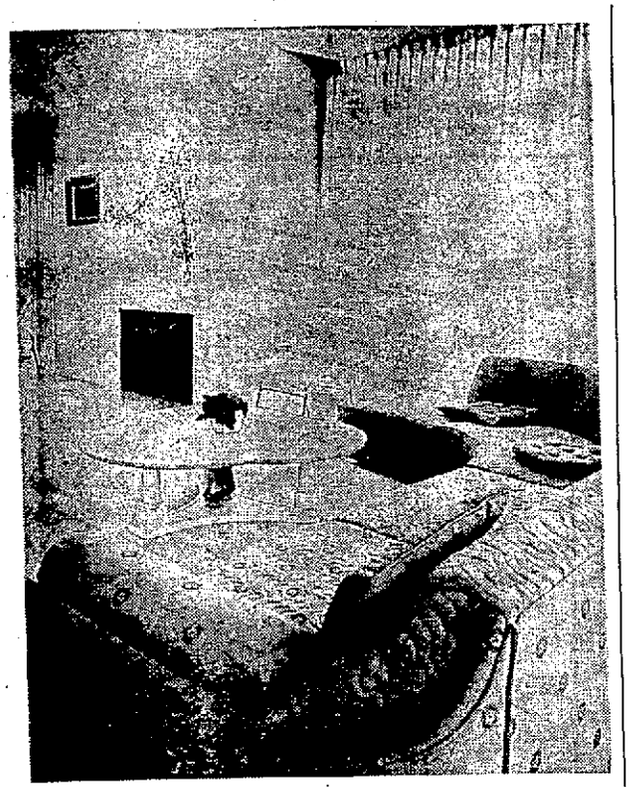

THERE ARE two bedrooms in the home, the master bedroom and another, nearly as large. The former is almost a bed-sitting room, with plenty of space for a couch and coffee table as well as an out-sized bed and dressers.

The larger bathroom has an interesting decor, as does the smaller one. Closets in the former are entirely covered with mirrors, making one wall entirely mirrored.

Sometimes, even in some of the most luxurious of homes, the kitchen becomes a step-

child in relation to the rest of the rooms. In the case of the Milkes' home, however, the kitchen is as attractive as the other rooms. It has ample cupboard space. Walnut wood is used for finish.

The architects, Killingsworth, Brady and Smith, designed the home which is made to order for the location. The glass walls alone add an individual touch of glamour and beauty.

The roof of the home is a large sun-deck. The garden in the rear is quiet and restful, perfect for the grandchildren who frequently come to visit.

Handy Shelves Are Easily Made

NBC's Judy Meredith finds these little shelves handy.

ALMOST every home needs more shelf space. In the bathroom shelves are handy for cosmetics, perfumes, a hand towel and things of that kind. In the kitchen they may be used for spices, measuring spoons, paper towels and miscellaneous items. You might even make one to be used in your den or bedroom for knick-knacks or trophies; the shelves are very versatile.

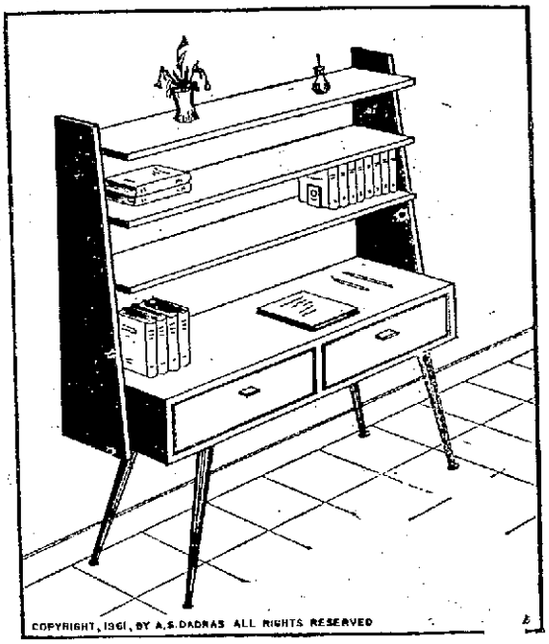

In any case, they may be built easily and at practically no cost when you use full-size patterns. All that's necessary is to trace the full size patterns on wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together. The pattern shows different variations (see photo) so that you can make any one or all of them: Simple hand tools are all you need. The patterns were designed to be used by inexperienced amateurs. A few scraps of wood make up the materials.

To obtain the full-size patterns No. 172 for making multi-purpose shelves, send 50c in coin to Steve Ellingson, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif.

This modern secretary can be useful in the home.

TODAY'S PROBLEM: Can a person without much experience with tools make an attractive piece of furniture?

DESIGNER URSULA M. S. DADRAS of New York City answers:

One of the benefits for the do-it-yourselfer of having modern taste is that with its classic simplicity of line, modern furniture is far more easy to build at home than older, heavily decorated styles.

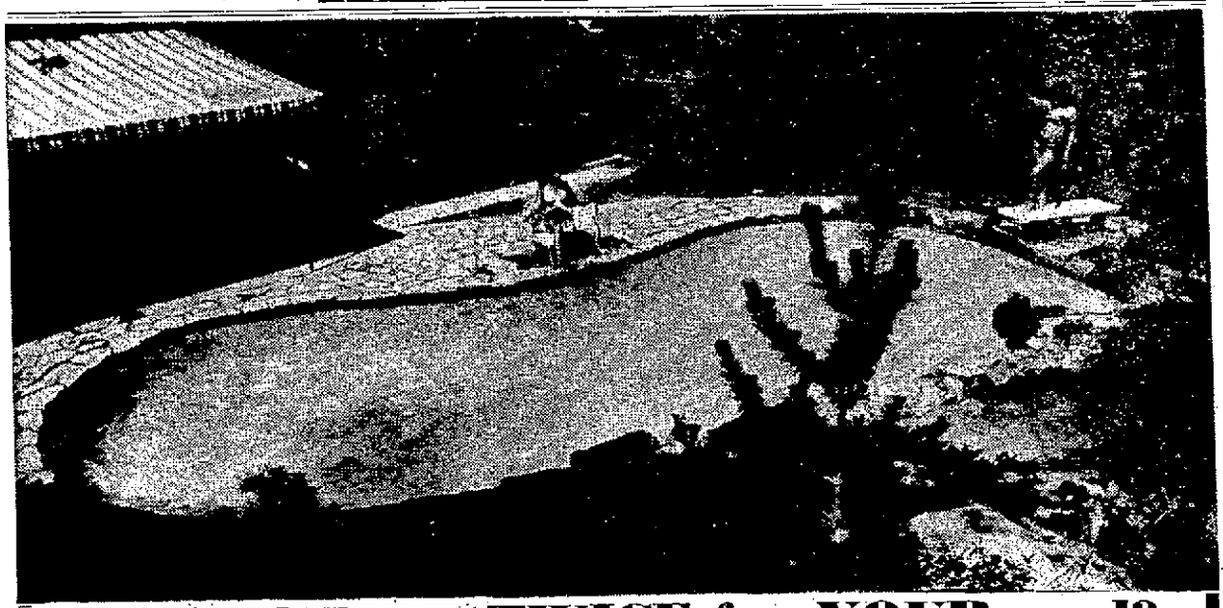

For instance, the secretary shown here — with a wide writing surface, convenient bookshelves and two handy drawers — would look good anywhere in a home. Yet it is so easy to build anyone who can hammer a nail can do it. Only tools required are a saw, carpenter's square, measuring tape, screwdriver, nail punch and hammer. The sawing can be eliminated by having your lumber dealer cut parts to specifications given in the plan.

PLYWOOD — fir or hardwood veneer — is used on desk top and bottom; clear pine or hardwood for risers and shelves. Legs are bought ready-made and screw into mounting brackets.

To order, send name, address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 6th & Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif., and specify Modern Secretary Plan S-19.

FOOD

Tomato Ring Is Cool

Jellied tomato ring is a good dish for warm weather, easily made and with a cool approach to the taste buds.

By Mildred K. Flanary

Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

FOODS THAT look cool and taste cool tempt a family's flagging appetite on hot days. This bit of elementary psychology works beautifully with, for example, a jellied tomato ring mold, colorfully garnished and served with a cool, creamy cucumber sauce.

This particular recipe is quick and easy to make because it features a handy package of tomato soup mix.

Jellied Tomato Ring

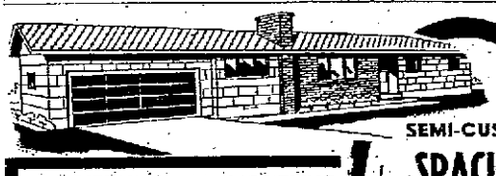

1 package tomato soup mix
2 cups water
2½ tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped celery leaves
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 small bay leaf
2 whole cloves
4 teaspoon unflavored gelatin softened in ½ cup cold water
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup finely diced celery

Stir soup mix into water; add onion, celery leaves, brown sugar, salt, bay leaf, and cloves. Bring to a boil and simmer 5 minutes stirring occasionally. Strain through a fine sieve. Stir in softened gelatin and lemon juice. Chill until partially set. Add celery. Pour into quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold onto a serving plate and garnish with greens. Serve with Creamy Cucumber Sauce. Makes six servings.

Creamy Cucumber Sauce

½ pint sour cream
⅓ cup finely chopped cucumber
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon horseradish

Combine all ingredients. Chill and serve with Jellied Tomato Ring.

Making Room for the Teen-Agers

By Jacqueline Myers

FAMILIES with girls often are faced with the sudden discovery that the daughters are growing up and that formerly adequate storage spaces no longer fill the bill. Usually the situation results because of the change in clothing and toys to the accouterments of sub-teens and teen-agers.

Among the most difficult items to store are the voluminous, stiff, unyielding petticoats and the huge, unyielding purses. The wide, fancy belts and the many shoes are a problem, too.

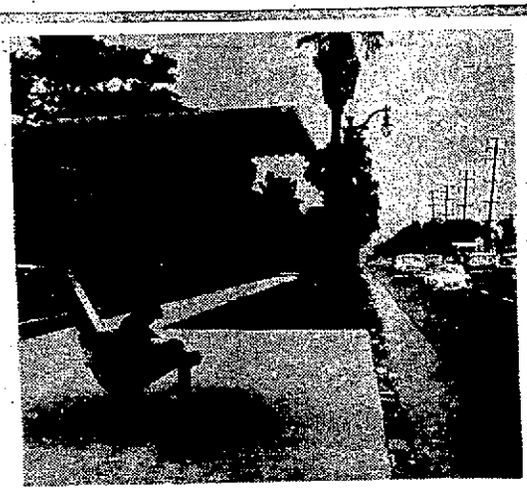

The following suggestions can create a satisfying increase of storage area out of wasted space, virtually out of thin air.

The upper part of a closet is a mass of available space. Use it!

DRIVE large-size staples directly into the ceiling of the closet and hook the petticoat hanger through the staple. Allow at least 2½ feet between the staples so the petticoats won't be crowded and crushed. A yardstick with a small V cut in one end makes a handy tool for raising and lowering the hangers. Or if the girl prefers, a stool or chair to stand on will give her height enough. Added bonus: a beautiful display of ruffles and lace.

Shoe bags, cup hooks and doors seem to go together. Fifty cents worth of cup hooks and the otherwise bare surface of two doors can provide storage space for all the purses any two girls can possibly accumulate. Screw the cup hooks into the inside of the door, taking into account the shapes and sizes of the purses to be dealt with. Be careful not to put the hooks too close to either edge of the door. Hang each purse by its handle from a hook. Cup hooks for hanging belts can be fitted in among the purses near the top of the door or can be screwed into many little wasted areas of the closet itself.

WHEN SHOES are no longer outgrown and thrown away every three to six weeks they begin to add up alarmingly. Assuming that the closet doors are now taken up with purses and belts consider the bedroom side of the bedroom door. Shoe bags either made of some attractive, durable fabric or bought at the notions counter can be fitted two to a door, one above the other, and give the room a blessed neatness. Each shoe bag provides storage space for from four to six pairs of shoes. Not nearly enough? Don't be afraid to move out of the girls' room and down the hall to the linen closet. Space for two more bags on the inside of that door. Keep the less used shoes here . . . the spike heels, the medium heels, the still - good - for - next-summer shoes and the rainy weather shoes. If there are pockets left unused they make excellent storage for some of the trinkets and gadgets each girl is bound to have.

Users of this unusual building are loud in their praise for it and the city.—ALAN W. FARRANT.

BEAUTIFUL HOMES: Southland takes its readers into a different attractive Long Beach area home each week.

HE'S A beautiful Seal-Point Siamese cat, and he's the southwestern regional merit highest scoring neuter for the 1960-1961 season, 15 times best neuter in show. His name is Neuter Triple Champion and Double Premier Docia's Scram-Pi. The proud owner is Barbara B. Woods, 1502 Cartagena St.

The Siamese cat is the most popular of all pedigreed felines, outnumbering all other breeds at shows. New colors are gradually appearing, but the Seal-Point still tops his cousins, the proportion of Seals often being more than the Blue-Points, Chocolate Points, and Lilac-Points put together. The Seal-Point's coat is cream or oyster white, with a few almost gray, and very few fawn. Points are Van Dyke brown, a deep dark brown that is almost black. Eyes, of course, are blue.

The Blue-Point Siamese was the second color recognized by the various cat associations. There are some in the fancy who believe the coloring was obtained artificially. However, since blue mutation appears at times in other animals, this is not necessarily true. Points of the Blue are cobalt, and the nose leather has similar pigmentation. Sometimes the pads are pinkish gray. The body is bluish white or ice blue, almost like skim-milk, with some shading on chest and belly. If the cat is kept outdoors in warm weather, the coat may appear fawn tinged, but this disappears.

The Blue-Point Siamese shows to advantage when viewed in daylight. The fancy humorously refer to him as the ugly duckling of the Siamese family, since he takes time to mature to his true striking beauty.

THE CHOCOLATE-POINT, new since 1939, is often mistaken for a Seal-Point, because the young resemble each other except for nose leather and footpads. In the Chocolate, the nose is warm brown and the pads are pinkish.

Palest of Siamese is the Lilac-Point or Frost-Point. Points are silvery or platinum in color, with ears like "pink champagne" since the rosy hue of blood shines through.

The Red-Point is a fairly new addition to the list of Siamese show cats. Coat is pale, points reddish orange, ginger, or marmalade. Nose-tips are brick-pink. This cat probably came from a deliberate crossing of a Siamese and red tabby, although a few have appeared by chance. The cat is considered odd in that he has introduced a pigment new to his breed.

Cropping up with the Red-Points are the Tortoiseshell-Point females. These cats are quaint but sensational.

Diet, drinking water, grooming, and climatic conditions have an effect on tone and color of Siamese cats. If you own a Siamese of whatever color, see that it has nourishing warm food, fresh water, space for exercise, daily grooming and massage, warm and clean quarters, a shady area where he won't sunburn.

now—your dog can take pills to stay tick and flea free all season long

imagine a pill that kills fleas, lice, even ticks

Veterinarians now have ECTORAL, the incredible new pill your dog simply takes with his food. ECTORAL works from the inside out to kill fleas, lice, even ticks that come in contact with your dog. Just one dose of ECTORAL every week can control these parasites all season long.

ECTORAL is the most effective external parasites ever had—an extraordinarily effective way to get rid of ticks, fleas and lice. It was tested for over two years by veterinarians in every region of the United States. Even though ECTORAL is more effective, it is just as economical as old-fashioned powders or sprays—and far more convenient.

During warm weather, disease-carrying parasites lurk everywhere, waiting to attack your dog. Ticks hide in weeds and brush. Fleas hide between floor boards, in the dog's bedding, under rugs. And any passing dog may be carrying these parasites.

Now—all season long—you can keep these troublesome, dangerous pests under control—with ECTORAL. Your veterinarian will tell you how to use ECTORAL. (You can find his address under "Veterinarians" in the yellow pages of the telephone directory.)

BOOK REVIEWS

Killer Sharks That Lurk California's Coast

THE SIGHT of a dorsal fin slashing through the surface of the sea has struck terror in the heart of man since time immemorial.

Globe-trotting author Thomas Helm has dispersed much of the superstition, myth and fancy surrounding the shark family in "SHARK: Unpredictable Killer of the Sea" (Dodd, Mead, $4).

Helm tells the complete story of the shark, his origin and history, and describes (with illustrations) the most important species.

The author also details authentic accounts of shark attacks, including recent California tragedies at San Francisco, La Jolla and Morro Bay. In all he documents 11 Southern California and seven Northern California attacks.

Helm describes commercial shark fishing and tells about other "bad actors" of the sea such as the barracuda who have been blamed for shark attacks.

In a dramatic section he describes personal experiences hunting and fishing these denizens of the deep and explains the latest in scientific research to aid man to meet this age-old menace.

The Lindbergh Baby: 29 Years Dead

By Vera Williams
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

IF CHARLES Augustus Lindbergh Jr. still were living, he would be 30 years old—five years older than his famous father was when he flew the Atlantic alone in the Spirit of St. Louis.

He would be the same age as Col. Lindbergh was when his curly-haired, blond son was snatched from his crib in the Lindbergh home near Hopewell, N. J., the windy night of March 1, 1932.

The tragic story of the kidnaping, the finding of the child's body the next May 12 in the woods near the Lindbergh home, the relentless hunt for the kidnaper and slayer, the trial and execution of Bruno Hauptmann is recapitulated in "KIDNAP, The Story of the Lindbergh Case," by George Waller (Dial, $6.95.)

Waller, a journalism student at Temple University at the time of the kidnaping, has devoted years to research of the case, reading stacks of old newspapers, investigation reports, court records, interviewing persons who conceivably might have information.

He presents again the old question that baffled the world at the time: Why was the 20-month-old child, ill with a cold, left alone for two hours without being checked, when he had a nurse?

How could a stranger, unacquainted with the house, pick the child's upstairs bedroom, prop a ladder against the wall, enter by the only window with a defective shutter, and carry out the child? Why didn't the child cry? Why didn't the dog bark?

Why did a maid employed by Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, living nearby, commit suicide when she faced police questioning?

How did a flock of outsiders get into the act, with various bizarre stories of contact with the kidnapers?

Why would Hauptman, a reputable carpenter, build a sleazy ladder, using for one section a board allegedly sawed from the floor of the attic of his home?

Hauptmann, traced through possession of part of the $50,000 ransom paid by Lindbergh, insisted on his innocence, and said the money was entrusted into his keeping by a German friend, who since had died.

Perhaps Hauptmann was guilty. Perhaps he was the ONLY guilty person. But apparently Waller, the same as many others, would like some of the questions answered.

WHEN STEPHEN Crane was 23, and never had seen a battle, he astounded the literary world with "The Red Badge of Courage," one of the best war stories of all time. The same year, a poignant book of verse, "The Black Riders," poured from his pen. In his 10th novel, Louis Zara has written an unforgettable fictionized biography of Crane, "DARK RIDER" (World, $6.95.) It describes the imaginative child on a New Jersey seashore who sees great horses and riders in the waves; the writer who begins his career with "Maggie: A Girl of the Streets," and it includes Crane's filibustering activities in Cuba, tempestuous alliance with golden-haired Cora, madam of a Jacksonville brothel.

PAUL SMITH

This young Dublin writer is compared favorably with Sean O'Casey in a fine novel, "THE COUNTRYWOMAN" (Scribner, $4.50), about Molly Baines who rears family and friends in the slums of Dublin.

LEWIS LITTTLEPAGE, 18th century American adventurer and diplomat is the subject of a full-length biography, "The KING'S CHEVALIER," by Curtis Carroll Davis (Bobbs-Merrill, $7.50). Littlepage, born into the Virginia aristocracy in 1762, joined John Jay in Spain and embarked on a career that brought him into close contact with Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, King Stanislaus II of Poland, Catherine the Great, Voltaire and Rousseau. Incidentally, it was George Washington who invented the phrase, "Lewis Littlepage slept here."

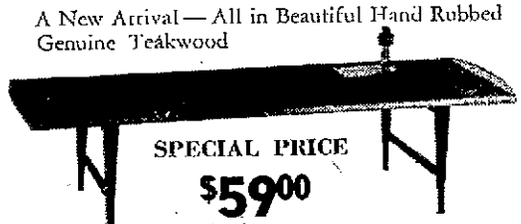

JOYCE CARY'S "AN AMERICAN VISITOR," which first appeared in 1933 in England, is published for the first time in America (Harper, $3.95.) It is the story of Marie Hasluck, American journalist touring tropical Africa, caught up in a tribal war. Harper also plans to publish "Castle Corner," "Aissa Saved" and "The African Witch" at one-year intervals, thereby making all of Cary's novels available in this country.

IF YOU CAN'T go to the East and live among its people, a short cut is to read "GIFTS OF PASSAGE" by Santha Rama Rau (Harper, $4.95.) The Hindu woman who wrote "This is India," "East of Home" and "Home to India" does an excellent job of interpreting the East to the West. She tells how the other half—actually far more than half—lives and thinks.

She tells about exotic places, she tells about missionaries, and she traces a link between psychiatry and native "superstition."

The most moving chapter, probably, is the final one in which she describes her return to India after a visit to Russia, contrasting the naturalness of her own people with the single-mindedness of Russians.

now—your dog can take pills to stay tick and flea free all season long

imagine a pill that kills fleas, lice, even ticks

Veterinarians now have ECTORAL, the incredible new pill your dog simply takes with his food. ECTORAL works from the inside out to kill fleas, lice, even ticks that come in contact with your dog. Just one dose of ECTORAL every week can control these parasites all season long.

ECTORAL is the worst news external parasites ever had—an extraordinarily effective way to get rid of ticks, fleas and lice. It was tested for over two years by veterinarians in every region of the United States. Even though ECTORAL is more effective, it is just as economical as old-fashioned powders or sprays—and far more convenient.

During warm weather, disease-carrying parasites lurk everywhere, waiting to attack your dog. Ticks hide in weeds and brush. Fleas hide between floor boards, in the dog's bedding, under rugs. And any passing dog may be carrying these parasites.

Now—all season long—you can keep these troublesome, dangerous pests under control—with ECTORAL. Your veterinarian will tell you how to use ECTORAL. (You can find his address under "Veterinarians" in the yellow pages of the telephone directory.)

BOOK REVIEWS

Killer Sharks That Lurk California's Coast

THE SIGHT of a dorsal fin slashing through the surface of the sea has struck terror in the heart of man since time immemorial.

Globe-trotting author Thomas Helm has dispersed much of the superstition, myth and fancy surrounding the shark family in "SHARK: Unpredictable Killer of the Sea" (Dodd, Mead, $4).

Helm tells the complete story of the shark, his origin and history, and describes (with illustrations) the most important species.

The author also details authentic accounts of shark attacks, including recent California tragedies at San Francisco, La Jolla and Morro Bay. In all he documents 11 Southern California and seven Northern California attacks.

Helm describes commercial shark fishing and tells about other "bad actors" of the sea such as the barracuda who have been blamed for shark attacks.

In a dramatic section he describes personal experiences hunting and fishing these denizens of the deep and explains the latest in scientific research to aid man to meet this age-old menace.

The Lindbergh Baby: 29 Years Dead

By Vera Williams
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

IF CHARLES Augustus Lindbergh Jr. still were living, he would be 30 years old—five years older than his famous father was when he flew the Atlantic alone in the Spirit of St. Louis.

He would be the same age as Col. Lindbergh was when his curly-haired, blond son was snatched from his crib in the Lindbergh home near Hopewell, N. J., the windy night of March 1, 1932.

The tragic story of the kidnaping, the finding of the child's body the next May 12 in the woods near the Lindbergh home, the relentless hunt for the kidnaper and slayer, the trial and execution of Bruno Hauptmann is recapitulated in "KIDNAP, The Story of the Lindbergh Case," by George Waller (Dial, $6.95.)

Waller, a journalism student at Temple Uniyersity at the time of the kidnaping, has devoted years to research of the case, reading stacks of old newspapers, investigation reports, court records, interviewing persons who conceivably might have information.

He presents again the old question that baffled the world at the time: Why was the 20-month-old child, ill with a cold, left alone for two hours without being checked, when he had a nurse?

How could a stranger, unacquainted with the house, pick the child's upstairs bedroom, prop a ladder against the wall, enter by the only window with a defective shutter, and carry out the child? Why didn't the child cry? Why didn't the dog bark?

Why did a maid employed by Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, living nearby, commit suicide when she faced police questioning?

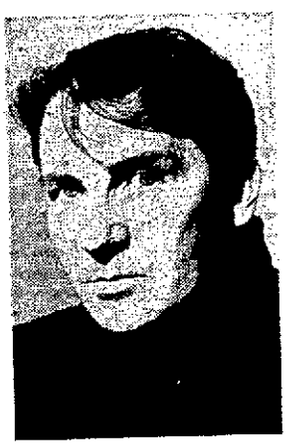

How did a flock of outsiders get into the act, with various bizarre stories of contact with the kidnapers?

Why would Hauptman, a a reputable carpenter, build a sleazy ladder, using for one section a board allegedly sawed from the floor of the attic of his home?

Hauptmann, traced through possession of part of the $50,000 ransom paid by Lindbergh, insisted on his innocence, and said the money was entrusted into his keeping by a German friend, who since had died.

Perhaps Hauptmann was guilty. Perhaps he was the ONLY guilty person. But apparently Waller, the same as many others, would like some of the questions answered.

WHEN STEPHEN Crane was 23, and never had seen a battle, he astounded the literary world with "The Red Badge of Courage," one of the best war stories of all time. The same year, a poignant book of verse, "The Black Riders," poured from his pen. In his 10th novel, Louis Zara has written an unforgettable fictionized biography of Crane, "DARK RIDER" (World, $6.95.) It describes the imaginative child on a New Jersey seashore who sees great horses and riders in the waves; the writer who begins his career with "Maggie: A Girl of the Streets," and it includes Crane's filibustering activities in Cuba, tempestuous alliance with golden-haired Cora, madam of a Jacksonville brothel.

PAUL SMITH

This young Dublin writer is compared favorably with Sean O'Casey in a fine novel, "THE COUNTRYWOMAN" (Scribner, $4.50), about Molly Baines who rears family and friends in the slums of Dublin.

LEWIS LITTLEPAGE, 18th century American adventurer and diplomat is the subject of a full-length biography, "The KING'S CHEVALIER," by Curtis Carroll Davis (Bobbs-Merrill, $7.50). Littlepage, born into the Virginia aristocracy in 1762, joined John Jay in Spain and embarked on a career that brought him into close contact with Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, King Stanislaus II of Poland, Catherine the Great, Voltaire and Rousseau. Incidentally, it was George Washington who invented the phrase, "Lewis Littlepage slept here."

JOYCE CARY'S "AN AMERICAN VISITOR," which first appeared in 1933 in England, is published for the first time in America (Harper, $3.95.) It is the story of Marie Hasluck, American journalist touring tropical Africa, caught up in a tribal war. Harper also plans to publish "Castle Corner," "Aissa Saved" and "The African Witch" at one-year intervals, thereby making all of Cary's novels available in this country.

IF YOU CAN'T go to the East and live among its people, a short cut is to read "GIFTS OF PASSAGE" by Santha Rama Rau (Harper, $4.95.) The Hindu woman who wrote "This is India," "East of Home" and "Home to India" does an excellent job of interpreting the East to the West. She tells how the other half—actually far more than half—lives and thinks.

She tells about exotic places, she tells about missionaries, and she traces a link between psychiatry and native "superstition."

The most moving chapter, probably, is the final one in which she describes her return to India after a visit to Russia, contrasting the naturalness of her own people with the single-mindedness of Russians.

SOUTHLAND TRAVELER

Where the Forest Meets the Sky

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Travel Editor

YOU GO for a weekend, perhaps, and when you leave you vow to yourself that maybe next year you'll spend your entire vacation there.

That's Flagstaff, whose altitude of almost 7,000 feet gives it just the kind of climate you're looking for in hot fall weather.

But that's only part of the picture. It's a delight to drive in any direction from Flagstaff, through cool pines to awesome canyons, Indian ruins, volcanic landscapes, interesting museums — or to fish!

Take your camera, by all means.

And when you make the little sidetrips, pack a lunch. The huge ponderosa pine forests stretching out in every direction provide ideal picnic spots. Lake Mary and Mormon Lake, southeast of the city, also are pocketed in forests. Just eastward, on the very rim of the trees is horseshoe-shaped Walnut Canyon where a national monument protects ancient cliff dwellings sandwiched among rocky crevices. Northward, the pines give way to grotesque lava fields and the huge cinder cone of Sunset Crater National Monument where, among the oddities, are perpetual ice caves.

ANOTHER DRIVE — less than 100 miles—takes you to the Grand Canyon.

Scenic drives abound. One is a trip over the Schulz Pass Road between the towering San Francisco Peaks and Elden Mountains. It's a loop trip that can easily be made as part of the sightseeing in the region of Arizona's highest mountains.

To the south lies fabled Oak Creek Canyon, a 12-mile-long recreation and fishing area, in a setting of dramatic red rock buttes and precipices.

THE MUSEUM of Northern Arizona and Lowell Observatory add a cultural note to the Flagstaff scene, and there are many historical spots worthy of a visit.

You get to Flagstaff from Long Beach via Hwy. 66; or, by taking a more leisurely way over Hwy. 60 to Phoenix —a superb city to visit in itself; north on Hwy. 69 from Phoenix to Prescott, and then switching to Hwy. 89 or Hwy. 89-Alt. There are many fine motels in the area.

DESIGNED IN A MODERN ITALIAN theme, this new city ticket office has been opened by Alitalia Airlines at 617 S. Grand Ave., Los Angeles. The Italian airline maintained its color identification by utilizing blue and white in the various appointments. The opening is another step in the expansion of Alitalia, which now has more than 30 offices in North America alone, according to Gerald Orlin, district sales manager.

AIRLINE CHATTER: Pan Am now offers three jet air tours to Hawaii. One includes seven days and six nights at $310.50, plus applicable taxes, per person and includes aloha greeting, Honolulu airport transfers, hotel (double occupancy), Mt. Tantalus drive, island tour of Oahu . . . Twice-weekly connecting service between San Francisco and Manila will be offered, beginning Nov. 2, by British Overseas Airways Corp. Flying time, 19 hours, with operations Tuesdays and Thursdays . . . Canadian Pacific Airlines has been granted rights to fly into London, from Vancouver, B. C., on its Polar Route via Calgary, Edmonton and Gander . . . A former Trans World Airlines hostess, Doreen Willis, has been crowned "Miss Visit U.S.A." as a tribute to her preeminence as a leading authority in Europe on travel to the New World.

WEEKEND GADABOUTS:

Sept. 6-9: Once a stagecoach stop in San Gorgonio Pass, Banning celebrates Stagecoach Days with townspeople dressed in attire of the 1890s, dancing, western play, and big parade at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Sept. 10: A big event now in its 31st year is La Jolla's Ocean Swim and Aqua Festival. Opens with Pacific Coast Paddleboard Championships at 11 a.m. Main race over triangular course from Swimming Cove begins at 2 p.m.

Killers Beneath the Sea

hauling in the seine at sea. As she went to the beach she felt a faint tickling sensation in her hand which crept slowly through her entire body—she died on the spot!"

Dr. Saunders spent considerable time in the field studying the deadly cone snails and also brought back live specimens to his laboratory in Los Angeles. According to Dr. Saunders, the snail does its fatal stinging with a hollow tooth in the end of its proboscis. The proboscis remains within the snail's shell until the cone is ready to feed. At that time, the proboscis is extended out of the snail's mouth, and its length often approximates that of the shell. To sting, the hollow tooth must come into contact with the victim and the venom is then released. Some cones, such as the textile cone, eat only other snails while others like the striated and geographic cones eat small fish.

The fish-eating cones have a small barb on the tooth so that when they sting a fish it can't get away, being held firmly to the cone by means of the barb until the venom takes effect. The venom acts almost instantly and can kill a small fish within a few seconds. The cones will eat a fish one-half their own size in about 20 seconds and can eat a fish slightly bigger than itself in two or three minutes. They swallow their victims whole. These cones have been known to reach sizes of six inches in length.

Dr. Saunders says his project is a continuing one and much work is still to be accomplished before scientists know the inner secrets of the numerous species of poisonous animals to be found in the sea.

". . . if you could advise a hotel in Tokyo?"

THE IMPERIAL is the famous, older Frank Lloyd Wright hotel. It has a modern annex, Western-style rooms, air conditioning (you need it in Tokyo summer), $9 to $12 double, up to $50 or $100 for de luxe suites.

The newer Nikkatsu is a couple of floors of hotel in a modern office building. Same rates, same locality.

The New Japan is very new and has a night club, The Latin Quarter, adjoining.

There are smaller, less expensive Western hotels such as the Dai Ichi that are quite good.

My personal preference is the Japanese hotel or ryokan.

Best in Tokyo is the Fukuda-ya where rates are the same as the Western hotels and you get breakfast and dinner.

A letter to the Japan Tourist Association will get you a list of ryokans. Anything rated at about 3,000 yen a day ($8.50) is first class.

Expect to arrive in Tokyo without reservations for these —travel agencies don't seem to have contact with them. Stay at a Western-style hotel and have the desk clerk call and get a room at the ryokan.

Get a dictionary. Nobody will speak English at the Japanese hotel. But the atmosphere and comfort and service is well worth it.

"Anything you can advise us on good restaurants?"

I HAVE a list of restaurants on a "Travel Tips in Japan" sheet. (Send 10 cents and self-addressed, large envelope to Chronicle Features, 821 Market St., San Francisco.)

A list of restaurants is no good without telephone numbers. Not a taxi driver in Tokyo is able to find your restaurant. For the simple reason the streets are not named and houses not numbered.

Get your taxi driver. Give him the written phone number and a 10-yen piece. Make a motion like telephoning and say "denwa" (telephone).

He gets on the phone and the restaurant gives him directions he will understand —"near such-and-such bridge, across the street from a yellow house, etc."

". . . and any other tips you can think of on Japan?"

No tipping in Japan. Don't tip waiters or waitresses—a percentage is on your bill and there is no need or custom for any additional as in Europe.

Don't tip cab drivers or doormen.

Exceptions: In Western-style hotels, tip the boy who brings baggage up and down 100 yen per person (not per bag). That's 27 cents.

Tip barbers and beauty parlor operators in Western shops 100 yen.

GOING PLACES —
—with the Sloanes

Q. "WHAT EXACTLY is a 'pension' in Europe and how does one go about booking a reservation in one?"—Mrs. E. S., San Francisco.

A. A pension is what we would call a guest house tourist home in this country, with the exception that most provide meals also. They have the same advantages and drawbacks of a tourist home: intimacy and coziness, often excellent food, but a limited number of rooms, simple equipment, and rarely private baths.

Booking them is, of course, the big problem. The better ones are well booked by regulars. As for travel agents, this is one field where it is difficult for them to help you because these places rarely advertise or promote; most of their business is word of mouth. Thus if you can get the word from someone, take it and write direct.

Q. "Can you recommend so-called scheduled supplemental air carriers? A number of people I've spoken to are satisfied. What's the catch?" —W. W., Los Angeles.

A. Non-scheduled airlines are known as supplemental carriers today. The catch is the same as it always was: you can never be sure when they are leaving, even if they advertise schedules. Their lower fares are predicated on full loads—which the scheduled airlines don't count on—and—if they don't have one, you may wait around until they do.

Q. "Do you think it would be out of place to have a box of food (such as the children like) shipped to our hotel in Hong Kong?"—Mrs. L. P. C., Oroville, Calif.

A. No, but it's scarcely necessary. You can buy anything in Hong Kong that you can in any other cosmopolitan city, and a great deal more.

Q. "Is it as appropriate for a man to wear a black tuxedo as a white dinner jacket at a resort or on a cruise?" — O. W., Eureka, Ill.

A. Yes. And a shade more sophisticated.

Q. "Can you tell us exactly what attachments are necessary to use an electric iron and shaver in Europe?" — Mrs. D. E. D., Compton, Calif.

A. Almost every country has a different setup for plug outlets. Your best bet is to consult your appliance dealer and get an adjustable plug.

Personally, we prefer to borrow irons and shave wet.

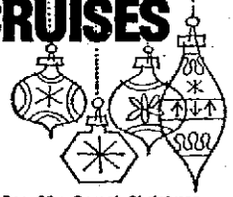

Q. "I am interested in taking boys, 7 and 10, on a western vacation where they can see cattle branded, enjoy a rodeo, ride and otherwise have their young imaginations stirred. What can you suggest?"—Mrs. E. M. S., Minneapolis, Minn.

A. What you want is a working ranch, and the area around Tucson, Ariz., is particularly thick with them. Your travel agent can advise you best on this score.

Green Up Your Lawn for Winter

To maintain a rich, green lawn over the years requires continuing care and occasional renovation and reseeding.

By Joe Littlefield

LAWNS that are thickly matted with devil grass, lawns that are thin and sparse, ones that were attacked by lawn moth worms during the summer and are thin and spotty looking may all be improved and greened up for the winter season.

But don't rush the lawn renovation yet. If you re-do the lawn and sow seeds while the weather is till hot, you may not only get an infestation of lawn moth worms, but also a germination of crab grass from fresh seeds that ripened on existing mature weeds.

Wait till the end of first week of October to do the lawn. You have much less likelihood of lawn moth worm or crab grass seed infestation because the nights are becoming colder, the worms and seed go dormant for the winter.

WEEDY LAWNS that need drastic renovation should not be chopped off with a hoe, or churned up drastically. Do that, and you may have a still worse weed infested lawn next summer, because you may turn up weed seeds that lay dormant in the soil, weeds you didn't know existed in the lawn soil.

There are two effective ways to re-do a poor lawn. One is to use a strong power mower to "scalp" or mow the lawn close to the soil, then re-seed, and top dress with fine mulch material.

Another more effective way is to treat the existing lawn with one of two types of materials. One of them gases the soil, kills all existing grass and devil grass (hermuda) supposedly down to the tip ends of their roots, kills soil pests, and disinfects the soil. About a month later, simply scratch up the soil, sow the seeds and cover with fine mulch for lawns.

The other material is one that kills back the weeds but does not completely kill devil grass, and kills the lawn. A month later, the lawn is sown and top dressed. By that time a second action takes place, the material has broken down and nitrogen feeds the lawn!

SHOULD YOU wish to use one of these two materials, consult your local nurseryman and read carefully the directions for application. Keep materials away from trees and shrubs. Also, apply the material at once in order to have the lawn ready for seeding in early October.

When re-seeding the lawn, sow five to seven pounds of grass seed mixture your local nurseryman recommends per each 1,000 square feet. Rake in lightly. Cover with five sacks of fine mulch material to same given area. Keep moist till first mowing.

Grass lawns that are weedy yet have a good base of grass may be improved by scratching with a grass-rake, mowing, then re-seeding with same amount of grass seed as for the more drastic projects.

Begonia Meeting

Care and culture of fuchsias will be discussed by A. Roy Joice at a meeting of Long Beach Parent Chapter, American Begonia Society, at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at 728 Elm Ave. Members will bring a dish of food and table service for a potluck supper.

Orchid Society

Hybridizing of cattleya orchids will be discussed by Mrs. Rita Crothers of Vista at a meeting of the Long Beach Amateur Orchid Society at 8 p.m. Thursday at Silverado Park clubhouse, 31st St. and Santa Fe Ave. Visitors will be welcome.

Tables of blooming orchid plants will be shown.

Flower School

California Garden Clubs Inc. Flower Show School is scheduled for Course III, (flower show judges) Sept. 18-21, at Los Angeles State and County Arboretum, 301 N. Baldwin Ave., Arcadia. Registration forms are available from Mrs. Joe R. Baer, 9411 E. Duarte Rd., San Gabriel. Fee is $10.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . Gladiolus plantings should be permitted to dry off gradually after bloom, so continue watering them occasionally.

Protect bedding plants from the hot sun for a few days after setting them out.

August feeding is the surest way to have roses through fall.

Plant citrus, avocado, all evergreen fruits now while the weather is warm. Shade young citrus trunks from the sun.

Bait for snails. Frequent baiting is needed for complete control.

Bush berries that have not yet been pruned should be cut back. Remove the canes that bore fruit this year and loosely wind the new growth around the trellis.

Shasta daisies are better divided in early spring than now. Simply remove the top growth when they stop blooming.

Stake chrysanthemums. Continue feeding them at two week intervals.

Feed and water roses liberally to boost them for fall bloom.

Feed and soak established lawns. Prepare seedbeds for new lawns.

By Dorothy Jonson

Since chrysanthemums are very susceptible to termites or borers in the roots, you can take out an insurance policy on them by treating the soil in the early fall with a safe ether product. The one I have in mind is sufficiently powerful to destroy the termites or borers in the roots of the chrysanthemums without injuring the plants.

This definitely is a preventive treatment. It kills the termites in the roots before they have had time to do much (if any) damage. If you wait and give the termites time to undermine the health of the plant, the stalk dries out and even though the sap, which is somewhat in the nature of a reserve supply of vitality, may reach the top and keep it green for a period of time, eventually the entire plant will collapse before it comes to a state of bloom. Treat the chrysanthemum bed now.

If you would like to have my chrysanthemum bulletin, address Dorothy Jonson, 208 W. California St., Pasadena, Calif., and inclose a 4-cent stamp.

Fuchsia Board

Nominations will be in order for the November election when officers and representatives of the California National Fuchsia Society conduct their bi-monthly board of directors meeting at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 10 at Hollydale School, 5511 Main St., Hollydale.

Nominating and election committe members include E. O. Eipper of Lomita, chairman; Mrs. Marie Peterson and W. J. Winchester, Los Angeles; Mrs. Pearl Benell, Whittier, and Edward McSorley of Hawthorne.

Garden Club

"Gardening Can Be Fun" will be the topic of Mrs. Frances Young at a meeting of Belmont Heights Garden Club at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, 3rd St. and Mira Mar Ave. Mrs. Josephine Woods, newly elected president, will direct the meeting.

IRVING SOLOMON

A Fine Brood

TODAY ISN'T Father's Day, but even so there is a Dad among us who deserves to be singled out for a little extra recognition.

His name is Irving Solomon. He is 6 feet tall, weighs 165 pounds, wears glasses and has graying hair. He is a quiet, modest man who doesn't particularly relish the idea of being featured in an article like this.

But Irving Solomon definitely rates this attention. For one thing he is a co-owner of Hoefly's, 4911 E. 2nd St., one of the Long Beach area's truly fine restaurants. During the 16 years that Solomon has owned Hoefly's he has maintained outstanding cuisine and service which have attracted the regular patronage of Long Beach area civic and business leaders, film and TV celebrities and star athletes. His employes respect him so highly that many have long records of service at Hoefly's. Chef Charlie Cole has been there 15 years; day hostess Shirley Zion has worked there 12 years.

There is another and perhaps even more important way of measuring Solomon's success, however. This is the regard held for him by his five sons. While they were growing up, Solomon encouraged them to be independent and find their own routes to a fruitful life. But his own life was so interesting that four of his boys followed in his footsteps, joining his business organizations. His oldest son Al is a co-owner with him of the Alco-Pacific Construction Co. which has built hundreds of Sol-Vista homes in Huntington Beach. His second son, Bob, is the firm's treasurer. The No. 3 son, Harold, is co-owner of Hoefly's. The No. 4 son, Marvin, is a scientist with the U. S. Nuclear Corp. but keeps close ties with his family. His fifth son, Harvey, is manager of an Alco subsidiary company.

Congratulations, Irving (and to your wife, too), for raising such a fine brood.

PERSONALITY PARADE

If you have a question of interest on a personality of note, send it to Walter Scott, PARADE, 285 Madison Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your name will be used unless requested otherwise in writing. Sorry, PARADE cannot reply to individual inquiries.

Q. Jackie Kennedy's sister is called Princess Lee Radziwill. Isn't that title a phony?—Mrs. F. Irasnow, W. New York, N.J.

A. In a sense, yes. Mrs. Radziwill's husband, as a member of an old Polish family, once held the title of prince by courtesy. In 1951 he became a naturalized Englishman. As such he is not permitted to hold a foreign title without a Royal license, which has never been granted to him or his wife, so that Princess Lee Radziwill in English eyes is no princess at all.

Q. Whom did Carol Heiss marry and where do they live? C.R., Vernon, N.Y.

A. Hayes Alan Jenkins. They live in Akron, Ohio.

Q. What is June Allyson's real name, and where was she born?—Leona Huntsman, Baltimore, Md.

A. Ella Geisman in New York City.

Q. Who owns the world's largest gambling establishment and where is it?—Leon Levinson, Jacksonville, Fla.

A. Bill Harrah at Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Q. Is it true that Benito Mussolini had an illegitimate son named Benito Albine? If so, what happened to the boy and his mother?—George Rabin, New York, N.Y.

A. True. Mussolini had an illegitimate son by a woman named Ida Dalser. The son was named Benito Albine. Mussolini recognized and partially supported his son. Ida Dalser died in an asylum in 1935, her son in an asylum during World War II. Mussolini's sordid personal life was hushed up during his regime as dictator of Italy.

Q. Who invented the rocking chair?—Ada Woods, Bridgeport, Conn.

A. Benjamin Franklin.

Q. For some time now I've heard that there will be a Negro World's Fair in Chicago next year. Is this correct? —Natalie Tinsdale, Louisville, Ky.

A. The Negro World's Fair is planned for 1963 to mark the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Q. For 25 years now Francisco Franco has been dictator of Spain. When does he plan to retire?—Philip Fisher, Vancouver, B.C.

A. Only death retires dictators.

Q. Did Ingrid Bergman have her nose fixed by plastic surgery? If not, which actresses have?—Mrs. E. Schwartz, Miami Beach, Fla.

A. Not Bergman. Carolyn Jones, Dinah Shore, Annette Funicello are three whose noses have been altered.

Q. I would like to find out how much Republican Douglas Dillon contributed to Democratic President Kennedy's political campaign?—Louis G., Washington, D.C.

A. Secretary of the Treasury Dillon contributed $26,550 to the Republican campaign, nothing to the Democratic campaign.

Q. Comedian Mort Sahl's act in England—a hit or a flop? —Geraldine Noonan, Los Altos, Calif.

A. A flop.

Q. Did Bing Crosby ever whip his son Gary with a cane, and what did Gary do?—H.O. Spokane, Wash.

A. Yes, when Gary was 17, Bing cane-whipped him. But Gary, then 190 pounds and stronger than his father, took the cane away from Bing, broke it.

Q. The real name, please, of crooner Johnny Desmond.— J. Blaher, St. Louis, Mo.

A. Giovanni Alfredo de Simone.

Q. Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Peter Lawford—in what branch of the armed forces were these three in World War II?—T.R., Chicago, Ill.

A. None was in any branch of the armed forces.

YOUTH FITNESS

As U. S. schools open, the President's top authority blasts our 'flabby' youth – and offers a solution

by BUD WILKINSON

Director of the President's Council on Youth Fitness

WASHINGTON, D. C.

AMERICA'S SCHOOL CHILDREN, bright-eyed and flush-cheeked, will head back to their classes this month. In most cases, thanks to medical care, they will be in good health.

But how fit are they? Do they have the vigor and vitality to enjoy their youth, to stand up to competition, to get the most out of their lessons? Are they as fit, say, as the Russians who will challenge them in the years to come?

Since our survival as a nation may well depend on the answers, I shall be blunt. At least six out of every 10 school children have flabby muscles, poor posture and flagging stamina.

They would fail simple physical tests that American boys and girls of a generation ago could have passed with ease. Worse, the trend indicates that our youth of tomorrow will be even less fit than today's.

To begin to reverse this trend, the President's Council on Youth Fitness has prepared a simple program for the schools. We have no power, of course, to tell school boards, parents or teachers what to do. Nor do we seek such power. Our role is merely to explain the reasons why, as a nation, we must be more fit than we are and what we must do to overcome our softness.

How did we become soft? We are the victims of our own advancement. In the old days, our cars had to be cranked and wrestled into parking spaces. Now they have self-starters, push-button windows, fingertip steering. We have gadgets to wash our dishes, to dispose of our garbage, even to switch TV programs without leaving our easy chairs.

Parents Can Contribute

Television also has drawn our children away from physical activity and planted them in rapt immobility in front of the screen. The average youngster probably spends about six hours watching TV for every one hour of vigorous activity. Parents can make an important contribution to the fitness of their children by limiting TV time to 90 minutes a day.

Children not only sit too much; they also walk too little. They have made chauffeurs of their parents. Our cities have been taken over by automobiles, making it dangerous for youngsters to walk or bicycle. The vacant lot is also becoming a thing of the past, leaving less space for children to play.

One of the most significant statistics of our time is that stadium seats are being built four inches wider.

The increase in our luxuries and laziness has brought some disturbing results:

- In Hannibal, Mo., the same physical achievement tests were given first-grade students for five consecutive years. In 1955, 52 per cent failed. By the fifth year, the percentage had risen to 70.
- University tests show that incoming freshmen are progressively poorer in physical achievement. At Yale 58 per cent of the freshmen passed their physical tests in 1950; only 38 per cent passed last year.
- The Army has had to reduce the norms for its physical tests, because performance in the mid 50s was so much lower than the scores made during World War II.
- A series of tests in eastern cities compared active ladies – all 75 or older and living in rest homes – with local high school girls. The old women scored higher than the young girls!

A Climb to the Top

I shall always remember what a friend once told me about climbing a mountain with his father. When they paused just short of the peak, their muscles aching and wind spent, my friend hoped fiercely that his father would announce they were turning back. Instead his father told him: "You're thirsty, you're hungry, you're tired and you're afraid. You want to quit. Now let's climb to the top." They did.

There will be many stresses for us as a nation in the months ahead. Whether we turn back or surge to the top will depend upon our fitness and determination. It is a fact noted by historian Arnold Toynbee that 19 of the 21 notable civilizations perished not from conquest from without but from decay within. National "softness" could prove in the long run to be more deadly than missiles.

The Soviet Union in its struggle to catch up with us has caught the pioneering spirit of America 100 years ago. The Russians are displaying the vigor, sacrifice and work that made us great. This gives the people, especially the young, their tremendous sense of urgency and drive. No free man can admire the Soviet system with its enforced drills and other regimentation. Yet we should be dangerously wrong not to recognize that the system has its strengths. One of these strengths, perhaps the greatest of all, is the fitness of Russian youth.

This is part of the urgency behind the President's new call for national fitness. We are not advocating a muscle-cult; nobody wants a nation of gladiators. The basic motive, in Mr. Kennedy's own words, is to make the nation's youth "fit to learn, fit to understand, fit to grow in grace and stature, fit to fully live."

Our beginning program, developed in cooperation with 19 professional and educational organizations, is neither costly nor elaborate. It is calculated to encourage maximum participation with minimum equipment. In fact, it requires little more than a chinning bar. But it does require that physically "soft" children be identified early and encouraged in the training they need. Here are the steps we recommend:

The President's Council urges all schools to test their children for physical fitness, much as the school doctors now check on general health. This can be done by testing each child's strength, flexibility and agility. Those who are under-developed should be given remedial exercises until they meet fitness levels. (See column on opposite page.)

Those who meet the minimum standards should go on to more advanced tests. They should be marked just as they would be in reading, writing and arithmetic. And their parents should be kept informed of their physical progress.

A Testing Program

In addition, all children, boys and girls, should be required to take part in 15 minutes of vigorous activity each day as part of the physical education period – or during recess.

Finally phys-ed should be based on a comprehensive testing program. The test should be given when school begins and again at the end of the semester.

The Oklahoma football team, of which I am coach, opens the season against Notre Dame. Our fans hope we will be better than Notre Dame. But that's not what I'm hoping at all. I want our team to be as good as it possibly can. We hope to develop all our capacities to the fullest possible degree.

Our nation is like a football team with outstanding material. We can be only as good as we desire to be. For survival we must want to be the best in every area of life.

Test your child's physical fitness

Here are simple rules to help you test your child's physical fitness. Only equipment needed: a chinning bar.

I suggest you clip this out, keep it handy, use it to measure your child's progress.

STRENGTH

Boys should hang from the bar, feet off the ground, then pull themselves up to a chinning position. (Ages 10-13 one pull-up; 14-15 two pull-ups; 16-17 three pull-ups.) Girls should grasp bar, lean back until arms are fully extended, then with heels braced on the floor, pull themselves to bar. Girls of all ages should be able to do this eight times.

FLEXIBILITY

AGILITY

From a position of attention, youngsters should drop to the floor face down, thrust legs back to put body in a push-up position, then pull in legs, jump back to attention. Boys should be able to do this four times, girls three times in 10 seconds.

IF YOUR CHILD FAILS these simple tests, he is under-developed and needs special training. If he passes the tests, he should go on to a seven-point program of sit-ups, pull-ups, shuttle-runs, standing broad jump, softball throwing for distance, 50-yard dash and 600-yard run-and-walk.

All these exercises are described and illustrated in a special book the President's Council on Youth Fitness has prepared for schools. We have mailed a free copy to every school in the nation. Parents and teachers who wish extra copies should write to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C., for the booklet, Youth Physical Fitness, Suggested Elements of a School-Centered Program. Price: 40 cents.

The title may be something of a jawbreaker. But the booklet will help you make your children happy, healthy citizens with the stamina to face the Soaring Sixties.

Virginia Pine, shown with Raft in 1934, was one of many beauties he attracted.

GEORGE RAFT

The women in his life

Raft on set of The George Raft Story meets two of the film's stars—Barbara Nichols (right), who plays Texas Guinan, and Jayne Mansfield, who may or may not represent Betty Grable.

by LLOYD SHEARER

HOLLYWOOD.

GEORGE RAFT is 65.

In his time from 10 to 1,000 women have traipsed across the stage of his life.

While this subject is close to Raft's heart, he does not particularly care to discuss it for public consumption, largely because the actor has been married to one woman for approximately 35 years—almost as long as they've been separated.

Mrs. Raft, or more accurately, Mrs. Ranft — George dropped the "n" when he came to Hollywood. —is the former Grace Mulrooney of New York City.

"She was a clerk on Randall's Island off Manhattan when I met her," Raft admits, "and we later went down to Wilkes Barre, Pa., and got married. It just didn't take, and we separated. I came out to Hollywood and Grace stayed in New York. She's a religious woman, and since her religion forbids divorce, I just never could get my freedom to marry again."

Naturally, this set of circumstances aroused a repetitive frustration in Raft's rather hectic love life.

At one period here in the 1930s, Raft and the late Carole Lombard were extremely fond of each other. When George was unable to engineer the trip to the altar, Miss Lombard switched to an up-and-coming young actor, Clark Gable.

Raft then fell in love with Betty Grable. Spurred on by an anxious mother, Betty campaigned for marriage. George tried to work it out but couldn't. Betty dropped him, later married Harry James.

Over and over the pattern repeated itself with many of the single women who found Raft attractive and vice versa. And there were dozens of these, because after Raft starred with Paul Muni in Scarface in 1933, women of all types found him intriguing. There were Norma Shearer, Molly O'Day, Texas Guinan, Virginia Pine; the list is lengthy.

Raft has acted in some 100 films opposite 200 actresses, and he makes friends easily, especially with members of the opposite sex. He is pleasant, understanding and probably the "easiest touch" in town.

His film career spans 30 years in which he's earned $10 million, and by his own estimate he's given away at least a million in unrepaid loans. Predatory females long ago made him a target for plunder.

The reason the women in Raft's life are being discussed in Hollywood at the moment is that Allied Artists is currently filming The George Raft Story.

Knew the Mobsters

The film explores the star's personal life when he was a fringe member of the New York gangster mobs of the Roaring Twenties, the Prohibition era of rum-running, hijacking, Dutch Schultz and Legs Diamond.

Raft, who was paid $25,000 for his story and a fat percentage of the picture's profits, is portrayed in the film by Ray Danton.

The women in Raft's life are played by Jayne Mansfield, Barbara Nichols, Julie London, Margo Moore and dancer Barrie Chase. With the exception of Barbara Nichols, who plays Texas Guinan, none of these girls is specifically identified, so that a guessing game is now in progress in Hollywood.

Semi-fictional Plot

Jayne Mansfield says, "I believe I'm playing Betty Grable." Julie London thinks she's depicting ex-actress Virginia Pine, who dropped Raft for marriage to writer Quentin Reynolds.

As for Raft, he cagily says, "I don't know who's playing who. The truth of the matter is that this movie is semi-fictional.

"Parts of it are true, and parts of it are fiction. The parts concerning the dames," he adds, "are fictional. They've got to be for two reasons: one, I'm not the kind of guy who kisses and tells no matter how much the dough, and two, if we were going to use real identifiable people, we'd have to pay them clearance fees for invading their privacy, and those dames would probably want millions."

Regardless of Raft's assertion that the guessing game concerning his on-screen and off-screen love life is ridiculous, it still goes on here. The film colony, always interested in gossip, finds it amusing. And besides, picture-making this summer has been slow, awfully slow. ■

Parade's special INTELLIGENCE REPORT

DANGER YEARS. West German life insurance companies have thoroughly researched heart failure, the largest single cause of sudden death among West German business executives. Their findings: "Manager's disease," which is what heart failure is called there, is most likely to strike men between the ages of 55 and 59 . . . on a Monday . . . in the first week of January. Most probable victims: men who drink heavily.

ANIMAL CAMOUFLAGE. TV fans who have watched wolves attack horses and other animals in various video series may want to know how it's done. Answer: dogs are brushed with gray matter or sprayed with gray paint to make them look like wolves. A dummy dog is used on a trained rearing horse to simulate a wolf attacking a horse's throat. Under no circumstances are live dogs permitted to make contact with the horse. In all films involving animals, an inspector from the American Humane Association is usually on hand.

SEX AND TEENAGERS. From whom does your teenaged son or daughter gather sex knowledge? A poll of New York City teenagers by the American Social Health Association reveals that 64 per cent learned the facts of life from other youngsters, 21 per cent from parents or adults, 13 per cent from books or educational sources.

PANAMA AND U.S. AID. Roberto Chiari, President of Panama and a good friend of the U.S., is threatening to resign unless he gets $20 million in U.S. economic aid to finance low-cost housing. Chiari is one of the strongest anti-Castro friends we have in Latin America. Every government south of the border wants in on our handout act.

President Chiari of Panama—he wants more money from U.S.

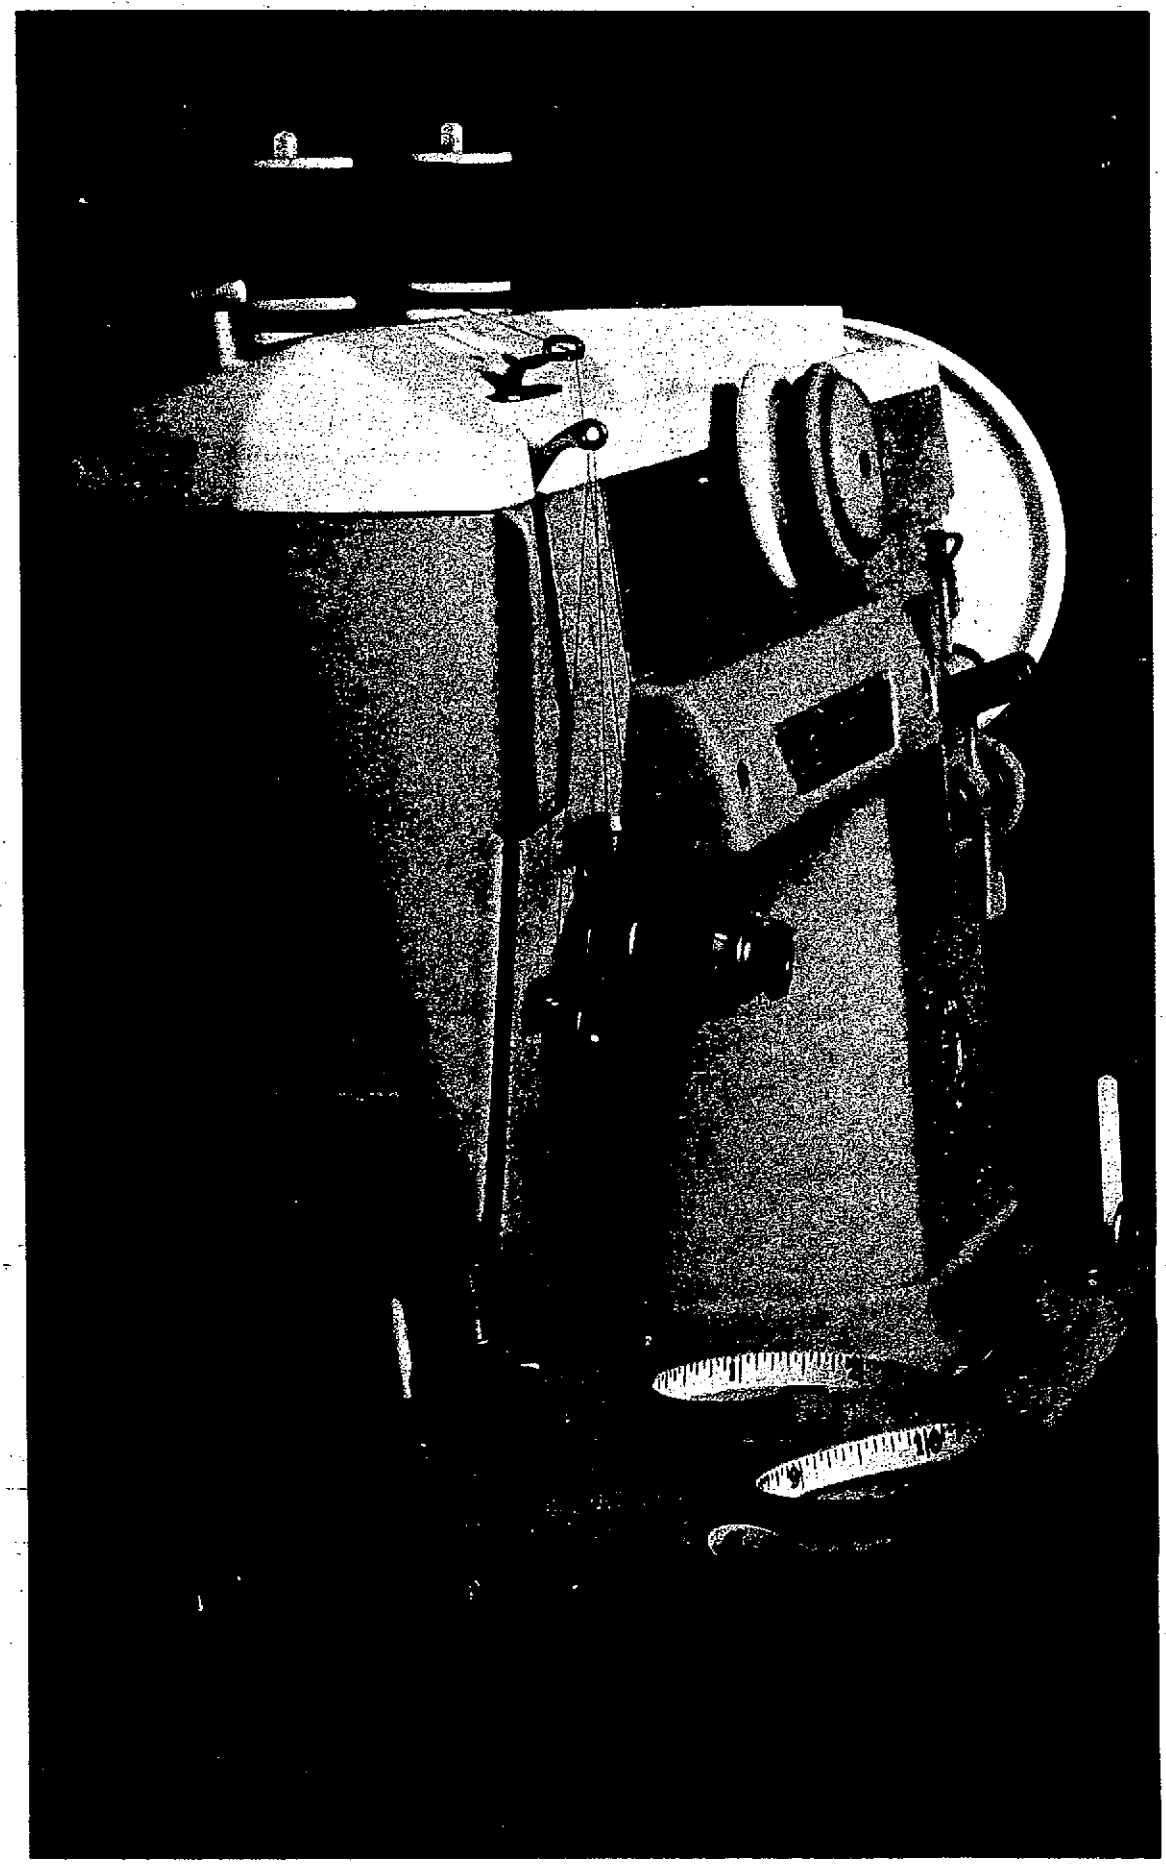

SELF-SERVICE DEPARTMENT STORES. The department store of tomorrow will become an automated shopping center or a nearly complete self-service operation. Montgomery Ward is converting three of its retail stores to experimental self-service operations with check-out lines, and so is the May Company chain.

TV DOCTORS. Tired of TV Westerns and private eye programs? This fall the networks are introducing two television physicians, Dr. Ben Casey, a young resident in neuro-surgery on ABC, and Dr. Kildare on NBC. If both these fictional doctors catch on, you can be sure CBS will eventually come up with a video surgeon of its own.

U.S.-FRENCH DIFFERENCES. The U.S. believes we can maintain the friendship of the North African Arabs by giving up our air bases in Morocco, which we intend to do by 1963. The French disagree, which is why they are fighting to hold on to their naval bases in Bizerte, Tunisia, and Mers el-Kebir in Algeria. Another reason de Gaulle is holding on is that during the recent "Generals' uprising" in North Africa, his Navy remained unswervingly loyal to him. He feels that to strip his Navy of its two largest North African naval bases might cost him its support, both political and naval. The French situation is a mess.

TAKE-OFF SITES FOR MOON. The Defense Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are looking for possible launch sites for moon vehicles. Areas already inspected include sites near Brownsville, Tex., Albuquerque, N. M., Santa Maria, Calif., and one of the Hawaiian Islands

A NICKNAME. President Kennedy's new official car, a custom-built Lincoln Continental, hasn't got a nickname yet, but it will probably be "Gigi" – because of the car's license plates: GG-100. Gigi will be the successor to Eisenhower's famous "Bubble Top." The new car is also one of the world's longest. It's 253.7 inches long. A standard Lincoln Continental was literally cut in half to make a special center section welded into the new car.

A luscious dessert for parties

by BETH MERRIMAN

Parade food editor

There are so many occasions when a new and delightful dessert is all that is needed to make the party a resounding success. It might be an after dinner dessert-and-coffee party. It might be a company dinner. Or an evening card party, with late refreshments for eight to 12 players. To lighten your work load, it is always easier to have a dessert that can be made a day ahead. Pineapple-Walnut Dessert is the answer. It is simple to make, but does take a little more time than usual. However, we are sure that you will find it well worth the trouble.

Pineapple-Walnut Dessert

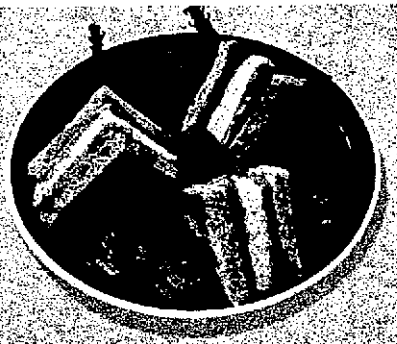

1 pkg. (7½ oz.) vanilla wafers
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup extra-fine granulated sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups well-drained grated pineapple
1 cup finely-chopped walnuts

Crush vanilla wafers to fine crumbs (makes about 2 cups); reserve 2 tablespoons. Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise; add sugar gradually while continuing to cream. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla; mix well. Combine pineapple and walnuts; stir in until well mixed. Line a loaf pan 8" x 5" x 3" with foil, leaving overhang so loaf can be lifted out easily. Press ½ cup crumbs on bottom of pan. Add about ¼ pineapple mixture, spreading evenly. Repeat until crumbs and pineapple mixture are used up, ending with latter. Scatter reserved crumbs on top. Chill 24 hours or longer (or freeze). Garnish with whipped cream and Maraschino cherries, if desired. Slice to serve. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

FROM PARADE'S TEST KITCHEN

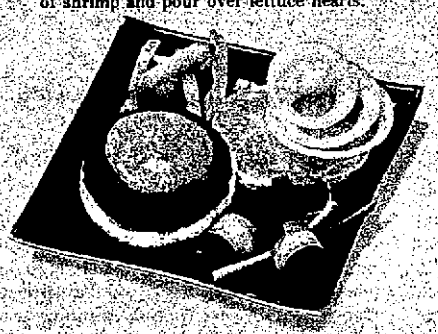

Here's a salad so saucy, it'll become a favorite. Start with a flavorful Russian Dressing made with equal parts creamy Best Foods Real Mayonnaise and zesty Heinz Ketchup. Add lots of shrimp and pour over lettuce hearts.

Flavor two stories high! First story: shredded carrot and chopped green peppers moistened with Russian Dressing. Second story: creamy peanut butter with crisp lettuce. For extra interest, use 2 or 3 kinds of bread. So gay!

Enjoy glamour for lunch! Blend mashed avocado, minced onion and a few drops of tangy vinegar with 1 part Heinz Ketchup and 2 parts Best Foods Real Mayonnaise. Serve in a circle of tomato wedges or grapefruit sections.

For a regal lunch, crown a cooked hamburger with this mixture: 4 parts Best Foods Real Mayonnaise and 1 part Heinz Chili Sauce. Broil . . . and be ready with "seconds." Delicious, too, on leftover chicken, roast beef and such.

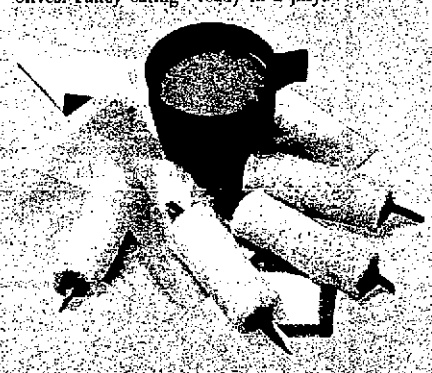

Friends drop by? Turn out tuna straight from the can. Serve it with a tangy blend of 1 Tbsp. Heinz Chili Sauce, 4 Tbsp. creamy Best Foods Mayonnaise, grated onion and chopped ripe olives. Fancy eating—ready in a jiffy.

This sandwich is pure fun! Pile hot chunked franks and baked beans into frankfurter rolls. Spoon over a satiny-smooth Russian Dressing that tastes as only Heinz and Best Foods make it . . . scrumptious!

This cole slaw's almost a lunch in itself. Blend together 1 Tbsp. each Heinz Hot Ketchup and Best Foods Mayonnaise. Toss with 1 cup shredded cabbage, ¼ cup cottage cheese, a little chopped green pepper and minced onion.

A new twist on cheese. Mix ¼ cup each Best Foods Mayonnaise, Heinz Ketchup and chopped pickle with ¼ lb. grated American cheese. Makes 6 tasty rolled sandwiches. Save the extras for your lunch.

Nourishing . . . and so nice to find in any lunchbox! To stuff 2 hard-cooked eggs, just mash egg yolks and crisp bacon. Mix with 1 Tbsp. Best Foods Real Mayonnaise and 2 tsp. Heinz Ketchup. Fill the egg whites. M-m-m-m-m-m!

how to make ho-hum lunches into yum-yum lunches

—just add color 'n spice and everything nice

See! It's as easy as flipping the lids—when you choose such flavorful teammates as Heinz and Best Foods.

Start with Best Foods® Real Mayonnaise, the one mayonnaise you know is always light and creamy . . . always smooth and fresh in flavor. Blend it with the world's favorite tomato flavor—rich, rosy Heinz® Ketchup, Hot Ketchup or Chili Sauce. (By the way, you can use chili sauce or either of the ketchups in any of the recipes, depending on your mood.)

Whether it's a tote-along lunch or an at-home spread, you'll send your family back to their day with a new burst of enthusiasm.

TOURISTS IN TAHITI

TAHITI.

THE NAME OF THIS lush South Pacific island has long been synonymous with adventure and romance. The very mention of Tahiti has always been enough to cause people to stop what they're doing and conjure up technicolor images of an unspoiled tropical paradise immortalized on the canvases of the famous French painter Paul Gauguin. Gauguin would scarcely recognize his island now. Modern transportation, including a jet airport just completed, has brought hordes of tourists. As pictures here show, tourism has come to stay. ■

THE PRIZE-FIGHTER staggered back to his corner after taking a terrific beating for seven rounds. His manager whispered in his ear, "Don't give up now, boy. You've got a no-hitter going."

A PROSPECTIVE JUROR was being examined for jury duty. Trying to get out of it, he gave the following excuse: "I owe a fella $25 that I borrowed from him, and he's leaving town today, for good. I wanna catch him before he gets on the train and pay him the money." The judge rapped his gavel and said, "Excused! I don't want anybody on a jury who can lie like that!"

MOTHER DISCOVERED her little girl, Janie, fighting with the boy next door. After breaking up the fight she said to Janie, "I don't want you fighting. After all, remember you're a lady. Outtalk him!"

A REAL ESTATE FIRM placed the "Open House" sign on an expensive home. A battered old car, crammed with kids and adults, drove up and stopped. Everybody except a little old lady piled out and went in to inspect the house. The real estate agent doubted that the people were really in the market for such an expensive home. But he went out to the car and said to the little old lady, "Wouldn't you like to come in and see the house, too?" The lady replied, "No thanks. I don't have to go to the bathroom."

I'M TOLD THIS actually happened, and it could happen to you. Especially if you have little tots in your family.

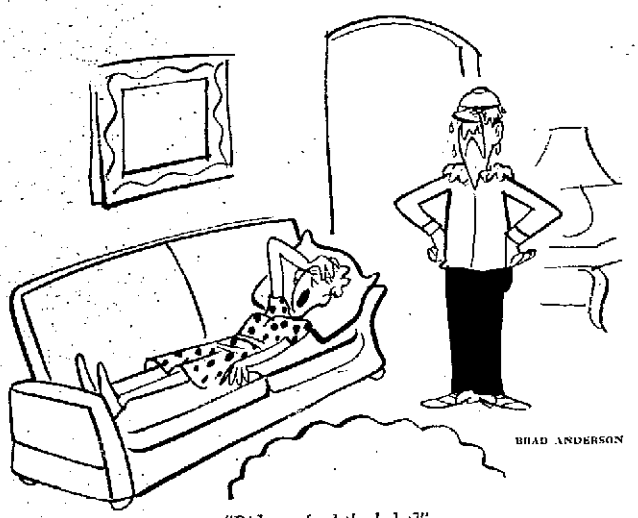

Seems a housewife-mother had been working up a storm since early morning, and come afternoon she was dog-tired. She flopped down on the sofa to take a short nap. As she sank into slumber, she was vaguely conscious of tiny hands lovingly patting her face. Sleepily, she enjoyed the show of affection. Some time later, the doorbell awakened her. She jumped up and raced to the door.

As she told the salesman she didn't want any, she noticed he stared at her as if he couldn't believe his eyes. On her way back to the sofa she glanced in a mirror, and what did she see? Her face, liberally plastered with green stamps!

AT A COUNTY FAIR a strong man was showing off his strength. He squeezed a lemon dry, then offered a prize to anyone who could get another drop of juice from it. Nobody tried till finally one meek little man in front said he thought he could do it. He took the lemon, squeezed it and juice just poured out of it. The strong man said, "That's amazing!" The little man shrugged and said, "Not really. I work for the Internal Revenue department."

TEACHER, trying to impress the class with the fundamentals of the Declaration of Independence, finally chose one boy and gave him three buttons. He explained, "These three buttons represent Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. Tomorrow you bring them back and tell me what they stand for." Next day the boy produced two buttons. The teacher asked, "How come?" The boy replied, "This one's Life. That one's Liberty. But the Pursuit of Happiness is holding up my pants."

INSURANCE MAN to the lady prospect —"What is the maximum value of your husband's policy?" The lady didn't understand the question. He said, "If your husband passed away, what would you get?" She replied, "A parakeet!"

LORY PATRICK PLAYS TEACHER ON 'WELLS FARGO'

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Lory Claims TV Needs Girl 'Lone Ranger'

Television will have a feminine "Lone Ranger" if actress Lory Patrick has her way.

Which, at present, she is not exactly having.

But she's coming close.

"At least and at last, I'm in a western."

The western is NBC-TV's "Tales of Wells Fargo" which makes its fall hourly debut 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 30.

Lory plays the steady role of Tina, a schoolteacher.

Unfortunately, this particular western schoolteacher hasn't yet done any TV horseback riding.

"It's very frustrating," said 22-year-old Lory. "I love horses.

"In fact, I get up 5 a.m. twice a week to go horseback riding — I ride very hard."

* * * *

TO MINIMIZE her galloping frustration, Lory currently is attempting to write a series about a feminine "Lone Ranger."

The heroine, while she was chastising the bad guys, would be dressed as a man.

The male masquerade would end when day's chastising duty was done. Off would come the 10-gallon hat and down would come the hair.

Like a caterpillar breaking out of its cocoon, the female "Lone Ranger" would emerge as a "charming, all-feminine woman." She would have several beaus.

"It would be a new twist," said Lory. "I think people would go for something different."

If the series was sold and the author obtained the lead role, the costume department undoubtedly would have difficulty in its "something different" male-masquerade outfiting assignment.

For pulchritude-packing Lory tips the tape measure at a bountiful 35-21-35. Even if the camouflage was successful, it would be a failure from a male viewer's point of view.

* * * *

AND SPEAKING of failing Lory claims television is letting women down.

There should, for example

MARY T. MOORE FACES NEW TV CAREER

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Voice of Phone-Girl 'Sam'—and Rest of Her—in Comedy

By RON BURTON

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mary Tyler Moore will have something of a coming out party this fall when her face instead of just her figure will be seen in a new TV series.

Pretty Miss Moore played Sam, the telephone answering service girl, in the "Richard Diamond" private-eye series. Viewers noted her low voice, low-cut attire and long, long legs, but her face never was seen and her name was not disclosed.

Now she'll perform with Dick Van Dyke in his new TV show which may look like a comedians' convention before the season is over. It premieres Oct. 3 on channel 2.

"I was happy about Sam," she said. "For one thing, there was protection in anonymity and I was just starting. It was good experience. I had to lower my voice—do everything to suggest sex."

IN BETWEEN SAM and the new series she has played about 50 TV roles, but the new series represents her first real chance for the identification and reputation building which goes with a series—and which she wants.

"This is hardly a straight part," she said. "We have nothing but comedians in the show. Dick, Morey Amsterdam and Rosemarie play comedy writers. I play Dick's wife and get funny lines. Larry Mathews—he's 5—plays our son and gets funny lines.

"And Carl Reiner, who produces the show, sometimes walks by and says something which breaks up everyone. Danny Thomas—he's behind the show—does the same thing."

IDEAS FOR THE SHOW come from anywhere and everywhere. Miss Moore expects to see a new script any day now with an idea sounding suspiciously like something from her home life—something she just happened to mention to someone in the show. She has learned to be more careful in casual conversations about her home life with husband Richard Meeker and their son, Richie, 5.

Miss Moore is delighted with the non-canned laughter on the show. It's done by actual audiences—the trade term is "live audience"—who stroll into a CBS studio, watch the show and react. Sometimes their reactions result in changes in the final show.

There's something else that makes her happy.

"When I was Sam, I had to keep my voice low—way down here," she said. "I began to feel like a baritone. Now I can use my normal speaking voice. It feels wonderful."

Add 'TeleVues' Prize

A third prize has been added for entrants in the "Why I Like TeleVues" contest.

The third-prize winner will have his choice of four tickets for a Dinah Shore NBC-TV special on Oct. 6 or a Bob Newhardt program at a later date.

Deadline for entries is Sept. 23 and the winner will be announced Oct. 1.

THE FIRST-PRIZE winner will receive $25.

The second-place winner will be conducted on a tour at Warner Bros. studios with a guest. The paid will have lunch in the studio commissary with TV star Donald May, featured on ABC-TV's "The Roaring 20's."

Entrants are asked to keep their letters to 100 words or less. Letters should be addressed to "TeleVues, care of Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif."

Law Student

"Perry Mason" will have an eager young law student in his video office when the TV series starts its fifth season

Blind Cartoonist 'Sees' With Chalk

Every time cartoonist Susie Nelson picks up her chalk, it's a lesson in genuine courage—because Susie is blind.

You'd never know it to see her in action, because she's a symphony of motion and happy chatter as she sketches her funny little people and animals during "Sheriff John's Lunch Brigade" on KTTV, Channel 11.

Her blindness began when she was 14 years old and living in Germany. An eye inflammation was diagnosed wrong and treated incorrectly. Since then she has been completely blind in one eye and has only a shadowy kind of vision in the other.

But no one has a better time than Susie. She is a devoted mother to her four children—Dan, 16, Fern, 10, Bonnie, 9, and Don, 8.

* * * *

DAN IS THE SON of Susie's first husband, killed in his homeland during World War II. During the occupation of Germany, Susie met Duane Nelson, then with the U. S. Army. Duane later sponsored her trip to America and soon after she became his bride.

Now an American citizen, Susie "knows about war," and she says:

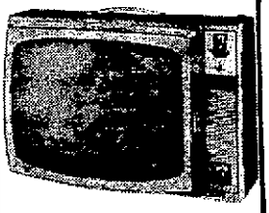

"I know we must have understanding and tolerance in this world."

Susie promotes her philosophy in "chalk talks" which she gives for various organizations and in the lively drawings she does Monday, Wednesday and Friday on Sheriff John Rovick's TV show.

Q. & A. on Your TV REPAIRS

Q Does the TV Repairman check your set thoroughly the first time?

A Our TV technicians take time to do the job right. Repeat calls are extremely rare.

Q Are you treated with courtesy?

A Old fashioned courtesy has never gone out of style with us.

Q How about the service fee?

A We have a reputation for honest prices. Try us and see.

Q Do you get the best replacement tubes?

A Quality of Tubes is important as the quality of service . . . see our recommendation.

■ Consider this—we offer you the very same picture tube that 7 out of 10 leading manufacturers choose for their own new sets. It's the Sylvania Silver Screen 85 Picture Tube. We also carry small Sylvania receiving tubes for the back of your set.

Florence Bush Make Curly Heads Bald, Vice Versa

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The name, Florence Bush, may have a familiar look. It should, for television viewers anyway, because it is the woman's name appearing most frequently on the home screens.

Miss Bush is in charge of the hairdressing department of Revue Studios, the busiest lot in Hollywood where right now 15 different TV series and a couple of movies are being made. Her name appears as "Hair Stylist" among the credits on all the shows made there, from "Hitchcock Presents" to "Wagon Train."

MERRY ANDERS
Needed Help

Although occasionally Miss Bush is called upon to create a special or unusual hairdo for a glamorous star, her principal job is to costume the heads of the casts.

The day I visited her at the studio, I found her in the wig vault — a big, air-conditioned room where a huge collection of wigs, falls, switches, toupees and bald pates worth more than $100,000 is stored.

She was systematically rummaging through a big pile of black wigs, occasionally discarding a hair piece.

* * * *

"WE JUST GOT an order from 'Wagon Train' for Indians," she explained. "Any of these wigs is okay as long as the hair is black and shiny —the Indians are Shoshones. If they had been Piutes or Navajos, we wouldn't give them shiny hair."

As we entered Miss Bush's private domain, she cast an appraising eye on a butch-cut wig pinned to a faceless dummy head.

"That's for Bob Cumming's stand-in," she said. "We don't very often tell a star what to do with his hair — or her hair. Once in a while we suggest that they modify their hair because anything too radical or too faddy might date a show. If a girl wanted to use one of those bouffant beehive hairdos, for instance, we wouldn't allow it."

MOST OF THE WORK of the hairdressing department involves following orders from the producer of each show. But it is Miss Bush's responsibility to see that the result photographs well.

When Sebastian Cabot, who has worn a beard for years, was getting set for his professional role in "Checkmate" last year, Miss Bush presided over the first trimming.

"We didn't want his face to look too round, so I trimmed it close at the sides," she explained.

That apparently casual straying forelock on the head of scout Flint McCullough of "Wagon Train" is another Bush innovation.

"Bob Horton looked too clean and well-combed for a wagon-train scout," she explained. "So I suggested he dirty himself up a little and pull down a lock of hair on his forehead. He knows how to do that himself."

* * * *

MISS BUSH HERSELF is a tall, handsome and white-haired woman who was a successful Chicago hairdresser before she came to California 20 years ago. She had lost both her husband and her mother within a few months and came West to get away from unhappy memories and went to work in the movie studios. When she joined the Revue staff nine years ago she was a one-woman department. Now she has a large staff, including 15 girls whose jobs are just fitting wigs.

All the wigs are made from real hair, some of it many years old. Currently most good hair — which is costly — comes from Germany; in the pre-war days it came from Czechoslovakia. Between uses it is stored with the care given to expensive furs (and protected against moths as well as extremes of heat and cold) and carefully washed with soap and water.

It takes only a few minutes to transform a girl with a page-boy cut into Lady Godiva or Marie Antoinette. But turning a man with a full head of hair into a baldie is a bigger, longer job.

"There was one show in which Beaver was supposed to have cut his own hair," she said. "We made a rubber cap for little Jerry Mathers—that's what you use for bald pates — and then pasted clusters of hair onto it, so it looked gouged."

ANOTHER time-consuming job recently was making a wig concealing the fact that actress Merry Anders had bobbed her hair between the making of a show and an unexpected call back to shoot some retakes.

Most actors whose balding heads require reinforcements with toupees, own their own and know how to put them on so well that few realize they wear them. So do characters — Henry Hull for instance, has a bald pate which he puts on himself when he is to play an old man. (Many actresses, Miss Bush says, are thin-haired and wear wigs, a secret each attempts to guard with her life.)

The average person's hair grows half an inch a month, and it takes a lot of attention to keep heads of hair looking the same all the time.

Some performers must have their hair dyed weekly and curled daily. Others must have their hair straightened just as often — a process which is just the reverse of a permanent wave.

Traffic Death Toll Mounts at 4 an Hour

Holiday Rate Follows Advance Estimate Trend

By United Press-International

The nation's Labor Day weekend traffic toll topped the 100 mark Saturday night with Americans continuing to kill themselves on the highways at the rate of about four an hour.

Gen. George C. Stewart, executive vice president of the National Safety Council, said the death rate was "tragically following the trend" of the advance estimate of 420 deaths, 90 more than in a similar non-holiday period of September.

* * * *

STEWART said it looked "as of now" that the fears of 420 deaths during the 78-hour holiday would be realized.

At 12:30 a.m., EDT, more than 30 hours after the holiday began, United Press International counted 134 deaths in traffic accidents.

The breakdown:

Traffic 134; drownings 21; boating 2; planes 1; miscellaneous 15; total 173.

Virginia led the nation with 10 traffic fatalities, followed by North Carolina with nine and Pennsylvania with eight. West Virginia, Michigan, Ohio, and California had seven. Illinois had six.

A 44-year-old Long Beach woman was injured seriously Saturday when thrown from her car after a collision with another auto at the corner of Artesia Street and Walnut Avenue.

Mrs. Louella Kook, 6764 Walnut Ave., was admitted to Long Beach Memorial Hospital where her condition was described as "very poor" late Saturday. She suffered multiple fractures including a skull fracture.

* * * *

DRIVER OF the second car, Dennis Kir, 57, of 2402 Baltic Ave., was not injured.

Otherwise, police said, the Labor Day weekend traffic situation "was very good." They described the number of accidents as average.

At 10 p.m., Orange County authorities reported 16 accidents during the day and "all mostly fender-benders."

Find Clue to Hit-Run Kill Car

A major clue has been uncovered in the search for a panel truck driver suspected of causing the hit-and-run death of a 15-year-old Long Beach youth, Lakewood sheriff's deputies said Saturday.

Officers indicated that they are close to tracing the truck which struck the boy at Rocket Street and Coldbrook Avenue in Lakewood Aug. 21.

The victim, Burney Kirk Archerd, 791 Via Carmelitos, died Saturday at Memorial Hospital. He had been in a coma for 10 days.

* * * *

FUNERAL arrangements are pending at Rose Garden Mortuary, 638 Atlantic Ave.

After he was hit, the boy hitchhiked to his grandmother's home on Via Carmelitos where he was staying. Two hours later, he was taken to the hospital for minor bruises and a chipped hip bone. While there it was discovered that he had severe brain damage and he underwent surgery.

The youth's grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Mae Archerd, 74, who was his legal guardian, died during the period of grief and anxiety brought on by the boy's hospitalization. His father had died in 1960.

Blast Rips Church

JASPER, Ind. (AP)—A dynamite explosion ripped out part of a wall, splintered pews and blew a hole in the floor of the non-denominational Inman church near Haysville Saturday night.

LIGHTS ON Forgotten Reminder

Californians for the past several weeks have been urged by officials to drive with their car lights on at all times during the Labor Day weekend as a reminder for others to drive safely.

Miss Eleanor LaBeau, 30, 666 Quincy Ave., heeding the safety warning, switched on her lights while driving during daylight Saturday.

At Alamitos Avenue and Seventh Street, a police car pulled alongside her auto.

"Hey, miss," warned a patrolman, "your lights are on!"

D.A. Plane Ripped by Bomb

WIGGINS, Miss. (AP) — A bomb ripped to pieces the private plane of a Mississippi district attorney Saturday while it was parked in a hangar. No one was hurt.

The explosives could have been planted "by any one of a number of persons who want to kill me," commented Dist. Atty. Boyce Holleman. "There is no question that the explosives were planted in the plane," he added.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Eldon Ladner said the blast was centered just back of the cockpit.

* * * *

RESIDENTS of the area told investigators they heard a loud blast about 2 a.m. during thunder and lightning, but no check was made until daylight.

Holleman, whose district includes Stone, Jackson, Hancock and Harrison counties, told friends earlier that he was planning to fly to New York City today to see a baseball game. He spent Friday night at a fishing camp.

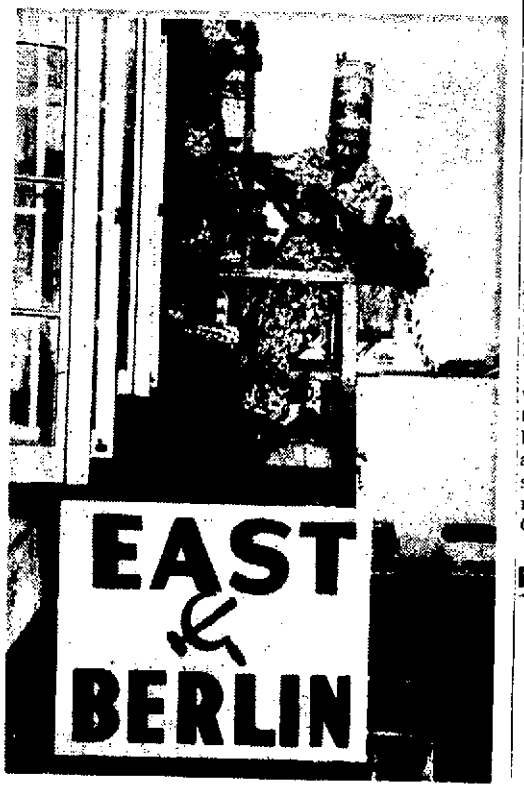

The district attorney said he flew the airplane almost every weekend. The plane was a four-seater Cessna 182 costing $17,000.

101 E. Germans Slip Past Iron Curtain

COBURG, Germany (AP)—Bavarian border police Saturday reported 101 refugees slipped through the Iron Curtain between East and West Germany between Aug. 13, the day the Berlin border was closed, and Aug. 31.

This is double the number that crossed to seek refuge in the West during the same period in July.

U.S. to Seek New Talks on Disarmament

A-War Fears Bring Demands of Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration this week will make the first of several diplomatic moves designed to sound out Russia anew on the possibility of a peaceful Berlin settlement and fresh disarmament negotiations.

The decision has been made to go ahead with the scheduled moves despite the "atomic blackmail" policy of which the United States accuses Russia because of its resumption of nuclear-weapons testing.

* * * *

INITIAL steps now impending could even lead to a summit conference, provided preliminary negotiations produced a basis for agreement.

In related developments Saturday, Russia renewed charges that the Western allies are abusing Berlin air lanes. First reports of new Soviet notes to Washington suggested that Moscow steered clear of threats which would heighten East-West tension.

Diplomats in London, meanwhile, reported that the United States and Britain have decided against rushing into a new series of nuclear weapon tests.

The preliminary moves on disarmament are seen here as the immediate answer to the swelling chorus of demands at the neutral nations' conference in Yugoslavia for top-level U. S.-Soviet talks to save the world from nuclear war.

These are the steps:

1. The U. S. ambassador to Moscow, Llewellyn Thompson, is under direction to have a talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and explore what may be negotiable—if anything at this stage—in the Berlin position of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

2. John J. McCloy, Kennedy's top disarmament adviser, is scheduled to meet

U.S. Berlin Units Get Latest Guns

BERLIN (UPI)—The U.S. Army issued new, fast-firing rifles to its Berlin garrison Saturday while Soviet spaceman Gherman Titov was telling a rally five miles away Russia would destroy the West "for all time" if it tried to block a German peace treaty.

The United States rejected an East German protest against the dispatch of 1,500 army reinforcements to Berlin two weeks ago Sunday. It also shrugged off new East German threats to the Allied air coridors to West Berlin.

* * * *

THE U.S. Army's Berlin command announced it had received the first shipments of the new M14 rifle, which can fire 750 rounds a minute. The rifle is lighter than the familiar M1 Garand, the M2 carbine and the Browning automatic rifle (BAR), all of which will be replaced here.

The Army also began replacing Browning machineguns with M60 machineguns. New tanks were promised to take the place of the present M48 Pattons on duty along the East-West city border. No date was anounced for their arrival.

* * * *

TITOV, his dark-haired and unsmiling wife and goateed Walter Ulbricht, leader of the East German Communists, appeared before 200,000 persons at Marx Engels Platz, the former Lustgarten, to boost East Berlin morale.

In West Berlin Germans who hope some day to return to their homes in the East began a weekend rally with a minimum of Communist sniping. Last year the Communists refused passage to Germans wanting to attend the "Homeland Rally."

Titov told the rally the Soviet bloc "will trample into the ground" any Western attempts to block a treaty.

Titov said:

"We do not want a repitition of the horrors of World War II. We do not want a war. But if the imperialists, because of the signing of a German peace treaty, attempt to hurl the world into the abyss of war, the Soviet people, along with all nations of the Socialist camp, will trample the aggressors into the ground and destroy them for all time."

Titov received subdued applause and cheers.

Kills Self Showing Gun 'Won't Fire'

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Edward August Lostman, 36, St. Louis, casually pointed a pistol toward his head Saturday as he began a lecture to his wife on the reasons why the weapon would not fire.

He snapped the trigger and the .32 caliber pistol discharged, sending a fatal bullet through his right temple.

Ikon Thieves Jailed

MOSCOW (AP)—A Moscow court has imposed prison sentences of up to 12 years on 11 youths convicted of stealing historic ikons for sale to Western tourists.

81 YEARS OF PIONEER ROMANCE

SPRUCE PINE, N.C. (AP) —Mr. and Mrs. William Ledford, who have lived most of their married life in a weather-beaten house on the side of a mountain near here, will celebrate their 81st wedding anniversary next Friday.

Ledford is 101, his wife, Laura Pendley Ledford, is 102.

The couple live alone and like it. Mrs. Ledford does the housework.

They moved to the old home on Gouge's Creek many years ago and were the only settlers in the area. Since then a community has grown up around them and is known, appropriately, as Ledford Town.

Disarm, Article by K Demands

MOSCOW (Sunday) (AP)—Soviet Nikita Khrushchev, in a statement published here Saturday, said agreements on general and complete disarmament "would mean the termination of the nuclear tests which cause mankind so much anxiety."

Khrushchev made the statement in a personally written introduction for a collection of documents on the German question being published in the United States, the official News Agency Tass reported.

The Tass summary of the article did not indicate whether Khrushchev had written it before or after the decision announced Thursday to resume Soviet nuclear weapons tests.

* * * *

HIS REMARKS came at the end of a discussion of the Berlin crisis in which he claimed a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany would pave the way toward a settlement of the problem of general and complete disarmament.

"And a settlement of the disarmament question would mean the termination of the nuclear tests which cause mankind so much anxiety," he added.

JFK Eyes U.N. Talk Peace Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is reported considering laying before the United Nations a new world disarmament program to provide a sharp contrast to Russia's resumption of nuclear testing.

Kennedy has discussed with congressional leaders the possibility that he might appear personally before the United Nations to emphasize and dramatize efforts the United States is exerting for peace. The U.N. General Assembly meets Sept. 19.

Presumably, if he decides to take this course, the disarmament proposal would be accompanied by a presidential recital of some rather detailed information of the weapons in the American nuclear arsenal.

* * * *

LEGISLATIVE leaders briefed at the White House Thursday said they learned the American stockpile is "several times" larger than Russia's.

It contains more sophisticated weapons and small battlefield nuclear warheads the Soviets cannot match. American superiority appeared to have been demonstrated by Russia's small first shot Friday.

Chairman Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., of a Senate disarmament subcommittee, forecast a series of tests — as many as eight in a single day. He said the first test indicated the Russians are trying to perfect warheads for missiles.

Guerneville Blaze Rips 1,000 Acres

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A rash of fires exploded through Northern California Saturday, burning more than a score of homes, forcing hundreds to flee and blackening thousands of acres of brush and timber.

The historic gold rush towns of Sutter Creek and Amador City were threatened Saturday night by a fire eight miles long and four miles wide. The blaze was a half-mile from Sutter Creek.

During the day the fires were aided by high winds, drought conditions and a swarm of Labor Day weekenders. However, one of the worst blazes was set by an arsonist, the State Division of Forestry said.

* * * *

A SPOKESMAN said the incendiary fire was touched off near Guerneville on the Russian River 60 miles north of San Francisco.

It covered more than 1,000 acres by nightfall and burned or damaged two homes and a pair of outbuildings. The spokesman said a large number of vacationers had been evacuated or left the area on their own accord.

Fire fighters said the fire's speed dropped Saturday night with the wind and that no communities were immediately threatened.

A fire near Allendale 50 miles northeast of San Francisco forced the farming community to be evacuated. About 13 homes in the area were burned, but fire fighters said the threat to the community had ended for the present.

* * * *

AT ELMIRA, near Allendale, about a dozen homes were levelled by another uncontrolled fire that at one point crossed a section of Travis Air Force Base.

The largest single fire was reported near Clear Lake in Lake County about 110 miles north of San Francisco Bay. Some 1,500 acres were blackened by the uncontrolled blaze.

Fire fighters contained about 90 per cent of a 150-acre fire that roared toward the densely populated Big Basin area 70 miles south of San Francisco.

L.A.C. Says:
Labor Day and Freedom

The great Labor Day parades in this country will be organized and conducted by free men and free labor unions. It will be a demonstration of the most powerful force in this nation. It will be quite a contrast to similar parades in Communist countries where the unions are government-controlled organizations with no freedom of the individual. But these Americans marching tomorrow may well ask how much longer they can maintain their freedom.

Each year they are seeing these freedoms reduced. In most cases they are being lost because union leaders turn to government for settlement of issues free men have settled in the past. They are being lost because some labor unions are completely controlled by ruthless and unscrupulous men whose power is absolute over the men they misrepresent. As these powers grow, the rank and file members are as subject to dictatorship as are the workers of Communist countries.

An example of how honorable labor unions have let down their guard is the invitation, in New York City of AFL-CIO unions, to Jimmy Hoffa's teamsters to take part in the parade. Hoffa and his union were expelled from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges. He has threatened to invade AFL-CIO other unions to build up an even greater strength. But here he is being appeased by the AFL-CIO in New York City.

The freedom of our economy has long been dependent upon unions and management solving their problems across the conference table. Or the problems may have caused a strike which was finally settled by compromises. But there were no edicts by government that certain terms be agreed to, nor threat to force a settlement by seizure of plants and forced work by the workers.

Now we find unions are joining with government in setting up the Secretary of Labor as the sole arbitrator in the Musicians-Metropolitan Opera dispute. His decision is to be final. This same secretary has proposed that the government have the right to seize plants or whole industries to enforce settlement of a labor-management dispute. Unions may think this will benefit them. But they are laying the foundation for the same kind of domination of industry and workers as that which existed under the Nazis and Fascists, and does exist under Communists.

The great danger to freedom is that a people are willing to sacrifice a little of it to achieve some immediate benefits. After a time, they find they have sacrificed so much of it there is little left. But it has occurred gradually, and many benefits have been achieved. But finally, all of these benefits are lost because a dictatorial government tells all the people where they must work and for how much, and tells management what it can make and how much. Few of the marchers tomorrow will think of these probabilities. But it is a power pattern we must change if American workers and industry is to escape complete regimentation.—L.A.C.

Protest Over NATO Maneuvers Rejected

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Greece Saturday rejected a protest by Communist Bulgaria against NATO maneuvers to be held in the Alexandroupolis area Sept. 14-17.

The Bulgarians charged the maneuvers "can be considered as an immediate preparation for aggression against our country." The area is about 30 miles from the Bulgarian border.

Horse Dealer Ready to Give Up at Last

SPALDING, England (UPI) Sam Freir, 52-year-old horse dealer, says the mechanical age is about to put him out of business. He gives it two years.

Freir makes his living renting out his 42 horses to farmers, but said Saturday, "Mechanical harvesters are taking their place and in two years time I don't think my horses will be needed any more."

Shelters to Shield One in 4

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department hopes to provide radiation fallout shelters stocked with food and water for one fourth of the civilian population by the end of next year. But not much can be done to improve the situation in 1961.

This was the conclusion of Pentagon officials Saturday as Steuart L. Pittman, a Washington lawyer, prepared to take office as the nation's first assistant Secretary of Defense for civil defense.

* * * *

EXCEPT in a few localities where authorities have provided them, fall-out shelters for protection in case of nuclear attack are almost non-existent.

The Pentagon has drawn up a "minimum" program for identifying 50 million shelter spaces, and stocking them with rations and water that could be stretched over two weeks if necessary to protect civilians until the radioactivity died down.

President Kennedy named Pittman to the new post Wednesday but he has not yet been confirmed by the Senate.

* * * *

WITH the Berlin crisis scheduled to come to a head before Jan. 1, his prospective aides said results cannot be expected until next year.

"We hope to have 20 million to 30 million shelter spaces identified and marked by next June, and to increase the total to 50 million by the end of 1962," an official said. "They will be stocked with food, water and medical supplies as rapidly as possible."

The "minimum" program does not contemplate protection against the blast, heat, direct radiation and other immediate effects of a nuclear bomb.

BUT DEFENSE Secretary Robert S. McNamara believes the shelters might save 10 to 15 million lives in a large-scale nuclear attack by protecting them from the residual radioactive fallout which sifts to the ground in the first hours after an explosion.

With an initial appropriation of $58 million available for the purpose, the cost of stocking the shelters is expected to be only $2 per space.

LAWYER WITH A FLOURISH

'King of Torts' Ends Case Here Sans Razzle Dazzle

By LEE CRAIG

Melvin Mouron Belli, the "King of Torts," was back in San Francisco today, his reputation as the country's top personal injury attorney slightly dented by a three-day Long Beach court case.

Belli, the lawyer who had won jury awards of $100,000 and up more than 100 times in the past 10 years, settled out of court for a comparatively conservative $25,000 here Thursday in a $801,830 personal injury case.

The suit here was against the city of Long Beach on behalf of a youth who had suffered permanently disabling injuries in 1957 when he struck submerged concrete while diving from a wooden platform at Marine Stadium.

During the trial's three days, the courtroom was filled with local lawyers anxious to watch the performance of the celebrated attorney.

However, Belli, famous for his unorthodox court behavior, never really cut loose, probably because of the unexpectedly short duration of the trial.

* * * *

BELLI GAINED his fame by cases where he has used demonstrative evidence, or visual aids.

In one such case, he represented a woman who had lost a leg in an accident.

Early in the trial, he brought a leg-shaped package, wrapped in butcher's paper and tied with twine, to court and placed it casually on the table before him.

* * * *

THROUGHOUT the trial, jurors stared with horrified fascination at the package, while Belli blandly went ahead with presentation of his case.

Near the end, he picked up the package, slowly unwrapped it as tension grew and handed what it contained to a pop-eyed juror. It was an artificial leg, such as his client would have to wear for the rest of her life.

The woman received a $100,000 award.

* * * *

IN ANOTHER CASE, he represented a woman who had undergone surgery by a specialist who had promised her "the breast of a virgin" but, she claimed, had mutilated her instead.

MELVIN M. BELLI . . . Package Unopened

She was permitted to disrobe to the waist before the jury in the judge's chambers.

"She stood there, tears dripping down," Belli said. "I figured later they were worth about $30,000 a tear."

* * * *

BELLI, 53, has a flair for flamboyant attire. He is particularly partial to London-tailored suits with button-down cuffs and cowboy-type boots with two-inch heels, which he wore here.

The local settlement was reached by an agreement during recess between Belli and the city's representatives, Deputy City Atty. Leonard Putnam and Clarence Hunt.

It was the second time the San Francisco attorney had come off second-best in a court joust with Hunt, who made the city's presentation.

* * * *

SEVERAL YEARS ago, Hunt and Belli tangled in a Santa Ana case in which the Long Beach lawyer represented the defendant in a personal injury suit.

Hunt's client was a clearly liable participant in a headon traffic crash and expected to make a huge settlement.

However, Hunt obtained a moral victory by ultimately getting an out of court agreement to settle for a relatively small award of $40,000.

* * * *

IF THE LOCAL trial had lasted longer, Belli might have provided the excitement anticipated of him.

In a maneuver reminiscent of his "artificial leg" case, he walked into court here Tuesday with a bundle under his arm.

The package, wrapped in brown paper secured by twine, was shaped roughly like a five-foot human body.

Spectators, opposing attorneys and Superior Judge Joe Raycraft himself, knowing Belli's reputation, eyed the mummy-like bundle with interest, anticipation and trepidation.

They were never to know what it contained.

After the settlement was reached, Belli scooped up the package, still unopened, and disappeared into the elevator with it.

Rayburn's Illness Stirs Successors

By ROBERT E. LEE
L.A.-P-T Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — House Democrats are preparing an alternate leadership team in the likely event that Speaker Sam Rayburn doesn't return to Congress next year.

Rep. John McCormack, D-Mass., longtime Democratic floor leader, already has been elected speaker pro tem for the remainder of the present session with the ailing Rayburn off to Texas. He is expected to carry on in the job next year should Rayburn remain home.

* * * *

IF THAT happens, Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., now the whip, probably will be elected majority leader pro tem.

The election of McCormack by his colleagues next year would be a purely stopgap measure designed to promote party discipline and unity and postpone a knockdown fight over the choice of a permanent party leader in the House.

McCormack isn't particularly popular with many House Democrats and has had numerous squabbles with President Kennedy over the years. House Democrats say he hasn't a ghost of a chance to wind up with Rayburn's job permanently.

However, the present inclination of his colleagues is to reward his years of "faithful, dogged service," as one senior congressman put it.

* * * *

THE HOPE is that the inevitable fight over selection of a younger man will be submerged next year as the party seeks to match the Senate Democrats in ratification of administration legislative programs.

Rayburn, who is 79, and McCormack, 69, frequently have been criticized by many of their younger and more liberal colleagues for not applying more force to obtain passage of bills backed by the liberal bloc.

It was this annoyance which produced the creation of a formal liberal caucus of about 100 House Democrats six years ago. The caucus was influential in getting Rayburn to agree to the administration plan to pack the powerful Rules Committee with extra liberal members this year.

If Rayburn decides his health won't permit him to set through next year's congressional session, and if the present plan for a McCormack interregnum is followed, there nonetheless will be plenty of maneuvering for position among those ambitious to succeed to the speaker's chair.

* * * *

REP. RICHARD Bolling, D-Mo., 45, widely-respected and a protege of Rayburn, long has been considered as the man in the best position to get the job. He has done yeoman service for the White House this year as a member of the Rules Committee.

Also high on the list of possibilities is Rep. Hale Boggs, La., 47, a Southern liberal of great charm and ability who serves on the important Ways and Means Committee.

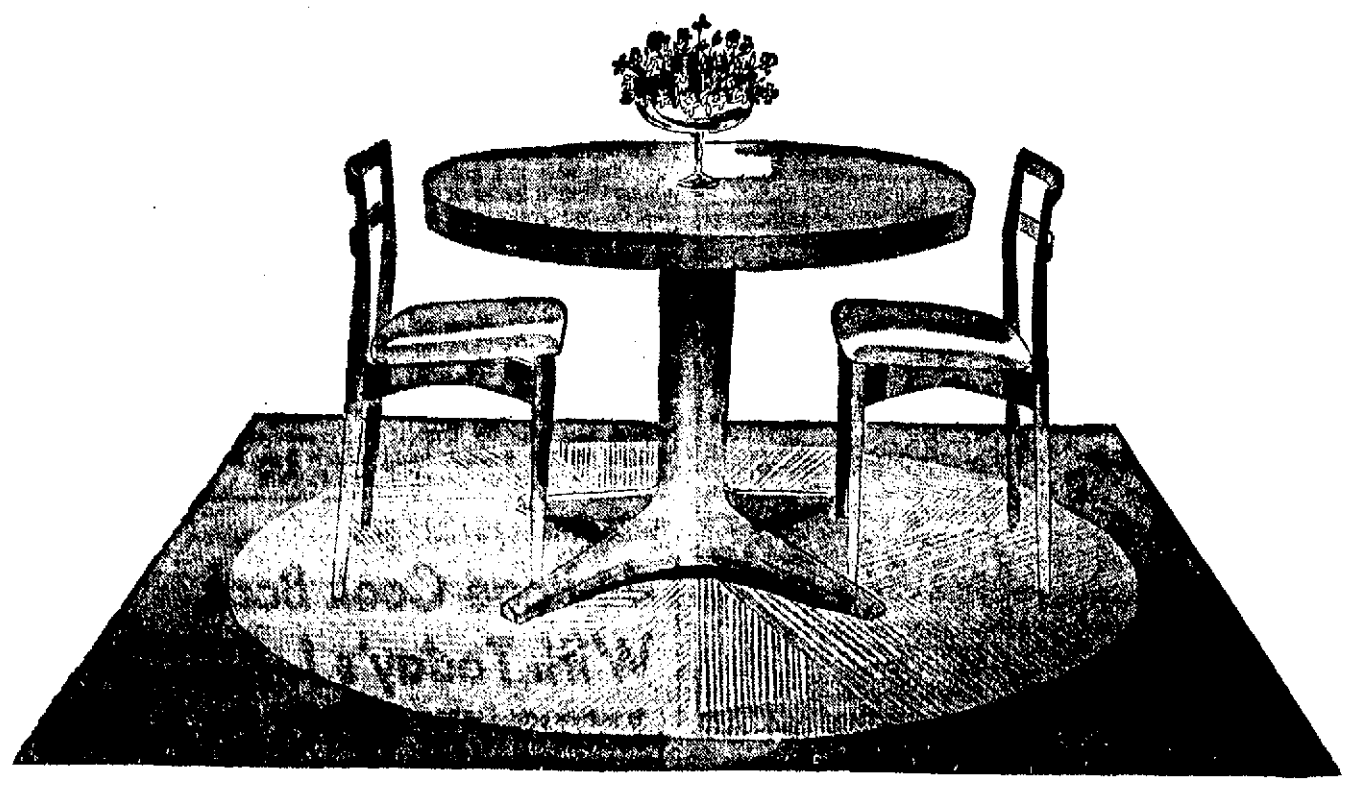

Others prominently mentioned as candidates for the job are Reps. Wilbur Mills, Ark., 52, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and a moderate voice that carries great influence in the House, and Melvin Price, Ill., 56, a down-the-line New Deal-type liberal now on the Armed Services and Atomic Energy Committee.

WHEN THE showdown finally comes — and it isn't certain that it can be long postponed if Rayburn doesn't return next year — House Democrats doubtless will put together a speaker-majority leader team that is balanced geographically and ideologically.

Nehru in Stern A-Bomb Warning

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru shook the conference of non-aligned nations Saturday with a demand that they forget colonialism for a while and concentrate on saving the world from drifting into disaster.

The veteran Indian leader declared the Soviet decision

to resume nuclear testing, opening the way for testing also by other countries, "brings us to the brink of war."

"Fear creeps into my mind that we might not be able to get out of the the rut of talking and of making resolutions, (that we will be) going home and allowing the world to drift into disaster," Nehru said.

Appealing for moral pressure to break the U.S.-Soviet deadlock over Berlin, he said he considered the situation today worse than at any time since World War II.

U.S. Sending 72 Jets to Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Saturday announced it is sending four squadrons of F100 jet fighter-attack planes—about 72 aircraft—to Europe to take part in a NATO training exercise known as Checkmate.

This exercise, said the Defense Department, is intended "to test defense capabilities of NATO air, ground and naval forces."

Just how long the assignment of the jets to the exercises had been under consideration was not disclosed but word of the jet assignment followed by less than 24 hours a Russian announcement that it would conduct combined fleet and rocket maneuvers in the Arctic during September and October.

JFK Guards Discount 'Maniac' Threat

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—A summer White House aide said Saturday reports that a two-gun escaped mental patient had threatened the President's life were being discounted as "not a serious event."

The announcement came from Press Assistant Andrew Hatcher while state police in Massachusetts and Maine threw additional men into road blocks and widespread searches for the man, identified as Howard C. Cooper, 48.

The spreading search of restaurants and rooming houses in Maine was ordered after a report that Cooper, who fled a Texas mental institution in 1945 after 11 years of treatment stemming from a 1934 murder, had been working as a dishwasher in that state.

Man, Girl, 13, Held in 4 Slayings

BIG SPRING, Tex. (UPI)—An unemployed 32-year-old father of five and his 13-year-old girl friend were arrested Saturday and admitted a cross-country journey of death in which they killed four persons since Wednesday for $17.

The pair told police their motive was robbery to finance a trip to Arizona, where they hoped to get jobs picking cotton. But their victims carried very little money.

Two victims died for $1, one for nothing.

Arrested were John Edwin Meyer, 32, and Donna Marie Stone, 13. Their victims were George Ballard, 47, of Near Belleville, Ill., and his daughter Carole, 11; Miss Margaret Wernicker, 39, of St. Louis, Mo. and hitchhiker Lee Dekrait, 30, of Ottumwa, Iowa.

Snowstorm Hits 2 States

DENVER (AP)—A snowstorm that lost its place on the calendar smacked the Rocky Mountain states Saturday, dumping a foot of snow in southern Wyoming and closing 12,183-foot Trail Ridge Road in Colorado.

Rain, sleet and chilly temperatures ranged along the lower elevation of both states. Snow was general in the mountains.

The heaviest fall was 12 inches in the Snowy Range Mountains west of Laramie, Wyo.

with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin in New York next Wednesday to make a new effort to work out arrangements for a big new east-west disarmament conference.

This will be the third round of McCloy-Zorin talks this summer.

3. Secretary of State Dean Rusk with the backing of Britain, the approval of West Germany and the reluctant consent of France, plans to have a talk with Gromyko in New York in about two weeks—if Gromyko attends the opening of the United Nations General Assembly set for Sept. 19.

The possibility of personal talks between Khrushchev and Kennedy, even if the Soviet leader shows up at the United Nations, is not highly rated here at the moment, but neither is it ruled out.

The President definitely has under consideration a plan to go to New York and make a major speech on world peace and disarmament. He is due to make a decision next week.

* * * *

ALSO NEXT week, officials indicated, a decision is expectable on resumption of U. S. nuclear weapons testing. Most persons in a high position here say privately that they have no doubt that the United States will resume.

But Kennedy and Rusk want to permit maximum time for the Soviet nuclear-test explosion of Friday to make the deepest possible impact in the world.

While Kennedy has been moving less swiftly than he might, officials said he has no intention of becoming boxed in by delaying so long that events limits his field of action.

He does not, for example, intend to permit the present situation to go on so long that other countries assume it is a normal arrangement for Russia to test and the United States not to test.

AT THE Belgrade meeting there is reported to be increasing talk about a Kennedy-Khrushchev summit conference. Such a meeting was advocated Saturday by President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana. Friday, support for a summit session came from President Gamel Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

Nasser Friday, and Prime Minister Nehru of India Saturday, denounced Russia's decision to resume nuclear testing.

Goulart Backers Ask Full Power

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Brazil's congress Saturday night overwhelmingly approved a constitutional change permitting leftist Vice President Joao Goulart to take office as figurehead president with a prime minister holding executive powers.

Congress leaders hope to install him at an inaugural in Brasilia Moday.

* * * *

BUT THERE was no immediate indication that their solution to the Brazilian crisis would be acceptable to:

1. Die-hard leftists supporting Goulart as full-fledged president or nothing or

2. The military chiefs who have opposed his succession to the presidency in any form because of his leftist ways.

Brasilia's airport was closed to normal traffic Saturday night after the congressional action and it was rumored Goulart was flying there.

The Chamber of Deputies approved the constitutional amendment 235-55 and the Senate later voted for it 47-5 and then 48-6 on the confirming final ballot.

At Porto Alegre, in the far south where Goulart has been conferring with advisers, it was reported he planned to fly to Brasilia Monday for the inaugural. Porto Alegre, isolated from normal communication during the day, gave no official word of whether leftists generally would accept a presidency shorn of power for Goulart.

* * * *

(AN ARGENTINE correspondent quoted the Porto Alegre radio as saying it rejected the congressional action at Brasilia, and the correspondent speculated this meant it would be impossible for Goulart to be president on the congressional terms.)

Among the dissenters was former President Juscelino Kubitschek, an influential senator since his retirement from the presidency and a staunch supporter of Goulart.

Kubitschek is one of several considered as likely candidates for the new post of prime minister, and whether he might be induced to take it may have a bearing on Goulart's decision.

Must Bolster Foreign Aid, JFK Warns

Asks Restoration of Cuts to Thwart Communist Threat

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President Kennedy Saturday urged Congress in this "climactic hour" to restore cuts in foreign aid funds to bolster the global fight for freedom.

Billions spent for defense will mean little in the end if the world's developing nations topple into Communism, Kennedy said.

The Cape Cod White House issued a statement in which the chief executive cited former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's support of ample funds to assist needy countries.

* * * *

CONGRESS authorized $4.25 billion for the program this year, but the House Appropriations Committee Friday approved an actual money outlay of only $3.35 billion.

Kennedy initially had sought more than $4.7 billion.

He appealed to Congress to appropriate funds "of a magnitude as close as possible to the original request."

Both he and Eisenhower were convinced that requests represented the minimum necessary to meet the country's responsibilities, Kennedy said.

* * * *

WITH THE $4.25 billion ceiling applied in the sum authorized by Congress, it would be impossible now to provide all the money Kennedy at first asked. But his obvious hope was that the House, in which appropriations bills start through Congress, would rebuff the committee and put up money of as close a magnitude as possible to the authorized amount.

Kennedy worked a 3½-hour boat ride on hazy Nantucket Sound into the first full day of his Labor Day weekend on Cape Cod. Mrs. Kennedy and daughter Caroline were among those aboard the cruiser Marlin, which stayed out more than twice as long as aides said Kennedy had allotted.

The House previously rejected his proposal to finance long-term development loans abroad with money borrowed from the Treasury. A Senate-House conference committee finally agreed on a five-year program, but one in which Congress would have to appropriate the money every year. Then the influential House committee administered its severe cuts.

* * * *

"THE FIGHT for freedom throughout the world is in a climactic hour," Kennedy said.

Developing nations, especially in this hemisphere, look to the United States for leadership and help in their efforts to improve the lot of their people, he said.

"For they realize, as do we, that their failure will inevitably bring the dissolution of Democratic governments and greatly increase the threat of the Communist advance," the President said.

Seek Background of Karen Suspect

Emanuel Hajek, whom Harbor detectives described as the "most likely suspect yet" in the mysterious disappearance of 11-year-old Karen Lynn Tompkins of Torrance, remained in jail in San Pedro Saturday night while police checked his background.

Hajek, 41, of 20730 S. Main St., Torrance, was arrested early Saturday by sheriff's officers near his home. The deputies said he had been reported previously trying to entice little girls into his car.

Police said Hajek for the last five months has lived at 21417 Vermont Ave., Torrance, within two blocks of Haildale School from which the Tompkins girl was walking home when she disappeared Aug. 18.

The suspect's black car answered the description of one seen in the neighborhood of Karen's disappearance about the time she was walking home from school.

When Hajek was arrested, Sgt. Gene Tinch of Harbor detectives said he "looks pretty good as a suspect." Detectives did not reveal details of Hajek's interrogation, but said they had not changed their opinion Saturday night.

Russ A-Blast Shocks European Leaders

LONDON (UPI) — A stunned and gloomy Europe expressed shock Saturday at Russia's nuclear test exposion and observed that the Soviet must have been planning it for at least eight months while attending the test ban talks at Geneva.

Japan formally protested to Russia for the test it said may "lead mankind into the path of destruction." Neutral and uncommitteed nations at the Belgrade conference joined Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru in condemning the test. Indian newspapers spoke of "dismay and revulsion."

* * * *

FROM GOVERNMENT circles in Western capitals, from the Belgrade meeting and from the Vatican City in Rome came demands for a speedy solution to the Berlin crisis. There were calls for East-West summit talks and United Nations action to prevent war.

The news hit hardest in Belgrade, where Marshal Tito, Nehru, Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah and United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser were outspoken in their concern over the Soviet move. Nehru said the danger of war had been increased.

Swedish nuclear expert Dr. Torsten Magnusson said the small size of the bomb indicated the Russians "developed a new type of nuclear weapon while negotiations for a test ban were going on" in Geneva.

A Yugoslav official denounced Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "cynicism" in sending a "peace, independence and freedom" message to Belgrade while preparing for the blast.

* * * *

BRITAIN described the blast as "deplorable" and noted the nuclear blasts take a "considerable time" to arrange. A spokesman indicated that Britain will do some hard thinking before resuming its own nuclear testing.

The Dutch defense ministry estimated that it required at least eight months for the Russians to prepare Friday's explosion.

West German foreign office circles said it was "brutal" behavior for the Soviets to be making preparations for the tests while they were still at the Geneva negotiating table. Bonn expressed extraordinary concern for the future of humanity.

In his summer home at Castel Gandolfo, Italy, Pope John XXIII said the world situation threatens peace. He has called for a public Mass Sept. 10 to appeal for world peace.

* * * *

FROM KENYA in East Africa, recently released African nationalist leader Jomo Kenyatta, in a newspaper interview, condemned all violence and weapons of destruction and urged the great powers to stop making them.

Kenyatta said, however, he could not condemn Russia because she exploded an atomic device on her own soil and it thus was an "internal affair."

30,000-Year-Old Skeleton Found

VERONA, Italy (AP)—The skeleton of a 7-or 8-year-old boy who died 30,000 years ago has been found in a cave alongside a waterfall in the mountains near Verona. It was the first human skeleton ever found in paleolithic era cave here.

The child had been prepared for burial by bending the knees up under the stomach and placing the hands over the face.

Pope Cites Danger to World Peace

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope John XXIII said Saturday world peace "might be in danger if men did not listen to the call of truth, justice and concord which genuinely come from God."

"We live in moments when world peace might be in danger," the Pope said.

EL CAJON (UPI)—Receipt of a contract for more than $1 milllon to build radio receivers for the Navy was announced Saturday by Transdata Inc.

Theater Boss Defects

ULM, Germany (AP)—Peter Politzoch, director of the East Berlin Ensemble Theater, announced here Saturday he will not return to Communist territory.

Russ Roll Out Propaganda With Bomb

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet publicity machine swung into high gear Saturday to make the test explosion of a nuclear weapon high over central Asia appear to be in the interests of peace and world welfare.

The explosion itself has not been reported in the press or on the radio in Moscow, but the decision to shoot off this nuclear device occupied most of the attention of the press. Saturday's issue of Pravda, the principal Soviet mouthpiece, carried statements by the Soviet Peace Committee and the Organization of Soviet Biologists declaring their approval of an action which only a few weeks ago they actively denounced.

* * * *

THE ACTION of the Peace Committee was emblazoned on page one, but the declaration of the biologists, who had a harder case to make, was carried under small headlines on an inside page. The story said the biological branch of the Academy of Sciences met and approved the statement about resumption of nuclear tests.

Perhaps an even greater turn-about was accomplished by the Soviet Peace Committee.

"We, the Soviet peace champions, have always been against nuclear tests," the statement said. "But what can one do if the United States and its allies are threatening to destroy our towns and villages, to turn whole regions into atomic deserts, to kill millions of Soviet people?"

The Peace Committee then denounced the "hyprocrisy of the position of the United States and its NATO allies," declaring that even during the negotiations in Geneva, France continued to explode test weapons.

542 YEARS of combined experience in the service of others

Nothing is more important to the family facing bereavement than the experience of the funeral director who serves them. At Mottell's a complete staff is always ready to be of help—a staff whose combined experience adds up to 542 years! No other mortuary in this area can equal this facility. 50 Federal Judges to Be Named Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Kennedy hopes to choose nominees for about half of the more than 100 vacancies on the Federal bench by the time Congress goes home for the year.

He is faced with the largest backlog of such vacancies in U.S. history.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the President's brother, is responsible for recommending nominations for the highly-coveted, lifetime jobs. Aides said he hopes to have choices for about 50 vacancies soon.

• • • •

LAST MAY Congress created 73 new judgeships to handle mounting case loads in the courts. At that time there were 27 vacancie in existing seats through death or retirement. The number has climbed slightly since then.

There has been some grumbling in Congress that the Attorney General was holding up the nominations for Democratic patronage purposes. But Justice Department officials said the procedure for selecting qualified men is complicated and time-consuming. They also note that senators who have a strong voice in the selections have so far failed to make recommendations for filling about 20 vacancies in their constituencies.

Historically, it takes three to four months to fill each vacancy. The President has made about 20 nominations since May and has about 20 more in the works.

• • • •

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S staff has gone over about 1,300 recommendations since the administration came to office in January. It has sifted these to some 200 names which have been passed on to the American Bar Association for its recommendations.

After the Bar Association makes its recommendations, the FBI must run checks before the Attorney General makes the final choice for the President.

Among the 20 nominations already announced were three Republicans serving recess appointments. The nomination of John Feikens for the eastern district of Michigan has stirred a patronage controversy in reverse. Michigan's Democratic Senator Pat McNamara is irked because Feikens is a former Republican State Chairman.

• • • •

FEDERAL JUDGESHIPS are now held about equally by Democrats and Republicans. President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed 194 Democrats and 8 Republicans; Harry Truman named 128 Democrats and 13 Republicans. President Eisenhower balanced the situation by appointing 178 Republicans and only 11 Democrats.

Justice Department officials working on screening of candidates are trying to pay special attention to areas like eastern Pennsylvania and Southern California where the court case backlog is heaviest. But as one official commented "we have to make progress where we can.

Actress Weds in Show Barn

WALLINGFORD, Conn. (UPI)—An actress and an orchestra leader, who met while she was performing in a Broadway play during which he conducted the orchestra, were married Saturday in the rehearsal barn at the Oakdale Musical Theatre.

Gershon Kingsley and Yvonne Constant met during the production "La Plume de Ma Tante" in New York City. This was the second marriage for both. Actor Hugh O'Brian was best man.

New Wage Law Brings Pay Increases to 2.6 Million Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The new minimum wage law goes into effect today, bringing wage increases to about 2.6 million Americans and putting 3.6 million more persons under federal wage-hour coverage for the first time.

For the newly covered workers, the minimum wage will be $1 an hour initially. The Labor Department estimates that about 663,000 of them now draw less than that.

For 24 million other workers previously covered, the minimum rises tomorrow from $1 to $1.15. About 1.9 million of them, including 1.2 million in manufacturing, have been getting less than the new minimum.

• • • •

THESE increases will add $536 million to payrolls in the next 12 months—an added cost employers will absorb or seek to offset by greater efficiency, reductions in work force and price increases.

Further hikes in the minimum wage in the next four years will mean a cumulative increase in payrolls of $1.5 billion. In 1963 the minimum for workers covered prior to 1961 jumps to $1.25 an hour. For the newly included workers the minimum will advance to $1.15 in 1964 and $1.25 in 1965.

The most hotly contested section of the 1961 law was an amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act which President Kennedy signed May 5. This extended coverage to 3.6 million workers in retail trade, services, local transit, construction and filling stations.

• • • •

BUT THE congressional give-and-take saw additional farm workers excluded from coverage. Supporters of the legislation also dropped laundry, restaurant and hotel workers to have the rest of the bill. The administration has pledged it will try to get them included next year.

The bill's backers also accepted certain "dollar tests" for inclusion of specific enterprises in the newly covered categories.

For example, a retail store or service establishment must have gross sales of at least $1 million a year before it is affected. A branch of an enterprise in this category must have annual receipts of its own of $250,000. Also, the enterprise must buy at least $250,000 a year of goods which have moved across state lines.

A CONSTRUCTION firm must have yearly gross receipts of $350,000 or more. Such firms employ about one million persons, but only about 50,000 of them make less than $1 an hour.

A service station must have $250,000 in annual gross sales for its employes to be covered. A transit line must have $1 million of gross receipts a year.

For workers newly covered by the 1961 act, the time-and-a-half rule will not come into force until Sept. 3, 1963, and will apply only after 4 hours. A year later the threshold will drop to 42 hours, and a year after that it will drop to 40 hours.

The 25-cent minimum advanced slowly at first—to 30 cents in 1939 and 40 in 1945. It jumped to 75 cents in 1950 and to $1 in 1956.

'24 Killer Faces Trial

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The gunshot slaying of a man in a crowded synagogue 37 years ago has become a current murder case.

The district attorney is looking for witnesses to prosecute the man accused of killing Harry Danny, 55, as Danny was reading scriptures on Sept. 29, 1924, and wounding two other persons.

Solomon Ostrow was seized with the gun still in his hands. He was committed to a state hospital by Judge Charles Crail.

Doctors at Atascadero State Hospital have now decided that Ostrow, 72, "has recovered his sanity sufficiently to be able to cooperate in his criminal trial defense."

Judge Crail is dead. The case has been dumped in the lap of his nephew, Clifford Crail. Crail doubts he'll be able to find many witnesses.

LIKES HORSE, BUGGY DAYS BEST

Doctor Has Delivered 16,000 Babies in 50 Yrs.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (UP)—Dr. Hosea A. White, 78, silver-haired Corpus Christi physician, has delivered more than 16,000 babies in his half century of practice.

He will be presented with a golden "T" certificate for 50 years of practice by the University of Tennessee medical units Sept. 24 in Memphis.

Dr. White practiced medicine in northeast Mississippi after his graduation from the old Memphis Hospital Medical College. He came to Corpus Christi in December of 1915.

"When I came here there wasn't a drainage ditch or graded road in the county," he said. "They called me the 'country doctor.'"

"I delivered a lot of babies in Kingsville and several hundred in Aransas Pass," 20 and 40 miles away.

• • • •

THOSE DAYS when he was a "country doctor" were the best, he feels.

"When I drove on my rounds in a horse and buggy I had time to think and pray between patients. Now with the auto there's no time for that."

The doctor opened White's Maternity Hospital at his office in 1942. He estimates that he delivered about 700 babies a year during the days he operated the hospital. He closed it in 1952.

The doctor laughed when he remembered several experiences with babies that wouldn't wait until they got to the delivery room to be born.

"Once a lady made it to the hospital's front yard, but that's as far as she got," he said. "Her baby was born right there."

• • • •

HE SAID two other women got to the hospital "but they never made it out of their cars."

Dr. White has provided extensive medical care for the city's poor people in his unpretentious office and hospital.

"For a delivery and complete post-natal care," he charged $25," he said. "Sure it was hard, but I made it with God as my partner."

During World War II, before the government provided money for servicemen's wives' natal care, Dr. White delivered their babies free, he said.

• • • •

"I THINK doctors charge too much nowadays," Dr. White said. "If they charge people who can't afford it $100 or $125 for an obstetrical case, they deprive the child they brought into the world of things it needs.

"We will always have the poor. That is something the fortunate forget."

Dr. White is strongly against socialized medicine, however.

"Socialized medicine would cause the profession to deteriorate instead of build," he said. "It would result in doctors having no incentive or determination.

• • • •

"THERE ARE not enough doctors using prayer and common sense anyway. They think all the answers are in laboratories and X-ray machines."

Dr. White, who will be 79 years old in January, is semi-retired now. But he still treats his old friends and any poor people who come to his office.

"If they have money, OK; if they don't, OK," he said. "Just like always."

Although the pace has lessened since the days when he delivered 700 babies a year and the hospital where they uttered their first cries is closed and has been converted to apartments, Dr. White still has plenty to keep him busy.

His hobbies are gardening and experimenting with varieties of grasses.

Plot to Grab Katanga Told by Tshombe

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (UP) — President Moise Tshombe declared Saturday he had "knowledge of a plot against Katanga by (Cyrille) Adoula's central government together with the United Nations."

However, Tshombe said this was denied by Conor Cruise O'Brien, the chief U.N. representative in this secessionist province.

TSHOMBE received U.N. military and civilian representatives Saturday morning. He told a news conference later the alleged plot included the arrest of him and some of his ministers, the creation of internal disorders and the dispatch of Congolese national army troops to Katanga.

Tshombe said, however, he did not believe Adoula would send in troops because, "if blood flows, nothing can be arranged."

Tshombe declared the campaign was started by inciting Baluba tribesmen who have sought refuge with the United Nations. The U.N. has reported more than 10,000 Baluba refugees are at present in its camps.

A deputation of refugees under U.N. escort saw Tshombe Saturday. He was reported to have promised them safety and asked all refugees to go back to their homes and work.

Peace Corps Will Accept Hams' Applications

The Peace Corps will accept applications from members of the Microwave Society of Long Beach, and will go to the American Radio League for assistance in filling needs for radio and electronic technicians.

Robert Sargent Shriver, Jr., director of the Corps, answering a letter from Ralph Steinberg, 110 Argonne Ave., said the ARRL could also help by publicizing needs of the organizaion. Right now, he said, the need is for agriculturally trained people and certain categories of engineers and mechanics.

OLD MAN AND A BOY

They Find Understanding Though 70 Years Apart

By JACK V. FOX

NEW YORK (UPI)—The old man and the boy sat facing each other across a desk. A span of 70 years separated them but from the moment they began talking a curious rapport sprang up.

The boy was 16. He had grown up in a time that saw man send a rocket to the moon and orbit the earth. Television was old hat; radio a transistor in your pocket; hotrods passe—sports cars the fashion for youth; war the "doomsday bomb."

When the man was that same age on a farm in Hamilton, Mo., there was not a single automobile in the United States. It was to be four years before Edison showed a "magic lantern," six before Marconi patented something called "wireless" and 13 before two brothers got an aeroplane off the ground.

THE BOY WAS asking questions in an "interview" and the old gentleman was answering them seriously and thoughfully. The conversation went something like this:

Q. What advice have you for young people just starting out in the world?

A. I don't believe young people particularly want advice but, since you ask—make up your mind what you want to do and prepare yourself for it. Then give it everything you've got. I don't believe in luck. You may not be the president of the United States but if you work hard you'll be better off for having made the attempt.

Q. DO YOU think young people today are irresponsible and a bunch of juvenile delinquents?

A. I certainly do not believe so. I think our youth has been very much maligned. In some of the big cities a lot of publicity has been given to delinquency but that is not true across the country. If a boy is raised right, he is not going to get into trouble. The responsibility is right square in the home.

Q. You are a successful man and have made a great deal of money. Did you ever think you would be this rich?

A. Heavens, no. When I was 30 years old I still thought if I ever had $10,000 in the bank I would be well off. Then I made my goal $100,000. I didn't realize it but my appetite was just getting started and it finally came to me that there was no limit to what a man could do. But money isn't the important thing anyway. It is a by-product.

Q. YOU HEAR a lot of talk today that there's no use being ambitious and working hard because the hydrogen bomb may wipe us all out anyway. What do you think of that?

A. I don't like it. It's negative thinking and that's something I never have done. When I was a young man I grew up with the Bible and there's a passage which foretells the end of the world. But I never worried about that. I've lived every day of my life trying to do the best I can do.

Q. Do you think there are as many opportunities today as there were in your day?

A. THERE ARE far, far more opportunities. When I was your age I was worried sick what I was going to do. I doubt whether any young man left his hometown with less bright prospects than I did. I bought into a little store in Kemmerer, Wyo., and my wife and baby lived above it. I had $500 and I borrowed $1,500 more for a third interest. Now there are 1,700 stores.

Q. How did you do it?

A. By applying the Golden Rule. It may sound silly and sentimental but it is true—if you are going to be successful in business you must love people. I'm thankful I had such a strict religious training. My father was a farmer and a roving Baptist minister and for a time I thought I might be one, too. I went into business instead and I have tried to give people a good product at a fair price and, most of all, to meet them and give them service.

THE BOY paused and the white-haired man said:

"Now let me ask you a question. What are you going to do with your life?"

"Well," the boy said, "I've thought of going into the foreign service, working for our country overseas."

"That's a good idea," the man said. "President Roosevelt once told me that was one of the finest things a young man could do."

He picked up a book and returned to the fly leaf, where he carefully inscribed: "To Steve Fox. Best wishes. J. C. Penney."

The boy thanked him. On the way out of the office, the young man looked back, then said: "He's quite a guy."

He is quite a guy. Eighty-six years old this month, the founder of the J. C. Penney Stores is at work every day, opening new stores, travelling, writing and making talks to business men on his favorite subject—the Golden Rule.

Naturally, I think the young man is quite a guy, too. He's my son.

EISENHOWER STILL 'FORT KNOX' OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

By SAUL PETT

GETTYSBURG, Pa., (AP) — One of the rarest emotions in the world—only 34 men have known it—is to wake up one morning and realize you are now President of the United States.

Even rarer and as full of impact—fewer men have known this feeling — is to wake up one morning and realize you are no longer President of the United States.

Suddenly it is over. Suddenly it is Jan. 20 and you are riding down Pennsylvania Avenue with the new man and they swear him in and they say goodbye and you're gone. Suddenly you're supposed to pick up your life. How does it feel?

It feels, William Howard Taft once said, "like a giant locomotive pulling a toy wagon." The momentum remains. The payload is gone.

* * * *

FOR SEVEN MONTHS, Dwight David Eisenhower has been gearing down, seeking a new rhythm. He is not, of course, a lonely old man turned out and forgotten in a distant pasture. He remains very much in demand, active, productive and interested. Politically, in the phrase of a former associate, he is still "the Fort Knox of the Republican Party."

But the big job is gone and that takes adjustment.

Like other men in retirement, he both enjoys the absence of heavy responsibility and at the same time misses it. After 20 years of vast power and glory in the main current of great events, the human system does not suddenly adapt to a beach chair, however comfortable.

He still corresponds with Harold Macmillan and Charles DeGaulle and other important people around the world, but the correspondence now has a single tone—old friends writing. It lacks the office behind the man.

* * * *

WHILE HE STILL retains a deep interest in national and world affairs, Dwight Eisenhower has had to learn to sublimate his lack of authority. This is one way he does it:

Reading of some new national issue or problem, he picks up the phone and calls several friends, usually experts in the appropriate field. To each, he presents the problem and asks what the other fellow would do about it. And then they match judgments and seek an accommodation and decide, if they can, on a solution and then they hang up.

That's as far as is can go. It's a dry run, poker for match sticks.

* * * *

DWIGHT EISENHOWER misses the big job in many ways. He misses the power and ability to affect events which deeply concern him. He misses the direct contact with unfolding history. He misses the vast convenience of the office, the huge machinery geared to his wishes, the experts who kept him informed, the planes that flew him, the Secret Service men who cleared his path.

But the shock of transition from the White House to the farm house in Gettysburg has, friends agree, been heavily cushioned by one fact. He left Washington trailed by the affection of his countrymen. He had his critics.

In retirement, he remains a Republican Mecca. From the halls of Congress to the smallest precinct, they still come, or try to come, in the hope of taking back with them a little reflected glow.

* * * *

GEN. EISENHOWER had expected little of this. He had thought Richard M. Nixon would now be President, that the Eisenhower philosophy of government would be relatively safe, that the Party and the country would have little need of him in retirement.

AT WORK at his desk in his office in Gettysburg, Pa., Dwight D. Eisenhower busies himself with heavy correspondence, work on a book about his presidency, and visitors who often include VIPs.—(AP.)

The tourists clot around the front gate of the Eisenhower farm. On the rare occasions he uses it, they sing out "Hi, Ike," and, with an American possessiveness that can be both moving and irritating, move in for autographs and pictures. They climb the battlefield towers and fly the sightseeing helicopter to gawk at his home.

The office has no security guard as such but visitors don't get in without stating their business into a squawk box at the front door. Any unauthorized intruder breaking into the back room where the general keeps his classified files would immediately touch off an electronic alarm that would bring police.

* * * *

THE DAY IS given over mostly to answering heavy correspondence (a single morning's mail brought equally fervent invitations from a prime minister and a sorority house mother) and to work on the general's book about his presidency. He dictates and then edits furiously in a flurry of chicken scratches.

His appointment calendar is full with substantial names. In a recent two-day period, for example, the general conferred with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York; Sen. Everett Dirksen and Rep. Charles Halleck, the Republican leaders in Congress; former White House Assistant Bryce Harlowe; Robert Humphrey of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee; and publishers C. D. Jackson of Life Magazine and Bennett Cerf of Random House.

Talking or reading, the familiar photogenic face is remarkably mobile, the blue eyes warming instantly at a favorable sight or thought, the wispy brows frowning just as quickly at something unwelcome, the famed smile breaking out like the sun after a summer storm. His hands remain busy too, fiddling with a nail file, twirling glasses or a letter opener.

* * * *

FROM HIS OFFICE, Gen. Eisenhower also runs his personal affairs. He confers frequently with his friend, Brig. Gen. Arthur S. Nevins, who supervises his farm. He has turned down some fat offers, including corporate directorships which would pay him $100,000 a year each for a few hours a month. He refuses to lend his name to commercial ventures.

In addition to his $25,000-a-year presidential pension, Gen. Eisenhower enjoys a sizable return from investments. His first book, "Crusade in Europe," netted him between $400,000 and $500,000 after taxes. Invested in a trust which was completely out of his hands while he was in office, this money has been "considerably enhanced," according to a Wall Street friend.

It was not ever thus. Early in 1948, before the book came out, Gen. Eisenhower retired as Army Chief of Staff at what appeared to be the peak and end of his career. He bought a car and as he and Mamie were being driven out

MAMIE EISENHOWER and a maid occasionally appear in the supermarket to shop. This is one small ambition Gen. Eisenhower has yet to fulfill in retirement. Supermarkets developed in the years of his greatest celebrity, when he had no chance to visit one. He still foregoes the pleasure until he can be sure of entering a supermarket without creating a stampede.

Instead, six days a week, he drives directly to his office without stops. There he keeps a staff of six busy. He also has the help of his son, Lt. Col. John Eisenhower, who has taken a leave without pay from the Army and now lives with his family in a small house on the corner of the Eisenhower farm.

ward lulls. After all, what do you say to a former President and a General of the Army?

* * * *

Gen. Eisenhower seldom ventures into the life of the community. The one social occasion he attended was a stag dinner, served on card tables, given by a Gettysburg attorney to introduce him to the local pillars. The conversation, one gathers, had its awk-

Negroes Boycott Dilapidated School

WARRENTON, N.C. (UPI)—The parents of about 50 Negro children forced to attend a dilapidated two-room school with bare light bulbs and outdoor plumbing held out for "something better" Saturday.

The parents called a boycott of the school last Monday and kept their children out of classes all week. Only four pupils turned up when Snow Hill School opened for the school year Wednesday.

Marvin Tunstall, a 44-year-old farmer and spokesman for the parents' group, said the boycott had nothing to do with integration.

"We'll take separate but equal (facilities) for now, but can you call this anywhere near equal?" he questioned, referring to the outdated 38-year-old frame building.

Tunstall says there are presently 11 similar Negro schools in Warren County. Negro parents, he said, have about despaired of getting the long-promised consolidated school to handle the 4,200 Negro children in the county.

Duce's Son, Loren Sister Romancing

RICCIONE, Italy (UPI)—A romance that may connect the family of Italy's sexy movie star, Sophia Loren, with that of one-time Italian dictator Benito Mussolini has been flourishing in this little town on the Adriatic coast.

Sophia's younger sister, Maria, and Romano Mussolini, son of Il Duce, has been seeing each other a lot and rumor has it they have matrimonial stars in their eyes.

Donna Rachele Mussolini, the dictator's widow who lives here, said of the reported marriage plans: "I've no objection but it's their business."

* * * *

THE MUSSOLINI family made headlines last year when Romano's sister, Anna Maria Mussolini, married a show business man, Nando Pucci.

Maria, who resembles big sister Sophia very much, has been friends with Anna Maria Mussolini for many years. While Sophia has been making "Madame Sans Gene" up on the west coast of Italy, Maria has been spending her free time with the Mussolinis, on the east coast.

Maria and Romano Mussolini also have been seen together around Rome's night spots, where he has been playing in a jazz combo. Romano is classed as one of Italy's best jazz pianists.

* * * *

WHILE VISITING the Mussolini family, Maria made a pilgrimage to the tomb of Italy's former leader at Predappio. Mussolini was caught and executed by Italian partisans in 1944 while trying to escape in a German military convoy.

Maria and Romano apparently are not yet ready to talk about their plans for marriage. However, Maria wears a ring.

Maria, like her sister Sophia, was brought up in Naples, where they both were born. She is quieter and more reserved than Sophia.

Reds Fence in Hitler's Death Site

BERLIN (AP)—For the first time since Adolf Hitler's body was burned there 16 years ago, no one can approach the garden of his "new chancellery."

The East German People's Army has built a barbed wire fence around all that remains of the building—a grassy mound 15 feet high and 150 feet long surrounded by flowers.

The pinkish-grey wall the Communists have built through the city lies just beyond the mound.

LOOKING OVER Angus cattle at his farm in Gettysburg, seven months after leaving the presidency, "Ike" finds that being outside while important events are under way takes getting used to.—(AP.)

Ike Still 'Fort Knox' of the GOP

of Washington in the new purchase, he said, "we're riding out of town on our entire capital."

* * * *

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER has a host of friends over the country, men who used to come at a moment's notice when he was in Washington to play golf with him or bridge or counsel with him or just supply company. Before he left the White House, he wrote a letter to the wives of all of them, thanking the ladies for their patience and the loan of their husbands.

To his friends, the retiring President wrote a special letter demanding that, since he was leaving office, he be reinstated on a first name basis and be called "Ike." None has yet been able to bring himself to call him that, such is the awesome memory of the office.

In or out of the White House, Dwight Eisenhower has many devoted friends, any of whom would still drop everything to come play golf with him. But geographically, Gettysburg is an awkward place to get to and so he has fewer golfing companions these days.

* * * *

ON DAYS WHEN his son or Gen. Nevins is not available, Gen. Eisenhower plays alone. Unless, of course, master David Eisenhower, age 13, is not too busy.

The former President is fond of all his four grandchildren but he has a special affinity for his only grandson, who resembles him and would not exactly disappoint his grandfather by going to West Point someday. The two have always been close, a proximity that sometimes dimmed the boy's historical perspective.

Several years ago, President Eisenhower was conferring in the living quarters of the White House with Richard M. Nixon when the boy sailed in.

* * * *

"HI, IKE," David sang out.

"Hello, David," said the President. "You know the Vice President, don't you?"

The boy turned to Nixon and his eyes popped and he exclaimed, "the Vice President! Wow!"

Since then, David has become increasingly aware of the general's eminence, and has come to call him "grandfather." But he remains his own man. On several recent afternoons, when the 33rd President of the United States called to invite him out for golf, the boy declined with regret because he had "people over" or was on his way to play baseball.

* * * *

THE BIGGEST evening in the Eisenhower's week is the one that their grandchildren spend with them. The general enjoys talking with them but has learned to his surprise that kids today are not particularly interested in talking about the past. This is contrary to his own experience as a boy in Kansas when he loved to listen to adults talking about the Old West or the Civil War.

On other nights, when the general and his wife are alone, he usually spends his evening reading foreign affairs pamphlets, biography, historical novels or Westerns. Mrs. Eisenhower watches television, particularly "Father Knows Best" or Danny Thomas or Lawrence Welk. The general occasionally wanders over to watch.

He is fonder of the hi-fi set, which he has not yet figured out how to turn on himself.

* * * *

AND IN THE moments between music and reading, Dwight D. Eisenhower finds his mind drifting occasionally back to the past. He is not a man overly given to reminiscence but when he does it usually is about his Army days.

When he thinks of the biggest single day in his long career, the most satisfying single moment, he thinks always of May 7, 1945, when a terrible war ended in the schoolhouse at Rheims. It was, as he thinks of it, the day he was raised for, the day he fulfilled his orders.

As President, had he been able to sign an effective, lasting peace treaty with the whole world, that moment would have been bigger and the one to remember. But with all its power, with all its grandeur, the Presidency of the United States in mid-20th century could not match the day at Rheims.

Russ Hike Work Day Schedules

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union, following up its decision to resume nuclear tests, announced plans Saturday to increase working hours in some industries "in the interests of further strengthening the defenses of the country."

The disclosure came in a statement by the state-controlled Council of Trade Unions dutifully supporting the renewal of nuclear testing.

* * * *

THE STATEMENT, carried by the Tass news agency, makes it virtually certain that a decision to increase working hours already has been taken. The attempt to pass off such a decision as the spontaneous demand of workers is routine in the Soviet propaganda system.

The trade union council said "the workers of a number of industrial enterprises in the U.S.S.R. have addressed the Communist party with a proposal to switch some enterprises to an eight-hour working day . . ."

Most Soviet factories work a six-day week. Communist officials had promised to put all heavy workers on a six-hour day by the end of last year. Premier Khrushchev earlier this year made considerable propaganda play with promises of a five-hour day.

Space Agency Suffers Growing Pains

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The space agency is suffering acute growing pains stemming from the $20 billion program to land American astronauts on the moon before 1970.

A shakeup is imminent. James E. Webb, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is expected to announce soon his choice of a man and a staff to push the lunar venture.

Some old NASA hands will be shoved aside. Many others will be uprooted and transplanted. Hundreds of newcomers will enter the agency.

On May 25 President Kennedy ordered a speedup in the space porgram with a view to putting men on the moon and bringing them back "before the decade is out."

More than three months later no one can say just how this will be done. Neither the rockets nor the techniques have been picked.

Basic specifications have been developed for the Apollo spacecraft which will carry a three-man crew on earth orbital and lunar missions. But construction cannot get under way before late this year.

Does this mean NASA's leadership isn't pouring enough energy and drive into the job of gearing up to meet the goals? The answer, according to some of President Kennedy's close space advisers is no.

Is everybody satisfied, then, with the present state of affairs? The answer again appears to be no. One official said "no one is satisfied — least of all Jim Webb, or he wouldn't be driving himself early and late to perfect his organization."

"If anybody is satisfied," this official said, "he ought to resign. Considering the gigantic scope of the moon program, it is far too early for anybody to be satisfied."

Vandercook's Wife Is Killed in Fall

DELHI, N.Y. (AP)—Mrs. Iris Vandercook, 37, wife of radio news commentator John W. Vandercook, was killed in a fall at their summer home here.

Mrs. Vandercook, a well-known painter, was descending a staircase when she fell, authorities reported.

Aluminum Oil Drill Pipe Performs Well in Tests

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The first string of aluminum drill pipe has completed more than 100,000 feet of hole in a Texas oil field.

L. E. Pennington, Richmond, Va., director of petroleum development for Reynolds Metals Co., said Reynolds began experiments with aluminum oil drilling pipe in 1959. Reed Roller Bit Co. of Houston has developed tool joints for the string that has been used by Shell Oil Co. the past 11 months in Dewitt County.

The Shell drilling rig was designed to drill to a depth of only 7,500 feet, with steel pipe but has drilled to a depth of 11,500 feet with aluminum.

* * * *

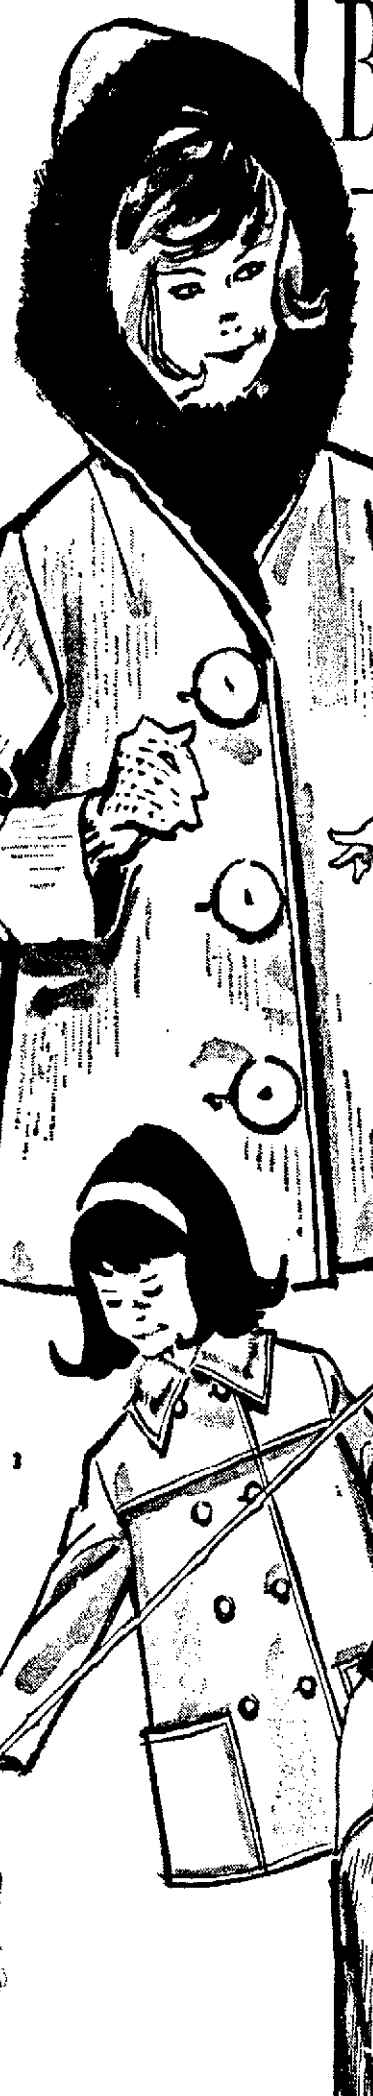

PENNINGTON said aluminum pipe costs more than steel but offers cost saving opportunities that make it more economical to operate.

Aluminum drill pipe currently sells for $9.20 a foot compared to $6.20 for steel.

"But aluminum has a high value of $1.64 a foot as scrap," Pennington said. "Also, the deeper drilling with lighter rigs permits many economies."

FOR shame, says a reader, noting a crack at September in this dept. before the month had hardly gotten started.

Denzil Hedley suggests that after a dozen years here, this writer should become acclimated before too long. She goes on to relate how, as a child, she vacationed in the hot San Joaquin Valley and returned to "cool" Long Beach in September. She calls it a "wonderful month."

Well, it is possible it is cool here compared with the San Joaquin Valley, which is like hell's fire in September, as well as all summer.

But Septembers I've experienced here have been disappointing. It is the end of summer and the beginning of fall, when we'd had a right to expect cool, soothing temperatures. Instead, we've been blasted with hot spells—the hot backwash of summer, as I've dubbed it.

Now I'm not set in my opinion of September. I'm simply going on experience. It seems to me that if I'm to revise my judgment of the month, it is up to September, itself. If it will dish out pleasant, moderate weather for the next 25 days, I'll quit ranting about it.

Let the defenders of September see to it that it delivers the cool goods.

MEANWHILE, a youngster who feels that September is too hot for school—which will take up soon—has a suggestion to make.

Why not, he asks, keep the kids in school later in June, which is usually rather moderate, and let their vacation run on through September?

Well, why not?

LAST week's story here about the early day locomotive head-on crashes at state fairs reminded Iowa newsmen hereabouts of an old newspaper story worth recounting.

It seems that covering the locomotive crash at the Iowa State fair was assigned one year to a reporter who liked the bottle. Not wanting to be bothered by witnessing the crash, he stayed away and wrote a vivid account which he shot in to the city desk before retiring to the nearest bar.

Next day, he asked his editor how he liked the story.

"It was fine," said the editor, "but you might look at this."

And he handed him an Associated Press dispatch which related that rain and hail fell just before the locomotive event, making the rails so slick the wheels of the engines spun and they merely eased up to each other and harmlessly touched cowcatchers.

The reporter handed it back, put on his hat, walked out and was never seen there again.

EACH year, as you may know, a "senior golf tournament" is held in Nevada. The event will be in Reno next weekend.

It's for fellows over 50, which sort of poses a problem for some golfers. They'd like to participate, but in the event they do well, they'll get publicity and that will give away their age bracket.

At least two local golfers, however, have decided to face the issue. Harry P. Forman, wholesale auto supply man, and Brewster Gray, auto dealer, will be in the tournament at Reno.

So now the news is out, no matter how well they do.

WHILE the question rages over what to name the L.B. Auditorium Annex, Charles F. Reed makes an interesting discovery. The oval bldg., he says, is almost a dead ringer for the "Shaker Barn," landmark at Hancock, Mass., built in 1826. He accepts the futility of his suggestion the the L.B. bldg. be called Shaker Barn II.

LOCAL CELEBRATION IN BOSTON

USS Long Beach Commissioning Saturday

By GEORGE WEEKS

A Long Beach celebration will take place this week at the opposite side of the continent.

Twenty city officials and civic leaders will begin leaving Wednesday for the Naval Yard in Boston, Mass., where they will have a prominent part in the commissioning of the USS Long Beach—the nation's first nuclear-powered surface ship—at 2:30 p.m. Saturday.

Heading the delegation will be Mayor Edwin W. Wade and at least seven of the eight other city councilmen. Others will include City Manager John R. Mansell; Robert McNulty, chairman of the Armed Service Commission, harbor commissioners and Harry Fulton, city public relations coordinator, who first proposed the naming of the ship for Long Beach.

* * * *

LOCAL organizations sending representatives include the Long Beach Naval Shipyard Employes Association, Independent Business Men's Association and Chamber of Commerce.

The Long Beach visitors have been invited by the Navy to make a pre-commissioning tour of the vessel on Friday.

Secretary of the Navy John B. Connally will deliver the principal address at the ceremonies Saturday. Sponsor of the vessel, selected by the Navy at the christening in 1959, is Mrs. Craig Hosmer, wife of the Long Beach Congressman.

* * * *

IN CONNECTION with the commissioning city officials will present to the Navy a $20,000 silver service for use aboard the vessel and also a plaque bearing the city seal and the International City emblem.

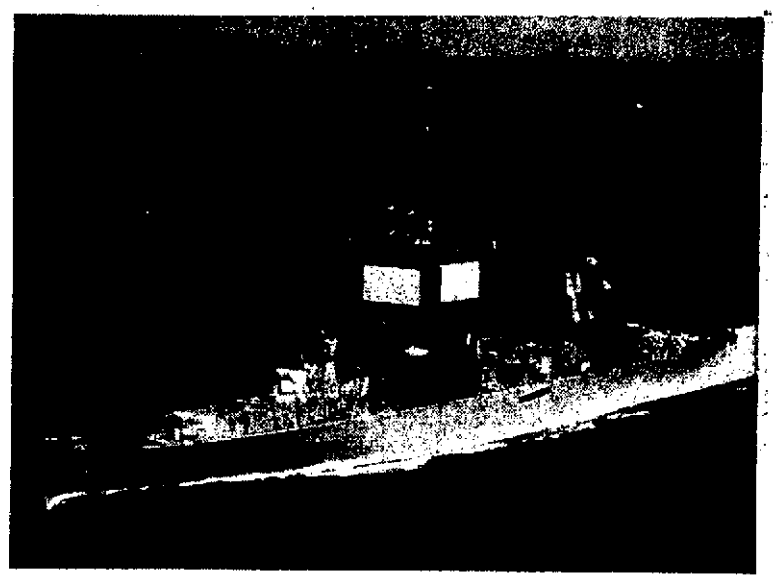

Four years in the building, the USS Long Beach is the nation's first U. S. cruiser to be designed and built from the keel up since World War II and the first surface ship to be armed with a main battery of guided missiles and powered by a nuclear engineering plant.

Keel for the $320,547,000 warship was laid Dec. 2, 1957, at the Bethlehem Steel Co. Shipyard in Quincy, Mass. General Electric built the main propulsion engines and gears. Reactor compartment components were manufactured by Westinghouse Electric.

THE CRUISER is the third Navy ship to bear Long Beach's name. The second, a World War II frigate which saw service in the Pacific, has been loaned to the Japanese Naval Defense Force and renamed. The first was a noncombatant cargo ship (AK-9) acquired from the U. S. Shipping Board in 1917.

Prospective commanding officer of the vessel is Capt. Eugene P. Wilkinson, USN, first commander of the nuclear submarine USS Nautilus. He is a native of Long Beach. About 860 officers and crewmen will serve aboard.

The Philadelphia Naval Shipyard has been assigned to install the Navy's Tactical Data System and perform post-delivery work.

Three Events Slated Here for Holiday

Few public events are scheduled Labor Day as most residents plan a quiet day at home or leave Long Beach for a holiday outing.

Scheduled are only three events: Speeches by Gov. Edmund Brown and State Assemblyman Joseph Kennick and a Long Beach Municipal Band concert.

* * * *

GOV. BROWN will address 10,000 members of the Retail Clerks Union and their families at a Labor Day picnic Monday at Disneyland. The governor is scheduled to speak at 11:45 a.m. under the park's Big Top.

* * * *

ASSEMBLYMAN Kennick will head a slate of speakers who will address Long Beach senior citizens at a rally at 11 a.m. Monday at 1138 E. Seventh St.

Another speaker at the rally, which will generally concern President Kennedy's social security program, will be George McLain, chairman of the California Institute of Social Welfare.

The Municipal Band will perform at a concert at 3 p.m. at Lincoln Park.

Ashtabula Back After 5-Month Pacific Cruise

The USS Ashtabula (AO-51) oiler, returned to her home port here Saturday morning after a five-month tour in the Pacific.

The Ashtabula, with a complement of 12 officers and 234 men, is skippered by Capt. V. G. Lambert, of Long Beach. She returned from Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

During the cruise, the Astabula visited Yokosuka, Kobe and Sasebo, Japan and Hong Kong.

Unitization of Oil Field to Be Aired Before Forum

A non-technical discussion about the successful unitization of Fault Block IV in the Wilmington Oil Field and the benefits to be gained will be held Wednesday at 7:15 a.m. in the Crown Cafeteria, First and Alamitos, at the Chamber of Commerce Community Forum.

Speakers will be city and harbor experts who helped put the unit and unit operating agreements together. Included will be City Atty. Gerald Desmond and members of his staff, Harbor Commissioner H. E. (Bud) Ridings, Port Manager Charles Vickers and M. D. Hughes, director of petroleum and subsidence control in the harbor.

The men will discuss some of the problems encountered in getting hundreds of persons to sign thousands of papers in connection with the anti-subsidence work. They also will tell some of the benefits that the harbor and city can expect from the repressurization of the oil field fault block and some of the economic gains that will result.

City Leaders Praise Life of Vermillion

Long Beach Civic leaders Saturday were unstinting in their praise and recognition of community contributions of George M. Vermillion, former Long Beach mayor for whom funeral services will be held Tuesday.

VERMILLION

One of the tributes came from the current president of the Long Beach area Council of Boy Scouts of America, Jerry S. Jacobs. Vermillion himself served for a time in the same capacity.

"If it hadn't been for Mr.

See editorial tribute on Page B-2

Vermillion, who with his generosity and foresight about a quarter of a century ago provided, in a large part, the funds and property the local scouts now have, I really do not know where we would be," Jacobs said.

He said the former mayor was laregly responsible for the scouts' Camp Taquitz at Idlewild.

Harold Paige, a business associate of Vermillion's for 16 years said, "The community has lost one of the finest persons it ever had. George always was busy looking out for the other guy. He never thought of George."

Ill for some time, Vermillion was admitted for cardiac trouble Thursday at a Long Beach hospital. He died Saturday.

* * * *

THE FORMER mayor was prominent for many years in civic and club activities. A summary of his accomplishments is perhaps made clearest in the comments of Francis H. Gentry, himself a former mayor — from 1939 to 1942, said:

"I had known George since he was a druggist in 1918 at the Paschall pharmacy at 21st Street and Atlantic Avenue.

Robert C. Emerson, president, will preside; Robert G. Robb is chairman of the day.

Gentry Plans Cruise

Francis H. Gentry, Mayor of Long Beach from 1939 to 1942, will join a group of civilians Sept. 5 for a nine-day orientation cruise aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea.

Lifeguards to Demonstrate Speed in Rescues

LIFEGUARD TOM DE LONG demonstrates one of the events in the second annual Taplin race set for 5 p. m. next Sunday in front of the Pacific Coast Club, under PCC and Los Angeles Athletic Club sponsorship. Taplin race involves lifeguard teams demonstrating swimming, paddleboard and two-man dory relay races, using standard rescue equipment. The race will begin at the beach entrance to the PCC at the foot of Alamitos Avenue. The course extends seaward 300 yards and back. Purpose of the event is to give the public an opportunity to see Long Beach lifeguards in action in a group demonstration. Approximately one-third of the lifeguard force will participate in the event.—(Staff photos by Bryan Hodgson.)

Junking of 1-Way Streets Would Be Big Step Backward

ANOTHER EFFORT WILL be made next Tuesday in the City Council to destroy downtown Long Beach's one-way traffic system. If that effort succeeds, the city will take a big step backward in the field of traffic control.

THE CASE FOR THE ONE-WAY system is overwhelming.

The system was established on the recommendation of a world-famous firm of traffic consultants, De Leuw, Cather & Co., after a very careful study which demonstrated that one-way streets would move traffic more efficiently and with greater safety.

One-way traffic reduces the number of conflicts between vehicles and between vehicles and pedestrians; the possibility of head-on collision is drastically reduced; it's easier to pass slow-moving cars and cars that are double-parked; streets with an odd number of lanes can be used more efficiently; total traffic load is distributed over more streets; traffic congestion is reduced and street capacity is increased. One-way streets help the bus drivers meet their time schedules, and on one-way streets the motorist has the choice in many cases of using either side of the street for parking. A wholesale change of one-way streets back to the two-way pattern would require the junking of hundreds of signposts and the rearrangement of parking meters.

For these reasons, among others, the City Traffic Department favors the one-way system and the Long Beach Safety Council has recommended that the one-way system be retained.

IN ALL FAIRNESS, IT MUST BE acknowledged that a few citizens, including some business men along the streets in question, have found the one-way system inconvenient. The main argument they offer is that one-way streets hurt business.

Perhaps some spots here and there have been adversely affected, although economic reverses may have been merely coincidental with the establishment of one-way streets. However, the economic health of the entire downtown area and the safety of the people who travel through it are at stake in this controversy. We would like to note that the defenders of the one-way system include numerous representative businessmen from all walks of the community's economic life.

THE WEIGHT OF THE EVIDENCE and the majority of expert opinion are on the side of one-way streets, and for the good of the community, we hope the votes will be on that side when and if the issue reaches the stage of decision at city hall.

George Vermillion

GEORGE VERMILLION was one of Long Beach's finest citizens.

His death ends a career during which he shared generously with his beloved home community the ability and drive which made him successful in the field of private business.

The long list of civic and official positions he held, including the mayorship of the city, does not tell the story of George Vermillion's contributions. He gave generous support both in money and hard, conscientious work to dozens of worthy causes. He was a friend of the needy, often lending aid to the distressed in a way that was never publicized. He was devoted to his family, to his friends, and to the community where he won success after a triumph over a personal problem of alcoholism. Of the latter, he spoke frankly. His achievement was an example and a hope to all confronted with that problem.

It is a tragedy that political misfortune clouded the last few years of his life. After winning a position on the Council and the mayorship, he was defeated for reelection. Because of his devotion to the community, it was a severe blow and it seemed to affect his spirit in the later years. With George Vermillion, the fickle turn of politics could never be accepted as "one of those things."

But he continued to give his best where opportunity opened, and he left a record both in private business and in public-civic service that stands as a worthy monument to a good man.

CAPITAL CAPERS

A Threat From a Lady

By ROBERT E. LEE AND BILL BROOM

WASHINGTON—When Richard M. Nixon was in town last week he lunched at the National Press Club one day as the guest of a group of correspondents. The group ate in the members' bar, which is strictly off-limits to women. Just before lunch time an excessively aggressive woman reporter called the club to announce that she'd heard Nixon was going to have a press conference in the bar — which was, of course, erroneous — and to warn that she intended to attend, regardless of club rules and the fact that she wasn't invited anyway.

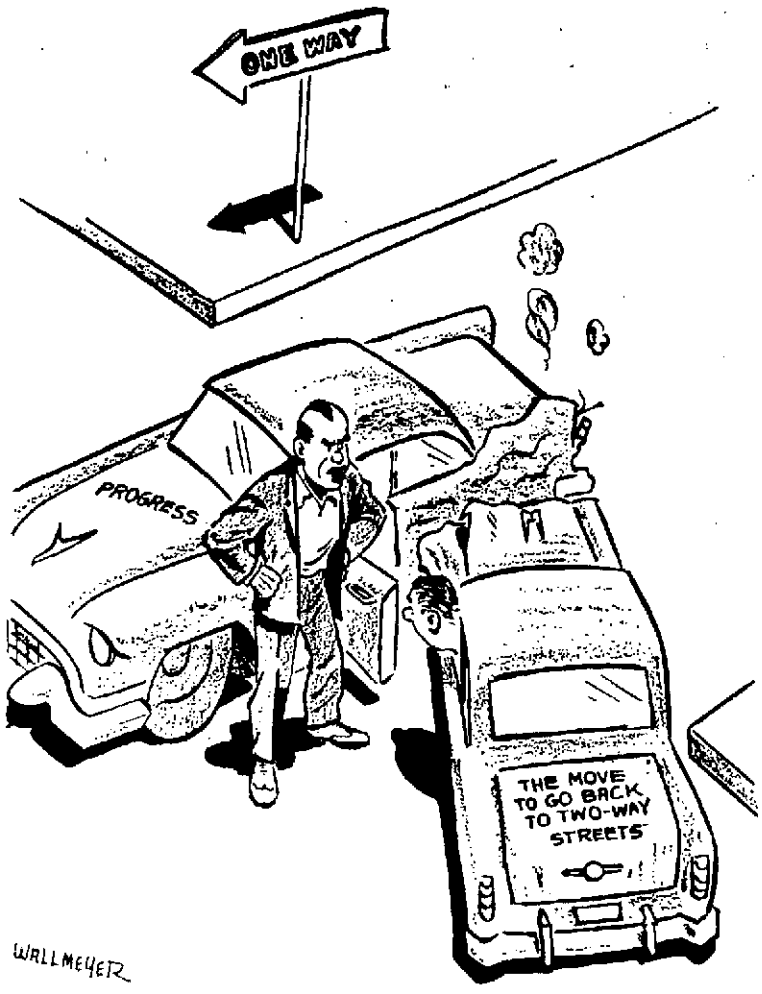

The lady in question is so noted for her self-assertive manner that the club management posted a burly bartender at the entrance to the bar just in case she or anybody else tried to crash the party. Happily for all concerned the lady did not show up and the luncheon went off without incident.

Nixon, a club member, used to drop in at the club occasionally but this was his first visit since his vice presidential days.

ANOTHER MEN'S CLUB, the exclusive Metropolitan Club, has been in the news lately because some government officials have criticized its policy of admitting only white members. Angier Biddle Duke, the state department chief of protocol, quietly resigned some months ago because of the policy. When the fact of his resignation became known recently, Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) wrote Duke a congratulatory letter calling the club "the last stronghold of mint julep, magnolia and country gentlemen with plantation manners."

'Aren't You the Same Guy That Wanted One-Way Streets?'

DAVID LAWRENCE

Nuclear Fear Used by Nikita as Weapon on Political Front

WASHINGTON — In appraising the significance of the decision of the Soviets to resume nuclear testing, it is important to bear in mind that the ban on tests in the last three years has not meant any ban on the designing and development of new weapons on the drawing boards and in the laboratories. Inventors, engineers and scientists have had no ban placed on their mental operations or research activities.

LAWRENCE

The Soviets undoubtedly have reached the point where, in order to develop or perfect their designs, they now need to make full-scale tests of some of their devices — tests that cannot be conducted underground and remain undetected. So they cover up this phase with a lot of hooey charging the western allies with a planned aggression. The occasion is used to try to scare the west into a surrender on the Berlin issue.

* * * *

IT HAS LONG been suspected that the whole controversy over the nuclear-test ban was started by the Soviets for selfish reasons. A worldwide propaganda was initiated by the Communists which was aided and abetted by sincere and well-meaning scientists, politicians and ordinary citizens in the West who were naively inclined to believe that Moscow really wanted to avert nuclear warfare and that the test ban was the first step toward disarmament.

Actually, it begins to appear now that the Soviets knew in 1958 that the United States was two or three years ahead in the technology of nuclear weapons. Moscow wanted time to catch up—to digest their own information and develop devices to the testing point while making sure that the West would be suspending its tests. The United States government, being responsive to the public opinion that had been created, went along on the voluntary ban on testing. The impression that had been given to peoples everywhere was that a suspension of testing was somehow related to an early abolition of the use of nuclear weapons themselves.

* * * *

BUT NOW THE simple fact stares everybody in the face—the Soviets not only are openly resuming tests but they talk of new and more terrible weapons than have ever before been conceived. How can they know this except by having carried on tests? Have their designs had the benefit of secret tests heretofore and given them some ideas which were converted into threats in the latest Soviet pronouncement? Moscow took advantage of the opportunity also to apply pressure on the political front, and thought all this was worth the risk of alienating world opinion.

Days of Decision Collecting on State Political Calendar

SACRAMENTO (AP)—One by one, days of decision are building up on the cloudy California political calender. So is the suspense.

It's true that five candidates for statewide office set some sort of a record by announcing well before the autumn leaves start falling.

NIXON

Most others, though, are waiting for the traditional period after Labor Day to tell their plans for 1962.

Republicans, of course, are looking for the word from Richard M. Nixon on whether he'll try for the governorship. Until he speaks up, the entire GOP slate will remain unsettled.

The Democrats haven't shaped up their ticket either.

Who, for instance, is going to take on Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel? Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk perhaps? Or Sen. Richards, D-Los Angeles? If it's Mosk, will Richards run for attorney general?

Nixon under mounting party pressure to head the Republican state ticket, has indicated he'll make his announcement somewhere between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1. It may come after a conference of Republican leaders in San Francisco Sept. 23.

IF NIXON SAYS YES, you can promptly write off other Republicans who are waiting for his decision.

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, for one, says he won't run if Nixon does.

Former Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has been urged by friends to attempt a comeback, and he has shown moderate interest in the race.

Knight, governor from 1953 to 1958, is going calling on old political friends in Northern California this week, and nobody will be stunned if they talk a little politics.

Gov. Brown is a certainly to seek reelection, but he hasn't pin-pointed the time and place for staging his announcement.

There is still no sign of a Democratic opponent but there is plenty of talk about a possible protest candidate.

Remembering the big vote that pension promoter George McLain rolled up against Brown in the 1960 presidential primary, the governor's party foes—and he has his share—could well put up somebody to fight his nomination. Stanley Mosk, the Democrats' leading vote-getter in 1958, expects to announce his 1962 plans around Thanksgiving.

SOME DEMOCRATS WOULD like to see the attorney general seek re-election. Others are quietly circulating the idea of Mosk for the U.S. Senate.

Howard Jarvis, Los Angeles industrialist and a right-wing Republican, already has put himself in the race against Kuchel. And it's considered possible that Rep. John H. Rousselot of San Gabriel, reapportioned out of his congressional district, may offer further conservative opposition to the Republican senator.

Among state offices, it's a good bet that 68-year-old Roy E. Simpson will not seek re-election as superintendent of public instruction. He is expected to say so formally at a departmental staff meeting he has called for Sept. 26.

Simpson's job is nonpartisan, and doesn't figure directly in the strictly partisan discussions going on today.

Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, only Republican holding state office, is a declared candidate for re-election. The Democrats apparently haven't picked out his opponent.

In addition to Jordan and Jarvis, former Lt. Gov. Harold J. Powers and Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles, both Republicans, are campaigning for governor. Democratic Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson has indicated he'll run again.

DIRECTORS OF THE CALIFORNIA Republican Assembly will meet in Salinas Sept. 15-17 to name the CRA's candidates fact-finding committee—first step toward putting together a Republican slate.

The CRA's counterpart, the California Democratic Council, will get together on the Democratic ticket at its convention in Fresno next Jan. 25-28.

You Have to Be FOR Something!

EDITOR:

I would like to take this means of asking a very important question. It concerns the members of the ulta-conservative, far-right, pro-fascist Long Beach Fire Department. These men spend all of their working time either studying the nature of conflagrations or in extinguishing them.

This means that these reactionaries are against fire, although fire certainly has its good points in providing warmth and cooking our food. Besides being anti-Fire, what are these firemen FOR? You can't just be anti; you have to be FOR something.

We face this danger in many areas of our life today. The members of law-enforcement agencies are anti-Crime; and those in the medical associations are anti-Disease. Is this the true nature of Americans; that we be anti-Crime, anti-Fire, or anti-Disease? Surely, we must be FOR something. What is it?

Montreal System One for Us?

EDITOR:

I have reason to believe that our police cars might need a little changing. The Montreal police are changing from regular police cars to an ambulance with a big engine.

The advantage of an ambulance-type police car is almost obvious. I read an article in the press telling about an ambulance driver being sued by Los Angeles because he went out of his district to save a man's life. If the police car in this area had an ambulance set up in back, the police could have taken the victim to the hospital immediately; instead of the two hospitals arguing over which one should send out an ambulance while the injured person lay there dying.

The Montreal police are trained in first aid for about nine weeks.

I don't know if this idea is the solution to an old problem, but I think that it should be considered by our city.

DREW PEARSON

Top Soviet Editors Rib U.S. Journalist

MOSCOW—I called on Daniil Kraminov, a former Russian war correspondent attached to the American Army, whom I had met in Washington and who is now editor of the weekly magazine "Abroad." A few days later Mr. Kraminov invited me to a luncheon at the restaurant Prague "to meet some Soviet newspapermen." I wasn't sure what I was getting into, but I accepted.

PEARSON

Mr. Kraminov also invited Mrs. P., and when we arrived at the restaurant we were confronted with the "top brass" of Soviet journalism, most of them with several years experience in the USA.

They included: Pavel Satiukov, editor-in-chief of Pravda; Alexei Adzhubei, editor-in-chief of Izvestia; Boris Burkov, president of the Novosti Press Agency; Enver Mamedov, vice president of Novesti who used to be stationed in Washington; Alexander Vishnevski, vice director of Tass, who was introduced as a great competitor of Novosti; Pavel Erofeivev, secretary of the Union of Soviet journalists; Eugene Litoshko, chief of the American department of Pravda; Victor Mayevski, chief of the Asian-African department of Pravda; Nicolai Karev, former American correspondent of Izvestia; and Vikentii Matveev, Izvestia's commentator.

I was a bit flabbergasted at first, but we settled down to a give-and-take discussion of capitalism, communism, peace, war, cow barns, and personalities which may give American readers a pretty good idea of what Russian moulders of public opinion are thinking.

When Satiukov, editor of Pravda, asked my preliminary impressions of Moscow, I replied that I had been favorably impressed by the Botkin General Hospital, the secondary schools I had visited, and a state farm, which I said had better cows than mine, but whose cow barn "was not as clean as mine."

Later, Satiukov, in a little speech, recalled how he had been invited to appear on NBC's "Youth Wants to Know" TV program, was grateful for that opportunity. He remarked that newspapermen had a habit of playing up the critical and playing down the constructive, and he added:

"I have already noted your criticism of one of our cow barns."

"Ah, ha," Joshed Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, "I can already see the headline 'Red Barn Houses Dirty Cows'."

I had visions of the farm manager, a very good guy, being fired, and tried to explain. I was howled down. My chief ribber was Adzhubei, the son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev. He has a frank, open face, ruddy complexion, and a contagious sense of humor.

"On the front page of the New York Times," he said, this time in dead earnest, "they carried a story about Kennedy's mail on the Berlin crisis, with the headline 'Poison Khrushchev.' You clean up your journalism and we'll clean up our cow barns."

* * * *

I HAD TO AGREE that this was an unfortunate headline.

"We protect you in the Soviet Union by publishing the good things you have to say about us and omitting the bad things," Adzhubei continued, this time with a smile. "That's how good we are to you. (He was referring to me personally.)

"You also once did me a great favor," I shot back. "Some years ago Izvestia published a very critical editorial attacking me, and when Sen. McCarthy was going after me all I had to do was quote Izvestia in reply."

"We'll do you the same favor again," joked Adzhubei. "How about a headline 'Pentagon Spy Comes to Moscow'?"

"How did you like McCloy?" I asked, referring to Kennedy's disarmament adviser who recently conferred with Khrushchev. "I saw that you and McCloy got your coats mixed up."

"I did that purposely to see if there were any disarmament plans in his pocket," Khrushchev's son-in-law flashed back. "Unfortunately his coat was bare."

Perhaps the question most deeply concerning the Soviet editors was whether extreme right wing or semi-Fascist elements in the United States were gaining in strength and how much influence they had on the Kennedy administration.

Victor Mayevski of Pravda noted that George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi party had gone to the southern states to take advantage of the freedom rider riots and stir up further trouble. Kramenov said that Roscoe Drummond had recently written a column supporting the basic philosophy of the John Birch Society.

I REPLIED that the John Birch Society had only 60,000 members out of 180,000,00 people and that such conservative newspapers as the Los Angeles Times had carried a series of front-page editorials attacking it. The Soviet journalists recalled that Hitler had only a handful of followers at the very start but had caused a world war which almost took over all Europe.

There was considerable interest in the fact that President Kennedy conferred occasionally with Eisenhower and Nixon.

"We thought you had elected a new administration," remarked one editor.

Childhood Colds

The average child under the age of ten has 40 to 60 per cent more colds and respiratory illnesses than his brother or sister who is over 10 but under 20, researchers have found.

LANGUAGES in the NEWS
By Charles F. Berlitz and Robert Strumpen-Darrie

TV viewers of westerns, both adult and juvenile, are being exposed to considerable vocabulary of Spanish origin. These words of cowboy usage, however, have often wandered quite far from their origin.

"Vamoose!" did not originally mean "go away!" but rather a more polite "let's go" — vamos (VAH-mohs). "Lasso" is lazo in Spanish (LAH-thoh) and means "knot." "Lariat" is la riata (lah-ree-YAH-tah) — "the rope." "Sombrero" has kept its original spelling and means "hat" — sombrero (sohm-BREH-roh), not necessarily a 10-gallon one. "Bronco" is simply "rough," "quarrelsome" — bronco (BROHN-koh). "Desperado" means "one without hope," a contraction of desesperado (des-ehs-pehr-RAH-doh).

Most western desperados eventually land in the "hoosegow" or "calaboose" which means "court"—juzgado (hoos-GAH-doh) and "jail" — calabazo (kahl-lah-BOH-thoh) respectively.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Drug Effective in Wide Range

(Prepared in collaboration with George X. Trimble, M.D., medical education director, Memorial Hospital of Long Beach.)

By BEN ZINSER

British researchers have developed what they say is the first penicillin effective against a wide range of germs.

Called Penbritin, the new preparation acts not only against bacteria ordinarily affected by penicillin but also against those organisms usually treated with tetracycline or chloramphenicol (Chloromycetin).

An important property of Penbritin is its activity against the salmonella germ, which causes food poisoning and paratyphoid fever, and the shigella germ, responsible for dysentery.

Penbritin, which is taken by mouth, is an outgrowth of research conducted by Beecham Research Laboratories of England.

Only two years ago Beecham discovered the process for manufacturing penicillin's nucleus: 6-amino-penicillanic acid. As a result, Beecham developed the first synthetic penicillin, known as phenethicillin and prescribed under such trade names as Syncillin, Alpen, Chemipen, Maxipen and Darcil.

Later came methicillin, trade-named Staphcillin, Celbenin and Dimocillin—a penicillin highly effective against resistant infections caused by Staphylococcus aureus, the "golden staph" germ.

Penbritin is the third and latest product of Beecham's penicillin research, according to the British Medical Journal.

HOT WEATHER may beef up the action of drugs that lower blood pressure, two London doctors report.

And as a result, they say, persons with high blood pressure who take such drugs may possibly suffer fainting spells during a heat wave.

The doctors—E. Montuschi and P. Pickens of Whittington Hospital—caution that physicians may have to reduce drug dosage when a hot spell comes along.

THE TRANQUILIZING drug Librium is safe even when an overdose is taken, according to two psychiatrists at the University of Sheffield in England.

Drs. F. A. Jenner and D. Parkin report in the journal Lancet that a 23-year-old woman patient suffering from depression and anxiety hoarded 185 capsules of 10mg strength. Then she swallowed all of them at one sitting, in a suicide attempt, and went to bed to die.

Twelve hours later the patient's mother went to call her and found her in a semiconscious condition. The patient was taken to a hospital where her stomach was washed out.

The patient was drowsy for three days and complained of headaches and inability to stand or sit by herself. But she recovered.

This case confirms that Librium is a comparatively safe drug, the doctors say. Unlike barbiturates, Librium does not appear to depress a person's respiratory mechanism.

LONG AGO Dr. Dan B. Greer of Cheyenne, Wyo., recognized the value of an automobile seat belt: He made his own out of airplane-belt parts until commercial belts became available.

Nowadays, he reports to Medical Tribune, teenage motorists, noting the shoulder harness he wears with his seat belt, ridicule him with such remarks as, "Afraid you're going to fall out of the car?"

"I am quite certain," he says, "that none of these people would have the stomach to stand in the emergency room and see the mangled bodies and dead bodies that I have observed."

Seat belts are so effective in reducing the death and major-injury figure that Dr. Greer says "the continual preaching (about seat-belt safety) is worth while."

Find $1 Million; Arrest Teacher

NICE, France (AP)—A blond school teacher was arrested Saturday after police reported $1 million worth of gold pieces, jewelry and gems were found in her apartment.

Helene Chanbovet, 25, teacher in a private school at Antibes, said she has been keeping the valuables for a boy friend she has known about four years, but whom she knows only by the name of Sacha, police said.

Exchange Students Return From Orient

SEATTLE (AP)—A summer in the Far East behind them, 83 American exchange students arrived in Seattle Saturday from Tokyo.

They were accompanied by 20 Indonesians who will stay with American families and attend high schools in the United States for a year under the student exchange program sponsored by the American Field Service.

WHY THE EXTRA M?

SMAMA Cause of Great Confusion at Air Base

WASHINGTON (UPI)—How come the Air Force designates the Sacramento Air Materiel Area as SMAMA?

Where, a UPI reporter wanted to know, did the extra M come from?

Not that he cared much, he told Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., but some editor was sure to ask.

Well, Moss, who had used it in a press release, didn't know either. So he asked the Air Force liaison office in the House. No one there knew either. So they asked the Pentagon.

The brass finally came up with an answer: It seems there is an Air Materiel Area in San Antonio, Tex., logically enough, is known as SAAMA.

This meant, the Air Force said, that the Sacramento Air Materiel Area could not be SAAMA—It had to be SMAMA.

Well, does the M stand for McClellan, like in McClellan Air Force Base?

Oh, no. It stands for the M in Mento.

S for Sacra. M for Mento. Get it?

By this time the reporter was so confused he forgot to ask why they didn't simply call it SAMA.

Stewarts' Africa Safari Ends; Anyone for Oryx?

By EARL WILSON

Beverly Hills — Jimmy Stewart is currently buttonholing Hollywood friends and demanding, "Is there any place you could use an oryx head?"

An oryx is one of the beasts he and wife Gloria slew on a recent African safari. What to do with all their jungle trophies is becoming a problem for Jimmy and his rifle-packin' mama.

"We've got a room downstairs for the kids—the kids may have to go," laughed Mrs. Stewart the other afternoon, as she considered their problem.

STEWART

Jimmy, sitting in their luxurious book-filled den here, turned to me. "You're sure you couldn't use an oryx head?"

They were together in the jungle for a month, with only another couple and their white hunters, and returned friends—a pretty good test for a marriage. About the only word they had from the outside world was a cable to Jimmy from John Ford. The cable said: "What's new?"

"Plenty," Jimmy cabled back.

Their description of it would make a good album, TV show, or even a movie. "Weren't you scared?" I asked.

"It's not nearly as dangerous as being in the traffic on the Hollywood Freeway — especially when Gloria's driving," Jimmy insisted.

* * * *

JIMMY got a tiger, and Mrs. Jimmy got a leopard on a previous safari in India. On this expedition, Mrs Stewart at one point was charged by 300 buffaloes. Or it may have been 200. She didn't stop to count.

Jimmy was many yards away at the time, watching the threatened destruction of his wife through binoculars.

"I knew nothing would happen—with the white hunter standing there," Mrs. Stewart recounted. "What did I do? I just screamed and yelled!"

"What did I do?" said Jimmy. "There was nothing for me to do but watch them trample over poor Gloria. But naturally, with Gloria screaming and yelling at them, the 300 buffalo got scared and ran away in terror."

"HOW do you account for your wife's huntsmanship?" I asked.

"Bloodthirsty, I guess," Jimmy said.

Mrs Stewart marveled at it a little herself. "People ask me, how did I feel after I'd walked up 20 yards in front of an elephant, and shot it, and I said, 'Delicious!' You see, I've always been a great animal lover—and still am."

She added that some of the animals, when old, are mangled by the younger ones, and for them to be shot is perhaps merciful.

"But I'm not going to say that you kill them for kindness, even though to the old, old boys it probably is a kindness," she said.

BECAUSE Peter Ustinov is busy with a multitude of things, his family comes to see him on the London studio set where he is working. He's surrounded hy his actress wife, Suzanne Cloutier, and children, Pavla, 7; Igor, 5; and Andrea Claudia, 2.

Versatile Ustinov

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Writes, Acts, Directs, Produces

By BOB THOMAS

LONDON (AP)—The amazing thing about Peter Ustinov is not that he does so many things so well. It is that he does them so easily.

By now, the Ustinov versatility is well known. It has never been more evident than in 1961. Already he has:

Won the Academy Award for his supporting performance in "Spartacus"; released a successful film, "Romanoff and Juliet," which he starred in, produced, directed and wrote from his own hit play; performed the same duties for a film of "Billy Budd," though the original was written by another author, Herman Melville; enjoyed good reviews and brisk sales for his first novel, "The Loser;" written a play, "Photo Finish," for production in London this fall; and produced a best-selling book caricaturing ex-Nazis, "We Were Only Human."

* * * *

SUCH A CREATIVE harvest would lead you to expect Ustinov to be an explosive bundle of energy. But he isn't. With his well-padded frame, he looks and acts like a puckish friar.

"It is quite convenient, not having to go through channels," he said. "I am writing all the time, seeking ways to improve scenes, and I don't have to call a conference to do so. The only trouble is a bit of schizophrenia on my part."

The question arose: How does he keep all his activities separate and unconfused?

* * * *

"I DO ONLY one thing at a time," he explained. "There was a time in my youthful exhuberance when I tried to do everything at once. I could hardly wait to finish one thing so I could get on to the next.

"I am different now. When I get started on a project, I think of nothing else and I am in no hurry to finish it."

And how does he manage to accomplish so much?

"I read somewhere that most humans use only 2 per cent of their actual brain capacity. That might be a bit low. Even if it were 80 per cent, that leaves a lot of creative energy that can be tapped."

BORN IN London 40 years ago to a writer-caricaturist and his artist wife, Peter had a solid British education. But his Russian name and ancestry gave him an external and often satiric view of things English. His knack for spoofing pomposity was sharpened during his Army service in the war.

Lew Ayres Returning to Movies After Eight Years

By JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Lew Ayres, once ranked among Hollywood's biggest stars, is returning to movies after an absence of eight years.

Ayres has been signed by Columbia Studios to portray a vice president of the United States in a movie version of the political novel "Advise and Consent."

During his absence from the screen, Ayres has been working in TV, He also traveled the world for a year shooting religious documentary films.

Despite the minor elements of his part, Ayres said the role may get some recognition and remembrance.

"THIS IS NOT the conventional type role for me," he said. "A conventional part for me is generally straight and sincere, perhaps with a sense of humor.

"I can't think of anybody who has played a doctor more than I have," he said with a smile, referring to his work in "Dr. Kildare" movies. "Sometimes I think I should get free treatment."

Ayres said he had offers for other picture parts during his eight years away from the screen, but added "I won't say I was flooded with them."

DISCUSSING current movie production, he said: "There seems to be a general tendency for more and more violence. A lot of it seems to be playing to the geratest common denominator."

Some members of the movie industry don't have "enough social conscience," Ayres said.

"The driving urge seems to be artistic freedom for the artist," he said. "This concerns me too and I don't say it's all wrong. But it's not attuned to the fact that there is a great emergency now.

"I only wish the real artists were attuned to the great problems of mankind. The artist has a chance to encourage mankind to do the nobler things."

Miss America 35 Years Old on Saturday

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—That grandmother of beauty contests, the Miss America Pageant, turns 35 next week, but Atlantic City never loved her more.

"Pageant week is the only time of the year when this entire town gets excited about anything," said a native. "Most of us figure Miss America is our own private institution."

Local mothers vie to get their daughters on floats in the pageant parade. "It's the nearest thing we have to being presented to society," one mother explained.

* * * *

SOME 25,000 persons usually watch the final night of the pageant. Pageant officials say they believe most of the audience is made up of local people instead of the Philadelphians who outnumber residents at many big events here.

With the Miss America competition the sole topic of conversation here all week, other beauty contests inevitably are mentioned — always without a good word for the imitator.

In fact, the feeling that the Miss America Pageant stands head and shoulders above the others seems to be the source of much of the enthusiasm. "The pageant satisfies their desires for a feeling of self-righteous respectability," an amateur psychologist theorized.

* * * *

"I'VE BEEN TO some of these other contests and I know what they're like," said Mrs. John M. Alton, chairman of the hostess committee for the pageant. "The finest young girls from good families come here. Because we have careful controls, we don't have any of these wild show-type things like the others."

"Miss America sure ain't a leg show anymore," an old-timer said. "The girls today are nearly all good clean college kids. It's a change from the old days. I remember some of the bags they used to bring in here."

The Miss America Pageant was the first of the "leg shows" when it was started in 1921. However, it collapsed after the 1927 contest and, except for one try in 1933, wasn't revived again until 1935.

* * * *

OFFICIALS OF THE reborn event have worked ever since to give the pageant respectability above all else, and to give respect to the title of Miss America.

The pageant now is considered so respectable that even calling it a "beauty contest" causes pained expressions in some circles. It is officially described by the executive director, Miss Lenora Slaughter, as "a contest of beauty, poise, charm, talent and intelligence."

Beginning with last year's pageant, talent counted twice as many points in the judging as any other single category.

* * * *

COLLEGE GIRLS are attracted to the contest today by the scholarship awards program started in 1945, when a $5,000 scholarship went to Miss America. Since 1947, state pageants have awarded other scholarships.

Miss America now receives a $10,000 scholarship and every girl in the national pageant gets some scholarship award, with the total running between $35,000 and $40,000. Local and state pageants give another $250,000 worth of scholarships in their contests.

Besides the $10,000 scholarship and assorted gifts, the girl who succeeds Nancy Anne Fleming of Montague, Mich., next Saturday night will be paid some $75,000 and expenses for personal appearances during the year of her reign.

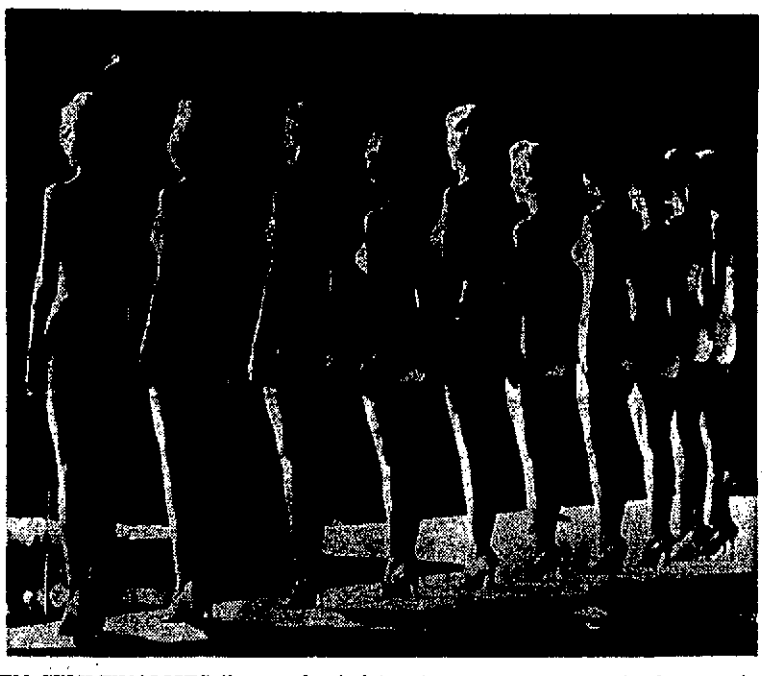

* * * *

IT IS ESTIMATED that 10,000 girls or more entered local contests this year alone.

The theme of this year's pageant will be "Salute to the American Girl."

All but 10 of the contestants will be eliminated by Saturday. Then the judges will narrow the field to five finalists.

And at midnight, one girl will enter a Cinderella world. Her life will never be quite

Exposition Director to Orient

The first overseas representative for the proposed 1966 Long Beach Planet of Man International Exposition left for Japan from Los Angeles Saturday.

George W. Waltz, an exposition director, will open an Orient office for the planned world's fair during his tour of Tokyo and other Far East cities.

* * * *

EXPOSITION president Thomas W. Blodgett said other directors will leave later this month to open other foreign offices to encourage participation in the scheduled Long Beach fair.

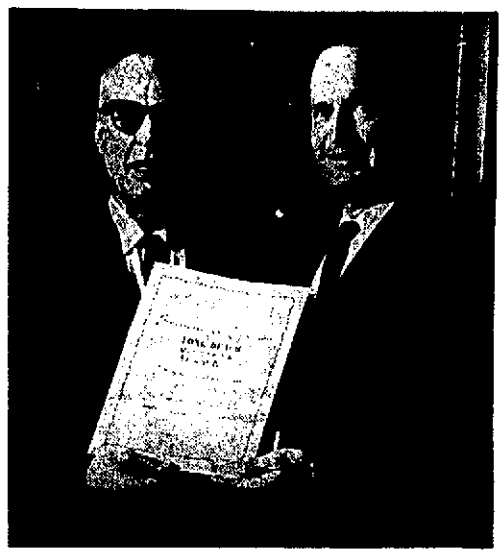

Scheduled to establish the overseas offices are Pietro DiCarlo, Europe; Dr. R. J. Carreon, Latin America, and L. O. Griffiths, Australia.

Bidding Waltz success as he boarded a Japan Air Lines plane were Long Beach Vice Mayor Bert Bond; Exposition general manager Fred Hall; Exposition treasurer and former U.S. treasurer Ivy Baker, Priest Stevens, and actor George Murphy who will produce entertainment shows at the proposed fair.

* * * *

THE EXPOSITION would cost more than $100 million and would be built on a pier yet to be built.

The 300-acre international city would be turned over to the city at no extra cost at the end of the 12-month run.

Earth Losing Water, May Become Desert

PASADENA (AP)—The earth is continually losing its water and some day will turn into a desert, an astronomer said Saturday after study of a vast hydrogen cloud surrounding this planet.

But don't lose any sleep over this grim prospect — the water loss is so slow that a billion years may pass before men get really thirsty.

The hydrogen cloud, 800,000 miles in diameter with a comet-like tail four million miles long, was discovered by rockets fired from White Sands, N. M., by the U.S. Naval Research Laboratory.

The rockets carried devices to measure the hydrogen in the thin upper reaches of the atmosphere. With these measurements Dr. John C. Brandt, National Science Foundation astronomer working at Mount Wilson and Palomar observatories, charted the probable extent of the hydrogen cloud.

HYDROGEN is the stuff of which the most powerful nuclear bombs are made. Could proposed nuclear testing in space touch off a chain reaction through the earth-enveloping hydrogen cloud?

Not a chance, says Dr. Brandt—the hydrogen atoms in the cloud are too far apart.

The existence of the cloud was discovered when rockets carried radiation counters high into the sky. Among the radiation encountered was a kind given off by hydrogen subjected to strong sunlight. It cannot be detected from the earth's surface because it is absorbed by the dense lower atmosphere.

How did the hydrogen get out that far into space?

* * * *

DR. BRANDT, in a report released by the California Institute of Technology, explains it this way:

Water vapor from rain clouds sometimes rises as high as 50 miles. Here it becomes so thin that when sunlight strikes the vapor it breaks down into its basic atoms of hydrogen and oxygen.

The heavier oxygen drops back down through the atmosphere. The lighter hydrogen atoms rise on up, forming the vast cloud, and eventually escape into space, never to return.

This process means the earth is continually losing water which cannot be regained. But it's a very slow process.

In a billion years, however, the loss may become critical. The actual length of time, Dr. Brandt ventures, will depend on how soon the sun fulfills its predicted destiny—turning into a blazing red giant of a star.

Dahlia Show

Dahlia hobbyists from San Diego to San Francisco will exhibit in mass display and specimen bloom competition at the show next Saturday and Sunday in Mayfair High School, 6000 Woodruff Ave., Lakewood. The show will be open from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

Vermillion Praised for Work

He built a fine career in the city and he served with honor and sincereity as mayor."

Vermilion was mayor from 1954 until 1957. At one time he was the owner of four drug stores.

An oil field worker when he first came to Long Beach in 1923, later served as a member of the school board, from 1941 to 1954. In 1954 he was elected to the city council and subsequently was appointed mayor.

* * * *

In 1957, Vermillion ran unsuccessfully for the post of councilman in the 8th District. He was defeated by Charles Dooley, a North Long Beach merchant.

* * * *

VERMILLION HAD also served in other civic capacities.

He was chairman of the Heart Fund campaign in 1958 and administered at one time the March of Dimes campaign.

He also was president of the Long Beach Boy's Club, a board member of the Children's Hospital Clinic, a member of Kiwanis and president of the Long Beach Pharmaceutical Association.

He is survived by his wife, Hazel, and two sons, George Jr. and Charles. Services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Sunnyside Memorial chapel.

'WINGS OVER THE WORLD'

23rd Annual Display of Aircraft Here Sept. 24

The 23rd annual "Wings Over the World," aid show, featuring displays of military and commercial aircraft, will be held Sept. 24 at Long Beach Municipal Airport.

The event, sponsored by the Long Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 10 a.m. and continue to 4 p.m.

In addition to military and commercial aircraft displays, said Myron R. Godwin Jr., of the Junior Chamber, there will be numerous static displays, airplane and helicopter rides and continuous entertainment.

"Miss Wings Over the World," to preside over the event, will be selected at 8 p.m. Sept. 23 at 8 p.m. at a Mayor's banquet in the Lafayette Hotel. She will be selected from among stewardesses from leading airlines.

Club Will Install Glogauer

Dr. Otto Glogauer will be installed president of the Long Beach After Dinner Speaking Club when the group begins its 36th year of regular meetings at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in Jones Dining Room, 120 E. Fifth St.

GLOGAUER

Other officers to be installed are: Dr. Russell Squire, vice president; B. J. Young Jr., secretary; W. M. Huddleston, treasurer; Dr. John Harris, parliamentarian and Dr. Otis Castleberry, mentor.

The speakers will include Charles Evett, long time member of the group, and Dr. Squire.

"Your grandchildren will grow up under Communism!"

says NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

Will the Soviet threat come true? Will your grandchildren live under Communism? Forget God? Salute the Soviet flag? "Never!" you say. But are you sure? How can you oppose Communism? One sure way is to help Radio Free Europe.

The voice is that of Nikita Khrushchev.
The audience is American.
"Your grandchildren will grow up under Communism!" he shouts.
Do you believe that?
Will your children live to see the Free World die?
Will your grandchildren live in barracks with their hair shaved off? Forget God? Salute the Soviet flag?
"Never!" you say. But are you sure?
What can you do to oppose Communism? There is one sure way. It is to help Radio Free Europe.

What does it do?
Every day, to 79 million captive people behind the Iron Curtain, it broadcasts the plain truth . . . religious services . . . folk songs they love . . . the real news of the outside world.
It helps keep these 79 million people from turning to Communism. The Poles, Czechoslovakians, Bulgarians, Rumanians and Hungarians.
It keeps alive their belief in the Free World . . . their hope for the future . . . their friendship for America.
Broadcasting from 28 transmitters . . . manned by escapees from Communism . . . working 18 hours a day . . . it reaches over 90% of these people, despite Communist jamming.
Thousands of smuggled letters echo the same plea:
"God Bless You! Please keep Radio Free Europe on the air!"

These 79 million people are vital to the cause of freedom . . . the future of your children.
They are the buffers between Russia and the Free World. They help tie up 30 Russian divisions, stationed to prevent uprisings.
They pose a major obstacle to the Russians starting any war. And they depend on Radio Free Europe. It is their strongest link with the Free World.

But Radio Free Europe needs money to continue this important job . . . to grow . . . to become ever more effective.
It is privately supported and depends on individual Americans for its very existence.
How about it? Will you help fight Communism? Secure the future of your children?
. . . Give a dollar?
. . . Give five dollars?
. . . or more?
Surely, your heart tells you to give something so that our children—and all children—shall live in freedom throughout the world.

Give Now To . . . RADIO FREE EUROPE

French Seize 20 Rightists for Terrorist Campaign

PARIS (AP) — French police said Saturday they have seized important documents from one section of the widely scattered anti-government movement in France and arrested 20 of its members. The leaders are still in flight, however.

Acts of violence were blamed on the plotters, including a murder with a plastic bomb.

A spokesman at the Interior Ministry said the seized documents confirmed existence of a "provisional government for a French Algeria" and clearly identified Joseph Ortiz as one of its leaders.

Ortiz is under a death sentence for his part in the 1960 Algerian barricades uprising and is believed to have been living in exile on the Spanish island of Majorca since the insurgent movement collapsed.

Police said that the right-wing network was responsible for a number of recent plastic bomb attacks in France. The captured documents indicated Ortiz sent instructions for the attacks through an elaborate courier network.

Most of the arrests, which took place during the past few days but were kept secret, were in southwestern France.

Among the attacks which police attribute to the movement were the plastic explosion which killed Camille Blanc, mayor of Evian, a few days before the opening of peace talks with the Algerian rebels last May, and an explosion and fire in the National Assembly in Paris last spring.

Many blasts of plastic, a sticky type explosive, have been blamed on rightists.

The police identified Ortiz, Gen. Jacques Faure and Dr. Bernard LeFevre as other members of the nebulous "Provisional Government of French Algeria."

Gen. Faure is being held in Sante prison awaiting trial for a part in the generals' revolt in April. Faure long has been identified with right-wing actions in Algeria. Dr. LeFevre, known principally as a political theoretician, was expelled from Algeria for his rightist activities. His whereabouts are unknown.

Germans Protested by Welsh Marchers

CARDIFF, Wales (UPI) — About 500 demonstrators marched through the streets of Cardiff Saturday in protest against the presence of 400 West German troops and 40 tanks in Wales.

The organizers had expected about 5,000 to turn out.

Dodger, Tiger Pennant Hopes Jolted

Spahn Spins 7-Hitter, 4-0

By GEORGE LEDERER
I, P-T Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — Warren Spahn passed another name in the record books and the Dodgers all but passed out of the pennant picture Saturday.

The 40-year-old Spahn, who, like bourbon improves with age, was 100 (fool) proof in pitching the Milwaukee Braves to a 4-0 victory that dropped the Dodgers 3½ games behind the league-leading Reds.

With 26 games to play, the Dodgers' magic number for pennant elimination has been reduced to 21. Any combination of 21 Dodger defeats and/or Cincinnati victories will sew up the flag for baseball's oldest franchise.

The Dodgers brought home a 5-10 record from their next-to-last trip of the season and they displayed some dime store wares along the way. Ahead is a seven-game series with the always troublesome Giants, beginning at the Coliseum this afternoon.

* * * *

JOHNNY PODRES (17-4) is matched against Mike McCormick in the opener. Night games Monday through Wednesday complete the Coliseum half of the series.

Manager Walter Alston believes that the Dodgers "ought to win four of the seven to stay close. It would be nice to win five and I'd say that would put us in pretty good shape. It's tough to say exactly what we have to do. It all depends on what Cincinnati does."

Spahn, winning his eighth in a row, turned in another magnificent performance Saturday. He increased his league record shutout total for left-handers to 53 and tied Eddie Plank's disputed major league record of 305 victories by a left-hander.

* * * *

PLANK'S RECORD is listed in some books as 304, 305 in others and 325 in one, counting 21 wins in the outlaw Federal League.

Spahn, who still has only a 17-31 lifetime record against the Dodgers, didn't care about the dispute. He was happy to register his first shutout over his jinx club since 1949 and to beat the Dodgers three times in one season the first time since 1950.

Only two Dodgers reached third base as Spahn fashioned a seven-hitter for his 17th victory against 12 losses. He

Seyfried to Tigers

Long Beach rookie pitcher Gordon Seyfried was called up by the Detroit Tigers Saturday. He had a 12-7 record with Denver of the American Assn.

2-Year Pact for Birdie

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Milwaukee Braves manager Charlie Dressen was fired Saturday in a surprise move and executive vice-president Birdie Tebbetts was named to replace him.

Tebbetts, who said three years ago he'd never manage again, resigned voluntarily from his front office job to "go back to the sweat and action" of the playing field.

He added, however, that by taking the job he was not eliminating himself from further executive positions in baseball. General manager John McHale, who made the announcement at a press conference following the Braves' 4-0 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers, said Tebbetts will "finish out this season as field manager." He has signed a two-year contract for 1962 and 1963.

* * * *

DRESSEN, who was in the second year of a two-year contract, said he didn't know about the firing "until this afternoon." He said it would take him a couple of days to clean out his desk, "and then I'm going back to the West Coast." He said he had called Los Angeles Dodger general manager Buzzie Bavasi as soon as he learned of the firing, but didn't say what they talked about.

McHale said Tebbetts was hired and Dressen fired at this time "because Tebbetts might not be available next year." He said that Braves' owner Lou Perini has been trying to hire Tebbetts as manager since 1946.

* * * *

MCHALE SAID the Braves are not displeased with the way Dressen ran the club, but "there were a lot of disciplinary problems and friction among the players."

Dressen said, "I wanted to stay on and I wanted a new contract. I thought Tebbetts was going to be president."

Dressen blasted the timing of the move. "If they had thought of making a change," he said, "they might have wanted to make it before the All-Star game."

JAY NOTCHES 19TH

Reds Collect 17th in Row From Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds boosted their National League lead to 3½ games over the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday with a 7-4 victory over their favorite "cousins" the Philadelphia Phillies.

Home runs by Vada Pinson, Jerry Lynch and Gene Freese helped the Reds to their 17th straight of the season over the last place Phils.

The victory moved Cincinnati within five games of becoming the first team in major league history to blank an opponent over a season's play.

* * * *

JOEY JAY won his 19th against only eight defeats although the husky right-hander wasn't as sharp as usual and several times prompted bullpen action.

He finally needed help on this hot, sultry day — the temperature was in the 90s—when the Phillies rallied for a run in the ninth on a single, a hit batsman and Tony Taylor's double. Bill Henry came on to strike out John Callison for the final out with two men on base.

ACTION GALORE AT WRIGLEY FIELD

Action was hot and heavy at Wrigley Field Saturday as typified by pictures of staff photographer Skip Shuman. On left, Angels' Leon Wagner is forced at second as Dick Howser of K.C. relays throw to first in fourth inning. Jerry Lumpe is in back of Howser and ump Jim Honochick in background. On right, Angels' Tom Satriano is about to slide home safely in seventh inning as Haywood Sullivan can't pick up throw from Bobby Del Greco.

Yanks Surge Ahead by 3½

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roger Maris crushed the Detroit Tigers with his 52nd and 53rd homers Saturday, spurting eight games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace while powering the New York Yankees to a 7-2 victory that increased their lead to 3½ games in the American League.

Maris' first homer of the game came off loser Frank Lary in the sixth inning and broke a 2-2 tie. His second wallop was at the expense of reliever Hank Aguirre with one on in the eighth and capped a four-run rally.

All told, Maris collected three of the Yankees' eight hits and drove in three runs with a double in addition to his two homers.

* * * *

EVEN WITH Maris' slugging, relief ace Luis Arroyo still had to put down an eighth-inning threat that earned him his 26th "save" of the year and preserved Ralph Terry's 12th victory.

The Tigers jumped in front in the first inning when Rocky Colavito hit his 40th homer with Al Kaline on base. But the Yankees scored single runs in the second and fourth to tie the score and set the stage for Maris' tie-breaking homer with two out in the sixth.

McBride's Six-Hitter Stifles K.C.

By ROSS NEWHAN

The names are the same, only the place has been changed to protect a harassed American League schedule maker.

The Angels and Kansas City continue their "eight-game series" this afternoon in Kansas City, where everything's up-to-date except the Athletics. After splitting the first four games of the set at Wrigley Field, the Angels and A's play a single game today, a doubleheader Monday and a single night game Tuesday in spacious Municipal Stadium.

Attempting to notch the Angels' ninth win in the 15th meeting with K.C. will be Jack Spring (0-0), the recently acquired southpaw who hurled hitless ball for five innings in his first start

Same Old Bill Wade

Ram fans unhappy with the early performances of Zeke Bratkowski and Frank Ryan can take heart with some news the writer picked up in Chicago two days ago: Bill Wade is doing no better—maybe worse—for the Bears.

The Rams unloaded Wade to George Halas U. during the off-season for undesirable Zeke Bratkowski. When the deal was completed, Papa Bear Halas immediately declared Wade almost certainly would be his No. 1 quarterback "because he's the kind of man we've been wanting for a long time."

BILL WADE
Still No Fireball

Apparently, Halas better keep on looking for his man. During the past seven weeks Halas has been observing Wade as the Rams had glimpsed him for seven seasons. This was Halas' summation of Wade after seven weeks:

"The present situation with Wade and Brown (Ed) is no different from the days of Bratkowski and Brown. The Bears still have no first quarterback.

"Wade has a tendency to be very good or very bad. There's no in-between with him. We could go for a big afternoon with Bill or get run out of the stadium. His passing is outstanding, but his field generalship is not in the class of a Unitas."

Give Halas credit for one thing: He learned in six weeks what it took the Rams to discover in seven years.

"It looks like another dubious season for the Bears," commented a Chicago writer who covers the NFL club. "We've never had that real good quarterback for a long time. The Bears drafted Bratkowski as an undergraduate at Georgia, but he never fulfilled his destiny.

"As Halas says, Wade lies in the same mold of both Brown and Zeke."

My earlier selection of the Bears to wind up sixth in the seven-team Western Division wasn't ridiculed by the Bear scribe.

He pointed out the Bear defensive secondary is so poor that Harlon Hill, the onetime great offensive end, has been installed at a defensive back spot. Rick Casares apparently has slowed up so badly at fullback that rookie Bill Brown from Illinois may spend more time there than man-about-town Rick.

It does look like a dubious season for the Bears . . . even with the great Monday morning quarterback, Mr. Wade.

THE BEARS AREN'T ALONE in the Outstanding Quarterback Dept. When you count noses only three clubs seem strong in the vital passing role.

Johnny Unitas at Baltimore, Milt Plum at Cleveland and Bart Starr at Green Bay stand alone in the league and on their respective teams.

Bobby Layne will have no competition at Pittsburgh—although he's obviously over the hill—and Sam Etcheverry probably has the Chicago Cardinal job sewed up. Likewise George Shaw of the toddling Minnesota Vikings.

ALL THE OTHER CLUBS have problems with two mediocre quarterbacks. The Rams are fidgeting each game with Bratkowski and Frank Ryan . . . the Bears have Brown and Wade.

New York has a threesome — Charlie Conerly, Y. A. Tittle and Lee Grosscup.

Detroit hasn't yet drawn a line between Jim Ninowski and Earl Morrall. Ditto at San Francisco, where there's John Brodie and Bill Kilmer (and maybe even "Muddy" Waters).

Sonny Jurgensen and King Hill are neck-and-neck at Philadelphia . . . Eddie LeBaron and Don Meredith are on an even basis at Dallas . . . Ralph Guglielmi and young Norman Snead are clashing at Washington.

This evaluation lends more than a little nourishment to this corner's selection of Baltimore to sack the Western Division title this season.

Unitas is the very best at the most important spot. Why buck the chalk, when everything else is equal?

I WILL BE INTERESTED to learn if there was another reason why the Rams unloaded Del Shofner (and another player) to the Giants for a draft choice.

The unsolicited opinion of this corner is that this deal might have paved the way for the Rams' acquisition of Y. A. Tittle.

Despite denials from Hirsch, Waterfield, Teele and Company, I'll have to think the Rams may have given away Lazy Legs Del for the very-soon acquisition of ancient Y. A.

And wouldn't you think that venerable Y.A.T. will be responsible for a few more TDs than Lazy Legs? You bet your life you would.

RICHARDS TO BOSS HOUSTON

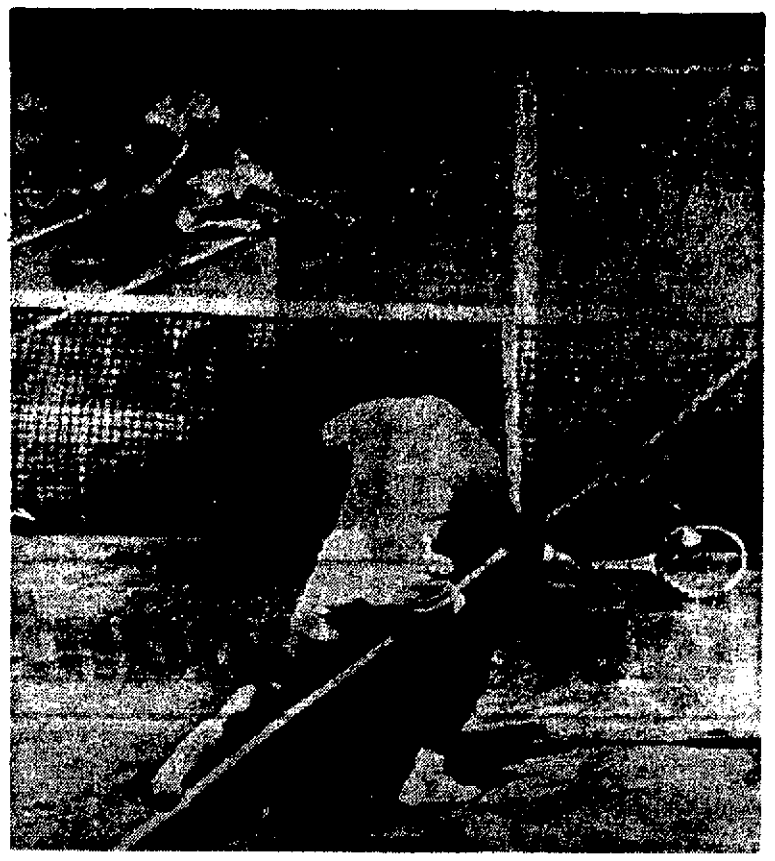

HOUSTON (UPI) — Paul Richards, a gentleman farmer said to be one of the finest managers in baseball, formally agreed Saturday to take the helm of Houston's National League Colts and build his native state's first major league team.

The 52-year-old Waxahachie, Tex., resident verbally agreed in a long distance telephone call from Baltimore to a three-year contract as general manager of the Colts.

Richards' agreement climaxed four months of negotiations between him and officials of the Houston club.

He is the only man the Colt owners talked to since Gabe Paul resigned as general manager of Houston on April 27.

After Paul resigned, the Houston owners decided Richards "best fit the requirements for Houston" and permission was obtained from the Baltimore club to talk with him. The commissioner's office was advised of this arrangement.

Seixas Romps at Forest Hills

History-Making Comeback Registered by Old Master

By OSCAR FRALEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Vic Seixas, 38-year-old Philadelphia veteran who was a ranking star two decades ago, played it from memory Saturday to win a history-making first-round match in the U.S. Amateur tennis championships.

Seixas, the 1954 champion who now is an investment broker, dusted off husky Dennis Lynch of Rumson, N.J., but the 7-5, 6-4, 6-0 triumph merely served as the setting for another "first" at Forest Hills.

On the courts where Althea Gibson broke the tennis color line, the Seixas-Lynch match was the vehicle through which a Negro umpire was the first of his race to officiate on the famed center court. He was Titus Sparrow of Boston, one of the best umpires from the New England area.

Sparrow's appearance went almost unnoticed by the handful of sun-blistered spectators as Seixas, depending primarily on his big service and an assortment of drop shots, dusted of his opponent with an ease which wasn't reflected in the score of the first set.

Seixas' old Davis Cup sidekick, Hamilton Richardson of Dallas, had an upset in the making when he won the first set from seventh-seeded Jon Douglas, former Stanford quarterback from Santa Monica, Calif.

* * * *

BUT RICHARDSON, who also is a seldom playing investment broker these days, buckled under the 93-degree heat and a rash of double-faults to bow out in the first round, 3-6, 6-2, 10-8, 6-1.

In another feature match, Billy Bond, the 1957 champion from La Jolla, Calif., who is being mentioned as a Davis Cup replacement for the suspended Dennis Ralston, scored a crushing win over John Powless of Cincinnati. Bond beat the assistant basketball coach from the University of Cincinati, 6-0, 6-0, 6-2.

Three foreign threats, headed by Wimbledon champion Angela Mortimer of England, powered their way into the second round in women's play.

* * * *

MISS MORTIMER, seeded second to defending champion Darlene Hard, disposed of Virginia Brown of Fort Worth, 6-0, 6-2.

Sixth-seeded Lesley Turner of Australia scored a comeback 2-6, 6-3, 6-4 triumph over Belmar Gunderson of Indian Lake, Fla., while seventh-seeded Ann Haydon of Great Britain beat Barbara Benigni of San Francisco, 6-0, 6-3. Karen Hantze of Chula Vista, Calif., breezed past Susan Behlmar of Yonkers, N.Y., 6-0, 6-3.

Hard in PSW Meet

Darlene Hard of Long Beach, reigning national women's tennis queen, will compete in the 35th annual Pacific Southwest championships Sept. 14-24 at L.A. Tennis Club.

HAWKS KEEP TITLE HOPES ALIVE

Nip Ogden, 3-2, After 4-0 Loss

By RAY CUNNINGHAM

ROCK ISLAND, Ill.—The Long Beach Nitehawks nipped Ogden, Utah 3-2 here Saturday night to keep alive their title hopes in the International Softball Congress world tournament.

Earlier in the day, the Hawks were blanked by El Paso, 4-0, in a game continued from the rained-out Friday card. It was the first time Long Beach has ever been shut out in a tourney.

The Nitehawks' winning run came in the sixth. Corty Van Dyk singled to right and raced to second on a misplay of the throw in. Then with two away Roger Hull banged a single to center to score Maris.

* * * *

LONG BEACH loaded the bases in the first and scored when Paul Peterson was hit by a pitch. Ogden went ahead in the second, but in the bottom half Nick Hopkins doubled, was sacrificed by Art McCary to third and then stole home.

If the Hawks are to repeat as world champions they must win doubleheaders tonight and Monday night. They face the host Rock Island, tonight, and if they win they come back later in the evening against the loser of the Tulsa-El Paso game.

Perry Hurls Blank, Earns Indians Split

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Jim Perry blanked Baltimore on four hits Saturday night as the Cleveland Indians earned a split of their day-night doubleheader with a 6-0 victory after the Orioles won the opener, 3-2.

Perry was never in serious trouble enroute to his 10th win against 12 losses. In the afternoon game, Milt Pappas, with a last-inning assist from Hoyt Wilhelm, notched his 11th victory against seven defeats.

CHARLIE COE
Clinches U. S. Win

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Golden boy Arnold Palmer conquered an errant putter, tricky winds and par Saturday in fashioning a one-under-par 33-36—69 that gave him a halfway mark total of 136 and a three-stroke lead over the $30,000 Dallas Open golf tournament field.

The muscular Pennslyvanian made his move toward the $4,300 first prize money by pulling out of a first-round three-way tie for first place despite what he termed some "awful putting."

Host pro Earl Stewart Jr. and defending champion Johnny Pott of Shreveport, La., who started the day's activities bracketed with Palmer at three-under-par 67s, couldn't master Oak Cliff Country Club's wind-blown treachery and wound up with two-over-par 35-37—72s and 36-hole totals of 139.

"I played real good, but I did some awful putting," Palmer said. "I missed a bunch of times for birdies."

* * * *

HIS SECOND sub-par round, coupled with a second consecutive struggling round by top-money winner Gary Player, gave every indication Palmer might wipe out much of the nearly $5,000 bulge the South African holds over him in the money race. Going into this tournament, Player had pocketed $64,401 to Palmer's $55,499.

Palmer two-putted for a birdie on the par five second hole and dropped six and 10-foot putts for his other birdies on the fifth and 16th greens. But he three-putted the 10th from 10 feet and did the same from 20 feet on No. 15 for bogies.

U.S. Routs British to Win Walker Cup

SEATTLE (AP)—America's razor-sharp amateur golfers renewed their lease on the Walker Cup for another two years Saturday by polishing off the British 11 matches to 1 in a record equaling rout.

To Charles Coe, Oklahoma City oil broker and non-playing captain of the American side four years ago, went the distinction of clinching the victory, the eighth straight for the United States since the British won their only title in 1938. Coe stormed home a 5 and 4 winner over Mike Lunt.

Prior to Coe's triumph, Deane Beman of Arlington, Va., had registered a 3 and 2 conquest of Mike Bonallack in a battle of national champions, while Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia crushed Dave Frame, 7 and 6.

Only Martin Christmas, the youngest member of the British team at 21, was able to stem the American tide. He triumphed over Charles Smith of Gastonia, N.C., 3 and 2.

Other triumphs in the American landslide were by Dr. Bud Taylor of Pomona, Calif., 3 and 2, over James Walker; Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, Ohio, who mastered Joe Carr, 6 and 4; Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., who defeated Maj. David Blair, 5 and 4, and Robert Gardner of New York, who closed out the British massacre with a 1 up triumph over Ronald Shade.

Cubs Sock 4 Homers, Cardwell Stifles S.F.

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs unloaded an extra-base hit attack which included home runs by Ron Santo, George Altman, Ernie Banks and Billy Williams Saturday, hammering the San Francisco Giants, 7-0, behind right-hander Don Cardwell.

The Cubs collected 11 hits, eight of them for extra bases in routing Jack Sanford and tagging him with his eighth defeat in 18 decisions.

Cardwell limited the Giants to five hits and evened his record at 12-12, hurling his third shutout of the season. The loss dropped the Giants into fourth place, one-half game behind the Milwaukee Braves.

Cardwell has yielded but three earned runs in his last four games. He lost two of those games, however, by 1-0 and 2-1 scores.

Monbouquette Hurls Bosox to 2-1 Triumph Over Twins

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP)—Bill Monbouquette, with ninth inning relief help from Arnold Earley, pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday.

Monbouquette was sailing with an eight-hitter until the Twins put two men on base in the final frame. Earley then got pinch-hitter Ted Lepcio to hit into a double play to preserve Monbouquette's 11th victory against 12 defeats.

Changes Needed, but None Seen for Rams

As we have been warning readers for the past month, there can be no great optimism over the Rams this season . . . in their present form.

And with the final cutdown to 36 players only a week away, it appears as if the Rams will have to go with what they have. There are no signs of any major deal being pulled off to strengthen them enough in the critical spots this year.

BOB ST. CLAIR
Rams Need New Twist

Any big improvement in the current outlook will have to come from some new offensive fireworks devised by the coaching staff . . . perhaps its own version of the "shotgun" — the "Waterfield Rifle."

As the veteran Bob St. Clair pointed out, "the Rams won't threaten with the personnel they have unless they get something new on offense . . . some gimmick to pose a few new problems for the defenses, like our 'Shotgun' is doing. They don't have the offensive line power to punch their way through now. Although the young Ram linemen are big and strong, it will take time for them to develop. In the meantime, a new gimmick might help nullify the great superiority of the defensive lines they will have to meet."

Another veteran tackle, Leo Nomellini, agreed. "The Rams have everything to be a big winner but top line play. Could be that a new gimmick could overcome some of their deficiencies up front."

As St. Clair points out, "the real secret of the Shotgun's success is that it tires opposing defensive linemen. That's what it was devised for last year . . . to nullify the greater strength of Baltimore's big defensive line.

"Chasing a tailback going wide takes more out of the league's real big defensive linemen in four or five plays than it does in 10 to 15 minutes of sitting in the middle of the line plugging a hole.

"By spreading these lines and making the big boys run more is what gives us a better chance of making our offense go with the type of manpower we have. As it stands, we can't meet the stronger clubs head-on and expect to do much consistently.

"The Rams are in the same position. Something new could give their offensive linemen a big lift."

DESPITE THE FACT THEY LOST, to the 49ers Friday night by a 38-20 score, there is hope from the Rams play that there will be a few bright spots to cheer about during the forthcoming season.

After playing the likes of the Cleveland Browns the week before, the Rams—as they say in horse racing—dropped down a bit in class and found the type of company they might be able to go against in the championship race.

The lop-sided score was due to the worst rash of Ram mistakes of the season. Where they were outgunned by the Browns in all departments, it was their own "goofs" which enabled the 49ers to run up the count.

In the first 16½ minutes, for instance, two crippling penalties cost the Rams potential touchdowns and they had to settle for field goals. That meant a difference of eight points right there.

Then, just before halftime, three straight interceptions set up a 17-point 49er surge in a period of just one minute and 26 seconds. And a fumble in the fourth quarter set up the final touchdown.

In all, Ram errors meant a difference of 32 points in favor of San Francisco.

THE WHOLE 49ER CAMP WAS pleased with the performance of rookie Bill Kilmer from UCLA who steered the club to three touchdowns in the second half in his first appearance of the season as the "trigger" in the "Shotgun."

"He did what we expected," coach Red Hickey declared, "That's why we picked him No. 1. Pretty good showing for his first appearance, eh?" he asked. "And isn't that the kid they said couldn't pass?" He laughed with deep satisfaction as he looked at the statistics that showed Kilmer threw touchdown passes of 66 and 10 yards.

"But don't let Bill's performance allow you to overlook John Brodie's first half. He played an amazing game. The first half, too, is always your toughest half."

WHAT DO THE 49ERS' FEEL ABOUT their chances in the Western Division title race? They believe they'll fight it out with Green Bay and Detroit.

"Green Bay appears to be the class," said St. Clair. "The Packers have the best balance," chimed in Nomellini. R. C. Owens of "Alley-Oop" fame, said that "Green Bay has to be the favorite. We feel we should be rated next. Detroit is the sleeper. Baltimore appears to be going down and the Bears are not particularly outstanding.

"Injuries, however, will determine the championship," Owens added. "Last year Green Bay was lucky not be get any major injuries."

Eagles Edge Redskins

BRISTOL, Tenn. (UPI) — The world champion Philadelphia Eagles came from behind to edge the Washington Redskins, 17-10, to win their fourth consecutive National Football League exhibition game Saturday night.

The Eagles overcame a 3-0 Washington lead late in the second quarter when quarterback Sonny Jurgensen passed 10 yards to flanker back Tommy McDonald. The Skins came right back, however, on a 41-yard pass from Ralph Guglielmi to Dick James.

TEAM STUMBLES CAUSE PLAYER GRUMBLES

Rams 'Hit Road' to Minnesota

By JERRY WYNN

The Rams have chosen an excellent time to leave sunny, fun-filled Southern California. After a month and one half under the searing Redlands sun and four red-hot nights at the Coliseum, a week in cool and friendly Minnesota is just what the doctor ordered for a slight case of shotgun-shell shock.

Or to put it another way, instead of being asked publicly to jump in the lake—a large one like the Pacific Ocean—they now will be able to dowse their sorrows privately in the famed northern land of 10,000 lakes.

Too, when they arrive in St. Paul early Friday to play the Minnesota Vikings Sunday, the Rams will have a chance to renew acquaintances with old buddy-boy Norman Van Brocklin, coach of the Vikings; Stan West, line coach, and Bert Rose, general manager, all Ram alumni tried and true.

On the field Sunday, they can chat with former teammates Will Sherman, Jack Morris, Don Ellersick, Jerry Stalcup and Gene Selawski and exchange back-slaps with such old rivals as Hugh McElhenny (remember, he was always at his worst at the Coliseum) and Don Joyce (the lovable former Colt linebacker who once clobbered Les Richter with his helmet).

Sounds like a ball, eh?

In fact, the Rams expect to have such a fine time in Minnesota, they'll remain at St. Paul through Friday, Sept. 15, before enplaning to Baltimore for the league opener against the Colts, Sept. 17. Needless to say, they don't expect such comradery in nasty Baltimore.

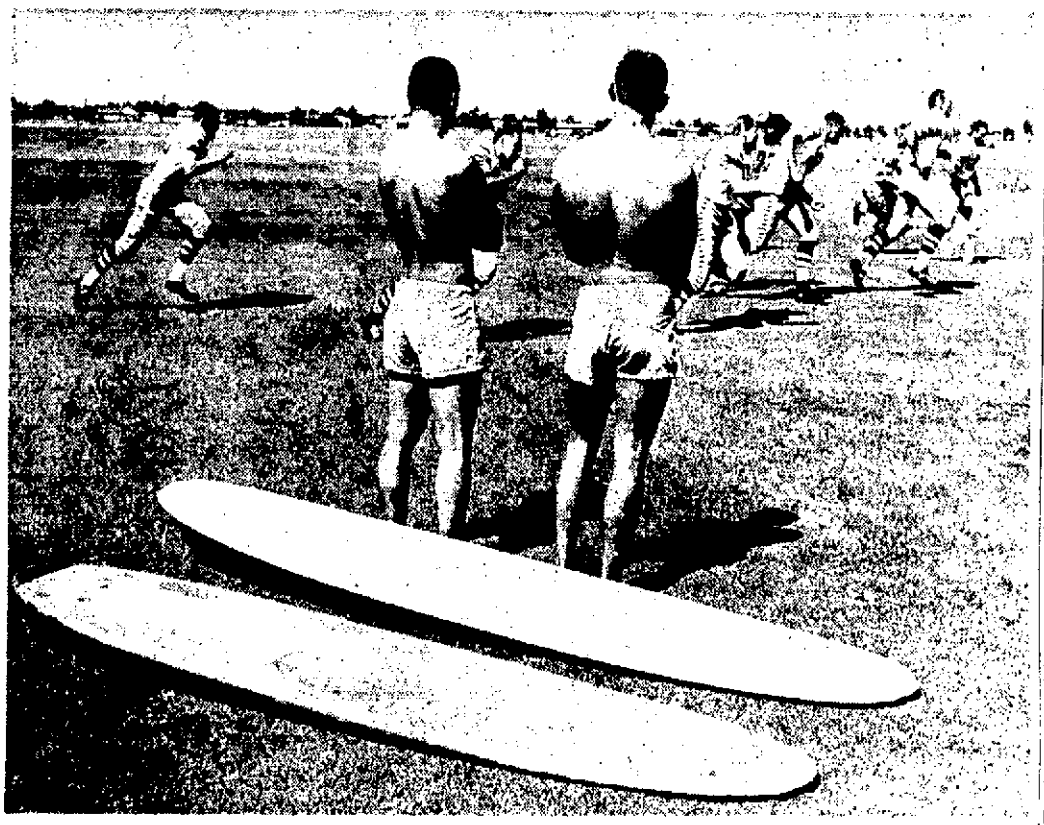

There was a game at the Coliseum Friday night. The Rams would like to forget it, because they were awful. Against a team with inferior personnel, the hated San Francisco 49ers, the Rams made rival kittens look like lions and tigers in absorbing a 38-20 licking.

The Rams felt the defeat keenly, and there was grumbling for the first time among players in the dressing room. Star end Red Phillips stalked out asking for the number of boss Elroy Hirsch. Quarterback Frank Ryan had a verbal spat with coach Bob Waterfield.

"I haven't heard a word from Phillips, and I don't have the slightest idea what he wants," Hirsch told this reporter Saturday. "Red's a team leader, a guy who never grumbles so I'm certain there's nothing wrong.

"Ryan was upset about not playing more. The whole team was upset at kicking the game away. They wouldn't be normal if they weren't upset."

And so, Friday, it will be off to the land of sky blue waters for the hams, errr Rams.

SURF WAS FINE, NOW BACK TO THE TURF

Surf and sand days are over for these two Long Beach State gridders, Alex Augusta (left) and Tommy Wright, as 49ers drilled for benefit of lensmen Saturday. Boards will be stored away for another year as State labors for season's opener against University of Pacific Sept. 16.—(Staff Photo by Bob Shumway)

Coast's Grid Prestige at 20-Year High

By JEROME HALL

The West Coast's prestige on the football map, which rises and falls with the final score in the Rose Bowl, is at a 20-year high as the '61 season approaches and the best football menu outside the Big Ten country awaits college fans along the Pacific slopes this season.

A wholesale "import" program that was launched with the breakup of the PCC comes to fruition in three weeks.

UCLA is expected to head the West Coast brigade, but the season will be anything but a one-team show. Not only is SC on the upswing, but California's Bears look like headline-getters and two of the PCC castoffs—Oregon and Oregon State—have the glow of a winner.

As an example of the caliber of competition available along the Pacific Coast, the opening weekend (Sept. 22) finds SC tackling Georgia Tech, Oregon State host to omnipotent Syracuse, Tulane plays at Stanford and Purdue is at Washington.

Before the season is little more than warmed up, Coliseum spectators will get a first-hand look at Iowa, most popular pick for the national championship, against the Trojans.

UCLA's Coliseum foes include always-powerful Pittsburgh, air-nutty Texas Christian and the Rose Bowl kings from Washington U.

It was Washington and its Rose Bowl performances the last two years that brought the bloom to the Pacific. The Huskies have brought the Big Ten people to their knees after 11 embarrassments in the New Year's Day classic.

* * * *

THOUGH THERE no longer is a tieup with the Big Ten and the Rose Bowl, it generally is believed there will be no departure this time. The Big Ten is clamoring to get in. The next Rose Bowl game well could be a rematch of a game played during the coming season.

It could be UCLA vs. Ohio State. They will meet Oct. 7 at Columbus. Or it could be SC vs. Iowa. They clash Oct. 7 in the Coliseum.

The Bruins and the Trojans are the one-two picks for the AAWU title. Iowa and Ohio State are interchangeable selections to win the Big Ten.

A brief rundown on the prospects of the West Coast's major teams, aside from SC and UCLA which will be chronicled in minute detail before the schedule opens, finds that the two Oregon teams are loaded for spendid showings.

* * * *

TOMMY PROTHRO at Oregon State has shown rare courage in changing his style of play to fit the players on hand. He's abandoned the single wing, the only thing he's ever taught, and gone to the T formation. He did this because he possesses an outstanding T quarterback in Terry Baker, who did a good job when converted to tailback in '60. He should be better in the T.

But Prothro doesn't want to alternate his two aces at tailback so Baker goes to QB and Don Kasso to the running halfback spot.

Oregon has an all-veteran (except at QB) team that could rival UCLA for the West Coast's quota of consideration on the eastern-dominated rating polls. The QB could be Ron Veres, a pass-master up from El Camino College in Torrance.

Galimore Sparks Bear Win

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (UPI) —Willie Galimore and Roosevelt Taylor reeled off runs of 61 and 70 yards Saturday to lead the Chicago Bears to a 30-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings in an exhibition football game before 12,500 fans.

Roger LeClerc put the Bears in the lead, 3-0, in the second quarter with a four-yard field goal and the Chicago club was never in trouble.

LeClerc added three more points on after-touchdown conversions and missed the uprights on a fourth attempt.

The Bears pulled into a 10-0 lead in the third period on Rick Casares' one-yard scoring sprint followed by the first of LeClerc's conversions.

* * * *

THE VIKINGS struck back for their only score moments later when Francis Tarkenton raced nine yards for a touchdown and Mike Mercer booted the extra point.

Then the Bears broke the game wide open. On the first play after receiving the Vikings' kickoff, Galimore scampered 61 yards to score. LeClerc's conversion failed.

Before the quarter ended, Taylor took a Minnesota punt and returned it 70 yards across the goalline. LeClerc kicked the extra point to give the Bears a 23-7 lead.

The Chicagoans scored again in the final quarter on a 30-yard sprint by Charles Bivens. Again LeClerc converted.

CHARGERS, TEXANS VIE

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The only two pro football teams that can boast of never having lost an exhibition game—the San Diego Chargers and the Dallas Texans—put their perfect records on the line this afternoon when they meet at Balboa Stadium.

The Chargers, who were 4-0 in preseason games last year in Los Angeles, have won three more in succession this season and hold a 7-0 exhibition record over two years. The Texans have won all nine games they're played in 1960 and 1961.

50-Yd. Goal by Martin in Detroit Win

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions broke loose for 10 points within five minutes of the second period Saturday night and went on to overpower the St. Louis Cardinals, 20-7, in a National Football League exhibition.

A Tiger Stadium crowd of 12,621 saw the Detroiters dominate play most of the way as they posted their third win in four NFL preseason exhibitions. It was the third straight loss for the Cardinals.

The Lions' second-period spree included a 50-yard field goal by Jim Martin and quarterback Earl Morrall's scoring dive from the one.

It was all Detroit in the final half as Jim Ninowski threw a five-yard touchdown pass to Danny Lewis while Martin added the extra point and a 32-yard field goal to tuck the game away.

BROWN PACES BROWNS, 38-6

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jim Brown went 71 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage and the Cleveland Browns went on to trounce the Pittsburgh Steelers, 38-6, in a National Football League exhibition game in the Rubber Bowl tonight.

The big fullback took the flip from quarterback Milt Plum and moved around his right end for the payoff run. He was sprung with a couple of good blocks, outmaneuvered two defensive backs and was in the open at midfield.

Plum overcame considerable pressure from the big Steeler line to pass for two touchdowns in guiding the Browns to their third victory in four preseason games. The loss was the second for the Steelers in four games.

Plum hit Rich Kreitling with a 20-yard scoring pass for the Browns' second touchdown in the first quarter and threw nine yards to Bobby Mitchell, who went into the end zone to end a 77-yard drive in 10 plays in the second quarter.

WATER'S FINE IN LAKEWOOD

THREE MEMBERS OF LAKEWOOD DOLPHINS Swim Club have plenty of reason to smile. They were part of relay team which broke Junior Olympic and AAU record for 200-meter medley relay with time of 2:25.0 at Mayfair Pool in Lakewood Saturday. From left are Chip O'Rourke, 12; Robin Durnin, 12, and Bobby Bonzer, 11. Fourth swimmer Bill Murrel is not shown. RICH WIN FOR SPARK PLUG

Romps to 4½-Length Triumph

By MAC McGUIRE

C. V. Whitney's Spark Plug, no relation to the Slow Plug of Barney Google's comic strip days in the mid '20's, made a show of the eleventh running of the $60,180 Del Mar Debutante by streaking to a four and one-half length victory Saturday.

A crowd of 18,048 cheered the gray lass as she shot to the front on the backstretch in this richest running of the Debutante for 2-year-old fillies, widening on her field almost at will. Kabema was second by a neck over Savaii, who led Corolla by a nose. Spark Plug had been long gone by the time this trio finished like a team in the eleven-horse field.

Without a race under her belt at the meeting, Spark Plug, ridden by apprentice Bobby Yanez, was clocked in 1.09 2-5 for the six furlongs, just a tick off the race record for the distance.

* * * *

THERE WERE five supplementary entries for the race at $2,500 each, and the first three over the wire were supplementals. Spark Plug earned $36,105, Kabema $9,125, Savaii $7,375 and Corolla $6,375. The supplementary fees were divided between the first four finishers.

Kea tried to force Spark Plug on the early pace, and she managed to hold second to the far turn, where she began to tire. Kahema then took over but was unable to endanger Spark Plug as Savaii and Corolla rushed up to challenge for the place money.

the rest to get over a backbreaker schedule.

Stanford, which lost all 10 games last season, now has lost ace QB Dick Norman and has 36 sophomores on the team. But coach Jack Curtice says "we won't be any worse than last year." It would appear he is much too optimistic.

Washington State may have the Coast's all-American in end Hugh Campbell who started the 1960 season on the bench and wound up setting national records for pass receptions (66) and yards (881). The thrower, QB Mel Melin, is still there.

Accidents Mar Ascot Racing

A series of spectacular accidents, in which all drivers escaped without injury, forced Ascot Park race track officials to stage two main events Saturday night.

Allen Heath of Northridge captured the feature, an abbreviated 35-lap stint, followed by Jack Brunner and Al Unser.

Trophy dash (3 laps) — Bobby Unser, Heath, Ray Douglas, 1.11.05.
Heat races (6 laps) — El Lockhart 2.26.45, Don Brown, 2.23.86; Unser, no time.
Consolation race (10 laps) — Marvin Parr, 3.04.85.
Main event (35 laps) — Heath.

RIDAN COPS SEVENTH STRAIGHT

Carry Back Wins in Stretch

NEW YORK (AP)—Carry Back, staging another one of his great home stretch drives, got up in the final strides Saturday for victory in the $57,700 Jerome Handicap at Belmont Park.

The son of Saggy, owned by Mrs. Katherine Price of Miami and trained by her husband Jack, won just as he did in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Florida Derby and Flamingo before being sidelined by a leg injury while finishing seventh in the Belmont Stakes three months ago.

With jockey Johnny Sellers biding his time, Carry Back trailed far back during the early part of the mile race for 3-year-olds. But he was no more than five or six lengths back as he swung wide into the home stretch with one-fourth mile remaining.

It was nerve-tingling battle from there on for the 34,168 fans but Carry Back got up in time for a head decision over Garwol. Calumet Farm's Beau Prince was third.

Carry Back was timed in 1:36 and paid $5.90, $4.70, and $2.80. Garwol returned $14.70 and $6.90 and Beau Prince $2.80.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Unbeaten Ridan galloped to his seventh straight victory Saturday to win the richest race run in the United States so far this year, the $213,750 Washington Park Futurity by one length over Obey.

Ridan, grabbing his fourth stake victory, earned $128,250 to increase his earnings in seven races to $284,050, and put himself in good position to become the leading two-year-old money winner of all time.

The current two-year-old money winning champion is First Landing with earnings of $396,460 in 1958. Ridan could surpass this easily by winning the Garden State Futurity in November.

Ridan was timed at 1:18 for 6½ furlongs and paid $2.60, $2.40 and $2.20.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) — John S. Kroese's Mozart passed On-And-On and Wise Ship in the stretch Saturday to win the $46,950 Kelly-Olympic Handicap at Atlantic City.

Q-HORSE CLASSIC MONDAY

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (Special) — The state of California and the city of Long Beach will seek to apply a stranglehold to the richest quarter horse stakes in history Monday when a field of 10 of the fastest 2-year-olds in training springs from the gate in quest of this $202,425 All-American Futurity.

Undefeated Bunny's Bar Maid from Fresno looms the overwhelming odds-on favorite off her string of six straight victories while the Earl Holmes-trained Long Beach entry of Dale and Curly Burr's Golden Note and Frank Vessel's Three Chicks shapes up as a solid second choice for the 400-yard classic.

Another California entrant, Hugh Huntley's Pokey Bar from Madera, figures a highly-regarded third choice for this rich jackpot that will gross the winner more than $100,000 for little more than 20 seconds running time.

McEwen Clocks 175, Proffett 110 at Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI)—Twenty-five class winners were crowned Saturday in the national championship drag races at the Indianapolis raceway.

Bruce Morgan of Garden Grove, the current point leader for the division's world championship, was upset by Dick Hilt in the Class B stock.

Tom McEwen of Long Beach has the fastest clocking to date, 175 mph in Class AA.

Hayden Proffett of Anaheim, won the Class-O super stock division in a Pontiac owned by Mickey Thompson. He hit a speed of 110.29 mph.

Hurtubise Okay After Auto Crash

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (UPI)—Jim Hurtubise, 28, Lennox, Calif., auto race driver who holds the Indianapolis "500" qualifying record, escaped injury early Saturday in a two-car collision at a Wabash River bridge here.

Authorities said a car driven by Farrell Pifer, 25, Terre Haute, drove in front of Hurtubise, whose car was pulling a racer toward DuQuoin, Ill.

Heinis Back Today at Western Oval

Marvin Heinis of Sylmar returns to Western Speedway today to try and continue where he left off a month ago in the CJA stock car races. First race is 2:30.

Despite being sidelined Heinis is still atop the CJA point standings over Arley Scranton, Frank Denny, Jerry Plotts and Dick Cook.

Krause Bothered by Bad Shocks at Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—Bob Bondurant, Pasadena, piloted a locally-owned Corvette away from the pack Saturday to win the 8-lap preliminary race for today's big production sports cars at the 16th running of the Santa Barbara road races.

Almost 1,000 yards behind him was Paul Reinhart, Oakland, piloting another Corvette.

Bill Krause, ace Long Beach entry, toured his E-Jaguar to third place. Krause, bothered by bad shock absorbers, battled to retain second spot until the fifth lap when Reinhart passed him.

13 Records Broken in Jr. Olympics; Dolphin Boys Lead

Thirteen more records were washed away and the Lakewood Dolphins boys' team surged into the lead after the second day of the Jr. Olympics swimming meet at the Mayfair Pool in Lakewood Saturday.

The 13 new records, which included National Jr. Olympics and Southern Pacific Association AAU marks, eclipsed by one the number of marks set opening day Friday. Action concludes today with heats at 9:30 a.m. and finals at 3:30.

Lakewood's Dolphins turned in impressive performances to run up 57 points in boys' competition and take an eight-point lead over the Sammy Lee Swim School. Rosemead leads the girls' division.

Dolphins Chip O'Rourke, Bill Murrel, Robin Durnin and Larry Low set an NJO record with a 2:06 flat clocking in the boys 11-12 200-meter freestyle relay.

* * * *

FRANK RICHARDS, Kathy Baker and Durnin of the Dolphins and Janice Carter and Kathy Logan of the Pacific Coast Club placed in the top three in individual events.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

(Outdoors editor Donnell Culpepper is ill. He will resume Fishin' Around upon recovery.)

By JEROME HALL

Hitting the high spots on the fishing scene, with some observations by rapidly-recovering Don Culpepper:

Best time of the year for the angler who longs for the High Sierra is just around the corner. As Labor Day passes and the hills empty of vacationers, a quiet settles over the high-country valleys. Only the tunkle of the stream and the shrill of a flitting bird breaks the stillness.

Relax.

Veteran I, P-T outdoors editor Don Culpepper, recovering from surgery, turned in a "Best Place to Fish" report as he begins to catch up on the scene, and pinpointed:

BIG BEAR—"The only place in Southern California that you can catch trout right now." Culpepper reported Big Bear is rapidly drying up, though it's still fishable. It will be dry within three or four weeks.

LAKE CACHUMA—This lake, north of Santa Barbara, is giving up bass now "though it usually takes someone who knows how," according to Culpepper. Blue gill are being taken on worms.

BISHOP COUNTRY—"Depend mostly on the planted streams" as revealed each Thursday in the Press-Telegram and Friday in the Independent. "Otherwise," says Culpepper, "you'll have to pack in and that will take more than a weekend."

BEAR IN MIND, POINTS OUT the I, P-T outdoors editor, "that this is not the weekend to make a last-minute decision on going to a popular fishing area.

Some of the better spot further from home:

KLAMATH RIVER—Good size salmon being taken in this Northern California coastal area. They're being taken at the mouth of the Klamath and three to four miles upstream. September and October are the best months for Klamath steelhead.

"If you want to go further north," says Culpepper, I just got a letter from a friend saying they're having a great time with salmon along the Washington coast."

AND IF YOU WANT TO STAY close to home over this rush-rush holiday, why not try the surf fishing right along our Long Beach-Seal Beach shoreline?

Reports say the takes have been good, with perch, spotfin and corbina topping the list.

Check at the bait shops along Pacific Coast Highway for the exact locations showing up best.

DOVE SEASON GOT OFF TO a winging start Saturday, with early reports confirming the predictions by the DFG that it will be a good year.

Mourning doves flocked across the Colorado River into the Imperial Valley regions only hours before the season opened. But white wing doves are scarce.

The season lasts 30 days. Limits have been set at 10 per day for both bag and possession.

The split duck season is Oct. 14-Nov. 20 and Dec. 9-Jan. 7. Bag and possession limit will be five.

National Champion Duane Easton of Long Beach in B Racing Runabout

REGATTA LURES U.S. CHAMPS

A devil-may-care crew of newly crowned national speedboat champions will be out in force to defend their titles Monday when Southern California Speedboat Club and Long Beach Pilot Club stage the season's largest local speedboat racing regatta at Long Beach Marine Stadium.

Out to take on all comers in the annual Labor Day classic will be national champs Bob Patterson, in Crackerbox; Duane Easton, for the B-Racing Runabouts; Wayne Thompson, leading the 135 Hydro field; and Mike Waters, chief of the 266 Hydros.

All won their titles in last week's 1961 national competition at San Diego.

A featured attraction in the E-Racing Runabout class will be the highly anticipated three-way duel between speed merchants Red Wilson, Ed Olsen and Bob Ellis in three new SK-type hulls. The new hulls will be introduced for the first time in Monday's race.

In the Crackerbox racing, Patterson will be gunning for the class perpetual trophy currently held by Wilson. Patterson recently upped the class competition mark from 68 mph to a new 72 mph world's record.

Marine Stadium gates open at 8 a.m. Monday with 10 classes of racing boats scheduled to hit the starting line at 11 a.m. Presiding as regatta queen will be Miss Welcome to Long Beach, Donna Kelly.

Fishing Facts

Belmont Pier—31 passengers on 1 boat caught 77 barracuda, 14 bonito, 11 bass, 3 halibut.

Seal Beach Pier—150 anglers on 6 half-day boats caught 2 barracuda, 227 bonito, 270 kelp bass, 18 sculpin, 12 halibut.

Pierpoint Landing—565 passengers on 14 boats caught 56 barracuda, 1339 bonito, 545 bass, 2 sea bass, 1 yellowtail, 117 rockfish, 46 halibut, 742 miscellaneous.

DODGERS--

has allowed only seven runs in his last eight victories, all complete games.

* * * *

SANDY KOUFAX (15-12) was the loser, getting off to a rocky start in the first inning. An error by shortstop Maury Wills opened the way to three quick Milwaukee runs, two of them unearned.

The first of three singles by Eddie Mathews followed Wills' boot of a Frank Bolling grounder and Hank Aaron walked to fill the bases. Two runs crossed on Joe Adcock's broken-bat blooper to left and another scored as Frank Thomas grounded out.

Catcher Sammy White's first National League homer provided Spahn with an extra run in the seventh inning.

Koufax allowed seven of the Braves' eight hits and Roger Craig was touched for the other in the eighth.

* * * *

THE DODGERS had two runners on base only in the ninth inning as Spahn did not walk a man. Frank Howard and Gil Hodges singled with one out in the final round, but were stranded when Wally Moon popped up and Charlie Neal flied out.

Moon, the only left-handed hitter in the Dodger lineup, responded with two singles.

ANGELS--

against Baltimore before the Angels' rallied in the 11th inning to make Eli Grba the victor.

* * * *

THE A'S will oppose with their ace, Jim Archer (8-11).

The Seraphs moved back into seventh place Saturday as Ken McBride limited the A's to six hits and the Angel bats came to life in the late innings to fashion a 6-3 victory.

Wayne Causey's eighth-inning home run was the only legitimate run the 26-year-old right-hander allowed as third baseman George Thomas' two fourth-inning throwing errors produced two unearned runs.

It was McBride's (12-11) 11th complete game and the first by an Angel pitcher in the club's last nine outings. Strangely, it was his 11th win at homer haven compared to only two defeats. On the road, McBride is 1-9.

"It's funny," said McBride after his fine performance, "but I'm not trying to be any more careful here (Wrigley) or at least I don't think I am.

"I've pitched some good games on the road but lost."

* * * *

WHILE HIS curve is one of the best in the league, McBride said his bender wasn't as sharp as usual. "The best pitch today was a sinker and a change-up in spots. Of course, getting those runs helped."

After being shutout on one hit for four innings by Ed Rakow, the Angels cut the deficit to 2-1 in the fifth when Ken Hunt exploded his 21st home run and first since July 4 at Wrigley.

One inning later, the Angels swept into a 3-2 advantage on a walk, Lee Thomas' double, Hunt's sacrifice fly and George Thomas' single. After Rakow came out for a pinch-hitter in the top of the seventh, the Angels bombed Bill Kunkel and Joe Nuxhall for three more runs in the bottom of the inning.

* * * *

WITH TWO outs, a walk to Joe Koppe, double by Tom Satriano, single by Earl Averill, walk to Steve Bilko and single by Lee Thomas produced the clinching runs.

McBride was given spectacular fielding support by Satriano at second base.

RACES TONIGHT

Lakewood's Dick Hammer will be featured in motorcycle steeplechase races at Ascot Park tonight. First race is 8:30.

CAMPBELL DIES, 1ST RIDE AT ASCOT

Novice rider Thomas Campbell, 24, died in Gardena Hospital Saturday of injuries suffered in a motorcycle crash Friday night at Ascot Park in Gardena.

An Ascot Park spokesman said Campbell was making his first appearance on the Gardena track. He was a member of the Air Force and lived at Eagle Mountain, Calif.

Baptist Softball Tourney Monday

The fourth annual Long Beach Baptist softball tournament opens Monday at Hamilton Bowl in Long Beach. Sixteen teams will compete.

Action begins at 11 a.m. and the eventual champion will have to play four games, the final at 8:30. Schedule:

At 11 a.m.—No. 1—Hawthorne vs. Atherton; No. 2—Alhambra vs. Lakewood; No. 3—Torrance vs. Pomona; No. 4—L.B. Bethany vs. San Diego.

At 12:30—No. 1—National City vs. L.B. First; No. 2—Anaheim vs. L.A. Athens; No. 3—L.B. University vs. Hawthorne-Bel Aire; No. 4—Ventura vs. Ontario.

(Games continue at 2, 5 and 8:30 p.m.)

All-Comers Meet Lures Discus Stars

Two world records will be the aim of competitors in an AAU-sanctioned all-comers field meet at Long Beach State College on Saturday.

Hal Connolly hopes to break his hammer throw record of 230 feet, 9 inches, while Rink Babka, Bob Humphreys and Parry O'Brien will fire at the recently-established discus standard of 199-2½.

Moss at Riverside

Stirling Moss of Great Britain today became the first entrant for the $20,000 Riverside Grand Prix October 15 that was won last year by Bill Krause of Long Beach. Moss said he would drive a new Lotus.

Professor Soars in Space With New Ideas

By RALPH DIGHTON

PASADENA (AP)—Imagine:

—Converting the sun into a giant space cruiser to explore distant galaxies while our earth, with life going on as usual, whisks along for the ride.

—Changing the size and orbits of the other planets in our sun system so they can be colonized by earth's exploding populace.

—Honeycombing the moon and the earth itself with bomb-proof, inhabitable tunnels bored at a rate of several feet a second by a vehicle that melts rocks.

—Rocketing through the ocean's depths in a super-submarine that uses water as part of its fuel.

—Aircraft and space ships as big as mountains, made of new materials stronger than steel but lighter than air.

* * * *

THESE PROJECTS, which make science fiction sound as dull as a lab report, were outlined recently in "Engineering and Science," a monthly publication of The California Institute of Technology.

Dr. Fritz Zwicky, professor of Astrophysics at Caltech and one of the keenest scientific minds of the century, advised his colleagues that these awesome undertakings are possible through extension of present-day knowledge.

Not only possible, said Zwicky, but imperative.

"If we don't do them," he warned, "the Russians will."

* * * *

AS AN EXAMPLE he cited the rock-melting machine, which he calls a terrajet. He has actually built a small experimental model, Zwicky says, but has not been able to interest the U. S. government or industry in financing full-scale versions.

"Unfortunately, while inventors in this country have talked to deaf ears," Zwicky says. "the Russians again seem to have taken over our ideas and have already built terrajet engines for military purposes."

In an interview, Zwicky said a typical machine would operate this way:

Jets in the nose would spurt a reagent such as molten lithium ahead of the vehicle, dissolving the earth and rock into liquid and gas. This would be sucked through the machine and expelled out the back to provide propulsion.

* * * *

ZWICKY SAID the dissolving could be done fast enough to drive the vehicle several feet per second through solid rock. Five feet per second, for instance, would give it a speed of almost three miles an hour.

Breaking down the rock this way would provide operators of the vehicle with plenty of oxygen and water. Thermocouples, which convert heat into electricity, would draw power for the vehicle's instruments from electrodes thrust into its hot exhaust.

A similar principle, using chemicals which break down water into its basic elements, could power submarines far superior to today's best nuclear subs, Zwicky said.

* * * *

THESE ENGINES, which he calls hydrojets, would generate hydrogen gas at great pressure for thrust and release tremendous heats for electric power.

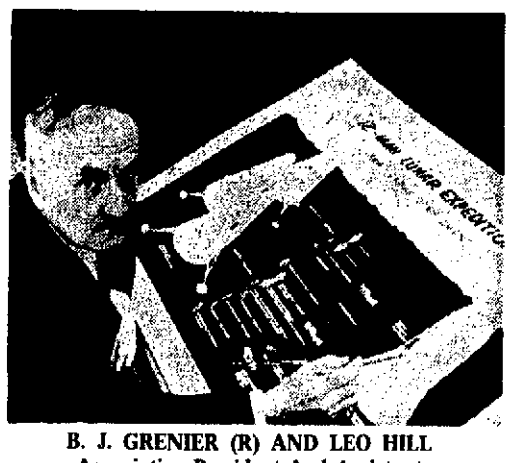

"Vehicles driven by hydrojet engines," said Zwicky, "could move through the water in any direction, including straight up and down, and attain speeds far in excess of 100 knots."

Zwicky, 63, who as chief research consultant and former director of research for Aerojet-General Corp. helped develop a number of present-day rockets, foresees a new material for building all kinds of vehicles—automobiles, airplanes, missiles, satellites, spaceships.

* * * *

"NOTHING SEEMS to stand in the way of producing bubbly solids—the bubbles to contain high vacuum or light gases like helium, such that the whole solid is lighter than the air and exceedingly strong," he said.

"Not only can the proverbial magic carpet be made of such spongy materials, but rocket chambers, solid propellant sticks (the fuel of so-called "solid" rockets such as Polaris and Minuteman) and vehicles of all kinds can be visualized which are very light — possibly lighter than air."

B. J. GRENIER (R) AND LEO HILL
Association President And Assistant

These new materials, he said, "will make it possible to drive space ships of any dimension off the earth with ease."

* * * *

VEHICLES AND engines like these along with foreseeable developments in nuclear energy, Zwicky said, will help man reconstruct the whole planetary system to suit himself.

Mercury and Venus, now unbearably hot because they are too close to the sun, can be shoved into orbits near earth by nuclear explosions, he said. Frozen planets like distant Jupiter can be blasted nearer the sun.

"Jupiter is so big and its gravitational pull so strong that man would find it difficult to move about on the surface," Zwicky said. "The answer is to whittle it down to proper size with terrajets and nuclear power, using the debris to increase the size of Jupiter's moons so they too can be colonized."

* * * *

PLANETS AND moons with insufficient atmosphere could be provided with oxygen and water as by-products or large-scale models of the terrajet earth-borer, which could at the same time be digging channels for lakes and rivers.

Poisonous atmospheres could be dissipated by the same nuclear blasts that shove their planets into more favorable orbits.

Studies now under way indicate nuclear bombs need not be highly radioactive, so the surfaces of the transported planets would not be permanently uninhabitable.

* * * *

WHILE ALL this is going on in our solar system, the sun with all its planets orbiting around it might as well be exploring the universe, instead of just standing still in space, said Zwicky.

"Any space ship we could build in the foreseeable future would take tens of thousands of years to reach the nearest star," he said, "so why bother to build it? Why not send the sun itself on the journey, dragging the planets along with it?"

This could be done, said Zwicky, by shooting large bullets into the side of the sun opposite to the direction in which we wish to go. The bullets would have velocities of 1,000 miles per second or more, which would cause great jets of nuclear energy to erupt from the sun—by nuclear fusion reactions — and drive it through space at high speed.

* * * *

LIFE WOULD go on as usual on earth because there is no sensation of speed in space.

If we timed the shot so the bullet hit the sun while the earth was at the opposite side of its orbit, he said, the earth would be out of range of any dangerous radiation in the sun's jet trail. The radiation would have dissipated into space before the earth returned to that point in its orbit.

"We wouldn't want to cause too big an explosion on the sun at any one time," Zwicky said, "just continuous little jolts to keep it speeding up. Over the years the build-up in speed would be incredible—high enough to get us to the nearest stars in a few hundred years."

What material would he use for the bullets?

"I won't tell you that," he said. "The Russians might use it to make bigger bombs."

Hydraulic Failure Perils Jet Airliner

CHICAGO (AP) — An American Airlines 707 jet airliner with 98 persons aboard landed safely at O'Hare International Airport Saturday after the pilot radioed the plane had lost hydraulic pressure in its landing gear system.

Fire equipment was alerted, but the big jet landed without incident. The plane was flight 34 from Los Angeles to Detroit with a stop at Chicago. It carried 90 passengers and a crew of eight.

Buena Park Mayoralty to McShane

Fred De Camp lost his seat on the Buena Park City Council in a special election vote recount Saturday afternoon, and the council named John McShane as mayor.

Paul Wishek was sworn in to succeed De Camp. Richard Crenshaw was sworn in to succeed John L. Parise, who was recalled in the special election Aug. 22.

De Camp, who trailed by one vote in the election and who challenged the tally at a canvassing session Aug. 29, lost by two votes in the recount. The vote against him was certified finally as 1,829 and the vote to keep him as councilman was 1,827.

* * * *

THEN MAYOR Robert A. Thompson asked for a vote of confidence and failed to get it.

McShane was named mayor on motion of Wishek. Crenshaw also backed the ouster of Thompson and election of McShane. In the council reorganization vote.

Democratic Tea Slated Sept. 16

By BOB HOUSER

A number of Democratic club women of Long Beach will attend the "Fashions and First Ladies" Teas for TV luncheon Sept. 16 in the Beverly Hilton International Ballroom, Mrs. Adrienne Becker, 18th District Central Committee cochairman, announced Saturday.

The second and final United States showing of Oleg Cassini's fashion collection will be featured. Proceeds of the $10 donation luncheon will be used to sponsor television time for Democratic candidates in the 1962 elections.

Mrs. Becker said the New Frontier Democratic Club of Long Beach has reserved two tables for the affair. She said she will take local reservations until Sept. 8 at HE 2-2337.

DEMO ASSOCIATES TO HONOR BROWN

Gov. Edmund G. Brown will be guest of honor at the monthly luncheon of Democratic Associates, Inc., at 12:15 p.m. Sept. 13 in the Ambassador Hotel Venetian Room, 3400 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Hugh Evans, board chairman, announced.

Reservations may be made at Democratic Headquarters in Los Angeles, Hollywood 6-2101.

Symphony Sets Auditions for Thursday Night

Auditions for places in the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra for the 1961-62 season will be held at 7:45 p.m. Thursday in the Municipal Recreation Center rehearsal hall, 350 E. Ocean Blvd.

String, woodwind and brass players will be auditioned.

The orchestra, conducted by Lauris Jones, rehearses Thursday nights. Six concerts are planned for the regular series, and seven for young people.

'Food Shower' Given Nurse by Co-Workers

Co-workers of Mrs. Juanita Ellington, 41, of 6562 Brayton Ave., a nurse's aide at Rancho Los Amigos County Hospital, staged a "grocery shower" for her Saturday.

Mrs. Ellington, who recently underwent brain surgery, was presented with nearly 300 cans of food and other grocery items.

The woman, who is divorced, is the mother of a 10-year-old daughter, Carolyn Sue.

Square Dance Classes Start in Park Sept. 23

Square dance classes for children will begin at Houghton Park Sept. 23, district supervisor Bob Van Antwerp of the Recreation Department announced Saturday.

The classes will be open for boys and girls in grades four through eight. Beginners will meet at 1 p.m., intermediates at 2 p.m.

Study Stone-Age Man

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (UPI)—A Harvard-Peabody scientific expedition including New York Gov. Nelson D. Rockefeller's son, Michael, returned safely Saturday after five months study of a stone-age tribe in the remote Baliem valley.

Machine Venders Growing

In the future, you'll be able to buy everything from a loaf of bread to a necktie at your neighborhood vending machine on a street corner.

That was the prediction Saturday night by B. J. Grenier, of Culver City, president of the National Automatic Vendors Trade Association.

* * * *

THEY ARE even selling fishing worms through the push-button machines today.

And, in Chicago, a chain department store is experimenting with sale of ready-to-wear clothing items by way of automatic vending machines.

There are machines that will serve you up a chilled cup of beer.

* * * *

GRENIER, who is presiding at the first annual conference of the association at the Lafayette Hotel, predicted a "fantastic growth for the industry in the next few years." The two-day conference ends today.

"Why one vending machine company had gross sales of $13 million two years ago," he said. "Last year, it sold $60 million. This year, it expects gross earnings of $120 million."

Grenier—who himself has 170 vending machines at Los Angeles International Airport, credits the popularity of the vending machine to these reasons:

1. Low cost of operation. "Little overhead charge."
2. Quality of products. "You can't fool the public."
3. Engineering. The machines are built to sell anything. "They can take a frozen item, heat it and serve it," Grenier said.

6 Muslims Held in L.A. Melee

LOS ANGELES (CNS)—Six alleged "Muslims" were booked for battery Saturday after a melee ensued outside a Western Avenue market where they were distributing leaflets.

Special agents Marsh King and Fred Prendergast made citizens arrests of the six with the assistance of four policemen.

Police identified the suspects as members of a "Muslim group" and said the struggle occurred when the special agents, employed by the market on South Western Avenue, told the group to move away from the entrance.

Southland's Finest to Vie in Horse Show

Hospital to Benefit From Event

Some of the Southland's finest horses will be on view next weekend at Los Alamitos Race Course when Long Beach Community Hospital Auxiliary sponsors its first annual Hay Day benefit horse show.

All proceeds from the event will be used by the auxiliary to support the Epileptic Clinic and to buy equipment for the hospital. A nominal donation will provide admittance to both day's performances and children under 14 years will be admitted free. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Food will be available at a number of booths operated by the auxiliary.

Among high points of the two-day event will be an appearance Saturday by Clint Walker of "Cheyenne" TV fame who will present the trophy to the winner of the American Quarter Horse Association Youth Pleasure Horse.

* * * *

ON SUNDAY afternoon actor John Wayne will present for the first time the Ward Bond Memorial Trophy in memory of his close friend. On view this week in Buffums' window, the perpetual trophy will be awarded each year to the winner of the Junior Western Pleasure Horse Champi-

AFS Gives a Taste of America--Burgers

Nine foreign students, recently arrived, will have their first taste Tuesday of an old American custom: hamburgers.

The lend-lease teenagers, here on American Field Service international scholarships, will also have the trimmings — baked beans, potato salad, Cokes and ice cream sandwiches.

The event: a get-acquainted barbecue at the Lakewood Village home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cossarek, 3329 Harvey Way.

* * * *

RESEMBLING a Little U.N., the group will include high school students from South and Central America, Europe and the Orient. Their names and places:

MARIA ELENA SOLER CORVALAN, Mendoza, Argentina, who will attend Jordan High. Her host family: Dr. and Mrs. Philip Young, 5956 Brayton Ave.

MIRYAM RUTH LEAL-ESCOBAR, Guatemala City, Central America. She will attend Lakewood High; will stay with the John Hellers, 4133 Lomina Ave.

CHRISTIAN - JACQES WAYSER, Paris, France; Lakewood High; host family, Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Wachs, 4246 Lakewood Drive.

MARIA TERESA FIGUEIRA DE MELLO, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil; Millikan High; Mr. and Mrs. Al Harris, 5914 Wardlow Road.

MASSIMO CAMPITELLI, Rome, Italy; Millikan High; the Earl Witschers, 3103 Patliz St.

UTA GUNTER, Graz, Austria; Poly High; Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Petersen, 3735 Pine Ave.

ALBERT ANTHONY COLAVITA, Mendoza, Argentina; also Poly. Host family: the Phillip Fawcetts, 1172 Cartegena Drive.

KEIKO MATSUZAKI, Hiroshima-shi, Japan; Wilson High; Mr. and Mrs. William Meinecke, 4526 DeOra Way.

WILLEM JAN GOEBEL, Amsterdam, Netherlands; Wilson High; the Ralph Gordons, 5127 Los Flores Ave.

Says Mrs. Cossarek, hospitality chairman for AFS, about the barbecue: "Where can you find a better place than your own backyard to promote international harmony."

Labor Day Regatta Will Attract Out-of-State Drivers

PILOT CLUB members test mechanical prowess as they tune up Marion Beaver's kilo record-holding 225 hydroplane in anticipation of its entry Monday in Pilot-sponsored Labor Day Regatta for inboards at Marine Stadium. True engineering proficiency of quartet, however, is seen in roles they play in Regatta plans. Pictured (from left), Ruthelyn Wilson, Lorene Yett, Hope Case and Eva Miner.

Pilot Club in Fourth Year as Sponsor of Boat Classic

Many out-of-state boats and drivers are expected in Long Beach Monday for the 16th annual Inboard Race at Long Beach Marine Stadium.

Among those journeying here for one last entanglement with Southern California drivers before heading home from last weekend's inboard nationals at San Diego will be four new national champions, crowned during the San Diego meet. They include Mike Waters, 266 Hydroplane; Duane Easton, B Racing Runabout; Bob Patterson, Crackerbox, and Wayne Thompson, 135 Hydro.

In its fourth year under sponsorship of Pilot Club of Long Beach, international women's classified service club, the Labor Day Regatta is conducted by the Southern California Speedboat Club.

* * * *

TEN CLASSES of boats will compete with a special match race between the Crackerboxes and F Racing Runabouts. Red Wilson, who has had the perpetual trophy in his possession for four years, renewed his claim to that trophy on July 4.

Gates will open at 8 a. m. for the two heats in each class which precede the first race at 11 a. m. First, second and third place trophies will be presented by Donna Kelly, Miss Welcome to Long Beach, who added "Regatta Queen" to her list of titles during a recent Pilot Club luau. Crowning ceremonies were conducted by Glenn Davis, vice commodore of Southern California Speedboat Club.

* * * *

LORENA YETT is president of Pilot Club. Heading regatta arrangements are Hope Case, chairman; Bey Glover, program; Ruthelyn Wilson, publicity; Virginia Rogers and Anna Louise Gruber, finance; Helen LeManquis, program sales; Mildred Devine, depositor.

Proceeds will go to Pilot Club philanthropies, among them, Crippled Children's Society of Long Beach, VA Hospital, Long Beach Day Nursery, Long Beach County Hospital, and Salvation Army.

Petticoats Swing Into Action

chamber women's division sets membership tea

The Chamber of Commerce's brand new petticoat is showing—and the men aren't embarrassed a bit.

In fact, during a rapid-fire, step-by-step series of events the past week, directors of the chamber:

1. Accepted the by-laws for the new women's division;

2. Publicly endorsed the division as one that "can be a definite force in furthering civic and cultural development of the city"; and

3. Recommended that directors encourage their wives to become charter members of the newly-formed women's division.

AND TO START the ball rolling, the C of C's First Lady, Mrs. Ken Hemphill, became the petticoat division's first charter member.

Her comment: "There is a real place for the newly-formed division, as there are many areas of community development which are of especial interest to women and in which their ideas and abilities should be utilized.

"I feel it is an honor and a privilege to become the first charter member of this splendid new group which can so ably supplement the work program being carried out by the Chamber."

MEANWHILE, chairman Wilma Hastings and her 12-member pilot committee are busy working up a who's who list of local leaders in the female ranks.

This nucleus of local professional, industrial, civic and business pace-setters will be invited to attend a kick-off membership tea Sept. 29, 4 to 6 p. m., at the Pacific Coast Club.

And they will be asked to become charter members of the new division at the history-making event. History-making because, as Mrs. Hastings puts it:

"There's no limit to the things we, as a group, can accomplish for betterment of our burgeoning city.

"This is not another tea party or sewing bee, but rather a 'women at work' group dedicated to beautifying our city, supporting the arts and promoting orderly urban development."

MRS. HASTINGS noted that the women will function as a cooperating, working division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Dues in the women's division will be $25 annually. The group will have a voice in affairs of the main chamber through a representative appointed to the board of directors.

An invitation to the Sept. 29 membership tea is extended to all interested women, said Mrs. Hastings, who noted that reservations should be made with the chamber office.

Also, this week pilot committee members for the women's division are asking local industrial and professional executives to attend a refreshment hour Wednesday at the chamber offices.

The purpose: to acquaint the men with the division's projected program and ask them to appoint women leaders from their firms for membership.

Their theory, of course, being that behind every successful man, there's a woman.

TRAVELS IN STYLE . . . ANYWHERE, ANYTIME

Cords Afford Greater Go-Power

By MARY ELLIS
I, P-T Fashion Editor

In fabrication of the fall fashion story, the corduroy plot thickens — and thickens — and thickens.

So much so, in fact, that more-luxurious-than-ever corduroy this year looms as a contender for best-seller lists.

Never has this Cinderella of the fabric world been so much in its glory. This season, often treated like its haute sister, velvet, it has no "pumpkin" tendencies by day—but, rather, travels in style . . . anywhere, anytime.

WITH NEW go-power it can be found in the most exciting or matter-of-fact places—on vacations, at the office, out to lunch, in smart shops, on mountain trails, at the theater or on the golf course.

In suits, there are a wealth of wide wale Chanel-types. Often designed in soft autumn colors (cashmere, walnut and pecan), they can be dressed up or down, depending on accessories.

Example: Wear yours for day with a print blouse, leather bag and medium heels. For dates, play up the velvety look with a satin blouse, high-heeled pumps and eye-catching jewelry.

Or, select one in jewel tone and wear the jacket over a long, sleeveless crepe dress for evening elegance.

THAT AGE-OLD favorite, the corduroy raincoat, this season has been designed with dress-up dash. Too pretty to save for a rainy day, it's the coat you'll find yourself reaching for in fair weather, too.

As for weekends, it's versatile enough to go from train to dinner — then double as a bathrobe!

And, too, there's that gem of gems — the warmly-lined coat processed against rain. Here wide wales are a standout—for city, for country, for interurbia.

Often laminated or lined with cuddly pile, they're made either straight and sporty, with big pockets, or wide and flared for day-to-evening wear.

In many instances, there are "his and hers" separates to give you and yours that compatible, inseparable look.

Corduroy, up from grade school "whistle britches," has truly entered the world of sophistication.

FOR GOING SPORTY or dressy, separates in Crompton water-repellent corduroy by Sunset House. Ladies' browser jacket tops slim skirt, can be dressed up or down at will. Man's browser jacket features action back. In cashmere, walnut or olive.

ALL-WEATHER COAT, too pretty to save for a rainy day, leads double life—is equally smart in city or country. Here it's coupled with matching capri pants. Coat features laminated lining, huge patch pockets. Available in cashmere, pecan, olive, red. (Available locally.)

Stephens - Brightman Wed

The lovely dark-haired bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Latham Head Brightman, 199 Prospect Ave., and is the granddaughter of Dr. Mary C. Brightman and the late Latham H. Brightman, pioneer residents of the city.

Elegant simplicity characterized the bride's gown of silk organza trimmed with Alencon lace. Her dainty crown of pearls held a short bouffant veil. White orchids and bouvardia formed her bouquet.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Stephens of Portland, Ore., and was graduated from UCLA in June.

ATTENDING the couple were Mrs. Robert E. Freelen, sister of the bride, who wore a powder blue gown and blue veil, and Roger Pinkstaff, best man. Judge Charles Smith performed the nuptial ceremony.

Following a reception at the country club the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in Santa Barbara and Carmel. They will make their home in Los Angeles.

The new Mrs. Stephens was graduated from Wilson High School where she was a member of SFO, and attended U. of Oregon before her graduation from USC. She was affiliated with Gamma Phi Beta.

Mrs. Ronald Lee Stephens

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

Out You Go, Auntie

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I had to go back home to see my folks because my dad was ill, and as I was going to be gone for at least a month, I decided I'd get a live-in baby-sitter for our twins, aged two.

A friend of mine recommended a widow aunt of hers, 43 years old, certainly old enough to be harmless as far as staying here with John, but young enough to be able to run the house capably and look after the kids.

As it turned out, I was gone six weeks. I talked to my husband regularly, and as he assured me everything was shipshape and running on six cylinders, as he put it, I stayed on after Dad came home from the hospital to help Mom.

When I got home auntie was still there and my husband explained that she ran the house so much better than I did, and was so awfully good with the kids, he had engaged her to stay.

Now, I'm a stranger in my own home, but he refuses to let her go. I don't know.—WHAT TO DO.

DEAR WHAT TO DO:

For one thing, don't let anyone, especially a husband, make you feel like a stranger in your own home.

It is your home, you know —yours and your husband's —and if you feel auntie is an unwelcome outsider, tell her so and politely ask her to leave.

Your husband's protests must not count in this case. The whole situation looks dingy.

Take things in your own hands, Mrs. What To Do. It's high time!—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

Quickly, what am I to do? Joe wants me to start going steady when school starts and Art doesn't want me to, but he doesn't want me to go steady with him, either. I'd like a steady beau, but I'm kinda in love with both guys. I've got to make up my mind.—GLORIA.

DEAR GLORIA:

Don't make up your mind. A wise young lady would keep stalling until one or the other makes up her mind for her. YOU have the advantage, you know, when you can pick and choose.—M.M.

Benefit Horse Show

onship and is sponsored by the Calendar Quarter Horse Foundation.

Expected to attract more than 300 horses from as far away as Bakersfield, Riverside, San Fernando Valley and San Diego, the show is operated in accordance with the current rules of the American Horse Show Association. A total of 49 class events will be presented.

* * * *

SERVING as officials are Harold Dakan of Santa Ana, manager; Clyde Kennedy of Lancaster, judge; Lloyd Linton of Garden Grove, steward; and Jim McCandlish of Costa Mesa, ringmaster. L. W. Clarke, nationally known horse show judge, also is assisting with arrangements.

Mrs. D. J. Daniel Jr. is serving as general chairman of Hay Day for the auxiliary and has as her co-chairman, Mrs. L. W. Clarke. Other committee posts are held by Mrs. C. Duane Mooney, finance; Mrs. Jack D. Stanley, tickets; Mrs. B. W. Neumaier, food; Mrs. David F. Atwater, staffing; Mrs. Lawrence D. Tonic, programs; Mrs. Francis Fenton, advertising; Mrs. Charles B. Mutter, trophy; Mrs. Harry W. Orme, publicity. Mrs. Steve Wetmore is president.

As a strictly social note, an informal steak luau is planned for members and guests Saturday evening by the social chairman, Mrs. Stuart Monfort.

Nelson, Bell Are Engaged

Guests were apprised of the news of the betrothal of Patricia Jane Bell and Edward Ray Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wood of South Gate, at a party given by the bride-to-be's mother, Mrs. Fred J. Bell of Long Beach.

The bride is the daughter of the late Councilman Fred J. Bell of Cobourg, Ontario, Canada. She attended Loretta Abbey, Toronto, Canada, and was graduated from St. Anthony's High School. She also attended Long Beach City and State Colleges.

Her fiance is attending LBCC. The engaged pair has chosen Feb. 3 as wedding date.

Miss Byrd Will Wed

Announcement is being made by Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Byrd, Long Beach, of the engagement of their daughter, Linda Loy, to Stephen Louis Held, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton L. Held of South Gate.

The bride-elect was graduated from Jordan High School where she was on Girls League advisory board, co-editor of school annual, and member of Kappa Nu. She is a senior at Long Beach State College, as is her fiance.

He is a member of Young Republicans and president of United Nations Club for which he was a delegate to the spring conference in Eugene, Ore.

Year Opens With Party

Long Beach Branch of Music Teachers Association will open its new club year with an oriental get-acquainted social Saturday at 6:30 p.m. in the home of Henny Warner, president, 2512 Bomberry St., Lakewood.

Judge and Mrs. John A. Shidler will be honored guests at the party which will include oriental food and entertainment. Mrs. Shidler, an actress, is known professionally as Rosemary De Camp.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Homer V. Wilcoxin, E. M. Wheeler and G. N. Perry.

Patently Efficient and Pretty, Too

By MARY NETH
I. PT Women's Staff

She looks much too young, but you might say Mary Frances Graves is a "mother of invention."

She helps bring brain-children to maturity.

As feminine half of Graves and Baumgartner Drafting Company, this dynamic blue-eyed blonde sees that new inventions get to the U. S. patent office as black and white, easy-to-understand drawings.

It's not always easy. Sometimes the inventor has the idea but doesn't know how to bring it to life until it's on paper, says she.

Which means her partner, Frank W. Baumgartner, who does the drafting, sometimes has to do a little inventing of his own.

* * * *

ONE THING for sure, the job never gets old. "In what other business could you see something really new everyday?" says Mary Frances.

The inventions range from girdles to steel girders: office equipment, trucks, cars, oil well derricks, hair nets, TV gimmicks, ash trays, water skis, a cow wash and even a Disneyland ride.

"You name it and we've drawn it," she says.

And Mary Frances' job is just as varied. She's as apt to be perched on a high ladder, a Polaroid camera in hand, as behind her desk. Field trips take her to such contrasting places as oil fields, factories, farms and attorney's offices.

"The outside jaunts are fun but hazardous," says Mary Frances. "If there is a puddle of grease or oil anywhere, I'm sure to sit in it, and I always end on top of something slippery or teetery to take pictures."

* * * *

THE PICTURE taking proves that Mary's a pretty inventive girl herself, for taking photographs of inventor's working models was her idea. "A good idea too," says Frank, who wonders now how he got along without a camera.

Remembering how a tricky piece of equipment works after seeing it once is no snap. With the pictures he and his employes have something to refer to.

HOW DOES a slim, attractive blonde in her 20s get her name in gold letters on the door of a drafting business?

For vivacious Mary Frances, who flunked her one and only art course, it meant giving up a career as a legal secretary and switching from typewriter to pen, ink and bristol board.

It all started when, working at Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., she decided to ink-in patent drawings for pin money.

"Frank had just started in business for himself as a patent draftsman and was swamped with too much work," she explains.

Mary Frances tackled her first job over a weekend and ended up still working on it at 3 a.m. Sunday morning.

"I went to work with my eyes feeling like sandpaper," says she.

The drawings, quite detailed pencil studies of each invention, have to be inked just so—without smudges, smears or wavers. Shading goes by strict patent office rules to indicate color, shape and material.

PATENT PENDING

Electric eraser in hand, Mary Frances Graves shows partner, Frank Baumgartner, inked patent drawing she's completed. Mary Frances learned to ink invention drawings on part-time basis while secretary. Now business she and Frank operate at Ocean Center Building is expanding, soon may include architectural landscape design.—(Staff photos.)

MARY FRANCES GRAVES

"I erased more than I inked," says Mary. "Until finally the electric eraser got so hot I couldn't pick it up."

* * * *

BUT EVEN though Baumgartner admits those first inkings of Mary's were "far from perfect" (he had to re-do them) she DID learn.

With the result that she soon quit her first job of six years standing and bought into the organization.

And she's been quite an asset. As Baumgartner puts it, "adding a pretty blonde partner hasn't hurt business."

Even at first Mary Frances was not just a silent, decorative partner.

During the lean days, when they couldn't make ends meet, she took over and lined up work from lawyers while Frank took on another job.

Then there were the many evenings with deadlines to meet that she and Mrs. Baumgartner sat in front of TV grinding out drawings, production line fashion.

Now besides taking pictures, contacting attorneys for contracts, and inking drawings, Mary Frances keeps the company books and tries to keep the office at the Ocean Center Bldg. neat.

"The men don't always appreciate my picking up," says she. "They grumble that they can't find anything."

* * * *

WITH ALL her work, Mary Frances still has time for her favorite hobby.

A foreign car fan, with an MG of her own, she spends a great deal of time "polishing, cleaning, racing and paying for it."

As to marrying, this pretty miss says "There is always a chance, if the right man comes along," but for now her main interest is seeing that patents get down pat.

Nancy Webb in St. Thomas Rite

St. Thomas of Canterbury Episcopal Church was setting for the recent ceremony uniting in marriage Nancy Elizabeth Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earnes Ray Webb, 4419 California Ave., and Coleman Anderson Doggett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Doggett of Shelby, N.C.

The bride was charming in a Sabrina gown of white silk peau de soie. Her dress was embellished with Swiss applique and seed pearls as was the crown which held her illusion veil. She carried a cascade of butterfly orchids and bouvardia.

In the bride's entourage were Mary Edith Cline, maid of honor; Jane Runnels, Carol Featherman, Janet Anderson and Barbara Young.

* * * *

THE FATHER of the bridegroom served as his best man, and seating the 250 guests were George Doggett and Reed Webb, brothers of the couple; James Dart, John Heffner and James McWilliams.

Following a reception at the bride's parents' home, the newlyweds left for Palm Springs and a motor honeymoon trip to the Grand Canyon and east to Lincolnton, N.C., where they will reside.

The new Mrs. Doggett was graduated from Polytechnic High School and Occidental College where she was affiliated with Zeta Tau Zeta. Her husband has degrees in entomology and forest management from North Carolina State College.

Overseas League Women to Meet

Ruth Stewart, president of Women's Overseas Service League's Los Angeles Unit, will call the first fall meeting of the Unit to order at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Catholic Women's Clubhouse, 927 S. Menlo Ave. Serving with Miss Stewart are Mrs. Henry F. Droste, Mrs. Katherine Pyle, and Marjorie Shumway, Lillian Bushnell and Lucy Birdsall.

Four Couples Hear Chime of Wedding Bells

Back from their honeymoon at Grand Tetons National Park, Wyo., and residing at 1321 Roycroft Ave., are newlywed Mr. and Mrs. James Sperling Whitney.

The bride is the former Jane Elizabeth Ely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion F. Ely, 3161 Shady Park Drive; and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Whitney, 2879 Montair Ave.

At the wedding in North Long Beach Brethren Church attendants were Mrs. M. F. Ely II, matron of honor; Mmes. Harold E. Johnson, David Lee Whitney, Misses Theda Reinertson, Diane Fulljames; David Lee Whitney, best man; Marion F. Ely II, Hal R. Rogers, Donald Lee Sterrenburg and Harold E. Johnson.

THE BRIDAL gown of white organza over taffeta was designed by the bride with white rose appliques.

Both young people were graduated from Jordan High School, and the bride from Long Beach State College where Whitney is now a senior. Mrs. Whitney will teach at Rogers Junior High School this fall.

Shelly-Ebersole

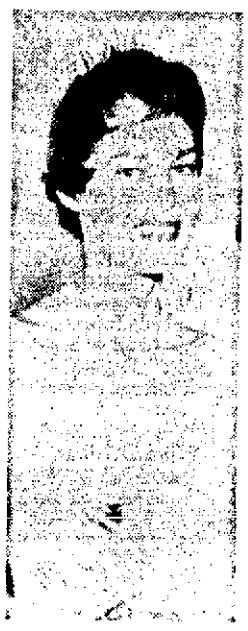

North Long Beach Community Church was setting for the ring exchange when June Elizabeth Ebersole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Ebersole, 6462 California Ave., became the bride of Robert P. Shelly.

The bride was gowned in nylon tulle edged in lace over pale ivory satin. Attendants were Pat Moore, Mrs. Martha Nosches, maid and matron of honor; Mrs. Harold Johnson and Charlotte Brazil.

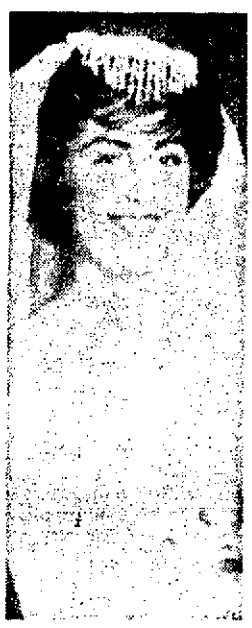

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Shelly of Fresno, chose William Shelly as best man, with Donald McKay, Jerry Jackson and Robert Witkowski as ushers.

Mrs. James S. Whitney

Mrs. Robert P. Shelly

Mrs. Donald Christenson

Mrs. Monte Haberman

THE NEW Mrs. Shelly is an alumna of Jordan High and attended LBCC. She is a graduate of Los Angeles General Hospital School of Nursing. Her husband was graduated from Fresno State College and has his master's degree from UCLA. He is affiliated with Sigma Nu, Alpha Kappa Psi, Beta Gamma Sigma and Bru-Vets.

Huntington Park is the new home for the couple, following a San Francisco honeymoon.

Christenson-Oyler

Carol Lee Oyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Oyler, 4743 Levelside Ave., Lakewood, became the bride of Donald Morris Christenson, son of the Carroll M. Christensons, 5010 Matney Ave., in an afternoon ceremony in Lakewood Village Community Church.

Preceding the bride were Jacqueline Roy and Mrs. Thomas Christenson, maid and matron of honor; Karen Smith, Sharon Hughes and Kathy Oyler. Ronald Helbron was best man, and ushers were Thomas Christenson, Dave Dales, George Vafis and Ralph Crabtree.

* * * *

CARRYING a cascade bouquet and wearing a pearl trimmed crown, the bride was gowned in silk organza and peau d'ange lace with chapel train.

The bride was graduated from Lakewood High School and the bridegroom from Poly, as well as USC School of Dentistry where he was a Delta Sigma Delta.

Haberman-Gandaubert

Before a large guest company of 500 in California Heights Methodist Church the wedding of Darleen Gandaubert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gandaubert, 3745 Gardenia Ave., and Monte Ray Haberman, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Haberman, 4420 Hazelbrook Ave., was solemnized.

* * * *

CHANTILLY lace over satin was selected for the bridal gown designed with a bouffant skirt with scalloped border and chapel train. The veil was held by a crown of pearls and crystal. The bride carried a bouquet of Madonna lilies.

Mrs. Haberman was graduated from Poly High and USC where she was an Alpha Gamma Delta. Her bridegroom attended Progress School and Pierce Agricultural School.

The newlyweds are now living in Long Beach following a honeymoon in Carmel.

The Wild Waves Say . .

By IOLA MASTERSON
I, P-T Women's Editor

While Women's Editor Iola Masterson is on vacation this column is being written by Betty Wentworth.

Flags are snapping in the breeze and the veranda is swarming with sailors and their crews this weekend at Alamitos Bay Yacht Club as members and guests compete in the annual classic Labor Day regatta hosted by ABYC on bay and ocean courses.

Commodore Bob Hoffman welcomed the salts and briefed them at the skipper's meeting yesterday prior to the starting gun for the first classes. There are more scheduled today and Labor Day, starting each day at 12:50 p.m.

Last night at the clubhouse tiki torches blazed and strings of Japanese lanterns swayed on the porches. "They're Gaining!" with the scene wreathed in the aromatic scent of steaks sizzling on a battery of braziers for the annual dinner.

Among the 150 guests were 30 Star fleet members who had been entertained at cocktails by Jean and Vice Commodore Tom Knight in their La Canada home prior to the dinner.

Marie and Ken Hodges Jr. were in charge of the gala evening assisted by Margaret and Roy Conn, with Julia Arnold doing the decor. There was dancing afterwards with a pleasant family admixture of the junior and senior yacht clubbers.

Good luck, sailors—we suggest that you avoid the following if you want to take home a glittering trophy—DSQs (disqualifications, to you all on the beach), port-starboard fracases, bumping those sometimes magnetic marks and hitting that starting line ahead of the gun. Now, you have NOTHING to worry about if you follow our sage advice.

IT'S A MOST unusual occurrence, you'll agree, when the choir at All Saint's Episcopal Church is discovered chuckling during the service. This transpired last Sunday when small Howard Scott Gebb was being christened.

He was enjoying the occasion hugely, and chortled and squealed in high good humor. This charmed the entire congregation which added its smiling approval of the event.

Young Howard, seven months, is the first child for Sheldon and Barbara Gebb, who've been spending the summer with Sheldon's mother, La Vona Gebb on Santiago. They'll leave shortly to return to Berkeley where the new father will be in his second year at Boalt Law School.

Also witnessing the baptism were grandparents Howard Bakken, after whom the little angel was named, and Edith. Afterwards everyone went on to Mrs. Gebb's home for a family luncheon for 24, where the honoree again basked happily in everyone's admiration.

CHINA, FABRICS, pearls, obi chairs, ginger jars, Okinawa screens—all these and other glamorous objects are on the list of things that Phyllis Sebring hopes to bear home with her from her travels which began Friday.

She and her husband, Keeney, winged off to visit her sister and husband, Dorothy and Lt. Merle Tree (USN) in Japan for three weeks. Tokyo, Kyoto, Kobe and the resort city, Hacone, are on their list of must-visit places.

The Trees, and daughters, Patty Ann and Marilyn, are former localites and also lived in Midway City for several years, hence there'll be much reminiscing sandwiched in between tours.

INVITATIONS have gone out from Florence and Dr. Orville Cole to 200 friends for the beautiful luau they give annually. This will be the seventh year for the event which is always greatly anticipated.

It's to be next Saturday evening beginning with cocktails at 7 p.m. and followed by dinner and dancing around the pool and on the lawn. Everyone comes in costume making a colorful shifting kaleidoscope of color against the Hawaiian background.

"I'm Tahitian!"

The orchestra will play on an island constructed of styrafoam which floats gently about on the pool — this may sound like airy construction but take heart, because it can hold 5,000 pounds!

Included in the guest list are cast members of the Community Playhouse production of "The Pleasure of His Company" which is now in rehearsal, and in which Florence is taking the part played by Cornela Otis Skinner in the Broadway production.

The Coles' daughters, Gloria and Joyce, will greet guests wearing identical muu muus which Gloria has just brought back from the Islands where she's been attending the U of Hawaii.

Invited to assist are Artie and Albert Stevenson, Corinne and Vernon Fay, Luba and Alex Kadvany, Janice and Clifford Cole, Marjorie and Frank Stanton and Eldred and Vernon Brickey.

THOSE PULSATING rhythms issuing from the new Palos Verdes Estates home of Barby and Bill Beasley were provided by a real steel band from the Virgin Islands, when the Beasleys threw a frolicsome calypso party recently.

It was their tenth wedding anniversary and they invited 36 guests in to help celebrate their "tin-th" year. Forgive us, please. Anyway, costumes ranged from slinky Carmen Miranda gowns and fruit laden hats to that of one imaginative character who came as a banana tree. Scout's honor!

Ebell Fashion Show, Tea

Once again the annual Ebell fashion show heralds the arrival of the fall season. Always much anticipated, the event will take place on Friday at 1 p.m. at the clubhouse, with Group Y in charge. Mrs. Grace Schick will present "Couturier Fashions for Fall."

Mrs. Dorothy Ritter, popular commentator, will describe the fashions with Harriet Wood, harpist, contributing background music.

There is to be a gift at the door for every guest, and under the supervision of Mrs. Merton Betts. Smith, numerous attractive prizes will be given from the platform.

* * * *

FOLLOWING the style showing guests will assemble in the patio and dining room for a beautifully appointed tea. Table decorations are being prepared under the direction of Mrs. H. L. Frankenburger, and are to be centered around French fashion dolls from the collection of Mrs. H. L. Beckley, group chairman. Assisting are Mrs. E. T. Beckman of Group X and Mmes. Everett Findlay and Homer D. Redford, Group Y.

Mrs. M. A. Sneed is in charge of tickets which may be obtained from any member of Group Y or at the door.

Ushers will be under the guidance of Mrs. Max Baehr. Other chairmen include Mmes. B. TuckleyThompson, music; Will H. Winston, lighting; Merton B. Smith, King C. Light, prizes. Tea hostesses will be Mmes. Homer C. Moody, H. A. Beardsley, Walter Hunsaker and Leo Lynes and their committees.

* * * *

NEW CLUB president, Mrs. Harold O. Gray, and board members, plus Mrs. Henry M. Hoffman, Junior Matrons Dept., and Mrs. Clifton J. Belcher, chairman of Adrian Dept., will pour at the tea tables under the direction of Mrs. J. Roscoe Howell.

Board members of Group Y who are assisting to make this event a high light of the club year are Mmes. Beckley, Beardsley, Moody, Glenn H. Knowles, U. B. Killingsworth, W. M. Cobb, Martin Spark, Floyd R. Lee and Charles W. Legeman.

Mrs. Tim McCormick

Reception Today for Newlyweds

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Raymond Ullery, 214 Park Ave., are entertaining 75 guests today at a wedding reception honoring their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Clifford McCormick.

The pair wed in mid-August in Chimes Wedding Chapel. The bride, the former Marna Redmayne, chose for her vows a gown of white Chantilly lace trimmed in organza and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

* * * *

BRIDEGROOM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kruger of El Monte, received early schooling in Rosemead and will attend Long Beach City College. His bride is an alumna of Wilson and attended LBCC.

They are at home in El Monte.

Linda Hossom Is Bride

In a gown of pale ivory which cascaded into a chapel train and a delicate seed pearl tiara holding her tiered veil of tulle, Miss Linda Lee Hossom was a picture of bridal radiance when she said her vows with Harry Schiller Redeker Jr.

Mrs. Harry S. Redeker Jr.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Overton Hossom, 5621 Corso di Napoli, prominent Long Beach residents. She entered St. Luke's Episcopal Church escorted by her father for the late afternoon ceremony.

Her peau de soie gown was appliqued with lace and featured a portrait neckline and bell-shaped skirt. The bridal bouquet was of stephanotis, Queen Anne's lace and orchids.

Gowns of turquoise silk linen were worn by attendants, Sherrill Hossom, her sister's maid of honor; Sheryl Stevens, Linda Loveren, Sandra Hunt, Mmes. William Martin and Roy Millender.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Redeker Sr. of Ardmore, Pa. J. Douglas Burke served as his best man, and seating the 350 guests were Richard Redeker, Jack McSherry, Roy Millender, Anthony Vienna and Rodney Bunson.

GARDENS OF the Hossom home bordering Alamitos Bay were setting for the reception.

The bride attended Bishop's School, La Jolla, and is an alumna of Wilson High School and UC, Berkeley, where she was a Gamma Phi Beta member and officer.

A graduate of Penn Charter School, and Connecticut Wesleyan University, the bridegroom was a Sigma Chi and on varsity football and baseball teams.

The newlyweds will reside in El Cerrito. They will both attend UC, Berkeley, where she will work toward her teacher's credential and he will continue at Boalt Law School.

End-of-Summer Tea Is Sparkling Party Finale

Cars lined California Avenue for blocks on Wednesday when 75 guests responded to Marion Groshong's "come for tea" invitations. They were greeted by Myrtle Murphy, Vi Hunter, Dorothy Jean Ellery and Lorraine Doyle upon their arrival and ushered into the lovely garden where vari-hued umbrellas dotted the lawn, their supports twined with ivy and hydrangeas.

"Late Roses"

Masses of pink and red roses nodded their full-blown heads from a pressed glass compote on the tea table in keeping with the Colonial decor of the charming Groshong home. Those pouring were Irene Woodruff, Emily Persons, Lillian Crawford and Blanche Herley.

Pretty young assistants serving at the punch bowl were Gayle Fairley and Kathleen Doyle. We think a garden tea an eminently appropriate way with which to write finis to summer's parties.

Jewelry Exchange Planned

Petroleum Wives will have a white elephant exchange of jewelry when they meet for luncheon Wednesday at noon in the Petroleum Club, 3636 Linden Ave.

Mrs. Walter M. Crawford, decorations chairman, has arranged miniature white elephant floral centerpieces for the event.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Wayne Bunn and Neil Buchanan. Following luncheon, bridge and canasta will be played in the Terrace Room.

Doctor's Wives Plan Luncheon

Wives of Navy Doctors will meet for luncheon Sept. 13 at 1 p.m. in the Virginia Country Club. Reservations for the event, which will include a cocktail hour at noon, are being handled by the hostess, Mrs. Walter F. Hanley, 5620 E. Ocean Blvd.

Civic Chorus Issues Call for Vocalists

The Civic Chorus, adult singing group sponsored by the Recreation Department, will begin the winter season's rehearsals on Monday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p.m. in the Dewey High School Auditorium, Eighth Street and Locust Avenue.

The group will prepare for two Christmas programs to be presented at Municipal Auditorium. Music to be practiced this fall includes interesting choral arrangements of Christmas melodies from other lands in modern and traditional settings. There will be opportunity for solo voices and small ensemble work. The "Messiah" also will be prepared for the December concert, assisted by the Long Beach Symphony Orchestra.

Young singers who have had experience in church choirs or high school singing groups are invited to audition for Frank Ahrold, choral director, at 7 p.m. Mondays.

HOLLYWOOD?

Robert K. Gronendyke's "Hooray for Hollywood" was chosen for display in the annual exhibition of Artists of Los Angeles and Vicinity at Los Angeles County Museum.

Exciting New Exhibit at County Museum

By VIRGINIA LADDEY

"Artists of Los Angeles Vicinity" at the County Museum until Oct. 1 is packed with inventiveness, originality and excitement. We suggest you go to see it soon; undoubtedly you will want to go back again.

On odd-numbered years like this one, the big annual juried show includes everything but oil paintings, permitting a much greater showing of sculpture, water colors, prints and drawings. The jury chose 180 works to be hung from 2,394 submitted.

* * * *

THE SCULPTURE of two of these illustrates the range of subject matter and materials. Gronendyke's "Hooray for Hollywood" is pure fun and satire; on the entry blank space for materials, he wrote "junk." This consists of a wooden paddle on which are nailed a smashed trumpet and tin toys on one side, an old kid opera glove with a photo of a lady, circa 1910, peeking through the wrist opening, all surmounted by a halo of dead-hued sequins.

* * * *

BARBARA JOHNSTON'S "Figure" is a poetic abstract of idealized feminine curves done in open and closed spaces in smooth white plaster.

Critics of the recent welded metal sculpture exhibit at Long Beach Museum of Art will find this medium well represented in the show, including prize-winner Oliver Andrew's "The Reaper." Among the many wood sculptures, Robert Ortlieb's "Todtentanz," suggesting two skeletal figures, and Eva Rappaport's "Baby," in spruce, were particularly impressive.

We were more drawn to the sculpture than to the other works as there are few opportunities to see so many different examples of three-dimensional works in one show. The same degree of excellence is to be found in the prints, drawings, water colors and mixed media. Allow yourself plenty of time when you go to see them.

Yamamoto Show at Museum

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

Long Beach Museum of Art, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., today opens an exhibit of oil paintings by Noriko Yamamoto. Approximately 20 works will be on display in the downstairs west gallery through Sept. 24.

Remaining galleries will continue to show the survey of museum acquisitions over the past 10 years.

Miss Yamamoto, a resident of San Jose, has exhibited nationally and abroad. Last year she won the Whitney Annual competition, open to artists throughout the United States.

A museum reception is slated for next Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m.

On Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. the museum docents will be on hand to guide visitors through exhibits. The service is carried on without charge in order to acquaint viewers with art movements of the past and present. Facts about each exhibit, otherwise known only to the museum staff, are shared during the continuous tour which is conducted informally to allow visitors to join those portions which interest them.

WILLIAM F. LaVALLEE, who was director of Long Beach Art Association's second annual art fair last Sunday in Bixby Park sends the following report:

During the afternoon, 3,200 people visited the fair. Forrest G. Hooper won First Most Outstanding for his oil painting, "Earth Heritage;" Pearl Jones was second with her oil, "Breath of Spring."

Other awards were: Oils, Paul Seydlitz, first; Goeffrey Holt, second. Waterbase, Harold Scott, first; Forrest G. Hooper, second. Graphics, David Denevan, first; Louise Vann, second. Sculpture, Kenn Glenn.

Audre Hutchins won the crafts award and membership prizes went to Willene Luckett, Marie Bucher, Edward Kane and Heinz L. Reien.

* * * *

ANY PAINTING media is acceptable for the All-Southern California Artists open exhibit at Catalina Sept. 22 to 24. However, since there are no facilities for displaying the sculpture, that category is omitted. Paintings will be judged between 2 and 4 p.m. Saturday.

Top prize is $400. Others are $100, $50, and a $50 popular prize. The Santa Catalina Island Company has donated $150 for the best Catalina scene painted by other than a Catalina artist.

Entries must be delivered by hand to the exhibit; there is a $2 registration fee per painting.

DIVIDING budding West Los Angeles art students into age brackets 9 through 11, and 12 through 15, University Extension at UCLA this fall plans Saturday classes in "The World of Art for Children."

Through the two classes, which start Sept. 23 at the Extension Art Studio, 1063 Gayley Ave. in Westwood Village, Mrs. Selma Moskowitz hopes to present "the historical significance of art and its relationship to society to students at an age when the basic elements of art and art history can become meaningful to their future development as appreciators and/or practitioners."

Her class for pre-adolescents will meet from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. for 10 sessions while the teenagers will meet from noon until 2 o'clock.

CONCERTS A MATTER 'OF BLOOD, SWEAT, RAIN'

By RACHEL MORTON
L. P-T Music Critic

In the New York Times Magazine of July 16, there appeared an article by Mrs. Charles S. Guggenheimer of New York City, the lady who started the Lewisohn Stadium concerts there, which are comparable to our Hollywood Bowl concerts. I found the story very interesting and I would like to share parts of it with my readers. Almost singlehandedly she founded these concerts 43 years ago and still runs them, although she is now 80 years old.

"Ever since that memorable night in June, 1918, when America's first outdoor symphonic concert was given—music for me has been largely a matter of blood, sweat and rain. The blood and sweat have been my own, poured annually into raising upward of $75,000 against the inevitable operating deficit of a season involving a symphony orchestra of 96 men vigorously championed by the American Federation of Musicians; 40 to 50 of the highest paid and most tempermental stars of opera, concerts, radio, television, motion pictures and the Broadway theater; a dozen or more gentlemen presumably wielding batons of solid platinum; and 25 or more totally different programs designed primarily for the enjoyment of people who may never be able to afford a ticket to Carnegie Hall or the Metropolitan Opera House.

"THE RAIN is something the United States Weather Bureau trumps up all by itself, expressly for the purpose of keeping people away from the Lewisohn Stadium.

"But music has meant other things to me as well during the past 43 years. It has meant the fun of getting to know great artists on an intimate, first-name basis. It has meant the excitement of discovering brilliant new talents and giving them their first boosts up the ladder of fame. It has meant a formidable array of citations, plaques, honorary degrees and medals from city officials, colleges and universities, and two quite delicious kisses on the cheek from a handsome gentleman representing France's Legion of Honor. And, most of all, it has meant a steady stream of letters and phone calls from people I have never met and whose names I can't even remember. But then, I can't even remember the name of the man who wrote the Verdi Requiem!

Dixie in Bowl

It's to be "Dixie in the Bowl" next Saturday night, when some of the hottest horns in Dixieland music will be on hand. The Dukes of Dixieland will blaze away, and other attractions will be clarinetist Pete Fountain and his Dixie quartet, Kid Ory and his quartet, plus vocalist Barbara Dane.

Opening Friday at Magnolia

Casting for Magnolia Theatre's production of "Send Me No Flowers" has been completed and rehearsals for the Norman Baurasch-Carroll Moore comedy are under way.

The play, opening Friday, concerns a hypochondriac who, thinking he is about to die, makes plans to assure his wife a good life and a husband to succeed him.

Sal Mungo has been cast in the lead as George Kimball; Barbara Crooker will play his wife, Judy.

Others in the cast are Carl Yates, Jerry Brady, Bill Dusablom, Paul Teschke, Jay Stipal, Dick Hunter, Marjorie Watson and Virginia Sharp. John Williams directs.

The play will run Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays for six weeks.

Greek Tragedy

Final event of the Greek Theater ninth annual season will be the premiere American appearance of the famed Greek Tragedy Company from Athens, opening Tuesday night.

This renowned troupe of thespians will be seen in Sophocles' immortal "Electra" performed in modern Greek. Following the five-performance engagement through Saturday here the company will embark on a tour of the United States.

On Stage--

COMMUNITY PLAYHOUSE, 5021 E. Anaheim St., "Gangway," 7:45 p.m. Thursday; 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

MAGNOLIA THEATRE, 3498 Magnolia Ave., "Send Me No Flowers," 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

OFF - BROADWAY THEATRE, 211 Lima Ave., 8 tonight, three original one-acts; 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday, "Left Abner."

CHEF OF THE WEEK

Stew Best Without Beef

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.P-T Food Editor

His name isn't really "Harry" at all. Today's Chef of the Week is Robert Henry Fulton. "Harry" isn't a nickname, either. He was born in Belfast, Ireland, and in Ireland "Henry" automatically becomes "Harry."

Now, if you're still with us, Harry Fulton came with his family straight from Belfast to Long Beach at the age of 6. His father was associated with the Craig Shipbuilding Co.

Fulton is presently special assistant to Long Beach City Manager John Mansell. We like to think, however, that he is first and foremost a newspaper man—secondly, a public relations expert. He spent many years with the Independent, Press-Telegram in many editorial capacities, including columnist, political editor, editorial writer and special assignments.

* * * *

AND, FOR his service above and beyond the call of duty, he won the California Newspaper Publishers' Associations' award for "Outstanding Public Service" in 1958.

His educational background, which resulted in these awards, began at Jane Adams Elementary School, continued on to Lindbergh Junior and Poly High Schools, then City College, with the grand finale at UC, Berkeley.

Somewhere along the line, Harry found time to devote four years to World War II, as a lieutenant in the Navy. On destroyer duty in the Pacific theater, he indulged in maneuvers for two and a half years without returning to the States.

Harry Fulton

His wife, Lorraine, as well known and as popular as he, daughter Ann, 15, and Janet, 6, and son Bill, 12; share his enthusiasm for community affairs.

* * * *

NOT POSSESSING one iota of domesticity his recipe today is for "Community Stew," which is terrific! Of that he says:

"The secret in making a good pot of community stew depends upon fulfilling two requirements. First, you have to have the proper basic ingredients to make a good stew. Second, the cook must show the proper amount of enthusiasm for his work if he expects to turn out a tasty dish.

"Here in Long Beach we have all the basic ingredients required for the making of a good community stew. Trouble is, too many of us spoil the stew because we lack enthusiasm as cooks.

"Far too many of us put to much beef in our stew. We're always beefing about what's wrong with Long Beach instead of bragging about what's right about the city. And you just can't expect to make a good pot of stew if you keep mixing in sour grapes.

"Here, then, 'Miss Porkchops,' is my recipe for a good community stew:

Basic ingredients:

A homogeneous, prosperous and happy population;

Unexcelled recreation, cultural and entertainment facilities;

Educational facilities and standards which are models for other communities;

Health and hospital facilities that are unmatched anywhere;

America's most modern port;

Public and private agencies which want to progress in the future.

"Add to these ingredients a magnificent section of the California shoreline and an inviting portion of the Pacific Ocean, and allow stew to simmer in the mild Southland sun.

"Now mix in a heaping spoonful of personal interest and a generous helping of community pride.

"Stir vigorously, enthusiastically, and you've got a Long Beach Community Stew — a treat the whole world will enjoy."

Carl Flinn Jr. Claims Pasadena Girl as Bride

Mrs. Carl D. Flinn Jr.

Carl D. Flinn Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Flinn of Lakewood, claimed as his bride Mary Lynn Chambosse of Pasadena in a recent candlelighted ceremony in Pasadena Presbyterian Church.

His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Halsey K. Chambosse. She selected for her wedding a gown of imported Alencon lace, fashioned with full chapel train. Her crown of sequins and crystals held a fingertip length veil.

Preceding her to the flower banked altar were Mary Ellen Coughlin, maid of honor, and Barbara Beebe, Renie Cass, Gail Salisbury, Mary Lou Thomas and Sally Seamans, bridesmaids.

* * * *

BRIDEGROOM asked Ted Branstine to attend as best man, and ushering the 500 guests were Curtis Cribbs, Dominick Penterpe, Richard McElroy, Robert Beebe and Floyd Cass. Nephews of the bride, Robby and Brad Beebe, were junior ushers.

A reception followed at the Huntington Sheraton Hotel with the newlyweds later departing on a honeymoon trip to northern California. They will reside in Long Beach.

Mrs. Flinn attended Pasadena City College. Her husband, an alumnus of Lakewood High School, attended Long Beach City College.

Exception Wins Anew

There is no telling how great a bridge player Louis Watson might have been. He was only 29 when he died and he had already won several championships and had established himself as one of the 10 best players in the world.

Louis' strongest point was that he was a perfect partner in bidding, play and postmortem analysis when he would try to take personal blame for any bad results.

Here is one of Louis' favorite hands. He sat East and while South was planning his play before playing from dummy to trick one, Louis had plenty of time to see that his partner's lead had been the top of nothing. A count of his own high card and dummy's points left one jack as the most West could hold.

	♣ K 9 4 2

Both vulnerable

South	West	North	East
1 N.T.	Pass	3 N.T.	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead—♠ 5

THEREFORE, Louis Played the ten of spades. Not only did this play violate the rule of third hand high, but it also was a false card since it denied the nine.

South won the trick and led a club which Louis won. Now Louis led the jack of spades.

South went into a long huddle. He finally decided that West's opening lead had been a normal fourth best lead from a suit headed by ace, nine, six, five and that if West also held the four spot the jack would be Louis' only remaining spade.

So South played low, whereupon Louis ran off the rest of the spades and set an iron clad contract.

DEAR ABBY

Stay Off the Airways

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What does a girl do when she finds out that a boy for whom she cares a great deal has betrayed her confidence by broadcasting to all his friends things that should have been kept secret?—BETRAYED.

ABBY

DEAR BETRAYED: There is nothing you can do about it now. But you can profit by your own sad experience and never again give a boy anything to "broadcast" about.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: While I am writing this, my 22-year-old daughter is stretched out on the lawn chair in her bikini bathing suit with her sun glasses and movie magazine, and she will be there all day. She spends every Saturday and Sunday that way. She is the laziest, most self-centered, inconsiderate person I have ever known. She has a job which pays well, but she never offers to pay a cent toward her room and board. She is up to her neck in debt because she bought herself a car and dresses like a millionaire's daughter. She has never lifted a finger to make her own bed or rinse out a pair of stockings. She talks to her father and me like we were dogs. I never know who she runs around with because she never brings her friends home. What does a mother do with a monster like this?—HER MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: Who raised this monster?

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: I read about the grandmother who was so upset because she had to be bothered by her grandchildren over the weekend. I wish she could know how my heart would sing to see my dear little grandchildren trooping into my kitchen, leaving fingermarks on my refrigerator, dropping jam and chewing gum on my clean floor and making joyful noises because they are glad to be alive.

My son and his wife have left with their six children to live in a foreign country. I will probably never see them again. Here I am, left alone to enjoy my clean floor, spotless curtains and quiet home, but with that endless longing for "the touch of a vanished hand, and the sound of a voice that is still."

—GRANDMOTHER.

THERE'S LUXURY IN SOL VISTA'S NEWEST HOMES

Newest Sol Vista Luxury Unit Opens in Santa Ana

Al Solomon, president of the Alco-Pacific Construction Co., developers of Sol Vista Luxury Series Homes, announced the grand opening of Unit 20, another new subdivision in Santa Ana.

Other developments are located in Huntington Beach, Garden Grove and Westminster. All of these developments are near the present model homes located on Beach Blvd., three miles south of Garden Grove Blvd.

The Sol Vista Luxury Series Homes are one of the fastest selling developments in the entire Southland, and Solomon attributed this fact to the increase of industry in this area.

Sol Vista features the Medallion "all electric kitchens." They include the Frigidaire range and oven, and the Frigidaire dishwasher. Also included is color coordinated range hood and light with electric fan, whirlaway disposals and ash cabinets which are easy to reach.

* * * *

ANOTHER FEATURE is the hardwood floors of genuine oak with two-inch tongue and groove sub-flooring on "raised" foundations. Also included is rock wool insulation by Johns-Manville, acoustical ceilings, Armstrong Excelon tile, American Standard Plumbing and forced air heating with thermostat control.

The living rooms feature dramatic floor-to-ceiling wood-burning fireplace of stone or brick with gas log lighter included. The bathrooms have convenient pullmans, colored fixtures, and stall showers with safety glass doors in the master bedroom bath. Most plans include a beautiful dressing table with mirror.

The homes are priced from $17,800 with no money down on VA terms (except costs and impounds) FHA with minimum down payment, Cal-Vet and conventional loans are also available.

The homes are located near several golf courses, shopping areas, churches, elementary and high schools, and in particular the higher educational institutes which include Long Beach State College, Orange Coast College and Orange State College. They are also near the beaches, swimming, surfing and fishing.

* * * *

THE MODEL HOMES are open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and only until 6 p.m. Saturday. For your convenience there is a hostess available in each model home to answer preliminary questions. The sales program is directed by C. "Faye" Stites, president of the C. LaFaye Co. Inc., exclusive sales agents of Sol Vista Homes.

Sol Vista is located on Hwy. 39 (Beach Blvd.) 3 miles south of Garden Grove Blvd. From Long Beach, go out Carson or Garden Grove Blvd. to Hwy. 39 and turn right to models. From Los Angeles, take the Santa Ana Freeway to the Artesia turnoff, follow Beach Blvd. (Hwy. 39) south to models.

Sol Vista developments are also conveniently located in Riverside and Santa Maria.

SPEAKER

The Thursday noon speaker at the Advertising Club of Long Beach luncheon in the Lafayette Hotel Boulevard Room will be Robert L. Hicks, vice president and general manager of the Business Extension Bureau, Los Angeles. His speech is entitled "Smoke Signals," a talk on direct mail advertising.

Code for Realtors to Get New Study

Realtors will launch a program to develop detailed canons of professional practice in real estate work at a special meeting of the Committee on Professional Standards of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in Chicago Sept. 11, S. Denmead Kolb, Salisbury, Md., chairman of the committee, announced.

"For nearly half a century," Kolb said, "Realtors have rendered their services to buyers, sellers, and owners of real property under a code of ethics that is one of the first of its kind to be established in the United States. Growing complexity in the real estate market and the need for more specialized real estate services indicate the value of detailed interpretations of the 30 articles of the Realtor's code of ethics in widely varying circumstances.

* * * *

"WORK WE undertake in Chicago will initiate a series of interpretations to constitute modern canons of conduct for maintaining a professional caliber of service in real estate work.

"This understanding is a continuation of the work that has been carried on by Realtors for two generations through their local, state and national organizations to provide the basis for reliable, competent, and considerate service in real estate matters."

The term Realtor is registered as a collective mark (similar to a trade mark) in the U.S. Patent Office, and may be used only by the 69,815 active members of NAREB.

Name Two Chairmen for Chest Campaign

William A. Harrington and Howard Wing have been appointed Community Chest division leaders according to James H. Crooker, campaign chairman.

Harrington, a member of the Harbor Commission, will head the harbor division for the drive with Thomas J. Thorley, assistant port manager, as his vice chairman. Harrington, who is manager for Bethlehem Steel Shipbuilding Division, is a former member of the Chest board of directors and of the Catholic Welfare Bureau. Thorley was division chairman for last year's drive.

W. A. HARRINGTON

Harbor division's quota of the $1 million campaign goal is $12,148.

* * * *

DOWNTOWN BUSINESS division will have Howard Wing as chairman and three co-vice chairmen.

James G. Craig, Jr., a former Chest president and campaign chairman, will work with Harlan Miller and Mottell Peek in setting up the organization of the division.

With a $11,639 quota for the 669 business prospects, Wing will enlist a team of 68 solicitors with the help of three loan executives: R. H. Beach, Robert K. Ritter and Herman Moskowitz. Miss Florence Genschmer, executive director of the Visiting Nurse Service, is the agency director assigned the division. Wing, who is manager of the Wing Chinese Art Store, was one of the division's captain's last year. Peek is with Eastman Dillon Union Securities Co. and is a member of the Chest board of directors. Miller, a member of the board of the Community Volunteer Office, is a partner in the Miller-Roudebush Insurance agency.

Dutch Haven's Newest Unit Is Selling Fast

A DUTCH HAVEN INTERIOR
Recently opened in Dutch Haven unit 18, homes such as this are finding quick buying response due to the many features at nominal prices, salesmen report. They are in Huntington Beach.

The steady sales increase experienced since the mid-August grand opening at Dutch Haven's Unit 18 on Beach Blvd., Huntington Beach, is not only being maintained, said Edward S. Boyd, sales agent, but during the past week has been accelerated to a new high.

Boyd said that, apart from the desirable location, moderate price and custom features offered by the subdivision's "American Home Series" models, an important factor in stimulating increasing sales for the community has been the suitability of the development for family living. Environment is suburban and uncrowded, play areas are generous and all homes feature both spacious living quarters and larger-than-usual storage facilities.

* * * *

HE ADDED that buyers were finding a host of other ways in which the Dutch Haven development was eminently suitable for young children. Not only are schools nearby and a new shopping center under construction in the area, but the community has an ideal climate which is healthful and invigorating. From the standpoint of recreation, it is but minutes away from several of the Southland's finest beaches and facilities for boating and surfing are excellent.

Prices of Dutch Haven homes start at $14,950 with $95 move-in cost to veterans on VA terms. Also available are Cal-Vet terms and FHA loans at the newly authorized 5¼ per cent interest rate.

* * * *

PURCHASE includes title to land, with property rights protected by Title Insurance and Trust Co., and tax rates are unusually low due to city-owned oil royalties. There are no hidden charges, second mortgages or balloon payments. Improvements such as street lighting, sidewalks, streets, curbs, sewers and utilities are covered in the original cost.

Homes are either three to four bedrooms with family room and up to two full baths. A total of 16 exterior elevations are available to buyers, including the popular Dutch Provincial, Ranch House, Colonial and Hawaiian Modern styles which have been consistent top sellers in other Dutch Haven communities.

Lawton, vice president and manager of Los Angeles title operations, will be the guest speaker at the regular breakfast meeting to be held at 7:15 a.m. in the Supper Room of the Lafayette Hotel, Tuesday.

Lawton is well known among local real estate circles and his topic will be "Coordination of Efforts of the Realtor, the Escrow, the Lender and the Title Company.

Can't Copy Home Plans

Two recent United States District Court decisions in Southern California have again affirmed that copyrighted architectural drawings may not be legally duplicated by unauthorized builders and designers.

The findings for the plaintiff were based on two suits instituted by builder Ross W. Cortese against other building firms and architects.

Cortese charged that his copyrighted designs for Frematic Homes built at Rossmoor were being copied to build homes in Glendora and Apple Valley.

The courts' decision not only enjoined the defendants from use of plans for construction purposes, but also ordered their destruction and further stated that copyrighted plans could not be reprinted without authorization of the owner.

A LAKEWOOD EAST HOME

S. V. Hunsaker & Sons offer homes such as this in Lakewood East Sunshine at moderate prices on low terms. The location has great appeal to buyers.

Location of Homes Appeals to Buyers

Choice location close to schools, churches and shopping center and only minutes to the prime metropolitan industrial area, plus an unusual array of popular features are responsible for the continued purchases of Lakewood East Sunshine homes, according to S. V. Hunsaker, president of S. V. Hunsaker & Sons, builders and developers.

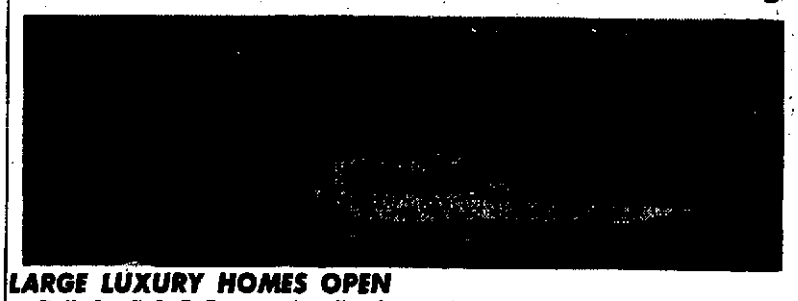

Hunsaker further stated that the new down payment of $195 for the quality homes, with monthly payments less than rent, and the opportunity to move in immediately before school starts are contributing factors to the buyer acceptance.

THESE THREE BEDROOM, two full bath, two-car garage homes, priced at $16,595, have silent force-air heat, disposal, vinyl tile, Formica counter tops, hood and exhaust fan over range, and natural finish cabinets. Features which appeal to most prospective home buyers include choice of front or rear family room and wall-to-wall carpet.

Parkway trees are planted and sewers and sidewalks are in and paid for.

Model homes may be inspected daily from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Centralia Road just west of Pioneer Boulevard.

Garden Park Estate Homes Preview Today

LARGE LUXURY HOMES OPEN

Built by S & S Construction Co., homes in Garden Park Estates will be shown in a preview opening today on Garden Grove Blvd., just east of Long Beach at Knott Avenue.

Discriminating home shoppers will find a lot of answers at today's preview opening at Garden Park Estates. This first showing presents an exciting "city within a city" of spacious, all-new luxury homes distinguished by quality construction, design excellence and a prime location at Knott Ave. and Garden Grove Freeway.

Plus, and a very important plus, unusually modest prices and convenient "four way" terms, says a spokesman for the homes.

This new series offers new designs, new concepts of comfort and beauty and the top quality components typical of its builders, S & S Construction Co., winners of two recent national awards for the use of quality contruction methods and materials.

DESIGNED WITH three and four bedrooms with two baths, a dining area and a family room, the new Garden Park Series affords a widely diverse selection of exterior designs ranging from Conventional to timeless Contemporary, many of the latter enhanced by subtle Hawaiian Modern and Far Eastern motifs.

The modest full prices from just $17,450, include the many luxury and convenient features. Sales Director W. R. Effinger explained that the "four way" financing offers veteran terms of nothing down except impounds and closing costs with monthly payments from $96.60 including principal and interest, Cal-Vet loans and, for non-veteran buyers, excellent FHA and conventional terms with lowest possible down payments.

* * * *

HIGHLIGHT AMONG the many attractions list massive wood burning fireplaces, sliding walls of glass opening to patio and garden areas, luxurious baths with colored plumbing fixtures and pullman lavatories, and beautifully appointed kitchens with built-in wall oven and range, rangehood with light and fan, semi-automatic dishwasher, and superamic tile worktops.

Sound conventional construction includes lath and plaster, rockwool insulation in ceilings, forced-air heating with thermostat and summer cooling switch and red cedar or crushed rock roofs.

To drive to the model homes go east on 7th St. past Long Beach State College to the homes at Garden Grove Blvd. and Knott Ave.

Brentwood Location Appeals

A close-in location which averages 12 minutes driving time to Long Beach and 20 minutes to Los Angeles central manufacturing district is helping draw crowds of veterans to Brentwood Gardens, one of the largest subdivisions in Orange County, said Larry Weinberg, president of Larwin Co., builder-developers. Homeseekers who purchase here, he said, will save time, tires, and gas, while enjoying more leisure moments with their families.

The development has been congratulated by Look Magazine for its imaginative and creative use of nationally-advertised products.

* * * *

VETERANS can move into the Brentwood Gardens community for a total of $95. Pricing is from $15,700, while monthly payments begin at $87, including principal and interest. Now available are a few credit rejects with $1 total move-in costs for veterans.

Offered with three or four bedrooms (or three bedrooms and family room) and two baths, the Brentwood Gardens homes include an array of quality features seldom found at the low price, Weinberg said. Among these are: Spacious kitchen eating areas, vinyl floor tiles, ceramic tile counter tops in kitchen, lath and plaster walls, forced-air furnace, Waste King Pulverator, Norris Thermador double sink, aluminum sliding doors, roof insulation, 100-amp electrical service, and oversized gas water heater.

* * * *

THE HOMES are close to beaches, tree-studded parks, children's playgrounds, and golf courses.

From Long Beach, Brentwood Gardens may be reached via Carson (which becomes Lincoln Avenue) east to Knott Ave. and the model homes.

VETS NEED ONLY $95

First of 300 Unit Apartments Ready

F. Stevens Macey, president of Kimberly Investments Inc., announced completion of the first 44 units of the 300-unit Provincial Gardens apartments in Anaheim. According to Macey, this is the first segment of a four-stage project that will eventually total more than 2,000 units.

Macey said that Keystone Management Co. will administer the development program during and after construction. W. E. Carroll has been named to serve as general manager of the recently organized property management company which is headed by Macey.

* * * *

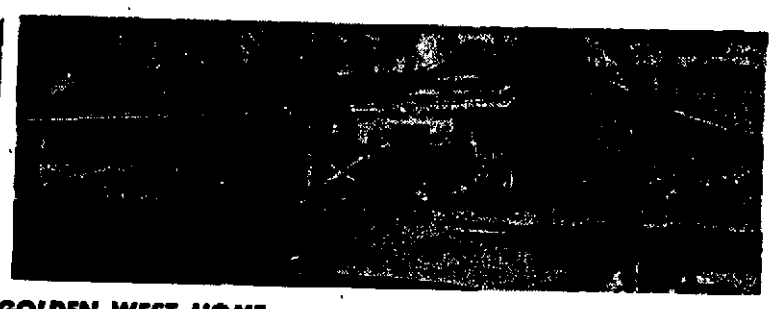

THE FIRST units of Provincial Gardens, now ready for occupancy, are a contemporary design and provide a wide selection of floor plans. This flexibility is illustrated by two-bedroom studio apartments with two baths ranging to one-bedroom ground-floor apartments, all with private patios. Color-coordinated carpets and drapes are included in each unit which can be furnished on an optional basis.

General contractor on the project was Epperly Construction Co. of Anaheim. Provincial Gardens, as well as additional units now under construction, were designed by R. S. Jones of Garden Grove. The new apartment units feature "balanced power" for efficiency and convenience.

Provincial Gardens are at Citron and Provincial Streets.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canada's ultimate reserves of natural gas, located primarily in the western provinces, are estimated at about 300 trillion cubic feet, according to the American Gas Association.

GOLDEN WEST HOME
With down payments from $800 the new FHA 35-year loans are available on Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach. This is one of many models there.

35-Year FHA Loan Offered on Homes

The first new 35-year 5¼% FHA terms in Huntington Beach are now available at Golden West Estates, less than 10 minutes from famous California beaches, report George and Merlin Sant of the Sant Construction Co., joining with McCarthy Co. in building the Golden West homes. The new FHA terms are offered with down payment from $800. Buyers may also take advantage of veterans' no-down payment terms and conventional terms with down payments from $695.

Priced as low as $17,500, Golden West homes are available in 22 exterior stylings, including Provincial, Colonial, Spanish, Monterey Ranch, Contemporary and Hawaiian. The homes offer three or four bedrooms, two baths, large family rooms, and oversized two-car garages. The Pageant Realty Co. sales agents, administer an exceptional trade-in plan which allows buyers a cash refund or lower monthly payments when their equity in their present home exceeds their down payment.

LEADING ALL SALES is a unique new double-patio plan, with both patios giving access to an enormous kitchen-family-living room complex. The front patio serves as an impressive enclosed entryway. Desirable features of the Golden West Estates homes include: gleaming modern breakfast bars, lustrous natural ash cabinets, wide-and-high sliding glass doors, forced-air heating with thermostatic control, enormous stall showers, Wilson-art sink tops with coved splashes, large service area, washbasins and baths with Mixet fixtures, exhaust fan in kitchen and baths, center entry halls.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached by going east on 7th St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to Golden West St., then right (south) to furnished models.

Fuglie Joining Leisure World

Lloyd G. Fuglie has been named treasurer of Rossmoor Leisure World, $150 million senior citizen housing project now under construction in Seal Beach, Ross W. Cortese, president of the building firm, announced.

Fuglie, a certified public accountant, previously was vice-president-finance of M. J. Brock & Sons, Inc., general contractors and subdividers.

Rossmoor Leisure World, which, upon completion, will comprise 6,750 own-your-own apartments, will be the nation's largest privately developed senior citizens' project as well as the first to include complete medical care and drugs, short of hospitalization, as part of the monthly payment.

IN BOLSA PARK

Over half million dollars in sales has been recorded at Bolsa Park where homes such as this are offered from $19,250 on new, long-term financing.

Bolsa Park Sales Continue to Soar

A sales volume in excess of one-half million dollars has been registered at new Bolsa Park, situated on Bolsa Chica Road at Bolsa Avenue in Huntington Beach, said builder Robert C. Werbel.

Buyers crowding to Bolsa Park are reportedly pleased to find genuine lath and plaster construction.

The homes are offered with new 35-year, 5¼ per cent FHA financing, VA no down payment terms, and 6 per cent conventional financing. Pricing is from $19,250.

* * * *

CUSTOM ENTRY and loggia areas are among the unusual features of Bolsa Park's four new plans. Bolsa Park's loggia areas give access to all rooms, minimizing wear-and-tear on living areas.

Especially popular with the crowds is the new four-bedroom Plan 4, which includes a sleeping wing separate from the living-entertaining area, Werbel said.

Offered with three or four bedrooms, two full baths, and a family-dining room, the homes are situated on pool-size lots within three minutes' drive of beaches.

* * * *

INCLUDED ARE such quality features as: floor-to-ceiling fireplace of brick or Palos Verdes stone with log lighter; shake, cedar shingle, or rock roofs; custom vinyl floors in entry and loggia; ceramic tile breakfast bar; ash kitchen cabinets ceramic with ceramic tile drain boards; colored gas range and double-window oven with rotisserie; garbage disposer; custom range hood with recessed light and fan; automatic dishwasher; floor-to-ceiling sliding glass doors; 75,000 BTU forced air heating and concrete rear terrace.

From Long Beach, the homes may be visited via 7th Street (which becomes Garden Grove Boulevard) east to Bolsa Chica, turning right two miles.

New Head of Branch Bank

Raymond P. Johnson has succeeded Orville L. Wostenberg as manager of Bank of America's Dutch Village branch in Lakewood.

R. P. Johnson

Wostenberg, who has headed Dutch Village since 1956, will manage the Lawndale branch. His entire 22-year career has been spent in the Long Beach area, beginning as a messenger.

Johnson takes over as manager at Dutch Village branch following a year at the bank's Los Angeles headquarters. He previously worked for the bank in Norwalk, Hollywood, and Los Angeles since joining it in 1948.

Max Nichols at Bank School

Max E. Nichols, vice president and manager of the Long Beach office of First Western Bank & Trust Co., is attending the Pacific Coast Banking school on the campus of the University of Washington, Seattle.

A part of the Wisconsin School of Banking and Stonier School of Banking of Rutgers University, the sessions are designed to provide advanced education in theory and practice of banking and related subjects.

Nichols is in his final year of the commercial division of this three year residential school. At least six years of banking experience are required before a bank executive may enter the school.

Vet Needs No Cash in Sun Ray Estates

A revolutionary concept of home purchasing is making Sun Ray Estates in Westminster the "hottest tract in Southern California," says a spokesman.

An innovation in financing permits a veteran to buy one of these award winning homes without one cent of investment (no down, no costs and impounds) and the purchase, starting at $19,300, includes wall-to-wall carpeting, concrete block fencing, plus over 15 other features distinctive of the Providence Series as seen in the recent Los Angeles Home Show.

FHA terms are also available, requiring a minimum of investment.

Immediate occupancy is available.

* * * *

CREATING a great interest is the 64-inch decorative concrete block fence that encompasses the rear yard of all the homes in the tract, making it a truly "walled city." Not only does the inclusion of this feature eliminate a costly initial expense to the new home buyer, but it prevents what has been in the past a source of many a feud between neighbors based on "what kind of a fence to put up and who is going to pay for it."

* * * *

THE HOMES are three or four-bedroom plus family room with breakfast bar. All have forced air heat thermostatically controlled, built-in range and oven by O'Keefe and Merritt, natural pine cabinets in the kitchen, and the front yards are landscaped. Attached or detached garages are available and several elevations have fireplaces with log lighters.

The model homes are on Garden Grove Boulevard at Seneca, which is about five miles east of Seventh Street and Pacific Coast Highway in Long Beach, or about one and one-half west of Highway 39 (Beach Boulevard) if coming from the other direction.

Recipes From Readers Should Please Gourmets or Dieters

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Independent-Press-Telegram Food Editor

"All were different — but each was best" — that would be our summation of the thousands of recipes entered in The Independent, Press-Telegram Seventh Annual Cook Book. As you peruse it, may we ask that you take it philosophically . . . and enjoy it to the fullest.

For you who are absolutely dedicated to dieting — there are some pert suggestions and recipes. For those who like a real cooking fling — there are some gourmet "goodies." The general trend, however, is intended to appeal to our readers as a whole. Strangely enough, with all the calorie counting being done these days, the classification which brought forth the most recipes were cakes, pies, refrigerated desserts and hot breads.

WOMEN (AND MEN) responded generously; and the recipes have been outstanding. We thank you for your worthy and timely cooperation. We wish you could all have won.

From calls received by this department throughout the year, we have determined that "measurements," "substitutions" and "equivalents" are important to you. And this year space will be devoted to that information.

To the club women, and those sturdy males, who assisted in judging, a world of thanks for a job well done. The judging was entirely impersonal, with the various clubs of the city perusing them all, preparing, testing and tasting many.

GRAND PRIZE WINNER

PARMESAN CRUSTED SWISS STEAK

2½ lb. high quality round steak—2 inches thick
2 tblsp. flour 1 tsp. season salt
½ tsp. EACH paprika and instant coffee
⅛ tsp. garlic powder 2 tblsp. shortening
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup EACH bouillon and white table wine
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tblsp. mayonnaise

Pound first five ingredients into steak and brown it in the shortening. Use pan which will be fitted later with a tight cover. Drain off excess fat. Add bouillon and wine. Cover pan and simmer (gently) for about 1½ hours. Test for doneness. When done, spread mayonnaise and Parmesan cheese over meat and slip in broiler until glazed and browned.

MACARONI AU GRATIN

- 4 qts. boiling water
- 1 tblsp. salt
- ½ lb. elbow macaroni
- 2 cups grated Tillamook cheese
- 2 cups thin cream sauce
- ½ cup breadcrumbs
- 2 tblsp. butter
- 1 2 oz. can button mushrooms, drained
- 1 No. 2 can peas and pearl onions
- Cream sauce
- 2 tblsp. butter or shortening
- 2 tblsp. flour
- 2 cups milk
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper

Melt shortening in double boiler, add flour and stir until blended. Pour in milk, stirring constantly until thick. Cook 3-5 minutes. Add salt and pepper and stir thoroughly. Into rapidly boiling salted water put macaroni and boil 7-8 minutes only. Drain and put in well greased baking dish a layer of macaroni, a layer of cheese, a layer of the mushroom, peas and onion mixture. Repeat until all are used. Pour over the thin cream sauce. Cover with bread crumbs and dot with butter. Set baking dish in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes until crumbs are browned.

FIRST PRIZE

CHICKEN A L' ORANGE

- 1 3½ lb. chicken into frying pieces
- ½ cup flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- ½ tsp. mace
- 4 tblsp. melted oil
- 2 oranges, grated peel and juice
- ¼ cup brandy
- bread crumbs or wild rice

Coat the pieces with the flour, salt, pepper and mace mixture. Brown the chicken well in the hot oil. Cover and cook about 15 minutes. Grate the orange peel; squeeze the juice and add to the brandy. Pour over the chicken and cover and simmer 10 minutes more or until sauce is thickened and reduced by half. Sprinkle the chicken with the grated orange peel and serve with butter-browned bread crumbs or wild rice. Serves four.

SECOND PRIZE

FRIED CHICKEN PUFFS

- 1 3 lb. fryer
- ⅓ cup flour
- salt and pepper to taste
- ½ cup shortening
- 1 cup flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 3 eggs
- 1½ cups milk
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- black pepper

Cut chicken into serving size pieces. Mix the flour, salt, pepper in a paper bag and drop in pieces of chicken and shake until chicken is well coated. Brown on all sides in the shortening; remove from skillet and drain. Save drippings in pan for gravy. Sift cup of flour, measure and sift with baking powder and salt into a bowl. In another bowl, beat the eggs until light and frothy, add milk and melted butter. Stir egg mixture into dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Pour into greased baking dish. Arrange cooked chicken over top of batter and sprinkle with the black pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) an hour. Serve with cream gravy; a few sprinkles of chopped parsley in the batter gives more flavor and color. Serves four.

Stew the chicken with vegetables and places cloves into onion to be sure of removing, until meat falls from bones. Let stand overnight in broth. Cut up meat, separating light and dark meat.

Grease baking pan, arrange food in layers: cracker crumbs on bottom, dark meat, light meat, mushrooms, pimento and bell pepper. Repeat until supply is used up. Top with buttered crumbs. Combine eggs and chicken broth and pour slowly into chicken mixture. Bake in 275 degree oven until heated thoroughly and custard sets. Brown crumbs under broiler if necessary. Serve with sauce made from either cream of chicken or cream of mushroom soup. Serves 12.

AVOCADO SALAD RING

- 1 envelope gelatin
- ¼ cup ice-water
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 tblsp. unstrained lemon juice
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 cup mashed avocados
- ½ cup heavy sour cream
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- salt, pepper, cayenne

Soak envelope of gelatin in one-fourth cup ice-water, then add to the cup of boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add the lemon juice and 1 tsp. sugar, stirring until well blended. Chill this mixture until slightly thickened.

In a bowl mash enough avocados to make one full cup, add the lemon juice alternately with the heavy sour cream mixed with the mayonnaise, season the mixture highly with salt, pepper and a few grains of cayenne. Add the slightly thickened gelatin and blend well. Pour into oiled ring mold and chill for 2 to 3 hours. Unmold on well-chilled lettuce leaves and fill the center with diced fresh tomatoes.

WILTED LETTUCE AND SOUR CREAM

- 1 lg. head romaine lettuce
- 1 cup sour cream
- 2 tblsp. lemon juice
- 1 tblsp. chopped green onions
- 1 sm. clove finely chopped garlic
- 2 tblsp. grated onion
- 1 tsp. salt
- dash of cayenne
- tomato wedges
- pitted black olives
- hard-cooked eggs

Wash the lettuce, separate leaves and drain well. Break into bite size pieces. Make a dressing of sour cream and lemon juice. Add the finely chopped green onions and small clove chopped garlic, grated onion, salt and cayenne. Toss the lettuce with this dressing in a wooden serving bowl, and let stand sometime before serving so that the lettuce will be slightly wilted. Tomato wedges, black olives may be added before serving and garnish with thin slices of hard-boiled eggs.

NINE-DAY SLAW

- 3 lbs. of cabbage
- 1 green pepper
- 2 medium onions
- 3 carrots
- 2 cups sugar

Dressing

- 1 tblsp. salt
- 1 cup Wesson Oil
- 1 cup vinegar
- 1 tblsp. celery seed
- 2 tblsp. sugar

Chop the cabbage, pepper and onions and carrots fine. Mix and stir well and let stand after adding sugar until it is dissolved and makes juice.

Prepare the dressing by combining and bring to a boil and pour over the cabbage while it is hot. Let cool and then put into large jar. Cover and put in refrigerator.

Candy & Nuts

FIRST PRIZE

STRAWBERRY DIVINITY

3 cups sugar
¾ cup light corn syrup
¾ cup water
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 3 oz. pkg. strawberry flavor gelatin
½ cup flaked coconut
1 cup chopped pecans

Combine sugar, corn syrup and water. Bring to boil, stirring constantly; reduce heat and cook to hard ball stage (252 degrees), stirring occasionally. Combine beaten egg whites and gelatine. Beat until mixture forms peaks. Pour hot syrup in thin stream into egg whites, beating until candy loses gloss and holds shape. Fold in coconut and nuts. Pour into greased 9-inch square pan. Top with rows of chopped pecans and coconut. Makes five dozen pieces.

Popular Bixby Knolls Hostess says "Our LIKEN designed Flexalum Aluminum covered patio is my recipe for success in entertaining. We love it."

"Why did we choose T. H. Liken and Sons to design and construct our patio," Mrs. Johnson continued. "We found out that this firm was tops in Southern California for this type of work; learned that they were foremost in design, that their workers were craftsmen, that their product, FLEXALUM aluminum, had not only earned the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval but carried a 5-year bonded guarantee by Continental Casualty, a protection of which no other awning manufacturer can boast. Likens gave us a superior job worth every dollar of the Fair price they charged."

Thank you, Mrs. Johnson, we appreciate your satisfaction with the new out of doors, protected room we added to your lovely home. In case you readers of this popular recipe supplement want a recipe for successful entertaining, give us a call. We'll be happy to serve you too.

SECOND PRIZE

BEEF ORIENTAL

- 2 lbs. boneless beef chuck, cut in 1-inch cubes
- ½ cup flour
- 1½ tsp. salt
- 1 can (13½-oz.) pineapple tidbits
- 1 can (8-oz.) water chestnuts, sliced
- 1 cup liquid, drained from pineapple and chestnuts
- 1 cup water
- 1 tblsp. soy sauce
- ½ tsp. ginger
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 1 green pepper, cut in strips
- 1 tblsp. cornstarch
- Cooked rice
- 2 tblsps. lard
- ⅛ tsp. pepper

Coat beef cubes with flour which has been combined with salt and pepper. Brown meat on all sides in hot lard in heavy kettle. Add liquid from pineapple and chestnut, water, soy sauce and ginger to meat. Cover mixture and simmer over low heat for one and one-half to two hours or until meat is tender. Add green pepper and onion during last half hour of cooking time. Add pineapple and water chestnuts during the last 20 minutes cooking time. Dissolve cornstarch in a little cold water and stir into meat mixture. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened. Serve over fluffy rice. Serves six.

THIRD PRIZE

BRICK CHILI

- 2½ lbs. fatty hamburger
- 1 lb. onions
- 3 cloves garlic
- 3 slices dry bread
- 1½ tblsp. salt
- ½ tsp. ground cumin
- ½ tsp. oregano
- 3 tblsps. ground pure chili powder, bright red
- ½-1½ tblsp. crushed red peppers

Break up hamburger into a large, heavy, hot skillet or Dutch oven. Fry over a high fire for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. In a food chopper, grind with a fine blade the onions, garlic, and dry bread. To the fried hamburger add the ground ingredients, salt and spices. Stir well to mix thoroughly. Let fry slowly uncovered, 20 minutes (this lets the moisture escape). Now cover and simmer 15 minutes. Pour into a one loaf bread pan. When cooled and set, cut in half. This makes two chili bricks which may be wrapped well in freezer paper or aluminum foil and stored in freezer.

STEAK, KIDNEY PUDDING

- 8 oz. flour
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- 3 oz. margarine
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 lb. beef steak
- ½ lb. kidney
- 1 cup of cold bouillon

Mix flour, salt and margarine, and make a stiff dough with cold water. Cut off half, roll it out and line a well greased pint bowl. Cut meat and kidney into small pieces, roll it in flour into which a little salt and pepper has been added, put into bowl and then add the cup of bouillon. STRAWBERRY PINWHEELS

- 2 pkgs. 8 ozs. cream cheese
- 2 cups strawberries, washed, hulled and sliced
- 2 tblsp. confectioners sugar
- 1 loaf unsliced white bread

Soften cream cheese in medium size bowl; gradually blend in strawberries and powdered sugar until smoothly spreadable. Cut crusts from loaf of bread, then slice bread lengthwise into 9 or 10 thin slices; cover with a dampened towel and let stand 10 minutes. Spread slices, one at a time with cheese mixture, using three or four tablespoonfuls per slice. Roll up, jelly roll fashion; wrap tightly in waxed paper, chill at least two hours. Makes six or seven dozen sandwiches.

CHEESE SANDWICH LOAF

- 1 loaf sandwich bread
- 6 skinless wieners, ground
- 2 dill pickles, minced
- 4 hard cooked eggs, mashed
- salt and pepper to taste
- 1 3 oz. pkg. cream cheese
- ½ cucumber, grated

Remove crusts from loaf and cut lengthwise into four equal long slices. Prepare filling with enough salad dressing to make easy to spread.

Spread each slice of bread first with the ground wieners and pickles; next slice with hard boiled eggs, and last soften the cream cheese with sweet cream and spread on outside of loaf as you would ice a cake. Decorate with sliced stuffed olives and toasted almonds. Wrap the loaf in a cloth and chill in refrigerator three hours or more.

Dishes Made With Wine or Beer

FIRST PRIZE

ALMANDRADO WITH SHERRY CUSTARD SAUCE

1 tblsp. gelatine
¼ cup cold water
¾ cup boiling water
1 cup sugar
6 egg whites
½ tsp. almond extract
⅓ cup sherry wine
½ cup chopped almonds

Put gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until gelatine dissolves. Add sugar and stir. Chill the mixture until it begins to stiffen. Then beat until frothy. Beat egg whites until stiff; then add to beaten gelatine. Beat until mixture is completely blended. Then add flavoring and sherry. Pour into mold, alternating layer of mixture with chopped almonds. Two hours in refrigerator will stiffen it.

Sherry Custard Sauce

6 egg yolks
1 pt. milk
⅛ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vanilla
½ pt. whipping cream
3 tblsp. sherry wine
¼ cup sugar

Put milk in double boiler and scald. Beat eggs lightly. Add sugar and salt. Pour milk slowly into mixture. Return to double boiler. Cook until mixture coats spoon. When cool, add vanilla, whipping cream and sherry. Serves eight.

SHERRY ROASTED CHICKEN

1 lg. fryer or roasting chicken
1 clove garlic, mashed through press
2 tsp. salt
½ tsp. ground pepper
1 tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. ginger
½ cube butter
¾ cup sherry wine

Combine all ingredients in small pan and heat slowly until mixture bubbles, brush chicken inside and out. Place chicken breast side up, in oven of 400 degrees approximately 20 minutes, basting frequently. Reduce oven to 325 degrees remainder of time. Pour the sherry wine over all and continue baking and basting until chicken is tender, about 45 minutes.

NEWBURG A LA JAMAR LOBSTER OR SHRIMP

MRS. ROBERT ZELSDORF

First Sauce

2 med. onions
1 clove garlic
2 tblsp. butter
1 8 oz. can tomato sauce
2 cups cooked lobster or shrimp
1 tsp. worcestershire sauce
¾ tsp. salt
Dash pepper
½ cup sherry wine

Second Sauce

2 tblsp. butter
6 tblsp. flour
1½ cups milk

First, quarter and slice onions, press garlic, cook in 2 tablespoons of butter in covered skillet, until soft; stir occasionally (do not scorch or burn). To this add tomato sauce, uncover and simmer over low heat, while making second sauce.

Second, melt two tablespoons butter in sauce pan, take off heat and blend in flour, gradually add milk keeping smooth. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly to make a very thick white sauce.

Third, add white sauce to tomato, onion sauce, and blend well. Season with salt, pepper and worcestershire sauce. Add lobster or shrimp, simmer, stirring occasionally, until very thick; thin by adding sherry, simmer until hot. Serve on toast. Serves six.

¾ tsp. soda
¼ tsp. salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup brown sugar
1 tblsp. melted shortening
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup beer

Sift ingredients together, baking powder, soda and salt; add nuts and mix well. Combine egg, brown sugar, melted shortening beer, and mix well. Pour into flour mixture and stir just enough to moisten the dry ingredients. Do not beat. Then pour into a greased loaf pan 9½x5½x4. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees about one hour. Cool, then put a wet cloth over it for about an hour, makes it more moist.

1 envelope gelatine
¼ cup cold water
3 eggs, separated
dash of salt
½ cup sugar plus 2 tblsp.
1 tblsp. instant coffee
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup whipping cream

Beat egg yolks slightly. Add salt, sugar, soffee and milk. Combine ingredients and cook over low heat stirring constantly until custard thickens; do not boil. Soften gelatine in cold water; add vanilla and gelatine stirring until dissolved. Remove from heat and chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat egg whites until foamy, beat in 2 tblsp. sugar and beat until stiff but not dry. Whip cream and fold into chilled custard with egg whites. Spoon into baked pie shell and chill until firm.

BRAZIL NUT CRUST

1 cup sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
⅓ cup shortening
½ cup chopped nuts
3 tblsp. cold water

Sift together flour and salt. Cut in shortening and stir in nuts. Sprinkle with cold water and mix well with fork. Roll or pat on floured board to fit 9" pie pan. Prick pastry with fork and flute edge with fingers. Bake at 425 degrees 12-15 minutes.

SECOND PRIZE

CREAM CHEESE KEFLES

- 1½ cups all purpose flour
- 1½ tsp. baking powder
- 2 small pkgs. cream cheese
- ½ lb. butter
- 3½ tblsp. milk
- 3½ tblsp. cream

Filling

- 1 lb. walnut meats
- ¼ tsp. cinnamon
- ¼ tsp. lemon juice
- ¼ cup granulated sugar

Sift flour and baking powder. Work the cream cheese into the flour, then the butter. Add the milk and cream, work dough until all is blended. Form into balls about the size of small walnuts, place in refrigerator overnight. Roll the balls on a floured board as thin as possible. THIRD PRIZE

EGG PLANT AND CHEESE

- 2 eggplants
- 2 eggs
- ¼ clove garlic
- 1 small onion
- ¾ cup grated tillamook cheese
- 2 tblsp. melted butter

Peel the egg plants, slice and boil until tender for about 15 minutes. Mash and add the beaten eggs, salt and pepper to taste, chopped clove of garlic and chopped onion. Mix in the cracker crumbs grated cheese and melted butter. After mixing all together place in buttered baking dish, top with extra cheese and crumbs. Bake 30 minutes in a 350 degree oven.

MRS. JOHN QUAYLE
444 Chestnut Ave.

CHEESE BUBBLES

- 1½ level cups plain flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. cayenne pepper
- 1½ tblsp. butter or margarine
- 1¼ cups grated natural cheddar cheese

Sift the flour, salt and cayenne into a bowl. Cut in the butter and cheese with a knife. Gradually add ¼ to ⅓ cup of cold water, just enough to make a stiff pastry. Divide into several pieces. Roll each piece fairly thin, then fold three times and reroll a couple of times. (This folds in the air that makes the bubbles.) Now roll paper thin and cut any shape desired. Bake on an ungreased pan in a quick oven, about 425 degrees about 5 minutes.

- 1¼ qts. of sliced apples
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- ¾ cup water
- ¾ cup white sugar
- ¾ cup all purpose flour
- 4½ tblsp. butter or margarine
- ¾ cup strong grated cheese

Divide apples into buttered baking pan. Mix cinnamon and water and pour over apples. (If apples are too tart, add a little sugar.) Work sugar, flour, cheese and butter with the finger tips until crumble; then sprinkle mixture over the apples. Bake the mixture at 450 degrees 5 minutes, then lower the temperature to 400 degrees and bake for 25 or 30 minutes or until apples are tender. Serve warm with top milk or cream.

MRS. ISABELLE A. MYERS
519 Dayman St.

- 3 tblsp. flour (potato flour is used in Switzerland)
- 2 cups any dry white wine
- pepper to taste
- salt to taste
- few grains nutmeg
- 6 tblsp. cognac

Rub split garlic around sides of earthenware dish. Dredge cheese in flour. Pour wine into dish and heat until almost boiling. Add cheese to wine with salt, pepper and nutmeg. Stir constantly with wooden spoon until Fondue starts to bubble. Add cognac and serve hot over toast or rice.

MRS. JOHN Q. ADAMS
6711 Walkerton St.

CHEESE TURNOVERS

- ¼ lb. Velveeta cheese
- ½ cup butter or shortening
- 1 cup flour
- tart jelly or marmalade

Mash cheese and butter together with a fork until creamy. Mix in the flour. Roll ⅛" thick and cut with round cookie cubber. Place jelly or marmalade on one-half of the round. Fold over and press edges together. Bake until golden brown in 350 degree oven. Serve hot or cold.

MRS. TOM LAWSON

CHEESE CAKE FLUFF

- 3 cups Graham cracker crumbs
- ¼ lb. melted margarine
- 1 pkg. lemon Jello
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 tall can evaporated milk
- ½ lb. Philadelphia cream cheese
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 2 tsp. vanilla

Crush Graham crackers and

mix the ¼ lb. margarine. Keep out ½ cup of crumbs to sprinkle on top of dessert. Press remainder in bottom and sides of large oblong baking dish. Dissolve the lemon Jello in the hot water. Let chill until right consistency to whip. Beat with electric mixer until fluffy. Beat the can of chilled condensed milk until thick as whipped cream. Beat the cream cheese, sugar and vanilla until light. Using mixer, beat Jello into whipped milk, then add cream cheese mixture, mixing thoroughly. Pour over the Graham cracker crust and sprinkle the remaining ½ cup crumbs over the top. Chill six to eight hours or overnight.

FIRST PRIZE

TEQUENOS

4 cups white flour
½ tsp. salt
1 cup water
2 egg yolks
1 tsp. sugar
1 lb. Monterey Jack cheese
1 heaping tblsp. butter or margarine

Combine all ingredients except cheese, using only enough water to make a rather soft dough. Set aside for a few minutes. Cut cheese into strips ½" wide by 2½" long. Divide dough into four parts. Roll each part as thin as possible, then cut into ½" strips, and wind around cheese strips so that the latter are completely covered. Fry in hot deep fat until golden brown. Drain on paper towels and serve at once. These tequenos can be made up and frozen uncooked. Do not defrost to use, simply remove from freezer and fry in hot deep fat until golden brown. Makes about 60.

THIRD PRIZE

HAM PIN WHEELS

¼ lb. Roquefort cheese
¼ cup cream cheese
¼ cup butter or margarine
4 boiled ham slices

Combine Roquefort cheese, cream cheese, and butter. Spread some on each ham slice; then roll up as for jelly roll, and wrap in waxed paper. Refrigerate until needed. To serve, slice rolls thinly, crosswise, arrange one pin wheel on each cracker. Makes 30.

MRS. PEARL TAYLOR

PICKLED CARROTS

2 lbs. carrots
½ cup water
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. savory
½ tsp. thyme
1 tsp. dill seed
1 bay leaf
⅛ tsp. garlic salt

Peel carrots and cut in strips about ½" thick and 3" long keeping as uniform as possible so all will require the same cooking time. Place in flat bottom pan such as skillet or electric fry pan so they are not over two layers deep. Add water and spices (everything but vinegar) cover and cook 10-12 minutes or until only partially done, they are best when still crunchy—water should be almost gone. Add vinegar and bring to boil, remove from heat and cool. Pack in plastic containers and cover with vinegar and spices. Let stand 24 hours before using.

INDIAN RED RELISH

20 tomatoes
4 onions (medium size)
4 apples
4 red peppers
1 bunch celery
3 cups sugar
4 tblsps. salt
3 cups white vinegar

Put all ingredients except tomatoes through food chopper. Cut tomatoes fine and mix together with sugar, salt and vinegar. Cook over medium heat for 2 hours until thick, stirring occasionally. Can hot in sterilized jars, sealing immediately.

MRS. WILLARD A. POPLOW
1860 Oregon Ave.

GREEN TOMATO MINCEMEAT

3 lbs. green tomatoes
½ lb. suet
3 lbs. tart apples
1 med. orange
2 lbs. brown sugar
1 lb. seedless raisins
1 lb. currants
1 3-oz can candied orange peel
1 3-oz. can candied lemon rind
1 3-oz. can candied citron
2 tblsp. salt
1½ cups cider vinegar
2 tblsp. cinnamon
1 tblsp. nutmeg
2 tsp. ground cloves

Wash tomatoes and put through food chopper (medium blade), drain, cover with cold water, bring to a boil and blanch tomatoes about 5 minutes. Drain again, put suet and pared, cored apples through food chopper. Combine all ingredients in ten-quart kettle and mix well. Bring to a boil and simmer slowly about 1½ hours, until thick. Pack at once into hot sterilized jars and seal. Store in cool place. Makes six pints.

Note: 1 pt. mincemeat will fill a 9" pie shell.

VIENNA PUFFS

6 oz. pastry flour
3 oz. bread flour
1 oz. non fat dry milk
7 oz. water
4 oz.4whole eggs
1½ oz. yeast

Mixing ingredients should be done in two stages. First, dissolve yeast in milk and add the eggs, water and flour and mix together in electric beater for 3 minutes. At end of this stage the batter resembles waffle batter.

Second stage:

2 oz. sugar
10 oz. shortening
¼ oz. salt
9 oz. bread flour

Mix these ingredients at low speed for an additional 2 minutes. Since this pastry is a quick fermenting dough it should come from the mixer at 65 degrees. Now roll out the dough to a thickness of ⅛ inch and cut in strips wide enough to wrap a Vienna sausage which are then placed on a greased cookie sheet and let rise for 30 minutes at room temperature. Bake at 400 for 10 minutes.

MRS. FRANKIE MOORE

WALNUT WITCHERY ROLL

- 1⅓ cups walnuts
- 6 eggs, large, separated
- ¾ cup, granulated sugar
- 1 tsp. baking powder
- powdered sugar
- sweetened whip cream

Grind walnuts with food chopper, using fine blade. The nuts take the place of the flour, therefore must be very fine. Beat yolks, adding sugar gradually. Continue beating until very thick. Sprinkle nuts and baking powder over yolk mixture; beat until well mixed. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry, and fold in nut and egg yolk mixture. Pour batter into 11 x 18 inch jelly roll pan, which has been greased and covered with wax paper. Bake at 375 degrees 20 minutes.

Sift powdered sugar over towel and invert cake on towel. Remove pan and let stand for 5 minutes before peeling off paper and rolling up as for jelly roll. When cool, unroll and spread with sweetened whipped cream, jelly, custard or any filling, roll up again. Top with chocolate butter cream frosting.

PINEAPPLE MERINGUE CAKE

- ½ cup butter
- ½ cup sugar
- 4 egg yolks
- ½ cup flour
- ¼ cup milk
- 4 egg whites
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- ¾ cup sugar
- ¾ cup chopped walnuts
- 1 tblsp. baking powder
- ¼ tsp. salt
- 2 tblsp. flour

Cream butter with sugar. Beat egg yolks and mix with creamed ingredients. Add flour alternately with milk and set aside. Beat the egg whites to froth, add sugar gradually. Beat until mixture holds stiff peak. Add vanilla. Sift baking powder, salt, and flour. Mix this in by hand to the butter, sugar mixture. Divide into two cake pans (use wax paper in the bottom). Spread the meringue on unbaked layers, sprinkle with nuts. Bake 25-30 minutes at 325 degrees. Allow to cool. Place on layer meringue side down on plate. Make a filling of:

- 1 cup whipping cream
- 1½ tblsp. powdered sugar
- 1 cup drained crushed pineapple

Spread filling on first layer, then put second layer meringue side up on top. Frost side of cake with whipped cream.

HALIBUT FLORENTINE

1½ lbs. halibut fillets
1 cup med. thick white sauce
1 pkg. (1¼ cups) frozen chopped spinach
¾ cup grated sharp cheese
3 green onions, finely chopped
1 cup water
¼ cup dry white table wine
4 tblsp. lemon juice
salt and pepper to taste
2 egg yolks or whole eggs
1 tblsp. butter

Cook spinach, drain. Grate the cheese, and chop the onion. Put fish in shallow saucepan or casserole that can be placed over direct heat. Simmer five minutes. Drain broth from fish into saucepan. Boil uncovered until reduced to two-thirds. Gradually stir broth into white sauce. Blend in spinach, onion and one-fourth cup cheese. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Bring to boil. Remove from heat. Quickly stir in egg yolks or slightly beaten whole eggs. Sprinkle remaining grated cheese on top. Dot with butter. Bake in oven at 400 degrees until golden brown (about 10 minutes). Makes four to six servings.

EGG PATTIES

- 6 eggs
- 3 tblsp. shortening
- 2 tblsp. flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- 1 cup breadcrumbs (dry and rolled)
- ¼ cup finely shaved onion
- 1 cup grated cheese
- 1 can mushroom bits
- 1 cup additional crumbs

Boil the egs for 5 minutes. Remove, drain, cover with cold water until needed. Place shortening and flour in pan, heat while mixing, when melted together, add tomato juice and salt. Cook while stirring until thick — for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in cheese, crumbs, onion and diced hard boiled eggs. Stir well. Cool. Form cooled mixture into patties — flatten — pat in crumbs on each side and fry until golden brown in hot oil.

FIRST PRIZE

STRAWBERRY MOUSSE

1 pkg. thawed strawberries
1 cup sugar
1 tblsp. vanilla extract
1 pt. commercial sour cream, ice cold

Put all ingredients in electric beater or blender and beat until thoroughly mixed. Refreeze.

MRS. MABEL SMILEY
311 Cherry Ave. Apt. 3

SECOND PRIZE

FROZEN FRENCH CHOCOLATE

1 pkg. custard flavor dessert
1⅓ cups evaporated milk
1 4-oz. pkg. sweet cooking chocolate
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine custard-flavor dessert, milk, and chocolate. Cook over medium heat, stirring until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat (mixture will be thin). Cool. Pour into refrigerator tray. Freeze until partially frozen. Tun into bowl. With electric or rotary beater, beat until fluffy. Fold in whipped cream. Freeze until firm. Makes 1 quart.

MRS. WILMA E. SCOTT
350 Wisconsin Ave.

THIRD PRIZE

VANILLA ICE CREAM

⅔ cup sweetened condensed milk
½ cup water
1½ tsp. vanilla
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sweetened condensed milk, water, and vanilla thoroughly. Chill. Whip cream to custard-like consistency and fold into chilled mixture. Pour into freezing pan. Place in super-freezer. After mixture has frozen to a stiff mush (one to two) hours, remove from refrigerator. Scrape mixture from sides and bottom of pan. Beat two minutes. Smooth out and replace in super-freezer for one hour or until frozen for serving. (Two to four hours freezing time.) Serves 6.

MRS. RAY DURYEA
5480 Lewis Ave.

ORANGE MILK SHERBET

⅔ cup sugar
⅓ cup milk
¾ cup (6 oz.) concentrated orange juice
⅔ cup light cream
⅛ tsp. salt
1 tblsp. lemon juice
1 egg white, stiffly beaten

Warm the milk enough to dissolve the sugar. Add balance of ingredients except the egg white. Place in freezer tray, add egg when mixture is partly frozen. Beat several times with a spoon as it freezes. Freezing time 3-4 hours.

MRS. GLEE UNSELL
3639 Gundry Ave.

PEANUT BRITTLE ICE CREAM

1½ cups milk
1 tblsp. cornstarch
2 eggs
6 tblsp. sugar
⅔ cup peanut brittle
1 cup whipping cream
2 tsp. vanilla

Scald the milk and add sugar and cornstarch mixed. Boil over low flame for 5 minutes — stirring constantly. Beat egg yolks. Roll peanut brittle fine. Add egg yolks and peanut brittle and cook in double boiler for 2 minutes. Beat egg whites very stiff, and fold into hot custard mixture. Chill and add the whipped cream and vanilla. Freeze until solid about one inch from the edge of the freezing tray, about 1 hour. Beat thoroughly, freeze for 1. hours more and serve. Serves 6.

MRS. DONALD EVANS
9507 Glandon St.
Bellflower

HONEY ICE CREAM

3 eggs
¾ cup honey
3 cups fresh cream
1 tsp. vanilla

Beat egg yolks until thick then slowly add honey, cream and vanilla. Put in freezer until solid then place in mixing bowl and add stiffly beaten egg whites. Stir this mixture until smooth. Return to freezing trays until firm.

SONYA GILE

Yeast Breads

FIRST PRIZE

SUGAR & SPICE PUFFS

- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- ¼ cup soft shortening
- 1 large egg
- 1 pk. yeast
- ¾ cup warm water
- 2¼ cups flour
- ¾ tsp. cinnamon
- ½ tsp. nutmeg
- ¼ tsp. ginger
- ¼ tsp. allspice

Cream the sugar, salt and shortening. Then add the beaten egg. Add the yeast to the warm milk. Stir well until yeast dissolves. Add to creamed mixture and blend well. Sift the dry ingredients into the creamed mixture. Beat one minute. Scrape dough from sides of bowl. Cover with damp cloth and let rise until double in bulk. Beat well. Drop by spoonfuls into greased muffin tins. Let rise until light. Bake 15 minutes in 400 degree oven. Remove from oven and brush top and sides with butter. Roll in mixture of:

- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tsp. cinnamon

SECOND PRIZE

SHREDDED WHEAT BREAD

- 2 shredded wheat biscuits
- 1 pt. boiling water
- 1 tblsp. vegetable shortening
- 2 tsp. salt
- ½ cup molasses
- 1 yeast cake or 1 pkg. dry yeast
- ½ cup warm water
- 5 cups flour

Break shredded wheat biscuits into a large bowl and pour the boiling water over it. Add the vegetable shortening, salt, and molasses. Let cool until just warm. Dissolve the yeast in the one-half cup warm water. Add to above mixture. Also add the five cups of flour. Stir with big spoon until thoroughly mixed. Let dough rise in the bowl; stir down and put in two greased bread pans. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 350 degrees about 45 minutes.

MRS. F. W. KANE
2135 Linden Ave.

THIRD PRIZE

SPICY KURL-A-ROUNDS

- 1 pkg. active dry yeast
- ¼ cup lukewarm water
- 6 tblsp. butter, melted and cooled
- 1 egg, beaten
- ½ cup sour cream (commercial)
- 3 cups sifted flour
- ⅔ tsp. salt
- ¼ cup sugar
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 tsp. ground cinnamon

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Combine the sour cream, beaten egg, cooled butter and dissolved yeast. Sift together the flour, salt and sugar. Beat into egg mixture, half the dry ingredients; then knead in remaining dry ingredients thoroughly. Put dough in greased bowl, cover, let rise in warm place until double. Punch down, knead three minutes; roll out on lightly floured board to little less than one-half inch thickness. Cut in strips 1¼x10 inches, using ruler as guide. Mix the one-half cup sugar and cinnamon together. Roll each strip of dough in sugar-cinnamon then lay strip on greased cooky sheet in a semi-circle; take both ends of strip, one in each hand, and make two twists in the dough, keeping ends free. Pinch ends of strip into top of semi-circle to form pretzel.

Note—If desired, form strip in any shape—curl around like a cinnamon roll or criss-cross in any shape; but I think the "pretzel" shape is attractive. Repeat with all strips. Cover and let rise in warm place 20 minutes. Bake at 375 degrees 20-25 minutes or until golden brown.

MRS. MABEL SMILEY
311 Cherry Ave. Apt. 3

BROWN OATMEAL ROLLS

- 2 cups boiling water
- 1 cup rolled oats
- 3 tblsp. salad oil
- 1 cake of yeast
- ⅓ cup lukewarm water
- ⅔ cup brown sugar
- 2 tsp. salt
- 5-5½ cups flour

Pour hot water over rolled oats; cool to lukewarm. Add salad oil, yeast softened in lukewarm water, brown sugar, and salt. Beat in flour to make soft dough. Knead. Let rise until doubled in bulk; punch down: let rise again. Roll one-half inch thick, cut any desired shape. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes. Makes three to four dozen rolls.

MRS. G. WOOLHISER

Westminster

MONKEY BREAD

- 1 cup milk, scalded and cooled to lukewarm
- 2 pkgs active yeast
- 4 tblsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 egg, beaten
- 4 tblsp. melted butter or shortening
- 3½ cups flour

Dissolve yeast in milk, stir in sugar, salt, egg, butter and flour; mix well, cover and let rise in a warm place until almost double in bulk. Roll out on a lightly floured board to one-fourth-inch thick. Cut in diamond shaped pieces about 3 inches across. Dip each piece in melted butter and arrange in a large ring mold. Fill about half full. Let rise almost double in bulk. Bake in moderate oven (400 degrees) for 30 minutes. It is served whole and each guest pulls off the buttered layers.

"KOEKSISTERS"

- 1 cup milk
- ½ yeast cake
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 eggs
- ½ cup lukewarm water
- ½ cup butter and lard mixed
- 4½ cups flour
- 1 cup brown sugar
- 1 tsp. grated nutmeg
- Frying oil

Heat milk to boiling point, and then cool to lukewarm. Add yeast cake soaked in the lukewarm water, the salt and enough flour to make a soft batter. Let rise overnight in warm place. Next morning add melted butter, sugar, well beaten eggs, nutmeg and about three and one-half cups flour to make a stiff dough. Leave in a warm place to rise again. Then put the dough on to floured pastryboard and roll out. Cut in strips, 3x1 inch. Divide each strip into three for about 2¾-inch and plait. Fry in deep frying oil until golden brown. Drain "Koeksisters" on absorbent paper and dip in the following syrup:

- 3 cups white sugar
- 2 cups boiling water
- cinnamon or lemon peel

Dissolve sugar in boiling water, add cinnamon or flavoring and heat to boiling point. "Koeksisters" are served cold.

PINEAPPLE-NUT COFFEE CAKE

- 1 cup scalded milk
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- ¾ tsp. salt
- 6 tblsp. butter or margarine
- 1 pkg. active dry yeast (1 cake compressed)
- ¼ cup warm (not hot) water
- 1 egg
- 3½ cups sifted all purpose flour
- 2 tblsp. melted butter or margarine
- 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple, drained
- ½ cup chopped pecans or slivered almonds

In large bowl, combine scalded milk, sugar, salt and six tablespoons butter. Cool until lukewarm. Sprinkle or crumble yeast onto warm water, stir until dissolved. Add with egg to lukewarm milk mixture. Beat well. Stir in flour. Let rise in warm place (about 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk (about 30 minutes). On lightly floured surface, knead dough until smooth. Divide into two parts. Roll one part into one-half-inch rectangle. Brush with melted butter, spread with half of pineapple and nuts. Roll up, jelly roll fashion, starting from long side. Place in crescent shape in well-greased 9-inch layer pan. With scissors, make about five slits in top. Repeat in other half of dough. Let rise in warm place about 45 minutes. Bake in 400-degree oven 20-25 minutes. Makes two coffee cakes.

For Men Only

FIRST PRIZE

CHICKEN VALENCIANS

- ⅓ large tender chicken
- 3 Valencia oranges
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1 cup water
- 1 onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic
- 2 tblsp. seedless raisins
- 20 slivered almonds
- 1 tblsp. capers
- pinch of saffron
- ⅛ tsp. cinnamon
- ⅛ tsp. cloves
- 3 tblsp. cooking oil
- salt and pepper

Cut the chicken in pieces, salt, sprinkle with condiments and brown quickly in the oil. When the fowl first starts to turn golden, add the garlic whole and chopped onion. With the meat a uniform brown, but not crusted, add the orange juice, water, raisins, capers, almonds and saffron. Bring to a bare boil, cover and cook over low heat until fork tender; this should take a minimum of 40 minutes. Remove the garlic cloves and adorn with peeled, sliced oranges. Serve with fried rice and chilled white wine.

SECOND PRIZE

NORWEGIAN MEAT CAKES (Kjott Kaker)

- 1½ lbs. ground round steak
- ½ lb. ground pork
- 3 tblsp. flour
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 3 tblsp. chopped onion
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. accent
- ½ tsp. pepper
- ½ tsp. allspice
- ¼ tsp. cloves
- ½ tsp. nutmeg

Mix together all ingredients in a large bowl. Shape mixture into cakes about 3 inches in diameter and 1 inch thick. Put 4 tablespoons butter in heavy skillet over low heat. Add the meat cakes and brown on both sides.

Gravy for Meat Cakes

- 2 cups hot water
- 2 beef bouillon cubes
- 2 tblsp. flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ cup cream

Dissolve the bouillon cubes in hot water. Remove meat cakes from skillet after browning, but keep the gravy in skillet. Blend the 2 tablespoons of flour, salt into the contents of the skillet. Heat until mixture bubbles. Stirring constantly, gradually add the ½ cup of cream and the meat broth. Return the meat cakes to the skillet and cover. Simmer 15 minutes. Serve the meat cakes in the gravy. Serves six.

Appetizers

PIROSHKI (Meat Pastry)

- 1 cup flour
- ⅛ tsp. salt
- ¼ lb. butter
- 3 tblsp. sour cream
- 4 tblsp. melted butter
- 4 chicken livers or 1 slice of calves' liver
- ½ cup sliced mushrooms
- ½ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper

Sift the flour and salt into a bowl. Add the butter and work together with the hand until well blended. Add the sour cream and mix again until smooth. Wrap in wax paper and chill at least 2 hours, overnight if possible.

Place the 4 tablespoons melted butter in a saucepan and add the livers, mushrooms, salt and pepper. Cook over low heat for 10 minutes. Chop fine and cool for 15 minutes.

Roll out the dough ⅛ inch thick on a lightly floured board. Cut rounds with cookie cutter. Place a heaping teaspoon of the liver mixture on each and fold over the dough, sealing the edges carefully. Place on a baking sheet. Bake in a 375 oven for 20 minutes. Serve hot.

THIRD PRIZE

CREAM OF CARROT SOUP

- 1 cup diced carrots
- 1 cup diced white potatoes
- 1 med. size onion, minced
- 2½ cups boiling water
- 3 tblsp. flour
- 1 tblsp. butter or margarine
- 3 cups milk
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1½ tsp. salt
- ⅓ tsp. pepper
- 1½ tsp. minced parsley

Combine the carrots, potatoes, onion, and water and simmer for half an hour; then rub through a sieve. Add the milk and then rub together the seasonings, flour, and butter. Add a little of the milk mixture to this, then return to the whole amount, and stir until the soup boils. Let boil for two or three mins. and serve with a sprinkling of parsley.

MISS BARBARA BARTOLOMEO

CREAM OF CHEESE SOUP

- ¼ cup finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped carrots
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ¾ cup margarine or butter
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 cups chicken broth or beef stock
- 2 cups milk
- 1½ cups grated sharp cheese
- 1½ tsp. salt
- 1½ tsp. monosodium glutamate

Cook carrots, onions, and celery in 2 tablespoons butter until tender. Melt the remaining butter and blend in flour to a smooth paste. Gradually stir in broth until well blended and thickened. Add milk and continue stirring until smooth. Add cheese and stir until blended. Add seasonings and cooked vegetables. Serve hot. Yield 5 cups. For a cold soup, thin slightly with light cream and chill.

NEW ENGLAND CORN CHOWDER

- ½ lb. salt pork
- 1 can cream style corn
- 3 potatoes
- 3 onions
- 1 pt. half and half
- salt and pepper
- paprika and parsley

Dice the salt pork and fry slowly in a heavy skillet or Dutch oven. Meanwhile peel the potatoes and onions, cut in bite size chunks, and boil in a very small amount of water until done and the water is about boiled away. When the salt pork is a golden brown, combine with the potatoes and onions, slowly. Then add the corn, and heat through. Season to taste, being careful with the salt. Add the cream, and remove from the heat when it is just heated through, being careful not to boil. Then is better when kept and reheated. Just before serving sprinkle paprika and a pinch of parsley.

SWEET PETALS COFFEECAKE

- 1 pkg. dry yeast
- ¼ cup warm water
- ¾ cup scalded milk
- 3 tblsp. shortening
- 2 tblsp. sugar
- 1½ tsp. salt
- 2½-3 cups sifted flour
- melted butter
- 2 tsp. cinnamon
- ¾ cup nuts, chopped
- ½ cup sifted powdered sugar
- 1-2 tsp. milk

Soften the yeast in warm water. Combine the scalded milk, shortening, sugar and salt. Stir to melt shortening then cool to lukewarm. Stir in the softened yeast and gradually add the sifted flour to form a stiff dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and satiny (three-five minutes). Place in greased bowl and cover and let rise in warm place until light and double in size. Place a 15-inch sheet of aluminum foil on baking sheet. Grease and turn up edges to form a 12-inch round pan. Pinch off small pieces of dough, enough to roll into a 6-inch strip one-half-inch thick. Dip in melted butter, cinnamon and nuts mixture. Wind into a flat coil in center of pan. Place other strips close around. Cover and let rise 45 to 60 minutes. Bake in 350-degree oven 25-30 minutes. Cool and drizzle with glaze of powdered sugar and one to two teaspoons milk.

GERMAN SOUR CREAM TWISTS

- 3½ cups sifted flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 cup shortening (part butter)
- 1 pkg. yeast
- ¼ cup warm water
- ¾ cup sour cream
- 1 egg, whole
- 2 egg yolks, well beaten
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 1 cup sugar

Sift flour, salt into mixing bowl. Cut in shortening. Dissolve yeast in water. Stir in flour mixture with sour cream, eggs and vanilla. Mix well by hand. Cover with damp cloth and refrigerate for two hours. Roll half of dough on sugared board into an oblong 8x16 inches. Fold ends toward center, ends overlapping. Sprinkle with sugar, roll again to same size. Repeat a third time. Roll about one-fourth-inch thick. Cut into strips 1x4 inches. Twist ends in opposite directions, stretching dough slightly. Put in shape of horseshoe on ungreased baking sheets, pressing ends to keep shape. Repeat with rest of dough. Heat oven to 375 degrees and bake about 15 minutes. Remove immediately and cool on rack.

ARTICHOKE FRITTERS

- 1 egg
- 2 tblsp. milk
- ½ tsp. of Accent
- ½ tsp. salt and pepper to taste
- Wesson oil for deep frying

MRS. SHANANBERGER

- ¾ cup flour

Mix the dip ingredients all together and beat until well blended. Take artichoke halves and dip into the batter and then into the flour mixture. They may be dipped twice to give thicker coating. Then deep fry at medium heat until golden brown. Artichoke fritters may be used as an appetizer or hors d' oeuvres.

LUSCIOUS APPLE PANCAKES

- 4 eggs
- ½ tsp. salt
- 2 tsp. sugar
- 1 cup all sifted flour
- 1⅓ cups milk
- 2 cups thinly sliced apples
- 2 tblsp. butter
- ¾ cup granulated sugar
- 1 tsp. cinnamon

Beat the eggs well and add salt, sugar, and flour. Beat smooth. Stir in milk and apples. Put one-half tablespoon butter into 10-inch skillet and heat to melt, and when butter starts to brown, pour two-thirds cup of mixture into skillet tipping quickly in all directions to spread pancake over entire pan. When the bottom is browned nicely, add another teaspoon of butter and flip and brown other side. Glaze under broiler, roll and serve. Makes six pancakes.

FIRST PRIZE

ROQUEFORT CREAM DRESSING

8 oz. cream cheese
½ cup evaporated milk
1 bunch green onions with tops, chopped
3 oz. roquefort
4 tblsp. sour cream
½ cup olive oil
½ tsp. salt

Put milk and onions in blender and turn on until pulverized. Add remaining ingredients one at a time, turning off blender each time you add, then turn on only long enough to blend the added ingredient.

FROZEN DESSERT

1 quart sherbet
2 dozen coconut macaroons, broken up in small pieces
Add 1½ cups chopped nuts
Whip 1 pint whipping cream fairly stiff and sweeten with:
2 tlbsps. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla

Fold in nuts and macaroons. Using 2 ice cube trays, make 1 layer of cream mixture, then layer of sherbet (any kind desired) — then another layer of whipped cream mixture. Keep in freezer until ready to use.

PETIT MOUSSE AU CHOCOLAT

Filling:
1 pkg. semi-sweet chocolate chips, melted
6 eggs
pinch of salt

Melt semi-sweet squares of baking chocolate in double boiler (the amount needed will depend upon size of the paper cups used). Coat the inside of paper cups with the melted chocolate, at least ⅛ inch thick, a little thicker on the bottom. Place in refrigerator until needed.

Melt the chocolate chips and eggs, which should be beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold chocolate into the eggs. Fill the cups. Chill in the refrigerator until needed. Two or three curls of grated chocolate may be put on top for a finishing touch.

MADELEINE RHINE

ALMOND-CHOCOLATE PUDDING

Put in top of double boiler on a slow fire, the following:

10 marshmallows
¼ cup milk
3½-4 ounce almond chocolate bars

When melted, remove from fire. Cool thoroughly. Then add to chocolate mixture: ½ cup whipped cream. Top with cherry. Refrigerate until served. Thinner pudding may be made with ½ cup milk.

This recipe also makes a delicious pie filling when put in graham cracker crust.

ALMA KAISER
1848 Poppy St.

ANGEL PARFAIT

¾ cup maple syrup
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ cup chopped pecans

Bring the syrup to boil and cook it until it spins a thread or registers 228 degrees on a candy thermometer. Beat the syrup gradually into two stiffly beaten egg whites and continue to beat until the meringue is cool and very thick. Stir in the teaspoon of vanilla and fold in the whipped cream and the chopped pecans. Spoon the mixture into 6 individual fluted paper cups, sprinkle with chopped pecans and freeze for two hours.

MRS. J. AGNEW
4402 Linden Ave.

POLKA-DOT MOLD

½ gal. vanilla ice cream
1 pt. pistachio nut ice cream
1 pt. strawberry ice cream
1 pt. lemon custard ice cream
1 pt. chocolate ice cream
2 pkgs. Lady Fingers

Into a spring-form round pan, pack all the above ice creams alternating the colors and flavors to form the "Polka Dots". Place Lady Fingers on ice cream in pan to form a covering layer. Place in freezer overnight and just before serving, invert on platter and rub with warm cloth. Mold will ease out with Lady Fingers as cake on bottom. Garnish with whipped topping from can and maraschino cherries. Slice into generous servings and drizzle with hot fudge sauce.

MRS. GORDON COHN

PERSIMMON DATE PUDDING

1¼ cups flour
1 cup sugar
1½ tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. baking powder
1 cup persimmons (3 large persimmons to make a cup)
1 cup dates
1 cup nut meats
½ cup bread crumbs
1 tsp. vanilla
1½ tblsp. melted butter
½ cup milk

Sift flour, soda, salt, baking powder and sugar three times. Combine and add all remaining ingredients and mix well. Fill greased and floured pan. Bake in a pan of water 1½ hours or until firm in center at 350 degrees. Whole sections of nuts, cherries or other fruit may be used to decorate this pudding for the holiday season.

FIRST PRIZE

TUNA TAMPICO

1½ lbs. margarine
3 qts. onions, chopped
2 qts. green peppers, chopped
2 No. 10 cans tomatoes
2 qts. tomato paste, canned
2 No. 10 cans kidney beans
⅓ cup chili powder
salt and pepper to taste
12 7 oz. cans of tuna

Melt butter or margarine and add onions and green peppers. Cook over medium heat until onions are lightly browned. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, beans and chili powder. Season with salt and pepper. Cook uncovered over low heat for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Break tuna into large pieces and add to chili mixture. Turn into greased individual casseroles. Bake in 350 degree oven for 35 minutes. Serves 50.

THIRD PRIZE

WHOLESALE CANDY LOAF

6 cups white sugar
3 cups coffee cream
2 cups heavy white syrup
¾ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
butter size of large walnut
1 lb. shelled english walnuts
1 box candied cherries
1 box candied pineapple

Combine sugar, syrup, salt and cream and boil to soft ball stage. Remove from fire, add vanilla and beat until very thick and quite heavy so that it can hardly be stirred. Then add halves of walnuts, whole cherries, and cubes of pineapple and blend thoroughly. The candy at this stage will be so heavy you can hardly work it, but very creamy. Have a large square bread pan buttered and pull the candy from the kettle to the bread pan and press into a loaf. It will set in a few minutes. When real firm, turn from pan onto a bread board and cut in 1 inch slices, then cut slices into cubes. Makes 5½ lbs. candy.

MACARONI DINNER

3 lbs. elbow macaroni
1 can pimiento
2 cups stuffed olives, sliced
3 lbs. grated cheddar cheese
4 cans mushroom soup
2 qts. milk

miento, olives, and cheese. Heat the mushroom soup with the milk. Pour over the macaroni mixture or mix gently. Pour into casseroles and bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Serves 100.

MRS. ANITA GUSTUSON

BANQUET SALAD

7 No. 2½ cans pineapple
12 large apples
2 cups flour
2 cups sugar
18 eggs
½ cup butter
2¼ lbs. marshmallows
6 cups chopped pecan nuts
3 lbs. California grapes

Drain juice from pineapple and add to it sugar and flour mixed. Beat eggs. Add eggs and butter to juice and cook until thick over low heat stirring constantly. Peel and cut apples into small pieces. Dice the pineapple and pour over the top of the apples as this keeps the apples from turning dark in color. Cut marshmallows in quarters. Halve and seed the grapes. When the salad dressing is cold, pour it over theses ingredients and mix thoroughly. Serve on shredded lettuce leaves. Serves 80.

2 tsp. soda
2 cups sugar
1 cup margarine
1 cup chopped nutmeats
4 cups flour
2 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. cloves
1 tsp. nutmeg
1 lb. dates or raisins

Cream butter and sugar. Put soda in applesauce and add to creamed ingredients. Then add the flour in which seasonings have been mixed; add nuts and dates last. Bake in 13x9x2 cake pan at 325 degrees for 50 minutes. Serves 20.

MRS. RICHARD CLOUD

WEDDING CHICKEN

3 6-lb. capons
4 cups cold water
1 carrot and onion
1 tsp. salt
1½ tsp. mixed poultry herbs

Combine capons and seasoning and vegetables and simmer for 1 hour, until tender then cool and strip meat from bones and cut into bite size pieces. Return bones to broth and simmer another hour. Strain and chill.

SAUCE

½ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups flour
3 cups chicken broth
3 cups heavy cream
2 tblsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
¾ tsp. each white pepper and nutmeg
½ tsp. saffron

Cook all of these ingredients in double boiler until thick, stir occasionally. Strain and cool. Seed, core and slice:

3 green peppers into 1 inch paper thin strips
1½ lbs. mushrooms wiped and sliced
6-7 pimentos finely chopped
6 tblsp. melted butter
3 medium onions, peeled and chopped fine

Saute the vegetables in the butter until onions are transparent. Drain on paper toweling. Combine chicken and vegetable with sauce. This can be prepared the day before and refrigerated. To reheat place over simmering water for 1 hour. Just before serving add ½ cup lemon juice and mix well. Serve over 2 inch pastry diamonds, three to a serving made from favorite pastry recipe. Serves 20.

FIRST PRIZE

DENMARK'S FYLDT HVIDKAAL

(Stuffed cabbage with horseradish sauce)

- 1 lb. round beef ground twice
- ½ lb. shoulder pork, ground twice
- 1 large onion, grated
- 2 eggs, beaten
- ½ cup packaged dried bread crumbs
- 1 tblsp. pepper
- ¾ tsp. pepper
- ½ tsp. mace
- 1 cup milk
- 3½ lb. green cabbage
- 2 cups hot water
- ½ tsp. salt
- 6 whole black peppers
- snip parsley

MARGARET KURTZ

Blend ground meats with onion, eggs, bread crumbs, salt pepper, mace and milk; refrigerate. Remove wilted leaves from cabbage; cut one-inch slice from top of cabbage; reserve slice and leaves. With paring knife, scoop out center of cabbage, leaving one-third inch thick shell. Firmly pack meat mixture into cabbage shell; place the slice on top then top with wilted leaves. Now tie up cabbage with string, securing top and wilted leaves. Place in large kettle; add hot water, salt and whole black peppers. Cover kettle tightly. Simmer 75 minutes or until meat filling is firm to touch. Then lift cabbage onto heated platter; remove string and wilted leaves. Sprinkle top with parsley. Serve, cut into wedges. Pass horseradish sauce.

Sauce: Into two tblsp. melted margarine stir two tblsp. flour. Stir in one and one-half cups canned condensed chicken or beef broth, a little at a time. Add three tblsp. fresh lemon juice, three-quarters tsp. salt, one-eighth tsp. pepper, one tblsp. sugar and one-quarter horseradish. Simmer two to three minutes.

SOPAIPILLAS

- 2 cups flour
- 2 tsp. baking powder
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1½ cups milk
- ½ tsp. shortening

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together, then add milk and shortening. Roll dough out to one-half inch thickness, cut dough in 2-inch squares. Fry in deep fat until golden brown on both sides. They will puff up and be hollow inside. This is a Mexican light fried bread that is delicious with butter and honey.

MRS. DONALD KUEHNERT
4223 Rutgers Ave.

SECOND PRIZE

FRENCH CHOCOLATE CAKES

- 1 lb. sweet chocolate
- 1 tblsp. flour
- 1 tblsp. sugar
- ⅔ cup soft butter
- 4 eggs

Start your oven at 425 degrees. Line a round eight-inch cake pan with waxed paper. Melt the sweet chocolate (must be sweet kind) and teaspoon of water over hot, not boiling water. Remove from heat and stir in flour, sugar and soft butter thoroughly. Separate yolks from whites of eggs and beat yolks vigorously then stir them into the chocolate mixture gradually and smoothly. Beat egg whites until they hold a definite shape and mix gently into the batter.

Transfer to the pan and bake 15 minutes. No longer. Your cake at this point is still soft but cooling stiffens it to the right consistency. When cold, remove from pan and serve. Serves six.

MRS. JACK L. HARRISON

THIRD PRIZE

HAWAIIAN PORK

- 1½ lbs. lean fresh pork, cut in 1-inch cubes
- ¼ cup cooking oil
- ¼ cup water
- 2 tblsp. cornstarch
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ¼ cup brown sugar
- ¼ cup vinegar
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 2 tsp. soy sauce
- ½ cup green pepper, chopped
- ½ cup onion, thinly sliced
- ½ cup tomato, peeled, seeded and chopped
- 2½ cups pineapple chunks

Brown pork in hot oil; add water, cover and cook one hour over low heat. Combine cornstarch, salt, sugar, vinegar, pineapple juice and soy sauce. Cook until slightly thickened, pour over over hot pork, let stand ten minutes. Stir in green pepper, onion, tomato and pineapple, cook 15 minutes. Serve over hot buttered rice. A small amount of toasted coconut. Sprinkle over each serving makes a nice garnish. Serves six.

HUNGARY— CALF BRAINS

- 2 cups cake flour
- 2 eggs
- salt to taste
- milk, enough to make thin batter

Filling

- 2 finely chopped calves brains
- finely chopped onion
- 2-3 beaten eggs
- ¼ pint cream
- salt, paprika, chopped parsley

Take the flour, eggs, salt and enough milk to make thin batter. Fry the batter into 10 pancakes about 9" wide. Keep them hot until filling is ready.

Chop the calves brains and fry slowly for 20 mins. in a batter flavored with chopped onion, beaten eggs, cream, salt, paprika, and chopped parsley. Cook this until it thickens. Put filling between pancakes in layers. Keep warm in oven about 10 mins. before serving, then cut them diagonally and serve with sauce.

BEEF STEAK, KIDNEY PIE

- 2 lbs. lean beef
- 1 lb. beef kidney
- ½ tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. pepper
- 2 tblsp. flour
- 1 small onion
- 2 tblsp. suet
- 1 tblsp. minced parsley
- ½ tsp. curry powder
- 1 tblsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 3 cups water

Cut meat into cubes, sprinkle with salt and pepper, flour over meat. Melt suet, brown meat and onion well. Add the rest of ingredients and water, then cover tightly and simmer an hour, or until meat is tender. If more liquid is needed, add accordingly. When meat is tender, thicken gravy with paste (1 tblsp. flour and 2 tblsp. water). Pour meat into baking dish and cover top and sides with your favorite baking powder biscuits, cut one-half inch thick. Bake at 450 30 minutes.

BARONESS' PUDDING (Scotch Recipe)

- ¾ lb. suet
- ¾ lb. raisins (muscats)
- ¾ lb. flour
- ½ pt. milk
- ¼ tsp. salt

Chop the suet fine—stone the raisins and cut them in halves. Mix the ingredients with the salt and flour — moisten with milk, stir the mixture well and tie the pudding in a floured cloth previously wrung out in boiling water. Put the pudding into a saucepan of boiling water and let it boil 4½ hrs. Serve with plain sifted sugar.

SAUCE BECHAMEL

- 2 tblsp. butter
- 2 tblsp. flour
- 1 cup hot milk
- 1 sm. onion sliced
- ½ small bay leaf
- ¼ cup light cream
- 2 tblsp. dry sherry
- ½ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. white pepper

Heat the milk and cream in a small saucepan, but do not boil. In another saucepan, melt the butter, then remove from the fire to keep from browning. Stir in the flour. Blend well. Slowly add hot milk and cream. Stir well. Add onion and bay leaf. Return to a slow flame. Simmer, don't boil, or sauce may burn. Cook for 20 minutes stirring frequently. Add sherry, salt and pepper. Strain.

Combine Sauce Bechamel with cooked fresh mushrooms, crab meat or shrimp.

MRS. M. BLANKENHORN

Use it as an escort for croquettes or cutlets or as a base for cream soups.

CARROT MARMALADE

- 3 oranges, sliced thin
- 1 lemon, juice and grated rind
- Water, to cover
- 6 carrots
- ⅔ cup sugar for each cup of combined fruit

Place oranges and lemon rind in enough water to barely cover. Let stand overnight. In the morning cook until rind is tender when pierced with fork. Then wash, scrape and slice thin the six carrots and cook until tender. Combine with citrus fruit mixture and measure. Add the ⅔ cups of sugar for each cup of combined fruit. Cook until the juice sheets from the spoon or when it jells after a small amount is dropped in cold saucer.

MRS. BARBARA ZAHARRIS
15 S. Long Beach Blvd.

ROSY APPLE BUTTER

- ⅓ cup orange juice
- 1 orange peel
- 5 cups apples, chopped, including peel and core
- 1 can tomatoes (1 lb. tan)
- 1½ cups sugar
- 1 2" cinnamon stick
- 1 tblsp. vinegar

Squeeze juice from orange and save. Chop orange peel in small pieces (about ½ cup). Combine peel, apples, and tomatoes in medium sized saucepan; cover. Cook slowly about 20 minutes or until fruit is soft. Press mixture through strainer into second saucepan; add sugar, cinnamon and vinegar. Bring to boiling; boil rapidly, stirring frequently, about 15 minutes or until mixture is thick. Remove cinnamon stick; stir in orange juice, continue cooking until mixture is again thick. Pour into hot sterilized glasses. Makes four to five 6-oz. glasses.

MRS. JACK F. DUCLO
22 E. Market St.

TOMATO JAM

- 7 lbs. ripe tomatoes
- 3 lbs. sugar
- 1 pt. vinegar
- ½ oz. whole cloves
- 1 oz. ground cinnamon

Peel tomatoes, cut in small pieces and stir as you bring to a boil over low heat, stirring constantly as it cooks. Do not let it scorch, keep stirring until it is the thickness of thin gravy.

FIRST PRIZE

BLONDE BROWNIES

1 cup sifted flour
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup chopped nut meats
⅓ cup margarine
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
½ pkg. chocolate chips

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, soda and salt. Sift again. Add nuts and mix well. Melt shortening in a saucepan. Remove from heat, add sugar and mix well. Cool. Add egg and vanilla. Add flour mixture, half at a time, mixing well after each addition. Turn into greased 9x9x2-inch pan. Sprinkle chocolate chips over top. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 minutes. Cool in the pan. SECOND PRIZE

GINGER, MOLASSES COOKIE

¼ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
½ cup molasses
1 egg
1 tsp. of baking soda
½ cup hot water
2 cups flour
1 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. nutmeg
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt

Mix well, all ingredients and chill for one hour. Drop on lightly greased cookie sheet—drop from a teaspoon, not too close together. Bake in 350-degree oven 15 minutes or until nicely browned. Cool and remove to wax paper.

Norwalk

THIRD PRIZE

TEE BALLS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¼ tsp. salt
¾ cup chopped walnuts
¼ cup grape-nut cereal
1 cup butter or margarine
½ cup sifted powdered sugar
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift the flour and salt together and add the walnuts and grape-nuts. Cream the butter, powdered sugar and vanilla together and gradually add the dry ingredients, blending well after each addition. Chill the dough for one hour. Then shape into balls one inch in diameter. Place on ungreased cookie sheet one inch apart. Bake at 400 degrees 12 to 15 minutes until edges are lightly brown. Roll in powdered sugar while warm. Makes six dozen.

Mrs. Grace G. Heath
1015 Appleton St.

CHOCOLATE REFRESHERS

1¼ cups sifted flour
½ tsp. salt
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup butter
2 unbeaten eggs
½ cup milk
¾ tsp. soda
1¼ cups dates, chopped
½ cup water
1 cup (6 oz.) chocolate chips
½ cup orange juice

Sift flour with soda and salt. Combine dates, brown sugar, water and butter in large pan. Cook over low heat, stirring until dates soften. Remove from heat. Stir in chocolate chips, beat in eggs. Add dry ingredients alternately with orange juice and milk. Blend thoroughly. Bake in greased 15x10x1 cookie sheet 30 minutes in a 350-degree oven. Cool and spread with glaze. Cut into desired shapes.

Glaze

1½ cups sifted powdered sugar
1-2 tsp. grated orange rind
2 tblsp. soft butter
2-3 tblsp. cream

Mix ingredients and spread over cookies.

Mrs. Cecelia G. Buckman
4133 Gaviota Ave.

PEANUT BLOSSOMS

1¾ cups flour
1 tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
½ cup shortening
½ cup peanut butter
½ cup sugar
½ cup brown sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla

Sift the flour, soda, salt together and cream the shortening, peanut butter, sugar and brown sugar. Blend in the egg and vanilla. Shape by rounded teaspoon into balls. Roll in sugar and place on greased baking sheet. Bake 10 minutes at 375 degrees. Top each with candy kiss, pressing down firmly so cookie cracks around edge. Return to oven two to five minutes.

COFFEE-PECAN FANCIES

½ cup margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup brown sugar, packed
½ tsp. vanilla
2 tblsp. instant coffee
1 egg
1 cup sifted flour
¼ tsp. salt
½ cup finely chopped pecans

Cream margarine, gradually beat in sugars, vanilla, coffee and egg. Sift flour with salt; add to mixture along with pecans. Chill. Form into marble-sized balls; put on cookie sheets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Store in airtight container or can be frozen. Makes 60.

LEMON CRUMBLES

¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup shortening
1¾ cup soda cracker crumbs (about 20 crackers)
½ cup white sugar
1 cup shredded coconut
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt

Sift flour, baking power and salt together. Cut in shortening with pastry blender, until crumbly. Add remainder of ingredients and mix well. Spread one-half of mixture in buttered eight-inch square pan and press firmly together.

Filling

1 cup white sugar

2 tblsp. all purpose flour
1 cup water
1 egg, well beaten
⅛ tsp. salt
2 tblsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. lemon rind, grated

Mix flour, sugar, salt, and add egg and water and mix well. Cook over boiling water until thickened. Remove, add juice and lemon rind and pour over mixture in bottom of pan.

MRS. EDDY SHEDLOWSKI

PINEAPPLE-FILLED COCONUT BARS

Filling

¾ cup granulated sugar
3 tblsp. cornstarch
½ tsp. salt
1 cup crushed pineapple juice and all
1 tblsp. lemon juice
1 tblsp. butter or margarine

Mix first four ingredients together in a small saucepan; bring to a boil. Continue cooking until thickened and clear, about five mins., stirring constantly to prevent sticking. Remove from heat and blend in lemon juice and butter. Cool slightly before using.

Crust

1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
½ tsp. salt
1½ cups shredded coconut

Cream butter and sugar together until creamy. Add flour, salt, and coconut. Mix until well distributed and crumbly. Press one half of crumb mixture firmly into a greased and floured baking pan 9x9x1½ inches. Spread pineapple filling evenly over surface. Cover with remaining crumbs and press top layer down firmly. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven 35 minutes or until golden brown. Turn out on wire cake rack to cool. Cut into 24 bars.

IRISH OATMEAL BREAD FOR MAN'S LUNCH

Van de Kamp Varieties for Dad's Lunches

Take the monotony out of lunch-packing with Van de Kamp's variety breads. One of the most versatile of the 24 Van de Kamp's bread is the Irish Oatmeal Loaf. This unique bread, which originated in Ireland, is made with steel-cut oatmeal imported directly from Ireland and is lighter than rye bread and a little darker, more flavorful than white.

Try a combination of one 3-ounce package cream cheese with 1 tablespoon honey, ½ teaspoon grated orange peel, 1 tablespoon orange juice and ⅓ cup peanut butter for a variation of the ever popular peanut butter sandwich in the lunchbox. Or, for Dad's lunch, blend ½-lb. finely grated Swiss cheese with ¼ cup chopped olives, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, and ¼ cup mayonnaise.

QUAIL ON TOAST

Prepare the birds in the usual way, cleaning and removing all pin feathers, then stuff with a nice chicken filling, truss like miniature turkeys, season with salt and pepper, and wrap each bird in thin slices of bacon. The flesh of the quail is dry and the bacon gives an additional amount of fat as well as preventing burning. Roast in a moderately hot oven, 400 degrees. When done, remove the bacon and arrange the birds on hot buttered toast, brush with melted butter to which a little lemon juice has been added; serve with currant jelly.

HUNTERS DELIGHT VENISON POT ROAST

- 4-5 lb. vension
- 1½ cup claret wine
- 1 cup cold water
- 2 onions, sliced
- 4 bay leaves
- 4 whole cloves
- ½ garlic clove
- 6 whole black peppers
- 1 tblsp. salt
- ¼ cup suet dripping
- 6 gingersnaps

Place venison in crock and pour first 8 ingredients over it. Cover and let stand in refrigerator three days, turning meat each day. Then remove meat and dry on paper towel. Dip in flour, brown in suet drippings. When very brown add first eight ingredients and simmer 30 minutes per pound until tender. Use tight lid on roaster. Remove meat, strain gravy and add gingersnaps and return meat and simmer 10 minutes more.

QUAIL BAKED IN WINE

- ½ cup butter
- 2 small onions, minced
- 2 whole cloves
- 1 tsp. peppercorns
- ½ bay leaf
- 6 quail, cleaned and trussed
- 2 cups white wine
- ½ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper
- few grains cayenne
- 1 tsp. minced chives
- 2 cups cream or evaporated milk

Melt fat, add onions, cloves, peppercorns, garlic and bay leaf. Cook several minutes. Add quail and brown on all sides. Add white wine, salt, pepper, cayenne and chives and simmer until tender (30 minutes). Remove quail to hot serving dish. Strain sauce, add cream and heat to boiling point. Pour over quail. Allow one quail for each serving.

THIRD PRIZE

BAKED NEW ORLEANS SEAFOOD, FLAMBEAU

2 cups cooked rice
½ lb. cooked crabmeat
½ cup cooked shrimp
2 cups cream sauce
½ cup grated parmesan cheese
2 tblsp. sherry wine
½ tsp. worcestershire sauce
½ tsp. salt
1 lemon, juice
brandy 1 oz.

Combine rice, crab, shrimp, half of the cream and other ingredients except the brandy and cheese. Mix well. Place in shallow casserole. Top with remaining cream sauce, sprinkle with the cheese, dot with butter and bake at 375 30 minutes until the top is delicately brown. When serving pour the brandy over the top and flame.

MRS. J. C. SANDERS

FLAMING FROZEN FRUIT

1 pkg. frozen melon balls
1 pkg. frozen raspberries
1 pkg. frozen strawberries
1 pkg. frozen blueberries
1 can frozen pineapple
½ cup brandy

Mix fruit carefully after it is partially thawed and pour about ½ cup brandy over it letting it stand in the refrigerator for a couple of hours. When ready to serve, carefully remove fruit into your prettiest bowl, but do not use the liquid in the bowl. Pour about ¼ cup of brandy over the top of the fruit, set fire to the brandy. It will flame into a pretty blue flame. Then serve with a spoonful of sour cream in individual dishes.

6732 Coralite St.

SECOND PRIZE

CHERRIES JUBILEE

2 cups canned black bing cherries
¾ cup juice from can
1 cup white corn syrup
½ cup brandy
1 qt. vanilla ice cream

Stir cherries, juice, and corn syrup over heat until warm. Add brandy. Ignite and ladle over individual servings of vanilla ice cream. Serves four to six.

MRS. PEARL TAYLOR
2405 E. 14th St.

CHERRY ANGEL JUBILEE

1 angel food cake, cut in 12 wedges
¾ cup currant jelly
1 No. 2½ can, drained pitted bing cherries
1 pt. heavy cream, whipped
6 sugar cubes dipped in lemon extract

Cut the cake into wedges and arrange in one large circle, alternating 2 wedges pointed in, with 1 wedge pointed out. In skillet melt the currant jelly, add the drained cherries, heat until simmering, turn into bowl that will fit into center of cake.

Frost cake all over with the whipped cream and set the bowl of cherries in center. Just before serving, dip six sugar cubes into lemon extract and light, then whisk cake to the table.

MRS. ROSE WEBER
44Panama Ave.

FLAMING OMELET

2 tblsp. butter or margarine
6 eggs, whipped lightly
4 tblsp. water
Salt and freshly ground pepper
½-¾ cup rum

Place the butter or margarine in top pan of chafing dish. Beat the eggs lightly with the water. Add eggs to butter and turn flame to medium. While the mixture is cooking, stir sides with a fork and tilt the pan so as to let undone portion reach the heat. Just as it is done, dust with salt and pepper. Then fold and sprinkle sugar lightly over the top. Pour the rum around the omelet and ignite it. Ladle up some of the burning rum and pour it on the omelet. Serve at once.

MRS. DAWNALINE OLSON

SPECTACULAR PEACH PIE

1 No. 2½ can cling peach slices
Pastry for single crust pie
1 tblsp. flour
¾ cup brown sugar, packed
½ cup sifted flour
¼ cup soft butter
6 sugar cubes
Lemon extract

Drain peaches thoroughly. Line piepan with pastry. Rub into it a tablespoon flour. Turn peaches into unbaked shell. Blend sugar, flour and butter until crumbly. Sprinkle over peaches. Bake in hot oven (425°) 25 to 35 minutes, until pastry is browned and topping crisp. Saturate sugar cubes with lemon extract. Arrange on warm pie. Ignite cubes and serve flaming. Six slices of peaches may be arranged on top of pie to resemble a wheel.

MRS. O. P. GOODSPEED
6542 Lemon Ave.

FLAMING OMELET

4 eggs separated
½ tsp. grated lemon rind
½ cup brandy or rum
½ cup mincemeat
Sugar

Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored; stir in lemon rind and tablespoon of brandy; fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a buttered hot skillet and cook over low heat until nicely browned on the bottom. Test by lifting the edge with spatula. Then place in a 350 oven for 10 minutes or until top of omelet springs back when pressed lightly with the finger. Heat the mincemeat and spread over omelet. Make a crease down the center with a knife and fold over carefully. Pour remaining brandy over the top and light. Serves

Leftovers

FIRST PRIZE

RE-VAMPED HAM PATTIES WITH SOUR CREAM

- 2 cups ground leftover ham
- ½ cup soft bread crumbs
- ¼ cup choped green onions
- ⅓ cup milk
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ⅛ tsp. pepper
- 1 cup commercial sour cream
- 4 tsp. chopped green onion tops

Combine ham, bread crumbs, chopped green onion, milk, egg slightly beaten, and pepper, mix well. Shape in six patties. Brown slowly on both sides in small amount of fat. Heat sour cream until just hot; spoon some hot cream on top of each browned patty; sprinkle some chopped green onion tops on cream and serve. Leftover ham makes a glamorous comeback this way.

TYROLEAN ONION SQUARES

Biscuit Mix

- 2 cups sifted flour
- ½ tsp. salt
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- ½ cup shortening

Blend the above into a coarse meal—or if preferred, and you're in a hurry, packaged biscuit mix may be used. If so, follow directions on package, then proceed as follows:

Onion Squares

- 1 egg, well beaten
- ¾ cup milk
- 2 tblsp. poppy seeds
- 2 cups sweet onions, chopped
- 2 tblsp. butter
- ¾ cup sour cream
- 1 egg
- ½ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- paprika

Blend egg and milk with biscuit mix and poppy seeds. Turn into greased 9x9 inch pan. Fry onions in butter until tender and lightly browned. Spread on dough. Beat egg with sour cream and season with salt and pepper. Spread over onions. Bake at 400 degrees 25 minutes. Cut into squares, sprinkle with paprika and serve very hot.

OUR COVER

With a handsome and devoted spouse supervising, Jayne Mansfield lives happily at home on a wooded Hollywood estate with husband Mickey Hargitai, three children and an assorted menagerie of dogs, cats, goats, burros and tropical fish. The world sees Jayne as a glamour girl, but her intimates and a few especially favored interviewers have the opportunity of knowing the star's real-life role as wife, mother and homemaker. She manages well to combine a homemaking career with a successful life in the entertainment world, devoting all the time she can find from professional demands to give her family personal attention. She is shown on today's cover with two of her children. For more about Jayne Mansfield Hargitai, see Page 7.

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give brief genealogy on HIRSCH.—Mrs. D. A., Harbor City.

D. A.: HIRSCH is a distinctive German surname that translates as "red-deer stag." Hirsch had two origins in the days of knighthood. One was a painting of a stag on an inn sign, which became the owner's surname after a generation of usage. Hirsch was also a word denoting undaunted bravery, typified by the courageous stag-deer. The Hirsch coat-of-arms, granted in medieval Bavaria has a red stag horn centered on a golden shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like data on HAYWORTH.—Mrs. A. H., Joshua Tree.

A.H.: HAYWORTH was assumed by this lineage's founders from their home village of Haworth in Yorkshire, England. The ancient Saxon-English source phrase was "Haga-Worth" meaning "Hedged estate." Property was often enclosed by a thorn-bush hedge to exclude wild animals and marauders. Late 14th century Yorkshire forebears include John, Otes and Alicia de Haworth. Haworth and Hayworth coat-of-arms has a gold diagonal band between two gold stag heads on a blue shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: May we have genealogy on MALONE and MALONEY.—R. M., Downey; R. M., A. M., Long Beach.

R. M., A. M.: MALONE and MALONEY, spelled similarly, have divergent Irish origins. Malone is from the Gaelic clan O'Maoil-Eoin, meaning "Sons of the adherents of St. John." Their original home was at Clonmacnoise on the River Shannon. This family were created Barons Sunderland in 1785. Their coat-of-arms was a rampant silver lion between three silver stars on a red shield. The Malone motto "Fidelis ad urnam" means "Faithful unto death." Ancestors include Luke Malone of Dover, N. H., in 1667. Maloney is based on O'Maoildhomhnaigh, translated as "Sons of the man devoted to the Church." The Maloneys were natives of County Clare.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please print the origin of HARRIS.—J. H., Mrs. J. V. H., E. Y., Long Beach.

J. H., J. V. H., E. Y.: HARRIS is from the nickname Harry (for Henry) meaning "Ruler of an estate." The Harrises were baronial land owners in Devon and Cornwall, south England, as early as 1422. Their coat-of-arms has three silver crescents on a black shield. William Harris was born in England in 1610 and settled at Boston, Mass. in 1630. Thomas Harris of Bristol, England, came to Rhode Island at the same time.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly analyze BARNHART.—M. B., Long Beach.

M. B.: BARNHART, a family from Alsace-Lorraine on the French-German border, has used this German form of their name as well as the French "Bernard" interchangeably over the centuries. The family coat-of-arms has a blue band above two stars and a crescent moon on a gold shield. Barnhart, meaning "With the strength of a bear," was first taken as a given-name in honor of the beloved St. Bernard or Bernhart of Clairvaux who founded the Cistercian Order of Monks in A. D. 1115.

Nostalgia in Glass

By Helen L. Gillum

LITTLE GLASS containers from the days of rock candy and hoarhound sticks once delighted childish eyes with their colorful contents of candy. Mrs. Jack Gordon of 16402 Harris St., Compton, owns 85 of the novelties.

Old candy containers, with their quaint shapes and nostalgic allusions to past events, are much in demand today by collectors. In fact, anyone desiring to "collect something," yet who does not know just exactly how to get started, could choose no better item than candy containers. They become more and more interesting as the hobby progresses, yet do not draw too heavily upon the purse.

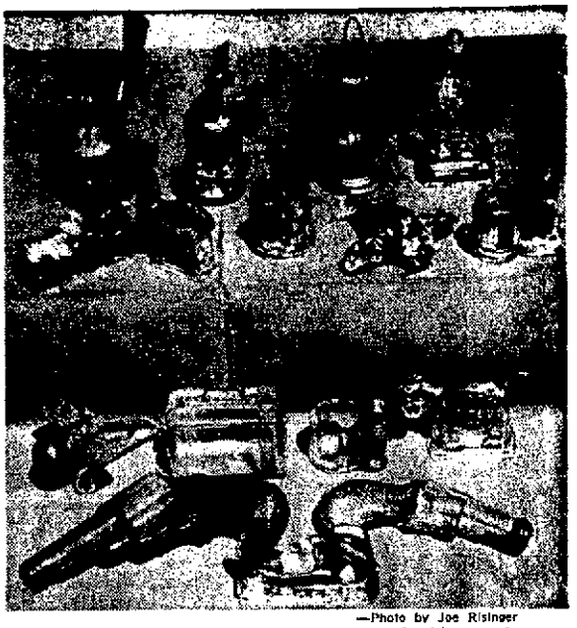

NOR ARE the little glass objects too difficult to find. It is fun to search in out-of-the-way places, such as those dusty boxes of "junk" stashed away in the attic "back home," or prowl about a rummage sale. Or, perhaps you can talk a friend out of a "satchel" container that she had when a little girl, or a relative out of the "Kewpie" container she has been using as a toothpick holder. And of course, there are always the antique shows, shops and auctions in which to browse, and advertisements in the antique magazines to answer.

Some containers were designed to commemorate certain events or persons, just as modern toys reflect the life and times of our atomic age. A serio-comic item in Mrs. Gordon's collection is her "Spark Plug," inspired by the squint-eyed racehorse caricature created by cartoonist Billy de Beck in 1919. This little glass creature is 2½ inches high; he wears a large blanket inscribed "Spark Plug."

LINDBERGH'S flight to Paris is recalled by an airplane container. It is inscribed "Spirit of Good Will," and is 5 inches long, 3¾ inches wide, and 2¾ inches high. It bears the head and shoulders of a man intended to represent Charles Lindbergh.

Another figure resembles Charles Spencer Chaplin, the English-born moving picture actor. Chaplin stands beside the crystal glass container wearing the typical baggy trousers, huge shoes, tight jacket, derby hat, and carrying the familiar cane. The object is 4 inches high, with traces of blue and brown paint still visible.

Rose O'Neill's famous Kewpie doll stands beside a panelled container of crystal glass. It is 3⅛ inches in height and 2¾ inches in width. Mrs. Gordon also has a Santa Claus going down a chimney, a lantern bearing the patent date of 1904, and an old-time satchel with metal parts and straps clearly defined in glass.

Quaint shapes and nostalgic allusions of old containers for candy lend interest to this hobby collection.

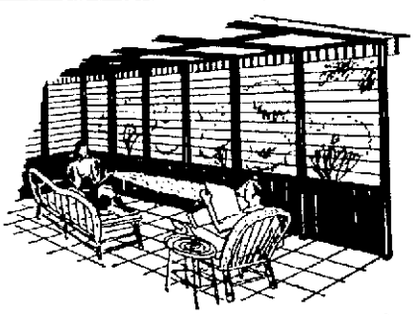

THREE UNUSUAL specimens all contain what Mrs. Gordon believes to be the original brightly-colored candies. They are quite old and are from the Victory Glass Company of Jeanette, Penn.

Faces in the Fronds

By John Ronson

"MAC," who for 12 years operated fishing barges, mostly using Pierpoint Landing as base, is turning into an accomplished wood carver.

It began a couple of years ago when Edward E. McNeil, 1517 E. Fourth St., happened to have a piece of myrtle wood and a pocket knife in his hands.

He carved a giraffe.

It turned out so well that he branched into masks from palm fronds. "You take a frond and keep looking at it, and pretty soon you see a face," he explains. He has made Oriental, Mexican, African and Indian masks, plus cowboys and pirates, and now he is working on a beatnik.

A trip to the desert brought a new appreciation of manzanita, and now he spends a good deal of time looking for gnarled, twisted growths that can be used for interesting planters, table arrangements, wall plaques. "They're good for a lifetime — you can change flowers or plants in them, for varied decoration schemes."

HE CARVES tables, mostly from myrtle wood or monkey pod. One has a lighthouse and a Spanish galleon; another, a realistic frog on a lily pad.

Visitors are interested in two-foot tall cats, vaguely Siamese, with glistening eyes. Some of the cats, and modernistic cranes, appear in wall plaques.

One of McNeil's favorite pieces, is a planter made of a piece of charred cedar picked up on the desert, topped by a manzanita ming tree.

'String Tripod'

Shutterbugs who forget to take along a tripod when a shooting occasion calls for one have found that a simple trick with a bit of heavy cord or fish line will provide a fairly adequate substitute, stopping unsteadiness when a camera is hand-held for even a 1/100-second exposure.

It's done this way: Tie a loop in one end of a string or fish line so that you can slip your foot through it. At about eye-level height tie another loop that you can slip loosely over the top of your camera. With your foot holding one end of the string firmly to the ground, raise the camera upward until the line is taut.

Real-life princess in a Southland castle

Jayne Mansfield Stars at Home, Too!

By Stella George

REAL-LIFE PRINCESS living in a castle is a word picture of Mrs. Mickey Hargitai, internationally famous as Jayne Mansfield. Her home is, in every sense, a castle, from the four-inch white carpeting, velvet couches, and fountain in the living room to the heart-shaped bathtub in one of the 13 bathrooms. (Note: Hargitai is the correct spelling, not the more common "Hargitay." The name is of Hungarian origin.)

Jayne and Mickey live happily with three children, 11 dogs, two cats, one bird, two goats, two burros, and assorted tropical fish. Jayne Marie, 10; Mickey, 2½, and Zoltan, 11 months, are perfect examples of well-bred youngsters.

Jayne Marie and Mickey display manners and breeding far beyond their years, and Zoltan gives every indication of following suit. Jayne's philosophy is, "We believe in smothering them with love, yet at the same time tempering it with stern discipline." Jayne and Mickey practice this philosophy every minute they are with their youngsters.

FROM CANDY, the Great Dane, to M. Oui Oui, the toy poodle, the Hargitai menagerie is an integral part of the household. A not unusual sight in the wooded area of their Hollywood Hills estate is a safari—headed by Jayne, followed by Mickey Jr. and the tail-wagging dogs, with a small goat baaing his way in the rear. Later, one of the tiny Chihuahua puppies frequently receives his baby food while sitting contentedly on Jayne's lap, hand-fed every mouthful. His favorite sleeping spot is the heart-shaped bathtub.

Jayne runs her household with a minimum of help. She prefers and enjoys caring for the children herself. Every inch a movie star in appearance, nevertheless, at the slightest provocation she will engage in a rough-and-tumble act with Mickey Jr., or listen attentively while Jayne Marie plays a tune on her toy grand piano. Politeness is a byword in this home. Jayne insists upon a "Yes, Mother," rather than a simple "Yes" or a slurred "Yeah," from her children. Company behavior is everyday routine.

AS A WIFE, Jayne sees that her husband is head of the house. If a visitor comments upon a handsome room decoration, for example, Jayne usually says, "Oh, that was Mickey's idea." Many husbands might envy the status Mickey has in Jayne's eyes.

Jayne manages to combine an efficient, well-run home life with a highly successful career. She has just finished a new record album based on her recent Las Vegas show, "House of Love." It will come out this month. Her movie, "Too Hot to Handle," will be released in the fall.

Jayne and Mickey starred together in "The Loves of Hercules," which is now a smashing success all over Europe, and which is set for U. S. release this fall. At the present time, while "It Takes a Thief" is playing to packed houses, Jayne has worked on "The Life of George Raft."

FOR PICTURES the studios have occasionally asked her to change her famous blonde tresses from silver to dark brown, but nobody has ever suggested any modification of the renowned Mansfield figure! Blonde or brunette, Jayne has a personality of her own, the charm of which is well known to those who work with her. Not-so-plain Princess Jayne needs no coaching to play her starring role at home surrounded by her husband, children and pets. In this production she is producer, star and critic, as she performs each function with award-winning talent.

Baby of family, Zoltan, gets attention from Jayne while Mickey, 2½, looks on.

Two goats share the family life. Jayne likes animals and enjoys feeding them.

With daughter, Jayne Marie, Jayne goes through her carefully tended scrapbook.

Lionfish is a venomous creature of the scorpion fish family. Long spines in the right hand of Dr. P. R. Saunders (above) of USC, have poison sacs.

Poisonous fish sometimes dress in magnificent colors

Beautiful Killers Beneath the Sea

By Jack B. Kemmerer

RECENTLY, a young man was skin-diving in about 15 feet of water in an atoll of the Marshall Islands. His attention was attracted by an extremely beautiful fish whose movements were deliberate.

He had never seen such a fish. It had beautiful and strikingly colored long fins, long spines, and silky and bushy tenacles on the head, body and fins. The fish's magnificent colors were rich reddish-brown vertical bars, margined with white, with the interspaces a light pink. The fins were barred with reddish-brown and white.

Desiring a better look, the skin-diver reached out and grabbed the slow-swimming fish. And that is where he made a serious mistake, for disguised in such beauty were needle-sharp spines that pierced his skin and injected a poison that could have been fatal. Fortunately for this particular skin-diver, he was able to reach shore and obtain the help of a nearby military doctor within 30 minutes of the injury. He was seriously ill for a day or two and finally recovered. Had aid not been available, the sting might very well have caused his death.

Venom of stonefishes, ugly denizens of the sea, possesses fatal potency.

THE BEAUTIFUL but poisonous fish that stung the swimmer was of a kind commonly called the lionfish or zebrafish and belongs to the very large scorpion fish family. It is not found on either coast of the United States. The lionfish occurs from the Polynesian region in tropical seas on coral reefs westward to eastern Africa, including the Red Sea.

But that's no reason for complacency—many beautiful lionfish can be found in the United States — in the home aquarium! Some tropical fish stores have imported the lionfish not knowing of its deadly nature. In recent months there has been a case of lionfish poisoning in Beverly Hills and two in New York City. Undoubtedly there are more cases across the country that were incorrectly diagnosed by doctors not familiar with the venom secreted by the deadly lionfish.

The U. S. Navy became seriously alarmed by the numerous cases of poisoning from creatures of the sea. The Office of Naval Research instituted a contract to study the field closely. Heading up the program is Dr. Paul R. Saunders of the University of Southern California's School of Medicine's Department of Pharmacology. Beginning his research in 1956, Dr. Saunders traveled thousands of miles and spent many hours in both the sea and his laboratory in collecting and studying poisonous specimens.

His work has been primarily concerned with both the lionfish and stonefish of the scorpion fish family and a group of marine snails belonging to the genus Conus.

Dr. Saunders went to the Marshall Islands and Singapore to obtain live stonefish and to study them in the field. The stonefish, an ugly monster looking just like an old, weathered stone, has 13 poisonous spikes down its back that can cause extreme pain and even death.

STONEFISH occur around rock or coral, or in sandy areas. They lie, usually, partially buried in the sand and are so effectively camouflaged that they blend perfectly with their background and are seldom noticed until stepped upon. Each of the 13 dorsal spines possess two large venom sacs and when puncture wounds are inflicted by the very sharp spines venom apparently diffuses into the wound.

The initial symptom is excruciating pain which originates at the wound and then spreads rapidly, soon involving the entire limb.

A noted ichthyologist, J. L. B. Smith, was accidentally stung on the thumb by two spines of a stonefish. Smith, in describing the pain, said it was of an intensity never before experienced and the injection of morphine had no apparent affect upon the pain. When the stings have been bad enough and considerable venom diffused into the wounds, death has been reported in several cases.

THE THIRD GROUP of poisonous sea animals being investigated by Dr. Saunders is the Conus genus of marine snails. From all reports these snails possess one of the most virulent but least studied venoms existing in the animal world.

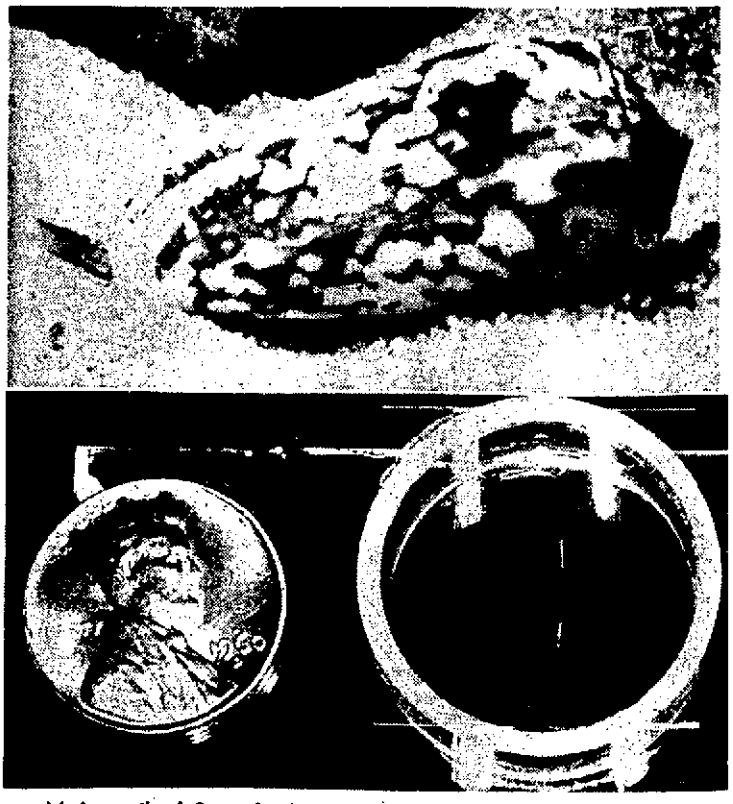

Conus, more commonly called cone shells or just plain cones, is a very large family with about 12 species on the Atlantic Coast and one specie on the Pacific Coast. None of the species carry a venom lethal to humans. There are species, however, that possess a very lethal venom and numerous cases of fatal stings to humans have been reported.

The lethal species of cones, about six in number, are found in tropical waters and at least two—the striated and the textile cones—are found in Hawaii. There have been several non-fatal cases of stings from the textile cone and none from the striated cone reported in Hawaii. Stings from several of the non-lethal species of cones have also been reported in the Hawaiian Islands.

While the poisonous cones apparently do not deliberately attack, they're extremely dangerous because they bury themselves in the sand in shallow waters and are often stepped upon. They are also a very beautiful shell and most cases of stings have been reported when they were picked up to admire. Natives of the South Pacific have been stung by a cone snail and died within two hours.

THE POISONOUS nature of these cones has been known for many years and the Dutch naturalist, G. E. Rumphius, reported several centuries ago on a case he had witnessed. Rumphius wrote, "It is suspected as venomous from the experience in Banda of a female slave. She kept this shell in her hand after she had picked it up when

The corner filling station has come a long way in 50 years

'Fill 'Er Up!'

By Frank L. Remington

WHEN A HIGHWAY PATROL car recently flagged him down, a Midwest motorist was in for a surprise. "Don't worry, you haven't broken any laws," the officers reassured him.

And then came the shocker: "But you did leave something at that service station about 50 miles back—your wife!"

While at the filling station, it developed, the driver's wife had left the car to freshen up. After paying his bill, the man had driven off. Somewhat miffed, the wife explained her plight to the dealer, who promptly notified the highway patrol. About an hour later the unsuspecting husband was located. "I thought you were asleep in the back seat," he sheepishly explained to his wife when he returned to the service station.

Such incidents are not too rare among the experienced filling station operators. The service rendered in this case is just one of the myriad ways the gas station men aid motorists. In a normal day, they not only sell gas, oil and accessories but throw in a multitude of gratis services: checking tires, batteries and radiators, and giving road information.

MOTORISTS once had to get along without service stations for the very good reason that none existed. In that pioneering era, the "devil wagon" owner stacked his vehicle high with extra cans of gasoline. The five-gallon can was the nation's service station and the motorist was his own attendant. If his vehicle sputtered and ran out of gas along the highway, it was usually a case of "get a horse."

Before his tank registered empty, however, the driver could usually locate a bicycle store or blacksmith shop that stocked gasoline. More often than not, the storekeeper grumbled at the necessity of cranking gas from a roadside or portable pump, and many times a customer had to wait for service until the blacksmith finished shoeing a horse.

The early-day car owner usually bought his gasoline, oil and grease from the grocery or hardware store. Often he purchased gasoline in bulk and stored it in a tank in his own back yard. From there he transferred it to his automobile tank as needed, straining it through a chamois to catch foreign material.

JUST WHO established the first real service station remains somewhat of an enigma. However, almost 50 years ago John McClean, an ingenious Seattle sales manager for Standard Oil of California, thought something ought to be done to eliminate the back-breaking and dangerous maneuver by which a five-gallon tank was up-ended over a funnel set in the gasoline tank of a horseless carriage.

McClean had no special pump or meter, but he knew about the law of gravity. So he had one of his engineers install a 30-gallon hot water tank alongside the main plant gate. The bottom of the tank was set on a platform at eye level and to it was fixed a hose with a faucet-like valve. The gasoline was drawn by gravity from the main storage tank through water pipes leading in under a planked surface on the driveway. Probably this was America's first service station.

McClean's new station served about 15 cars daily at first, but he quickly built up a trade of more than 300 daily. Because this was Seattle's only station and people were already beginning to get the weekend driving habit, Saturday might see a line of cars nearly three blocks long.

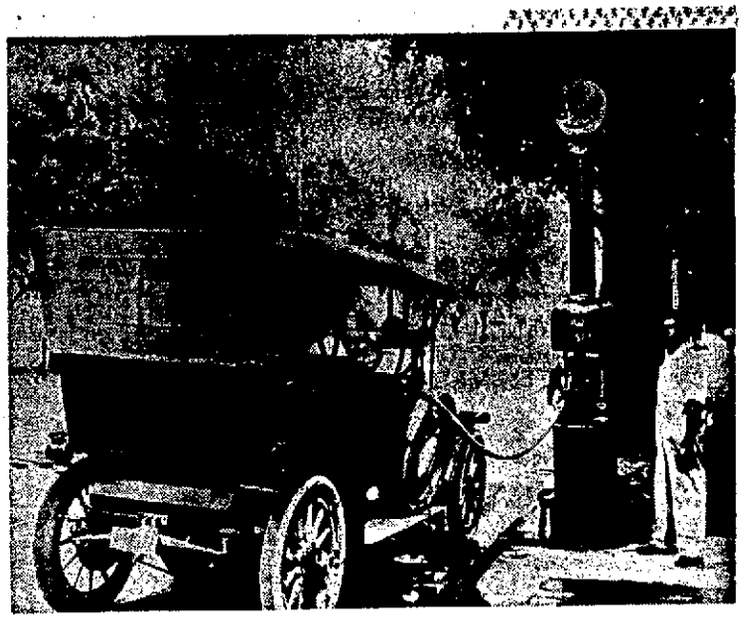

FREE SERVICE was unknown in those days and the motorist did just about everything for himself. As a matter of fact, for some time after the service station idea had established itself generally, it was felt that an offer to polish the windshield was a reflection on the individual motorist's habits of cleanliness.

The station offered only gasoline and oil—and kerosene, for the "steamers," which burned this product. If a motorist wanted a tire changed or some other service he didn't want to do himself, he went to a blacksmith.

In Los Angeles, the Union Oil Co. inaugurated one of the earliest services for motorists about 1913 at Union's Los Angeles Terminal. Primarily a depot for the storage and distribution of fuel oil, it boasted 30 horse-drawn tank wagons and 72 horses. The yard contained a row of 50-gallon gasoline tanks. On each was painted the name of an automobile owner. When he needed gas, the customer simply piloted his car to his designated tank and filled up.

A bit later, Union Oil's first service station opened for business in a small shack with two one-gallon hand pumps. When a customer pulled up for service, the attendant stretched the hose across the sidewalk to the tank under the automobile seat. A slow cranking of a pump handle transferred a gallon of gas at a time from a drum.

By 1920, the United States supported some 15,000 service stations and today the number has mushroomed to around 202,000, or one for every 271 cars, trucks and buses. In the aggregate, they sell a daily 100 million gallons of gasoline. And American motorists spend close to $10 billion a year on the stuff. It's a one-horse town, indeed, that can't boast at least one filling station. A high percentage of service stations these days are operated by local proprietors who either lease or own the facilities outright.

"Filtered gasolene" was the offering from this curbside pump at an early day service station. Operator could lower the hood to lock up at night.

LIKE THE automobile it services, the gasoline pump also has undergone a continuing revision until today it is a sleek, efficient device that the average motorist takes for granted. It has no resemblance to the early method of spigot-in-a-barrel, or a glass measuring bowl and a hand pump.

Some 2,000 service stations across the nation cater to the nine million trucks that roll on America's highways, offering highly specialized service and equipment. King-sized truck stops may include restaurants, showers and bunkhouses for drivers. One of the world's largest such installations in Bakersfield spreads over seven acres, employs 200 persons and was built at a cost of $750,000.

Competition is keen in most areas and service has become a by-word with filling station operators. Some enterprising proprietors have built up large centers around the basic business of gas and oil, including full lines of automotive equipment from cotter pins to tires, garage facilities, cafes, notions counters and what-have-you.

RELIEF THAT prayer mixes well with gas and oil as a motorist wends his way through traffic has led I. W. Tucker of Wynnewood, Okla., to install a tiny chapel on his premises. While motorists pause in the chapel —some 25 to 50 make use of it each day—Tucker services their cars.

Some stations at remote crossroads have developed into community centers, attracting patronage from miles around to dance on Saturday nights to the tunes of juke boxes.

One such operator was even equal to the occasion when a couple wheeled into his station, exhibited a wedding license and asked for a parson. A phone call located a minister and soon the wedding took place with gas pumps for an altar.

And then, there's the sign at a combination service station and snack bar on U. S. 66 which reads: "Eat Here and Get Gas!"

Gravity was employed by most pioneer filling stations to get fuel into auto tanks, gas having been previously hoisted into containers by hand.

Glass at left provides a view of the sea from living room and dining area of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milkes. View above is taken from point in living room.

THOSE FAMILIAR with the neighborhood know that the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milkes, 3051 E. Ocean Blvd., looks out across the east beach park and bluff and the view is to the photographer's infinity—limited only by atmospheric conditions. To capitalize on this magnificent spectacle, the Milkes home has exterior glass walls beneath wide overhang of roof to shield the interior from glare.

A wide porch runs along the front and along the side in front of the glass walls. The "front" entrance is actually on the side near the rear. Here the entry hall has access to the kitchen on the right, hallway to the bedrooms on the left, and the main living quarters straight ahead and to the right rear.

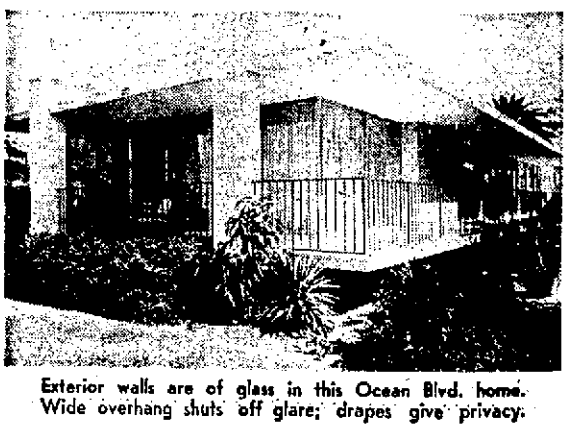

CHAMPAGNE carpeting is used throughout, adding a feeling of even greater space to an already large home. Living room and dining room form a great L, with the dining room and a portion of the living room in the front of the home. The latter is furnished in bold, daring colors, reflecting exquisite, impeccable taste. Twin purple satin chairs flank a long, off-white couch. With a highly dramatic effect, an avocado sectional couch (out-sized like the other one) backs the window corner. Thus, there are two living room conversation corners. At the far end of the living room is the den, separated by a shoji screen, which, when folded back gives an even greater expanse to the living room area. Closed, it forms a cozy den-family room with all necessities such as comfortable couch and TV set as well as a desk.

Accessories are as handsome as the larger pieces of furniture, the Italian marble coffee table, for example. The dark wood of the dining set complements the white carpeting and drapes. The Russian samovar on one low table in the dining room dates back to an interesting history in that land. Mrs. Milkes uses it for entertaining today.

THERE ARE two bedrooms in the home, the master bedroom and another, nearly as large. The former is almost a bed-sitting room, with plenty of space for a couch and coffee table as well as an out-sized bed and dressers.

The larger bathroom has an interesting decor, as does the smaller one. Closets in the former are entirely covered with mirrors, making one wall entirely mirrored.

Sometimes, even in some of the most luxurious of homes, the kitchen becomes a step-

child in relation to the rest of the rooms. In the case of the Milkes' home, however, the kitchen is as attractive as the other rooms. It has ample cupboard space. Walnut wood is used for finish.

The architects, Killingsworth, Brady and Smith, designed the home which is made to order for the location. The glass walls alone add an individual touch of glamour and beauty.

The roof of the home is a large sun-deck. The garden in the rear is quiet and restful, perfect for the grandchildren who frequently come to visit.

Handy Shelves Are Easily Made

NBC's Judy Meredith finds these little shelves handy.

ALMOST every home needs more shelf space. In the bathroom shelves are handy for cosmetics, perfumes, a hand towel and things of that kind. In the kitchen they may be used for spices, measuring spoons, paper towels and miscellaneous items. You might even make one to be used in your den or bedroom for knick-knacks or trophies; the shelves are very versatile.

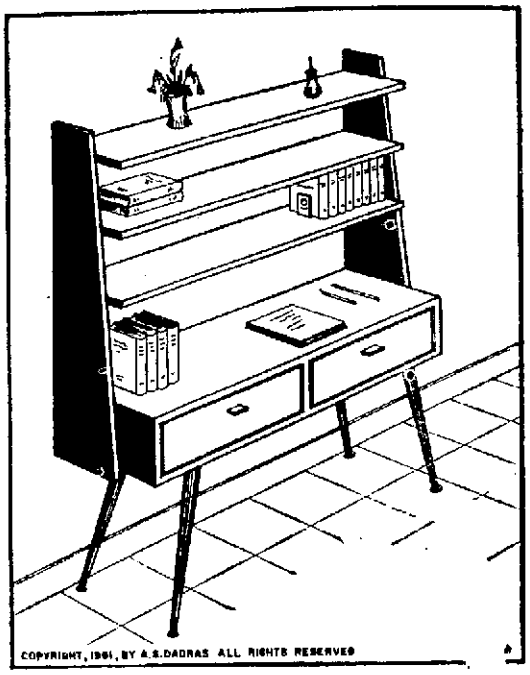

In any case, they may be built easily and at practically no cost when you use full-size patterns. All that's necessary is to trace the full size patterns on wood, then saw out the parts and finally put them together. The pattern shows different variations (see photo) so that you can make any one or all of them. Simple hand tools are all you need. The patterns were designed to be used by inexperienced amateurs. A few scraps of wood make up the materials.

To obtain the full-size patterns No. 172 for making multi-purpose shelves, send 50c in coin to Steve Ellingson, Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif.

ARCHITECT'S Sketchbook

This modern secretary can be useful in the home.

TODAY'S PROBLEM: Can a person without much experience with tools make an attractive piece of furniture?

DESIGNER URSULA M. S. DADRAS of New York City answers:

One of the benefits for the do-it-yourselfer of having modern taste is that with its classic simplicity of line, modern furniture is far more easy to build at home than older, heavily decorated styles.

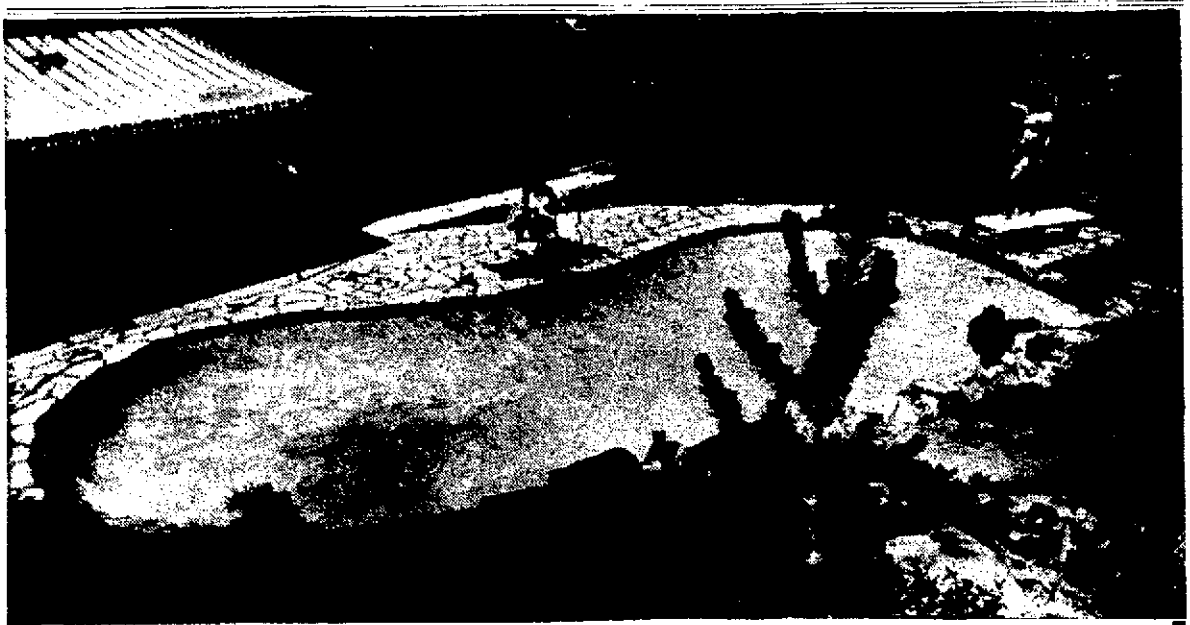

For instance, the secretary shown here — with a wide writing surface, convenient bookshelves and two handy drawers — would look good anywhere in a home. Yet it is so easy to build anyone who can hammer a nail can do it. Only tools required are a saw, carpenter's square, measuring tape, screwdriver, nail punch and hammer. The sawing can be eliminated by having your lumber dealer cut parts to specifications given in the plan.

PLYWOOD — fir or hardwood veneer — is used on desk top and bottom; clear pine or hardwood for risers and shelves. Legs are bought ready-made and screw into mounting brackets.

To order, send name, address and 50 cents to Building Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 6th & Pine, Long Beach 12, Calif., and specify Modern Secretary Plan S-19.

Tomato Ring Is Cool

Jellied tomato ring is a good dish for warm weather, easily made and with a cool approach to the taste buds.

By Mildred K. Flanary

Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

FOODS THAT look cool and taste cool tempt a family's flagging appetite on hot days. This bit of elementary psychology works beautifully with, for example, a jellied tomato ring mold, colorfully garnished and served with a cool, creamy cucumber sauce.

This particular recipe is quick and easy to make because it features a handy package of tomato soup mix.

Jellied Tomato Ring

1 package tomato soup mix
2 cups water
2½ tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped celery leaves
1 tablespoon brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 small bay leaf
2 whole cloves
4 teaspoon unflavored gelatin softened in ½ cup cold water
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
½ cup finely diced celery

Stir soup mix into water; add onion, celery leaves, brown sugar, salt, bay leaf, and cloves. Bring to a boil and simmer 5 minutes stirring occasionally. Strain through a fine sieve. Stir in softened gelatin and lemon juice. Chill until partially set. Add celery. Pour into quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold onto a serving plate and garnish with greens. Serve with Creamy Cucumber Sauce. Makes six servings.

Creamy Cucumber Sauce

½ pint sour cream
⅓ cup finely chopped cucumber
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1½ teaspoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon horseradish

Combine all ingredients. Chill and serve with Jellied Tomato Ring.

Making Room for the Teen-Agers

By Jacqueline Myers

FAMILIES with girls often are faced with the sudden discovery that the daughters are growing up and that formerly adequate storage spaces no longer fill the bill. Usually the situation results because of the change in clothing and toys to the accouterments of sub-teens and teen-agers.

Among the most difficult items to store are the voluminous, stiff, unyielding petticoats and the huge, unyielding purses. The wide, fancy belts and the many shoes are a problem, too.

The following suggestions can create a satisfying increase of storage area out of wasted space, virtually out of thin air.

The upper part of a closet is a mass of available space. Use it!

DRIVE large-size staples directly into the ceiling of the closet and hook the petticoat hanger through the staple. Allow at least 2½ feet between the staples so the petticoats won't be crowded and crushed. A yardstick with a small V cut in one end makes a handy tool for raising and lowering the hangers. Or if the girl prefers, a stool or chair to stand on will give her height enough. Added bonus: a beautiful display of ruffles and lace.

Shoe bags, cup hooks and doors seem to go together. Fifty cents worth of cup hooks and the otherwise bare surface of two doors can provide storage space for all the purses any two girls can possibly accumulate. Screw the cup hooks into the inside of the door, taking into account the shapes and sizes of the purses to be dealt with. Be careful not to put the hooks too close to either edge of the door. Hang each purse by its handle from a hook. Cup hooks for hanging belts can be fitted in among the purses near the top of the door or can be screwed into many little wasted areas of the closet itself.

WHEN SHOES are no longer outgrown and thrown away every three to six weeks they begin to add up alarmingly. Assuming that the closet doors are now taken up with purses and belts consider the bedroom side of the bedroom door. Shoe bags either made of some attractive, durable fabric or bought at the notions counter can be fitted two to a door, one above the other, and give the room a blessed neatness. Each shoe bag provides storage space for from four to six pairs of shoes. Not nearly enough? Don't be afraid to move out of the girls' room and down the hall to the linen closet. Space for two more bags on the inside of that door. Keep the less used shoes here . . . the spike heels, the medium heels, the still - good - for - next-summer shoes and the rainy weather shoes. If there are pockets left unused they make excellent storage for some of the trinkets and gadgets each girl is bound to have.

BEVERLY HILLS prides itself on having the best of everything for its citizens. Proof of this is found in a new bus stop.

King of the Cats

By Eleanor Avery Price

HE'S A beautiful Seal-Point Siamese cat, and he's the southwestern regional merit highest scoring neuter for the 1960-1961 season, 15 times best neuter in show. His name is Neuter Triple Champion and Double Premier Docia's Scram-Pi. The proud owner is Barbara B. Woods, 1502 Cartagena St.

The Siamese cat is the most popular of all pedigreed felines, outnumbering all other breeds at shows. New colors are gradually appearing, but the Seal-Point still tops his cousins, the proportion of Seals often being more than the Blue-Points, Chocolate Points, and Lilac-Points put together. The Seal-Point's coat is cream or oyster white, with a few almost gray, and very few fawn. Points are Van Dyke brown, a deep dark brown that is almost black. Eyes, of course, are blue.

The Blue-Point Siamese was the second color recognized by the various cat associations. There are some in the fancy who believe the coloring was obtained artificially. However, since blue mutation appears at times in other animals, this is not necessarily true. Points of the Blue are cobalt, and the nose leather has similar pigmentation. Sometimes the pads are pinkish gray. The body is bluish white or ice blue, almost like skim-milk, with some shading on chest and belly. If the cat is kept outdoors in warm weather, the coat may appear fawn tinged, but this disappears.

The Blue-Point Siamese shows to advantage when viewed in daylight. The fancy humorously refer to him as the ugly duckling of the Siamese family, since he takes time to mature to his true striking beauty.

THE CHOCOLATE-POINT, new since 1939, is often mistaken for a Seal-Point, because the young resemble each other except for nose leather and footpads. In the Chocolate, the nose is warm brown and the pads are pinkish.

Palest of Siamese is the Lilac-Point or Frost-Point. Points are silvery or platinum in color, with ears like "pink champagne" since the rosy hue of blood shines through.

The Red-Point is a fairly new addition to the list of Siamese show cats. Coat is pale, points reddish orange, ginger, or marmalade. Nose-tips are brick-pink. This cat probably came from a deliberate crossing of a Siamese and red tabby, although a few have appeared by chance. The cat is considered odd in that he has introduced a pigment new to his breed.

Cropping up with the Red-Points are the Tortoiseshell-Point females. These cats are quaint but sensational.

Diet, drinking water, grooming, and climatic conditions have an effect on tone and color of Siamese cats. If you own a Siamese of whatever color, see that it has nourishing warm food, fresh water, space for exercise, daily grooming and massage, warm and clean quarters, a shady area where he won't sunburn.

now—your dog can take pills to stay tick and flea free all season long

imagine a pill that kills fleas, lice, even ticks

Veterinarians now have ECTORAL, the incredible new pill your dog simply takes with his food. ECTORAL works from the inside out to kill fleas, lice, even ticks that come in contact with your dog. Just one dose of ECTORAL every week can control these parasites all season long.

ECTORAL is the most nearly external parasites ever had—an extraordinarily effective way to get rid of ticks, fleas and lice. It was tested for over two years by veterinarians in every region of the United States. Even though ECTORAL is more effective, it is just as economical as old-fashioned powders or sprays—and far more convenient.

During warm weather, disease-carrying parasites lurk everywhere, waiting to attack your dog. Ticks hide in weeds and brush. Fleas hide between floor boards, in the dog's bedding, under rugs. And any passing dog may be carrying these parasites.

Now—all season long—you can keep these troublesome, dangerous pests under control—with ECTORAL. Your veterinarian will tell you how to use ECTORAL. (You can find his address under "Veterinarians" in the yellow pages of the telephone directory.)

BOOK REVIEWS

Killer Sharks That Lurk California's Coast

THE SIGHT of a dorsal fin slashing through the surface of the sea has struck terror in the heart of man since time immemorial.

Globe-trotting author Thomas Helm has dispersed much of the superstition, myth and fancy surrounding the shark family in "SHARK: Unpredictable Killer of the Sea" (Dodd, Mead, $4).

Helm tells the complete story of the shark, his origin and history, and describes (with illustrations) the most important species.

The author also details authentic accounts of shark attacks, including recent California tragedies at San Francisco, La Jolla and Morro Bay. In all he documents 11 Southern California and seven Northern California attacks.

Helm describes commercial shark fishing and tells about other "bad actors" of the sea such as the barracuda who have been blamed for shark attacks.

In a dramatic section he describes personal experiences hunting and fishing these denizens of the deep and explains the latest in scientific research to aid man to meet this age-old menace.

The Lindbergh Baby: 29 Years Dead

By Vera Williams
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

IF CHARLES Augustus Lindbergh Jr. still were living, he would be 30 years old —five years older than his famous father was when he flew the Atlantic alone in the Spirit of St. Louis.

He would be the same age as Col. Lindbergh was when his curly-haired, blond son was snatched from his crib in the Lindbergh home near Hopewell, N. J., the windy night of March 1, 1932.

The tragic story of the kidnaping, the finding of the child's body the next May 12 in the woods near the Lindbergh home, the relentless hunt for the kidnaper and slayer, the trial and execution of Bruno Hauptmann is recapitulated in "KIDNAP, The Story of the Lindbergh Case," by George Waller (Dial, $6.95.)

Waller, a journalism student at Temple University at the time of the kidnaping, has devoted years to research of the case, reading stacks of old newspapers, investigation reports, court records, interviewing persons who conceivably might have information.

He presents again the old question that baffled the world at the time: Why was the 20-month-old child, ill with a cold, left alone for two hours without being checked, when he had a nurse?

How could a stranger, unacquainted with the house, pick the child's upstairs bedroom, prop a ladder against the wall, enter by the only window with a defective shutter, and carry out the child? Why didn't the child cry? Why didn't the dog bark?

Why did a maid employed by Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh, living nearby, commit suicide when she faced police questioning?

How did a flock of outsiders get into the act, with various bizarre stories of contact with the kidnapers?

Why would Hauptman, a a reputable carpenter, build a sleazy ladder, using for one section a board allegedly sawed from the floor of the attic of his home?

Hauptmann, traced through possession of part of the $50,000 ransom paid by Lindbergh, insisted on his innocence, and said the money was entrusted into his keeping by a German friend, who since had died.

Perhaps Hauptmann was guilty. Perhaps he was the ONLY guilty person. But apparently Waller, the same as many others, would like some of the questions answered.

WHEN STEPHEN Crane was 23, and never had seen a battle, he astounded the literary world with "The Red Badge of Courage," one of the best war stories of all time. The same year, a poignant book of verse, "The Black Riders," poured from his pen. In his 10th novel, Louis Zara has written an unforgettable fictionized biography of Crane, "DARK RIDER" (World, $6.95.) It describes the imaginative child on a New Jersey seashore who sees great horses and riders in the waves; the writer who begins his career with "Maggie: A Girl of the Streets," and it includes Crane's filibustering activities in Cuba, tempestuous alliance with golden-haired Cora, madam of a Jacksonville brothel.

PAUL SMITH

This young Dublin writer is compared favorably with Sean O'Casey in a fine novel, "THE COUNTRYWOMAN" (Scribner, $4.50), about Molly Baines who rears family and friends in the slums of Dublin.

LEWIS LITTLEPAGE, 18th century American adventurer and diplomat is the subject of a full-length biography, "The KING'S CHEVALIER," by Curtis Carroll Davis (Bobbs-Merrill, $7.50). Littlepage, born into the Virginia aristocracy in 1762, joined John Jay in Spain and embarked on a career that brought him into close contact with Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, King Stanislaus II of Poland, Catherine the Great, Voltaire and Rousseau. Incidentally, it was George Washington who invented the phrase, "Lewis Littlepage slept here."

JOYCE CARY'S "AN AMERICAN VISITOR," which first appeared in 1933 in England, is published for the first time in America (Harper, $3.95.) It is the story of Marie Hasluck, American journalist touring tropical Africa, caught up in a tribal war. Harper also plans to publish "Castle Corner," "Aissa Saved" and "The African Witch" at one-year intervals, thereby making all of Cary's novels available in this country.

IF YOU CAN'T go to the East and live among its people, a short cut is to read "GIFTS OF PASSAGE" by Santha Rama Rau (Harper, $4.95.) The Hindu woman who wrote "This is India," "East of Home" and "Home to India" does an excellent job of interpreting the East to the West. She tells how the other half—actually far more than half—lives and thinks.

She tells about exotic places, she tells about missionaries, and she traces a link between psychiatry and native "superstition."

The most moving chapter, probably, is the final one in which she describes her return to India after a visit to Russia, contrasting the naturalness of her own people with the single-mindedness of Russians.

SOUTHLAND TRAVELER

Where the Forest Meets the Sky

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Travel Editor

YOU GO for a weekend, perhaps, and when you leave you vow to yourself that maybe next year you'll spend your entire vacation there.

That's Flagstaff, whose altitude of almost 7,000 feet gives it just the kind of climate you're looking for in hot fall weather.

But that's only part of the picture. It's a delight to drive in any direction from Flagstaff, through cool pines to awesome canyons, Indian ruins, volcanic landscapes, interesting museums — or to fish!

Take your camera, by all means.

And when you make the little sidetrips, pack a lunch. The huge ponderosa pine forests stretching out in every direction provide ideal picnic spots. Lake Mary and Mormon Lake, southeast of the city, also are pocketed in forests. Just eastward, on the very rim of the trees is horseshoe-shaped Walnut Canyon where a national monument protects ancient cliff dwellings sandwiched among rocky crevices. Northward, the pines give way to grotesque lava fields and the huge cinder cone of Sunset Crater National Monument where, among the oddities, are perpetual ice caves.

ANOTHER DRIVE — less than 100 miles—takes you to the Grand Canyon.

Scenic drives abound. One is a trip over the Schulz Pass Road between the towering San Francisco Peaks and Elden Mountains. It's a loop trip that can easily be made as part of the sightseeing in the region of Arizona's highest mountains.

To the south lies fabled Oak Creek Canyon, a 12-mile-long recreation and fishing area, in a setting of dramatic red rock buttes and precipices.

THE MUSEUM of Northern Arizona and Lowell Observatory add a cultural note to the Flagstaff scene, and there are many historical spots worthy of a visit.

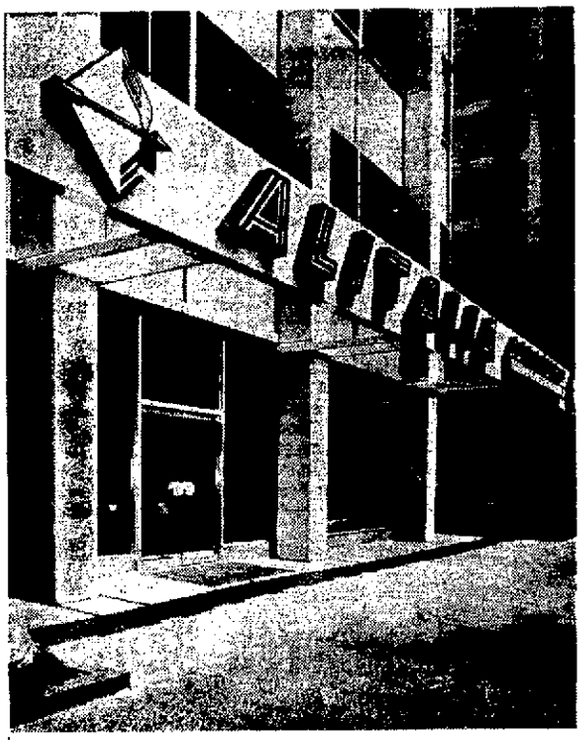

You get to Flagstaff from Long Beach via Hwy. 66; or, by taking a more leisurely way over Hwy. 60 to Phoenix —a superb city to visit in itself; north on Hwy. 69 from Phoenix to Prescott, and then switching to Hwy. 89 or Hwy. 89-Alt. There are many fine motels in the area.

AIRLINE CHATTER: Pan Am now offers three jet air tours to Hawaii. One includes seven days and six nights at $310.50, plus applicable taxes, per person and includes aloha greeting, Honolulu airport transfers, hotel (double occupancy), Mt. Tantalus drive, island tour of Oahu . . . Twice-weekly connecting service between San Francisco and Manila will be offered, beginning Nov. 2, by British Overseas Airways Corp. Flying time, 19 hours, with operations Tuesdays and Thursdays . . . Canadian Pacific Airlines has been granted rights to fly into London, from Vancouver, B. C., on its Polar Route via Calgary, Edmonton and Gander . . . A former Trans World Airlines hostess, Doreen Willis, has been crowned "Miss Visit U.S.A." as a tribute to her preeminence as a leading authority in Europe on travel to the New World.

WEEKEND GADABOUTS:

Sept. 6-9: Once a stagecoach stop in San Gorgonio Pass, Banning celebrates Stagecoach Days with townspeople dressed in attire of the 1890s, dancing, western play, and big parade at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Sept. 10: A big event now in its 31st year is La Jolla's Ocean Swim and Aqua Festival. Opens with Pacific Coast Paddleboard Championships at 11 a.m. Main race over triangular course from Swimming Cove begins at 2 p.m.

DESIGNED IN A MODERN ITALIAN theme, this new city ticket office has been opened by Alitalia Airlines at 617 S. Grand Ave., Los Angeles. The Italian airline maintained its color identification by utilizing blue and white in the various appointments. The opening is another step in the expansion of Alitalia, which now has more than 30 offices in North America alone, according to Gerald Orlin, district sales manager.

Killers Beneath the Sea

hauling in the seine at sea. As she went to the beach she felt a faint tickling sensation in her hand which crept slowly through her entire body—she died on the spot!"

Dr. Saunders spent considerable time in the field studying the deadly cone snails and also brought back live specimens to his laboratory in Los Angeles. According to Dr. Saunders, the snail does its fatal stinging with a hollow tooth in the end of its proboscis. The proboscis remains within the snail's shell until the cone is ready to feed. At that time, the proboscis is extended out of the snail's mouth, and its length often approximates that of the shell. To sting, the hollow tooth must come into contact with the victim and the venom is then released. Some cones, such as the textile cone, eat only other snails while others like the striated and geographic cones eat small fish.

The fish-eating cones have a small barb on the tooth so that when they sting a fish it can't get away, being held firmly to the cone by means of the barb until the venom takes effect. The venom acts almost instantly and can kill a small fish within a few seconds. The cones will eat a fish one-half their own size in about 20 seconds and can eat a fish slightly bigger than itself in two or three minutes. They swallow their victims whole. These cones have been known to reach sizes of six inches in length.

Dr. Saunders says his project is a continuing one and much work is still to be accomplished before scientists know the inner secrets of the numerous species of poisonous animals to be found in the sea.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

". . . if you could advise a hotel in Tokyo?"

THE IMPERIAL is the famous, older Frank Lloyd Wright hotel. It has a modern annex, Western-style rooms, air conditioning (you need it in Tokyo summer), $9 to $12 double, up to $50 or $100 for de luxe suites.

The newer Nikkatsu is a couple of floors of hotel in a modern office building. Same rates, same locality.

The New Japan is very new and has a night club, The Latin Quarter, adjoining.

There are smaller, less expensive Western hotels such as the Dai Ichi that are quite good.

My personal preference is the Japanese hotel or ryokan.

Best in Tokyo is the Fukuda-ya where rates are the same as the Western hotels and you get breakfast and dinner.

A letter to the Japan Tourist Association will get you a list of ryokans. Anything rated at about 3,000 yen a day ($8.50) is first class.

Expect to arrive in Tokyo without reservations for these—travel agencies don't seem to have contact with them. Stay at a Western-style hotel and have the desk clerk call and get a room at the ryokan.

Get a dictionary. Nobody will speak English at the Japanese hotel. But the atmosphere and comfort and service is well worth it.

"Anything you can advise us on good restaurants?"

I HAVE a list of restaurants on a "Travel Tips in Japan" sheet. (Send 10 cents and self-addressed, large envelope to Chronicle Features, 821 Market St., San Francisco.)

A list of restaurants is no good without telephone numbers. Not a taxi driver in Tokyo is able to find your restaurant. For the simple reason the streets are not named and houses not numbered.

Get your taxi driver. Give him the written phone number and a 10-yen piece. Make a motion like telephoning and say "denwa" (telephone).

He gets on the phone and the restaurant gives him directions he will understand—"near such-and-such bridge, across the street from a yellow house, etc."

". . . and any other tips you can think of on Japan?"

No tipping in Japan. Don't tip waiters or waitresses—a percentage is on your bill and there is no need or custom for any additional as in Europe.

Don't tip cab drivers or doormen.

Exceptions: In Western-style hotels, tip the boy who brings baggage up and down 100 yen per person (not per bag). That's 27 cents.

Tip barbers and beauty parlor operators in Western shops 100 yen.

GOING PLACES — —with the Sloanes

Q. "WHAT EXACTLY is a 'pension' in Europe and how does one go about booking a reservation in one?"—Mrs. E. S., San Francisco.

A. A pension is what we would call a guest house tourist home in this country, with the exception that most provide meals also. They have the same advantages and drawbacks of a tourist home: intimacy and coziness, often excellent food, but a limited number of rooms, simple equipment, and rarely private baths.

Booking them is, of course, the big problem. The better ones are well booked by regulars. As for travel agents, this is one field where it is difficult for them to help you because these places rarely advertise or promote; most of their business is word of mouth. Thus if you can get the word from someone, take it and write direct.

Q. "Can you recommend so-called scheduled supplemental air carriers? A number of people I've spoken to are satisfied. What's the catch?" —W. W., Los Angeles.

A. Non-scheduled airlines are known as supplemental carriers today. The catch is the same as it always was: you can never be sure when they are leaving, even if they advertise schedules. Their lower fares are predicated on full loads—which the scheduled airlines don't count on—and if they don't have one, you may wait around until they do.

Q. "Do you think it would be out of place to have a box of food (such as the children like) shipped to our hotel in Hong Kong?"—Mrs. L. P. C., Oroville, Calif.

A. No, but it's scarcely necessary. You can buy anything in Hong Kong that you can in any other cosmopolitan city, and a great deal more.

Q. "Is it as appropriate for a man to wear a black tuxedo as a white dinner jacket at a resort or on a cruise?" — O. W., Eureka, Ill.

A. Yes. And a shade more sophisticated.

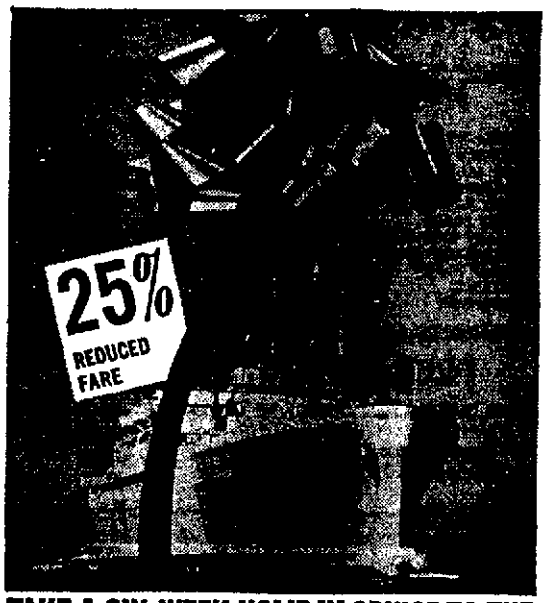

Q. "Can you tell us exactly what attachments are necessary to use an electric iron and shaver in Europe?" — Mrs. D. E. D., Compton, Calif.

A. Almost every country has a different setup for plug outlets. Your best bet is to consult your appliance dealer and get an adjustable plug.

Personally, we prefer to borrow irons and shave wet.

Q. "I am interested in taking boys, 7 and 10, on a western vacation where they can see cattle branded, enjoy a rodeo, ride and otherwise have their young imaginations stirred. What can you suggest?"—Mrs. E. M. S., Minneapolis, Minn.

A. What you want is a working ranch, and the area around Tucson, Ariz., is particularly thick with them. Your travel agent can advise you best on this score.

Green Up Your Lawn for Winter

To maintain a rich, green lawn over the years requires continuing care and occasional renovation and reseeding.

By Joe Littlefield

LAWNS that are thickly matted with devil grass, lawns that are thin and sparse, ones that were attacked by lawn moth worms during the summer and are thin and spotty looking may all be improved and greened up for the winter season.

But don't rush the lawn renovation yet. If you re-do the lawn and sow seeds while the weather is till hot, you may not only get an infestation of lawn moth worms, but also a germination of crab grass from fresh seeds that ripened on existing mature weeds.

Wait till the end of first week of October to do the lawn. You have much less likelihood of lawn moth worm or crab grass seed infestation because the nights are becoming colder, the worms and seed go dormant for the winter.

WEEDY LAWNS that need drastic renovation should not be chopped off with a hoe, or churned up drastically. Do that, and you may have a still worse weed infested lawn next summer, because you may turn up weed seeds that lay dormant in the soil, weeds you didn't know existed in the lawn soil.

There are two effective ways to re-do a poor lawn. One is to use a strong power mower to "scalp" or mow the lawn close to the soil, then re-seed, and top dress with fine mulch material.

Another more effective way is to treat the existing lawn with one of two types of materials. One of them gases the soil, kills all existing grass and devil grass (bermuda) supposedly down to the tip ends of their roots, kills soil pests, and disinfects the soil. About a month later, simply scratch up the soil, sow the seeds and cover with fine mulch for lawns.

The other material is one that kills back the weeds but does not completely kill devil grass, and kills the lawn. A month later, the lawn is sown and top dressed. By that time a second action takes place, the material has broken down and nitrogen feeds the lawn!

SHOULD YOU wish to use one of these two materials, consult your local nurseryman and read carefully the directions for application. Keep materials away from trees and shrubs. Also, apply the material at once in order to have the lawn ready for seeding in early October.

When re-seeding the lawn, sow five to seven pounds of grass seed mixture your local nurseryman recommends per each 1,000 square feet. Rake in lightly. Cover with five sacks of fine mulch material to same given area. Keep moist till first mowing.

Grass lawns that are weedy yet have a good base of grass may be improved by scratching with a grass-rake, mowing, then re-seeding with same amount of grass seed as for the more drastic projects.

Begonia Meeting

Care and culture of fuchsias will be discussed by A. Roy Joice at a meeting of Long Beach Parent Chapter, American Begonia Society, at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday at 728 Elm Ave. Members will bring a dish of food and table service for a potluck supper.

Orchid Society

Hybridizing of cattleya orchids will be discussed by Mrs. Rita Crothers of Vista at a meeting of the Long Beach Amateur Orchid Society at 8 p.m. Thursday at Silverado Park clubhouse, 31st St. and Santa Fe Ave. Visitors will be welcome.

Tables of blooming orchid plants will be shown.

Flower School

California Garden Clubs Inc. Flower Show School is scheduled for Course III, (flower show judges) Sept. 18-21, at Los Angeles State and County Arboretum, 301 N. Baldwin Ave., Arcadia. Registration forms are available from Mrs. Joe R. Baer, 9411 E. Duarte Rd., San Gabriel. Fee is $10.

SOLUTION TO TODAY'S PUZZLE
(See Page 22)

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING TIPS for the week . . . Gladiolus plantings should be permitted to dry off gradually after bloom, so continue watering them occasionally.

Protect bedding plants from the hot sun for a few days after setting them out.

August feeding is the surest way to have roses through fall.

Plant citrus, avocado, all evergreen fruits now while the weather is warm. Shade young citrus trunks from the sun.

Bait for snails. Frequent baiting is needed for complete control.

Bush berries that have not yet been pruned should be cut back. Remove the canes that bore fruit this year and loosely wind the new growth around the trellis.

Shasta daisies are better divided in early spring than now. Simply remove the top growth when they stop blooming.

Stake chrysanthemums. Continue feeding them at two week intervals.

Feed and water roses liberally to boost them for fall bloom.

Feed and soak established lawns. Prepare seedbeds for new lawns.

By Dorothy Jonson

Since chrysanthemums are very susceptible to termites or borers in the roots, you can take out an insurance policy on them by treating the soil in the early fall with a safe ether product. The one I have in mind is sufficiently powerful to destroy the termites or borers in the roots of the chrysanthemums without injuring the plants.

This definitely is a preventive treatment. It kills the termites in the roots before they have had time to do much (if any) damage. If you wait and give the termites time to undermine the health of the plant, the stalk dries out and even though the sap, which is somewhat in the nature of a reserve supply of vitality, may reach the top and keep it green for a period of time, eventually the entire plant will collapse before it comes to a state of bloom. Treat the chrysanthemum bed now.

If you would like to have my chrysanthemum bulletin, address Dorothy Jonson, 208 W. California St., Pasadena, Calif., and inclose a 4-cent stamp.

Fuchsia Board

Nominations will be in order for the November election when officers and representatives of the California National Fuchsia Society conduct their bi-monthly board of directors meeting at 1:30 p.m. Sept. 10 at Hollydale School, 5511 Main St., Hollydale.

Nominating and election committe members include E. O. Eipper of Lomita, chairman; Mrs. Marie Peterson and W. J. Winchester, Los Angeles; Mrs. Pearl Benell, Whittier, and Edward McSorley of Hawthorne.

Garden Club

"Gardening Can Be Fun" will be the topic of Mrs. Frances Young at a meeting of Belmont Heights Garden Club at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Wesley Hall, 3rd St. and Mira Mar Ave. Mrs. Josephine Woods, newly elected president, will direct the meeting.

IRVING SOLOMON

A Fine Brood

TODAY ISN'T Father's Day, but even so there is a Dad among us who deserves to be singled out for a little extra recognition.

His name is Irving Solomon. He is 6 feet tall, weighs 165 pounds, wears glasses and has graying hair. He is a quiet, modest man who doesn't particularly relish the idea of being featured in an article like this.

But Irving Solomon definitely rates this attention. For one thing he is a co-owner of Hoefly's, 4911 E. 2nd St., one of the Long Beach area's truly fine restaurants. During the 16 years that Solomon has owned Hoefly's he has maintained outstanding cuisine and service which have attracted the regular patronage of Long Beach area civic and business leaders, film and TV celebrities and star athletes. His employes respect him so highly that many have long records of service at Hoefly's. Chef Charlie Cole has been there 15 years; day hostess Shirley Zion has worked there 12 years.

There is another and perhaps even more important way of measuring Solomon's success, however. This is the regard held for him by his five sons. While they were growing up, Solomon encouraged them to be independent and find their own routes to a fruitful life. But his own life was so interesting that four of his boys followed in his footsteps, joining his business organizations. His oldest son Al is a co-owner with him of the Alco-Pacific Construction Co. which has built hundreds of Sol-Vista homes in Huntington Beach. His second son, Bob, is the firm's treasurer. The No. 3 son, Harold, is co-owner of Hoefly's. The No. 4 son, Marvin, is a scientist with the U. S. Nuclear Corp. but keeps close ties with his family. His fifth son, Harvey, is manager of an Alco subsidiary company.

Congratulations, Irving (and to your wife, too), for raising such a fine brood.

PERSONALITY PARADE

If you have a question of interest on a personality of note, send it to Walter Scott, PARADE, 285 Madison Ave., New York 17, N.Y. Your name will be used unless requested otherwise in writing. Sorry, PARADE cannot reply to individual inquiries.

Q. Jackie Kennedy's sister is called Princess Lee Radziwill. Isn't that title a phony?—Mrs. F. Iranow, W. New York, N.J.

A. In a sense, yes. Mrs. Radziwill's husband, as a member of an old Polish family, once held the title of prince by courtesy. In 1951 he became a naturalized Englishman. As such he is not permitted to hold a foreign title without a Royal license, which has never been granted to him or his wife, so that Princess Lee Radziwill in English eyes is no princess at all.

Q. Whom did Carol Heiss marry and where do they live? C.R., Vernon, N.Y.

A. Hayes Alan Jenkins. They live in Akron, Ohio.

Q. What is June Allyson's real name, and where was she born?—Leona Huntsman, Baltimore, Md.

A. Ella Geisman in New York City.

Q. Who owns the world's largest gambling establishment and where is it?—Leon Levinson, Jacksonville, Fla.

A. Bill Harrah at Lake Tahoe, Nev.

Q. Is it true that Benito Mussolini had an illegitimate son named Benito Albine? If so, what happened to the boy and his mother?—George Rabin, New York, N.Y.

A. True. Mussolini had an illegitimate son by a woman named Ida Dalser. The son was named Benito Albine. Mussolini recognized and partially supported his son. Ida Dalser died in an asylum in 1935, her son in an asylum during World War II. Mussolini's sordid personal life was hushed up during his regime as dictator of Italy.

Q. Who invented the rocking chair?—Ada Woods, Bridgeport, Conn.

A. Benjamin Franklin.

Q. For some time now I've heard that there will be a Negro World's Fair in Chicago next year. Is this correct? —Natalie Tinsdale, Louisville, Ky.

A. The Negro World's Fair is planned for 1963 to mark the 100th anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation.

Q. For 25 years now Francisco Franco has been dictator of Spain. When does he plan to retire?—Philip Fisher, Vancouver, B.C.

A. Only death retires dictators.

Q. Did Ingrid Bergman have her nose fixed by plastic surgery? If not, which actresses have?—Mrs. E. Schwartz, Miami Beach, Fla.

A. Not Bergman. Carolyn Jones, Dinah Shore, Annette Funicello are three whose noses have been altered.

Q. I would like to find out how much Republican Douglas Dillon contributed to Democratic President Kennedy's political campaign?—Louis G., Washington, D.C.

A. Secretary of the Treasury Dillon contributed $26,550 to the Republican campaign, nothing to the Democratic campaign.

Q. Comedian Mort Sahl's act in England—a hit or a flop? —Geraldine Noonan, Los Altos, Calif.

A. A flop.

Q. Did Bing Crosby ever whip his son Gary with a cane, and what did Gary do?—H.O. Spokane, Wash.

A. Yes, when Gary was 17, Bing cane-whipped him. But Gary, then 190 pounds and stronger than his father, took the cane away from Bing, broke it.

Q. The real name, please, of crooner Johnny Desmond.— J. Blaher, St. Louis, Mo.

A. Giovanni Alfredo de Simone.

Q. Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Peter Lawford—in what branch of the armed forces were these three in World War II?—T.R., Chicago, Ill.

A. None was in any branch of the armed forces.

Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin and Peter Lawford, dressed in military uniforms for recent film, Soldiers Three, clown with teddy bear.

YOUTH FITNESS

As U. S. schools open, the President's top authority blasts our 'flabby' youth – and offers a solution

by BUD WILKINSON

Director of the President's Council on Youth Fitness

WASHINGTON, D. C.

AMERICA'S SCHOOL CHILDREN, bright-eyed and flush-cheeked, will head back to their classes this month. In most cases, thanks to medical care, they will be in good health.

But how fit are they? Do they have the vigor and vitality to enjoy their youth, to stand up to competition, to get the most out of their lessons? Are they as fit, say, as the Russians who will challenge them in the years to come?

Since our survival as a nation may well depend on the answers, I shall be blunt. At least six out of every 10 school children have flabby muscles, poor posture and flagging stamina.

They would fail simple physical tests that American boys and girls of a generation ago could have passed with ease. Worse, the trend indicates that our youth of tomorrow will be even less fit than today's.

To begin to reverse this trend, the President's Council on Youth Fitness has prepared a simple program for the schools. We have no power, of course, to tell school boards, parents or teachers what to do. Nor do we seek such power. Our role is merely to explain the reasons why, as a nation, we must be more fit than we are and what we must do to overcome our softness.

How did we become soft? We are the victims of our own advancement. In the old days, our cars had to be cranked and wrestled into parking spaces. Now they have self-starters, push-button windows, fingertip steering. We have gadgets to wash our dishes, to dispose of our garbage, even to switch TV programs without leaving our easy chairs.

Parents Can Contribute

Television also has drawn our children away from physical activity and planted them in rapt immobility in front of the screen. The average youngster probably spends about six hours watching TV for every one hour of vigorous activity. Parents can make an important contribution to the fitness of their children by limiting TV time to 90 minutes a day.

Children not only sit too much; they also walk too little. They have made chauffeurs of their parents. Our cities have been taken over by automobiles, making it dangerous for youngsters to walk or bicycle. The vacant lot is also becoming a thing of the past, leaving less space for children to play.

One of the most significant statistics of our time is that stadium seats are being built four inches wider.

The increase in our luxuries and laziness has brought some disturbing results:

- In Hannibal, Mo., the same physical achievement tests were given first-grade students for five consecutive years. In 1955, 52 per cent failed. By the fifth year, the percentage had risen to 70.
- University tests show that incoming freshmen are progressively poorer in physical achievement. At Yale 58 per cent of the freshmen passed their physical tests in 1950; only 38 per cent passed last year.
- The Army has had to reduce the norms for its physical tests, because performance in the mid 50s was so much lower than the scores made during World War II.
- A series of tests in eastern cities compared active ladies—all 75 or older and living in rest homes—with local high school girls. The old women scored higher than the young girls!

A Climb to the Top

I shall always remember what a friend once told me about climbing a mountain with his father. When they paused just short of the peak, their muscles aching and wind spent, my friend hoped fiercely that his father would announce they were turning back. Instead his father told him: "You're thirsty, you're hungry, you're tired and you're afraid. You want to quit. Now let's climb to the top." They did.

There will be many stresses for us as a nation in the months ahead. Whether we turn back or surge to the top will depend upon our fitness and determination. It is a fact noted by historian Arnold Toynbee that 19 of the 21 notable civilizations perished not from conquest from without but from decay within. National "softness" could prove in the long run to be more deadly than missiles.

The Soviet Union in its struggle to catch up with us has caught the pioneering spirit of America 100 years ago. The Russians are displaying the vigor, sacrifice and work that made us great. This gives the people, especially the young, their tremendous sense of urgency and drive. No free man can admire the Soviet system with its enforced drills and other regimentation. Yet we should be dangerously wrong not to recognize that the system has its strengths. One of these strengths, perhaps the greatest of all, is the fitness of Russian youth.

This is part of the urgency behind the President's new call for national fitness. We are not advocating a muscle-cult; nobody wants a nation of gladiators. The basic motive, in Mr. Kennedy's own words, is to make the nation's youth "fit to learn, fit to understand, fit to grow in grace and stature, fit to fully live."

Our beginning program, developed in cooperation with 19 professional and educational organizations, is neither costly nor elaborate. It is calculated to encourage maximum participation with minimum equipment. In fact, it requires little more than a chinning bar. But it does require that physically "soft" children be identified early and encouraged in the training they need. Here are the steps we recommend:

The President's Council urges all schools to test their children for physical fitness, much as the school doctors now check on general health. This can be done by testing each child's strength, flexibility and agility. Those who are under-developed should be given remedial exercises until they meet fitness levels. (See column on opposite page.)

Those who meet the minimum standards should go on to more advanced tests. They should be marked just as they would be in reading, writing and arithmetic. And their parents should be kept informed of their physical progress.

A Testing Program

In addition, all children, boys and girls, should be required to take part in 15 minutes of vigorous activity each day as part of the physical education period—or during recess.

Finally phys-ed should be based on a comprehensive testing program. The test should be given when school begins and again at the end of the semester.

The Oklahoma football team, of which I am coach, opens the season against Notre Dame. Our fans hope we will be better than Notre Dame. But that's not what I'm hoping at all. I want our team to be as good as it possibly can. We hope to develop all our capacities to the fullest possible degree.

Our nation is like a football team with outstanding material. We can be only as good as we desire to be. For survival we must want to be the best in every area of life.

Test your child's physical fitness

Here are simple rules to help you test your child's physical fitness. Only equipment needed: a chinning bar.

I suggest you clip this out, keep it handy, use it to measure your child's progress.

STRENGTH

Boys should hang from the bar, feet off the ground, then pull themselves up to a chinning position. (Ages 10-13 one pull-up; 14-15 two pull-ups; 16-17 three pull-ups.) Girls should grasp bar, lean back until arms are fully extended, then with heels braced on the floor, pull themselves to bar. Girls of all ages should be able to do this eight times.

FLEXIBILITY

Boys and girls should lie flat on the floor with hands behind their heads. Using the stomach muscles alone, they should sit up, touch left elbow to right knee, return to original prone position, sit up and touch right elbow to left knee. Boys of all ages should be able to do this 14 times, girls 10.

AGILITY

From a position of attention, youngsters should drop to the floor face down, thrust legs back to put body in a push-up position, then pull in legs, jump back to attention. Boys should be able to do this four times, girls three times in 10 seconds.

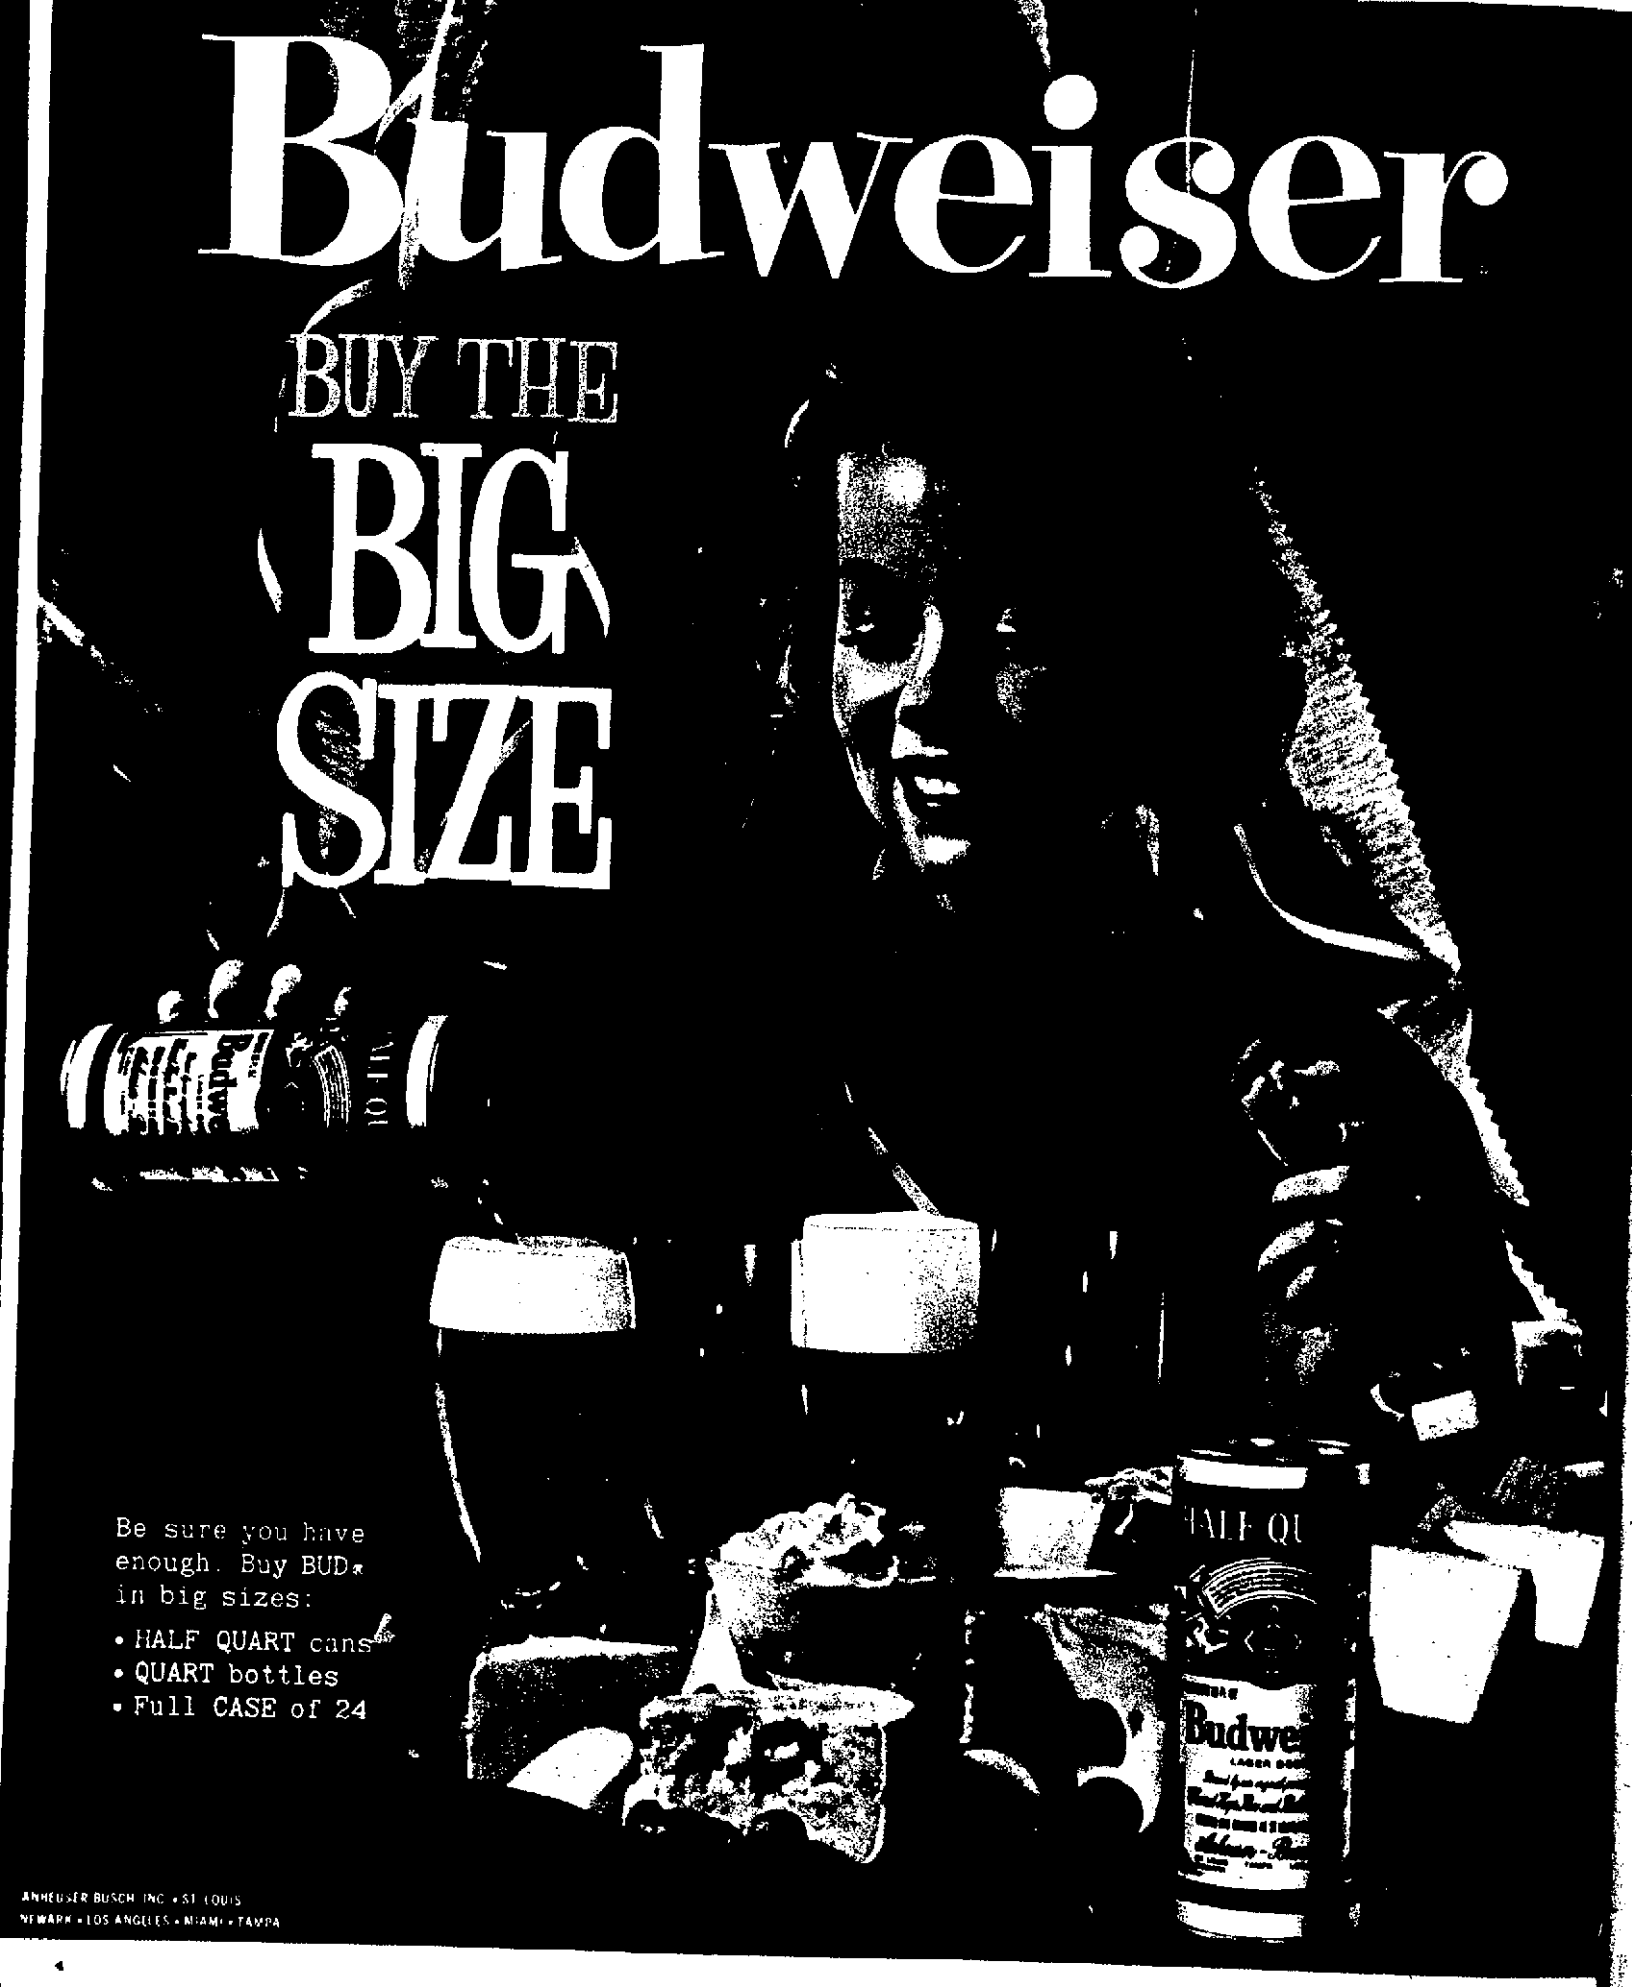

IF YOUR CHILD FAILS these simple tests, he is under-developed and needs special training. If he passes the tests, he should go on to a seven-point program of sit-ups, pull-ups, shuttle-runs, standing broad jump, softball throwing for distance, 50-yard dash and 600-yard run-and-walk.

All these exercises are described and illustrated in a special book the President's Council on Youth Fitness has prepared for schools. We have mailed a free copy to every school in the nation. Parents and teachers who wish extra copies should write to the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D.C., for the booklet, Youth Physical Fitness, Suggested Elements of a School-Centered Program. Price: 40 cents.

The title may be something of a jawbreaker. But the booklet will help you make your children happy, healthy citizens with the stamina to face the Soaring Sixties.

Virginia Pine, shown with Raft in 1934, was one of many beauties he attracted.

GEORGE RAFT

The women in his life

Raft on set of The George Raft Story meets two of the film's stars—Barbara Nichols (right), who plays Texas Guinan, and Jayne Mansfield, who may or may not represent Betty Grable.

by LLOYD SHEARER

GEORGE RAFT is 65. HOLLYWOOD.

In his time from 10 to 1,000 women have traipsed across the stage of his life.

While this subject is close to Raft's heart, he does not particularly care to discuss it for public consumption, largely because the actor has been married to one woman for approximately 35 years—almost as long as they've been separated.

Mrs. Raft, or more accurately, Mrs. Ranft — George dropped the "n" when he came to Hollywood —is the former Grace Mulrooney of New York City.

"She was a clerk on Randall's Island off Manhattan when I met her," Raft admits, "and we later went down to Wilkes Barre, Pa., and got married. It just didn't take, and we separated. I came out to Hollywood and Grace stayed in New York. She's a religious woman, and since her religion forbids divorce, I just never could get my freedom to marry again."

Naturally, this set of circumstances aroused a repetitive frustration in Raft's rather hectic love life.

At one period here in the 1930s, Raft and the late Carole Lombard were extremely fond of each other. When George was unable to engineer the trip to the altar, Miss Lombard switched to an up-and-coming young actor, Clark Gable.

Raft then fell in love with Betty Grable. Spurred on by an anxious mother, Betty campaigned for marriage. George tried to work it out but couldn't. Betty dropped him, later married Harry James.

Over and over the pattern repeated itself with many of the single women who found Raft attractive and vice versa. And there were dozens of these, because after Raft starred with Paul Muni in Scarface in 1933, women of all types found him intriguing. There were Norma Shearer, Molly O'Day, Texas Guinan, Virginia Pine; the list is lengthy.

Raft has acted in some 100 films opposite 200 actresses, and he makes friends easily, especially with members of the opposite sex. He is pleasant, understanding and probably the "easiest touch" in town.

His film career spans 30 years in which he's earned $10 million, and by his own estimate he's given away at least a million in unrepaid loans. Predatory females long ago made him a target for plunder.

The reason the women in Raft's life are being discussed in Hollywood at the moment is that Allied Artists is currently filming The George Raft Story.

Knew the Mobsters

The film explores the star's personal life when he was a fringe member of the New York gangster mobs of the Roaring Twenties, the Prohibition era of rum-running, hijacking, Dutch Schultz and Legs Diamond.

Raft, who was paid $25,000 for his story and a fat percentage of the picture's profits, is portrayed in the film by Ray Danton.

The women in Raft's life are played by Jayne Mansfield, Barbara Nichols, Julie London, Margo Moore and dancer Barrie Chase. With the exception of Barbara Nichols, who plays Texas Guinan, none of these girls is specifically identified, so that a guessing game is now in progress in Hollywood.

Semi-fictional Plot

Jayne Mansfield says, "I believe I'm playing Betty Grable." Julie London thinks she's depicting ex-actress Virginia Pine, who dropped Raft for marriage to writer Quentin Reynolds.

As for Raft, he cagily says, "I don't know who's playing who. The truth of the matter is that this movie is semi-fictional.

"Parts of it are true, and parts of it are fiction. The parts concerning the dames," he adds, "are fictional. They've got to be for two reasons: one, I'm not the kind of guy who kisses and tells no matter how much the dough, and two, if we were going to use real identifiable people, we'd have to pay them clearance fees for invading their privacy, and those dames would probably want millions."

Regardless of Raft's assertion that the guessing game concerning his on-screen and off-screen love life is ridiculous, it still goes on here. The film colony, always interested in gossip, finds it amusing. And besides, picture-making this summer has been slow, awfully slow. ■

DANGER YEARS. West German life insurance companies have thoroughly researched heart failure, the largest single cause of sudden death among West German business executives. Their findings: "Manager's disease," which is what heart failure is called there, is most likely to strike men between the ages of 55 and 59...on a Monday ...in the first week of January. Most probable victims: men who drink heavily.

ANIMAL CAMOUFLAGE. TV fans who have watched wolves attack horses and other animals in various video series may want to know how it's done. Answer: dogs are brushed with gray matter or sprayed with gray paint to make them look like wolves. A dummy dog is used on a trained rearing horse to simulate a wolf attacking a horse's throat. Under no circumstances are live dogs permitted to make contact with the horse. In all films involving animals, an inspector from the American Humane Association is usually on hand.

SEX AND TEENAGERS. From whom does your teenaged son or daughter gather sex knowledge? A poll of New York City teenagers by the American Social Health Association reveals that 64 per cent learned the facts of life from other youngsters, 21 per cent from parents or adults, 13 per cent from books or educational sources.

PANAMA AND U.S. AID. Roberto Chiari, President of Panama and a good friend of the U.S., is threatening to resign unless he gets $20 million in U.S. economic aid to finance low-cost housing. Chiari is one of the strongest anti-Castro friends we have in Latin America. Every government south of the border wants in on our handout act.

President Chiari of Panama—he wants more money from U.S.

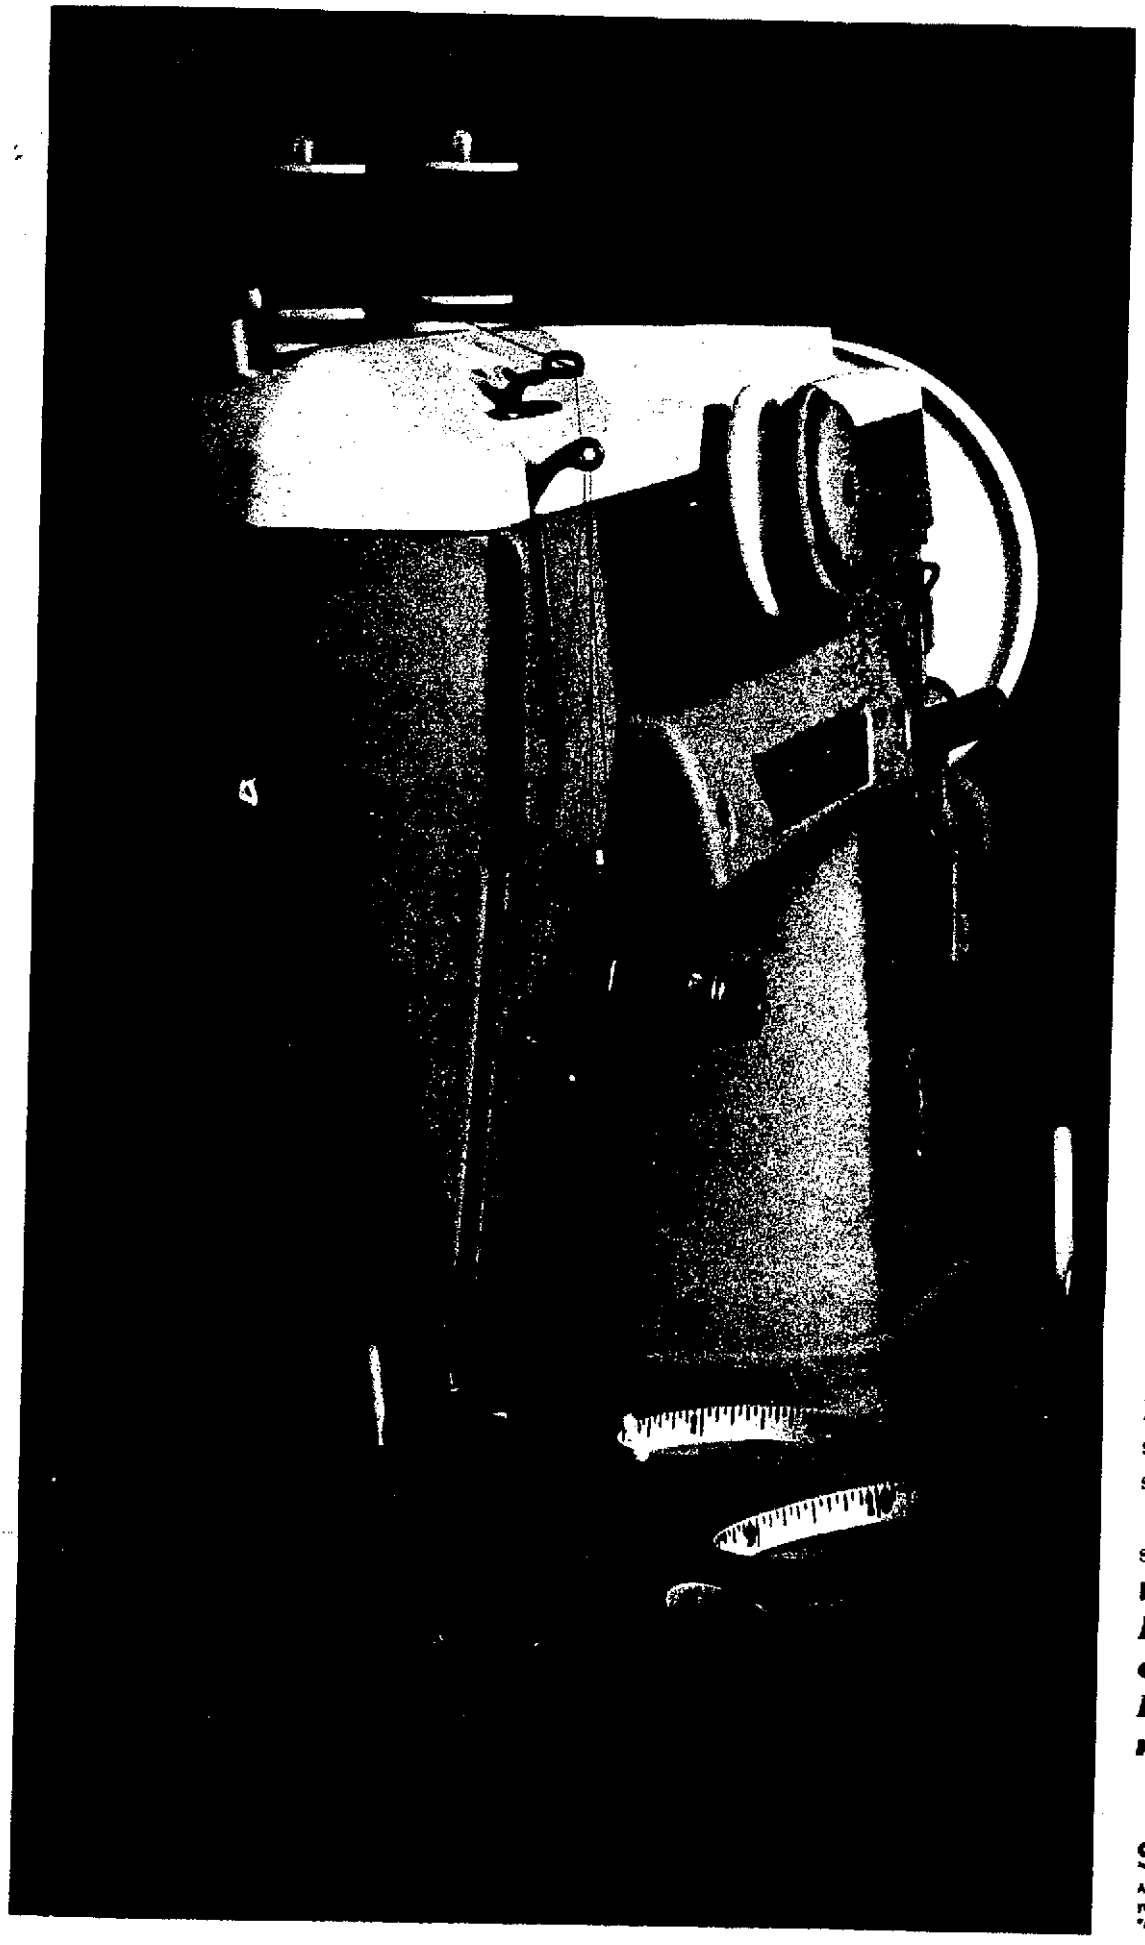

SELF-SERVICE DEPARTMENT STORES. The department store of tomorrow will become an automated shopping center or a nearly complete self-service operation. Montgomery Ward is converting three of its retail stores to experimental self-service operations with check-out lines, and so is the May Company chain.

TV DOCTORS. Tired of TV Westerns and private eye programs? This fall the networks are introducing two television physicians, Dr. Ben Casey, a young resident in neuro-surgery on ABC, and Dr. Kildare on NBC. If both these fictional doctors catch on, you can be sure CBS will eventually come up with a video surgeon of its own.

U.S.-FRENCH DIFFERENCES. The U.S. believes we can maintain the friendship of the North African Arabs by giving up our air bases in Morocco, which we intend to do by 1963. The French disagree, which is why they are fighting to hold on to their naval bases in Bizerte, Tunisia, and Mers el-Kebir in Algeria. Another reason de Gaulle is holding on is that during the recent "Generals' uprising" in North Africa, his Navy remained unswervingly loyal to him. He feels that to strip his Navy of its two largest North African naval bases might cost him its support, both political and naval. The French situation is a mess.

TAKE-OFF SITES FOR MOON. The Defense Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are looking for possible launch sites for moon vehicles. Areas already inspected include sites near Brownsville, Tex., Albuquerque, N. M., Santa Maria, Calif., and one of the Hawaiian Islands

A NICKNAME. President Kennedy's new official car, a custom-built Lincoln Continental, hasn't got a nickname yet, but it will probably be "Gigi" – because of the car's license plates: GG-100. Gigi will be the successor to Eisenhower's famous "Bubble Top." The new car is also one of the world's longest. It's 253.7 inches long. A standard Lincoln Continental was literally cut in half to make a special center section welded into the new car.

A luscious dessert for parties

by BETH MERRIMAN
Parade food editor

There are so many occasions when a new and delightful dessert is all that is needed to make the party a resounding success. It might be an after dinner dessert-and-coffee party. It might be a company dinner. Or an evening card party, with late refreshments for eight to 12 players. To lighten your work load, it is always easier to have a dessert that can be made a day ahead. Pineapple-Walnut Dessert is the answer. It is simple to make, but does take a little more time than usual. However, we are sure that you will find it well worth the trouble.

Pineapple-Walnut Dessert

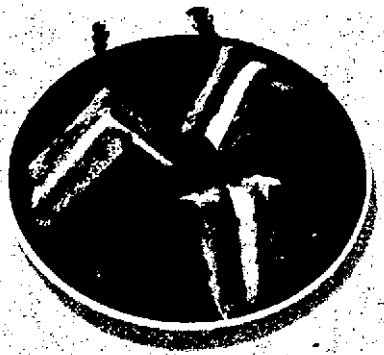

1 pkg. (7½ oz.) vanilla wafers
1 cup butter or margarine
1 cup extra-fine granulated sugar
2 eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups well-drained grated pineapple
1 cup finely-chopped walnuts

Crush vanilla wafers to fine crumbs (makes about 2 cups); reserve 2 tablespoons. Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise; add sugar gradually while continuing to cream. Add eggs one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla; mix well. Combine pineapple and walnuts; stir in until well mixed. Line a loaf pan 8" x 5" x 3" with foil, leaving overhang so loaf can be lifted out easily. Press ½ cup crumbs on bottom of pan. Add about ¼ pineapple mixture, spreading evenly. Repeat until crumbs and pineapple mixture are used up, ending with latter. Scatter reserved crumbs on top. Chill 24 hours or longer (or freeze). Garnish with whipped cream and Maraschino cherries, if desired. Slice to serve. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

FROM PARADE'S TEST KITCHEN

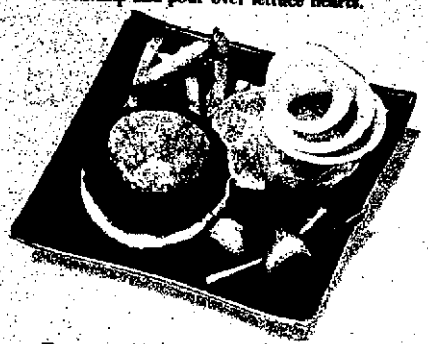

Here's a salad so saucy, it'll become a favorite. Start with a flavorful Russian Dressing—made with equal parts creamy Best Foods Real Mayonnaise and zesty Heinz Ketchup. Add lots of shrimp and pour over lettuce hearts.

Flavor two stories high! First story: shredded carrot and chopped green peppers moistened with Russian Dressing. Second story: creamy peanut butter with crisp lettuce. For extra interest, use 2 or 3 kinds of bread. So gay!

Enjoy glamour for lunch! Blend mashed avocado, minced onion and a few drops of tangy vinegar with 1 part Heinz Ketchup and 2 parts Best Foods Real Mayonnaise. Serve in a circle of tomato wedges or grapefruit sections.

For a regal lunch, crown a cooked hamburger with this mixture: 4 parts Best Foods Real Mayonnaise and 1 part Heinz Chili Sauce. Broil . . . and be ready with "seconds." Delicious, too, on leftover chicken, roast beef and such.

Friends drop by? Turn out tuna straight from the can. Serve it with a tangy blend of 1 Tbsp. Heinz Chili Sauce, 4 Tbsp. creamy Best Foods Mayonnaise, grated onion and chopped ripe olives. Fancy eating—ready in a jiffy.

This sandwich is pure fun! Pile hot chunked franks and baked beans into frankfurter rolls. Spoon over a satiny-smooth Russian Dressing that tastes as only Heinz and Best Foods make it . . . scrumptious!

This cole slaw's almost a lunch in itself. Blend together 1 Tbsp. each Heinz Hot Ketchup and Best Foods Mayonnaise. Toss with 1 cup shredded cabbage, ¼ cup cottage cheese, a little chopped green pepper and minced onion.

A new twist on cheese. Mix ¼ cup each Best Foods Mayonnaise, Heinz Ketchup and chopped pickle with ¼ lb. grated American cheese. Makes 6 tasty rolled sandwiches. Save the extras for your lunch.

Nourishing . . . and so nice to find in any lunchbox! To stuff 2 hard-cooked eggs, just mash egg yolks and crisp bacon. Mix with 1 Tbsp. Best Foods Real Mayonnaise and 2 tsp. Heinz Ketchup. Fill the egg whites. M-m-m-m-m-m!

how to make ho-hum lunches into yum·yum lunches

—just add color 'n spice and everything nice

See! It's as easy as flipping the lids—when you choose such flavorful teammates as Heinz and Best Foods.

Start with Best Foods® Real Mayonnaise, the one mayonnaise you know is always light and creamy . . . always smooth and fresh in flavor. Blend it with the world's favorite tomato flavor—rich, rosy Heinz® Ketchup, Hot Ketchup or Chili Sauce. (By the way, you can use chili sauce or either of the ketchups in any of the recipes, depending on your mood.)

Whether it's a tote-along lunch or an at-home spread, you'll send your family back to their day with a new burst of enthusiasm.

TOURISTS IN TAHITI

TAHITI.

THE NAME OF THIS lush South Pacific island has long been synonymous with adventure and romance. The very mention of Tahiti has always been enough to cause people to stop what they're doing and conjure up technicolor images of an unspoiled tropical paradise immortalized on the canvases of the famous French painter Paul Gauguin. Gauguin would scarcely recognize his island now. Modern transportation, including a jet airport just completed, has brought hordes of tourists. As pictures here show, tourism has come to stay. ■

Bus tours like this one are a favorite lure for the less rugged women tourists who don't want to hoof it through dense tropical forests in their high heels.

McNeill is married to the former Katherine Bennett (they met when he was studying at Marquette University). They have three sons, Tom 25, Don 24, and Bob 19*
Here are some of Don's favorite funnies.

by DON McNEILL

THE PRIZE-FIGHTER staggered back to his corner after taking a terrific beating for seven rounds. His manager whispered in his ear, "Don't give up now, boy. You've got a no-hitter going."

A PROSPECTIVE JUROR was being examined for jury duty. Trying to get out of it, he gave the following excuse: "I owe a fella $25 that I borrowed from him, and he's leaving town today, for good. I wanna catch him before he gets on the train and pay him the money." The judge rapped his gavel and said, "Excused! I don't want anybody on a jury who can lie like that!"

MOTHER DISCOVERED her little girl, Janie, fighting with the boy next door. After breaking up the fight she said to Janie, "I don't want you fighting. After all, remember you're a lady. Outtalk him!"

A REAL ESTATE FIRM placed the "Open House" sign on an expensive home. A battered old car, crammed with kids and adults, drove up and stopped. Everybody except a little old lady piled out and went in to inspect the house. The real estate agent doubted that the people were really in the market for such an expensive home. But he went out to the car and said to the little old lady, "Wouldn't you like to come in and see the house, too?" The lady replied, "No thanks. I don't have to go to the bathroom."

I'M TOLD THIS actually happened, and it could happen to you. Especially if you have little tots in your family.

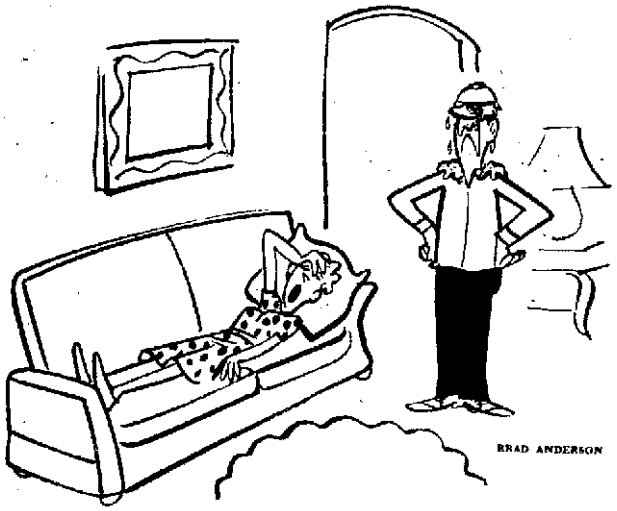

Seems a housewife-mother had been working up a storm since early morning, and come afternoon she was dog-tired. She flopped down on the sofa to take a short nap. As she sank into slumber, she was vaguely conscious of tiny hands lovingly patting her face. Sleepily, she enjoyed the show of affection. Some time later, the doorbell awakened her. She jumped up and raced to the door.

As she told the salesman she didn't want any, she noticed he stared at her as if he couldn't believe his eyes. On her way back to the sofa she glanced in a mirror, and what did she see? Her face, liberally plastered with green stamps!

AT A COUNTY FAIR a strong man was showing off his strength. He squeezed a lemon dry, then offered a prize to anyone who could get another drop of juice from it. Nobody tried till finally one meek little man in front said he thought he could do it. He took the lemon, squeezed it and juice just poured out of it. The strong man said, "That's amazing!" The little man shrugged and said, "Not really. I work for the Internal Revenue department."

TEACHER, trying to impress the class with the fundamentals of the Declaration of Independence, finally chose one boy and gave him three buttons. He explained, "These three buttons represent Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. Tomorrow you bring them back and tell me what they stand for." Next day the boy produced two buttons. The teacher asked, "How come?" The boy replied, "This one's Life. That one's Liberty. But the Pursuit of Happiness is holding up my pants."

INSURANCE MAN to the lady prospect —"What is the maximum value of your husband's policy?" The lady didn't understand the question. He said, "If your husband passed away, what would you get?" She replied, "A parakeet!"

"Did you feed the baby?"

LORY PATRICK PLAYS TEACHER ON 'WELLS FARGO'

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Lory Claims TV Needs Girl 'Lone Ranger'

Television will have a feminine "Lone Ranger" if actress Lory Patrick has her way.

Which, at present, she is not exactly having.

But she's coming close.

"At least and at last, I'm in a western."

The western is NBC-TV's "Tales of Wells Fargo" which makes its fall hourly debut 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 30.

Lory plays the steady role of Tina, a schoolteacher.

Unfortunately, this particular western schoolteacher hasn't yet done any TV horseback riding.

"It's very frustrating," said 22-year-old Lory. "I love horses.

"In fact, I get up 5 a.m. twice a week to go horseback riding — I ride very hard."

* * * *

TO MINIMIZE her galloping frustration, Lory currently is attempting to write a series about a feminine "Lone Ranger."

The heroine, while she was chastising the bad guys, would be dressed as a man.

The male masquerade would end when day's chastising duty was done. Off would come the 10-gallon hat and down would come the hair.

Like a caterpillar breaking out of its cocoon, the female "Lone Ranger" would emerge as a "charming, all-feminine woman." She would have several beaus.

"It would be a new twist," said Lory. "I think people would go for something different."

If the series was sold and the author obtained the lead role, the costume department undoubtedly would have difficulty in its "something different" male-masquerade outfiting assignment.

For pulchritude-packing Lory tips the tape measure at a bountiful 35-21-35. Even if the camouflage was successful, it would be a failure from a male viewer's point of view.

* * * *

AND SPEAKING of failing Lory claims television is letting women down.

There should, for example

MARY T. MOORE FACES NEW TV CAREER

Voice of Phone-Girl 'Sam'—and Rest of Her—in Comedy

By RON BURTON

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mary Tyler Moore will have something of a coming out party this fall when her face instead of just her figure will be seen in a new TV series.

Pretty Miss Moore played Sam, the telephone answering service girl, in the "Richard Diamond" private-eye series. Viewers noted her low voice, low-cut attire and long, long legs, but her face never was seen and her name was not disclosed.

Now she'll perform with Dick Van Dyke in his new TV show which may look like a comedians' convention before the season is over. It premieres Oct. 3 on channel 2.

"I was happy about Sam," she said. "For one thing, there was protection in anonymity and I was just starting. It was good experience. I had to lower my voice—do everything to suggest sex."

IN BETWEEN SAM and the new series she has played about 50 TV roles, but the new series represents her first real chance for the identification and reputation building which goes with a series—and which she wants.

"This is hardly a straight part," she said. "We have nothing but comedians in the show. Dick, Morey Amsterdam and Rosemarie play comedy writers. I play Dick's wife and get funny lines. Larry Mathews—he's 5—plays our son and gets funny lines.

"And Carl Reiner, who produces the show, sometimes walks by and says something which breaks up everyone. Danny Thomas—he's behind the show—does the same thing."

IDEAS FOR THE SHOW come from anywhere and everywhere. Miss Moore expects to see a new script any day now with an idea sounding suspiciously like something from her home life—something she just happened to mention to someone in the show. She has learned to be more careful in casual conversations about her home life with husband Richard Meeker and their son, Richie, 5.

Miss Moore is delighted with the non-canned laughter on the show. It's done by actual audiences—the trade term is "live audience"—who stroll into a CBS studio, watch the show and react. Sometimes their reactions result in changes in the final show.

There's something else that makes her happy.

"When I was Sam, I had to keep my voice low—way down here," she said. "I began to feel like a baritone. Now I can use my normal speaking voice. It feels wonderful."

Add 'TeleVues' Prize

A third prize has been added for entrants in the "Why I Like TeleVues" contest.

The third-prize winner will have his choice of four tickets for a Dinah Shore NBC-TV special on Oct. 6 or a Bob Newhardt program at a later date.

Deadline for entries is Sept. 23 and the winner will be announced Oct. 1.

* * * *

THE FIRST-PRIZE winner will receive $25.

The second-place winner will be conducted on a tour at Warner Bros. studios with a guest. The paid will have lunch in the studio commissary with TV star Donald May, featured on ABC-TV's "The Roaring 20's."

Entrants are asked to keep their letters to 100 words or less. Letters should be addressed to "TeleVues, care of Long Beach Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif."

Law Student

"Perry Mason" will have an eager young law student in his video office when the TV series starts its fifth season

Blind Cartoonist 'Sees' With Chalk

Every time cartoonist Susie Nelson picks up her chalk, it's a lesson in genuine courage—because Susie is blind.

You'd never know it to see her in action, because she's a symphony of motion and happy chatter as she sketches her funny little people and animals during "Sheriff John's Lunch Brigade" on KTTV, Channel 11.

Her blindness began when she was 14 years old and living in Germany. An eye inflammation was diagnosed wrong and treated incorrectly. Since then she has been completely blind in one eye and has only a shadowy kind of vision in the other.

But no one has a better time than Susie. She is a devoted mother to her four children—Dan, 16, Fern, 10, Bonnie, 9, and Don, 8.

* * * *

DAN IS THE SON of Susie's first husband, killed in his homeland during World War II. During the occupation of Germany, Susie met Duane Nelson, then with the U. S. Army. Duane later sponsored her trip to America and soon after she became his bride.

Now an American citizen, Susie "knows about war," and she says:

"I know we must have understanding and tolerance in this world."

Susie promotes her philosophy in "chalk talks" which she gives for various organizations and in the lively drawings she does Monday, Wednesday and Friday on Sheriff John Rovick's TV show.

Q. & A. on Your TV REPAIRS

Q Does the TV Repairman check your set thoroughly the first time?

A Our TV technicians take time to do the job right. Repeat calls are extremely rare.

Q Are you treated with courtesy?

A Old fashioned courtesy has never gone out of style with us.

Q How about the service fee?

A We have a reputation for honest prices. Try us and see.

Q Do you get the best replacement tubes?

A Quality of Tubes is important as the quality of service . . . See our recommendation.

Consider this—we offer you the very same picture tube that 7 out of 10 leading manufacturers choose for their own new sets. It's the Sylvania Silver Screen 85 Picture Tube. We also carry small Sylvania receiving tubes for the back of your set.

WIGS ARE HER TV BUSINESS

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Florence Bush Make Curly Heads Bald, Vice Versa

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The name, Florence Bush, may have a familiar look. It should, for television viewers anyway, because it is the woman's name appearing most frequently on the home screens.

Miss Bush is in charge of the hairdressing department of Revue Studios, the busiest lot in Hollywood where right now 15 different TV series and a couple of movies are being made. Her name appears as "Hair Stylist" among the credits on all the shows made there, from "Hitchcock Presents" to "Wagon Train."

MERRY ANDERS
Needed Help

Although occasionally Miss Bush is called upon to create a special or unusual hairdo for a glamorous star, her principal job is to costume the heads of the casts.

The day I visited her at the studio, I found her in the wig vault — a big, air-conditioned room where a huge collection of wigs, falls, switches, toupees and bald pates worth more than $100,000 is stored.

She was systematically rummaging through a big pile of black wigs, occasionally discarding a hair piece.

* * * *

"WE JUST GOT an order from 'Wagon Train' for Indians," she explained. "Any of these wigs is okay as long as the hair is black and shiny —the Indians are Shoshones. If they had been Piutes or Navajos, we wouldn't give them shiny hair."

As we entered Miss Bush's private domain, she cast an appraising eye on a butch-cut wig pinned to a faceless dummy head.

"That's for Bob Cumming's stand-in," she said. "We don't very often tell a star what to do with his hair — or her hair. Once in a while we suggest that they modify their hair because anything too radical or too faddy might date a show. If a girl wanted to use one of those bouffant beehive hairdos, for instance, we wouldn't allow it."

HAIR-RAISING REVELATION
Bing Caught With Wig Down

MOST OF THE WORK of the hairdressing department involves following orders from the producer of each show. But it is Miss Bush's responsibility to see that the result photographs well.

When Sebastian Cabot, who has worn a beard for years, was getting set for his professional role in "Checkmate" last year, Miss Bush presided over the first trimming.

"We didn't want his face to look too round, so I trimmed it close at the sides," she explained.

That apparently casual straying forelock on the head of scout Flint McCullough of "Wagon Train" is another Bush innovation.

"Bob Horton looked too clean and well-combed for a wagon-train scout," she explained. "So I suggested he dirty himself up a little and pull down a lock of hair on his forehead. He knows how to do that himself."

* * * *

MISS BUSH HERSELF is a tall, handsome and white-haired woman who was a successful Chicago hairdresser before she came to California 20 years ago. She had lost both her husband and her mother within a few months and came West to get away from unhappy memories and went to work in the movie studios. When she joined the Revue staff nine years ago she was a one-woman department. Now she has a large staff, including 15 girls whose jobs are just fitting wigs.

All the wigs are made from real hair, some of it many years old. Currently most good hair — which is costly — comes from Germany; in the pre-war days it came from Czechoslovakia. Between uses it is stored with the care given to expensive furs (and protected against moths as well as extremes of heat and cold) and carefully washed with soap and water.

It takes only a few minutes to transform a girl with a page-boy cut into Lady Godiva or Marie Antoinette. But turning a man with a full head of hair into a baldie is a bigger, longer job.

"There was one show in which Beaver was supposed to have cut his own hair," she said. "We made a rubber cap for little Jerry Mathers—that's what you use for bald pates — and then pasted clusters of hair onto it, so it looked gouged."

ANOTHER time-consuming job recently was making a wig concealing the fact that actress Merry Anders had bobbed her hair between the making of a show and an unexpected call back to shoot some retakes.

Most actors whose balding heads require reinforcements with toupees, own their own and know how to put them on so well that few realize they wear them. So do characters — Henry Hull for instance, has a bald pate which he puts on himself when he is to play an old man. (Many actresses, Miss Bush says, are thin-haired and wear wigs, a secret each attempts to guard with her life.)

The average person's hair grows half an inch a month, and it takes a lot of attention to keep heads of hair looking the same all the time.

FLORENCE BUSH
Toupee Expert

Some performers must have their hair dyed weekly and curled daily. Others must have their hair straightened just as often — a process which is just the reverse of a permanent wave.

TV Needs Girl 'Lone Ranger' be more women newscasters —and not strictly to give the news from a feminine point of view.

Women's sustaining parts —the girl receptionist for the detectives—are too small and they should be allowed to do more horseback riding—and not side-saddle, according to Lory.

Hi-yo, Goldie! Stretch out those long legs of yours and away we go.

Take it easy on the bustle-busting bumps.

WELL, SANDY, THINGS COULDN'T BE MUCH BETTER FOR US THAN THEY ARE NOW. UNCLE DANDY AN' AUNTIE TEE ARE WUNNERFUL FOLKS!
AND WHILE THE LAMP HOLDS OUT TO BURN, THE VILEST SINNER MAY RETURN." SAID WITH THE PUBLIC SOFT ON KILLERS, YOU CAN COUNT ON THAT, DANDY!

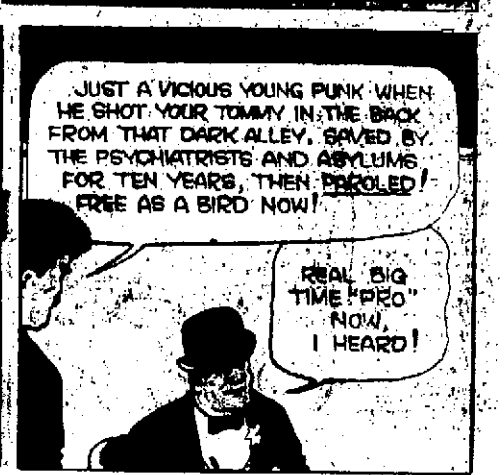

FRANCIS AN' JOE AN' MIKE ARE TURNIN' OUT T'BE GRAND GUYS. EVER'BODY 'ROUND HERE SMILES AN' WAVES AT US REAL NEIGHBORLY!

SOON SCHOOL WILL BE STARTIN'. I REALLY LOOK FORWARD TO IT. ONLY ONE THING I CAN'T HELP THINKIN' 'BOUT!

ALWAYS, SEEMS AS HOW, WHEN EVER THING'S GOIN' TH' SMOOTHEST, THEN'S TH' TIME T'WATCH OUT! BUT SHUCKS! WHY BORROW TROUBLE?

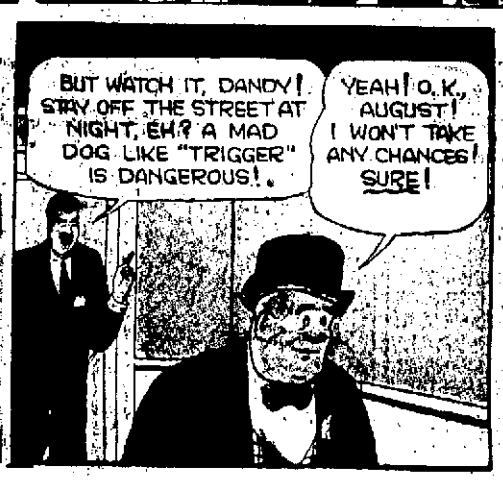

EH? YOU SURE? SAW HIM, EH? WHERE? I SEE! YEAH! NOT SO GOOD! SUPPOSE DANDY'D BETTER KNOW! SURE! I'LL TELL HIM!
TELL ME WHAT, AUGUST?

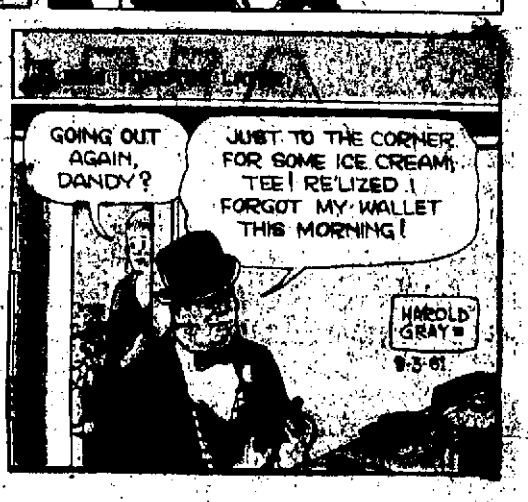

I DON'T WANT TO TELL YOU THIS, BUT I GUESS I MUST! "TRIGGER" WAS SEEN DOWNTOWN LAST NIGHT!
HIM, EH? WELL, THAT FIGURES!

JUST A VICIOUS YOUNG PUNK WHEN HE SHOT YOUR TOMMY IN THE BACK FROM THAT DARK ALLEY. SAVED BY THE PSYCHIATRISTS AND ASYLUMS FOR TEN YEARS, THEN PAROLED! FREE AS A BIRD NOW!
REAL BIG TIME "PRO" NOW, I HEARD!

SURE! GOT A REPUTATION! A "COP KILLER"! TOP GUN FOR ONE OF THE SYNDICATES! BIG MONEY! PROTECTION! DIDN'T HE SWEAR, AT HIS TRIAL HE'D GET YOU?
A LOT O' KILLERS SWORE THAT IN MY TIME!

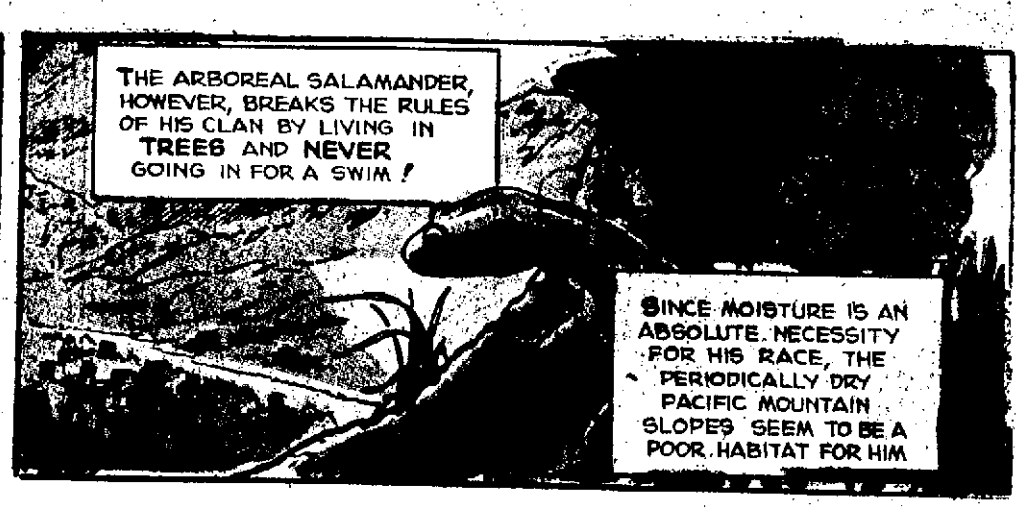

WELL, HE FIGURED YOU WERE THE ONE GOT HIM CONVICTED. HE'S JUST CRAZY ENOUGH TO TRY! I'LL GET THE BOYS OUT! HE WON'T GET OUT HERE TO KINGDOM!

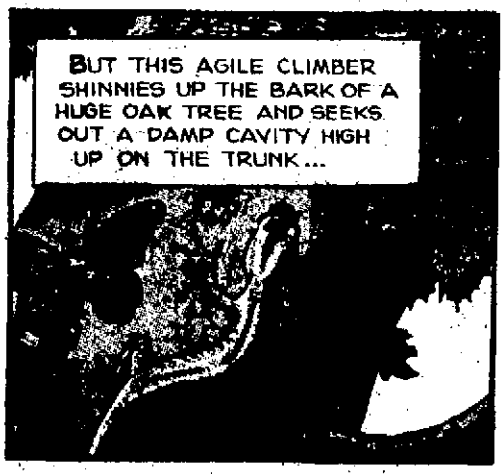

BUT WATCH IT, DANDY! STAY OFF THE STREET AT NIGHT, EH? A MAD DOG LIKE "TRIGGER" IS DANGEROUS!
YEAH! O.K., AUGUST! I WON'T TAKE ANY CHANCES! SURE!

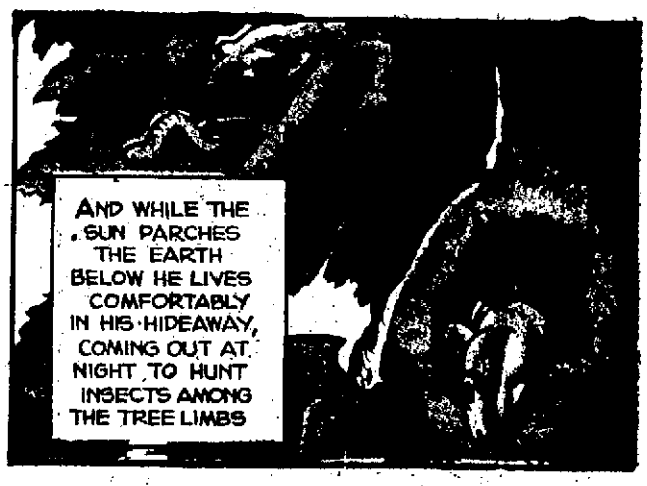

GOING OUT AGAIN, DANDY?
JUST TO THE CORNER FOR SOME ICE CREAM, TEE! RE'LIZED I FORGOT MY WALLET THIS MORNING!

SALAMANDERS ARE AMPHIBIANS.. ANIMALS WHICH USUALLY SPEND PART OF THEIR LIVES IN WATER AND PART ON LAND

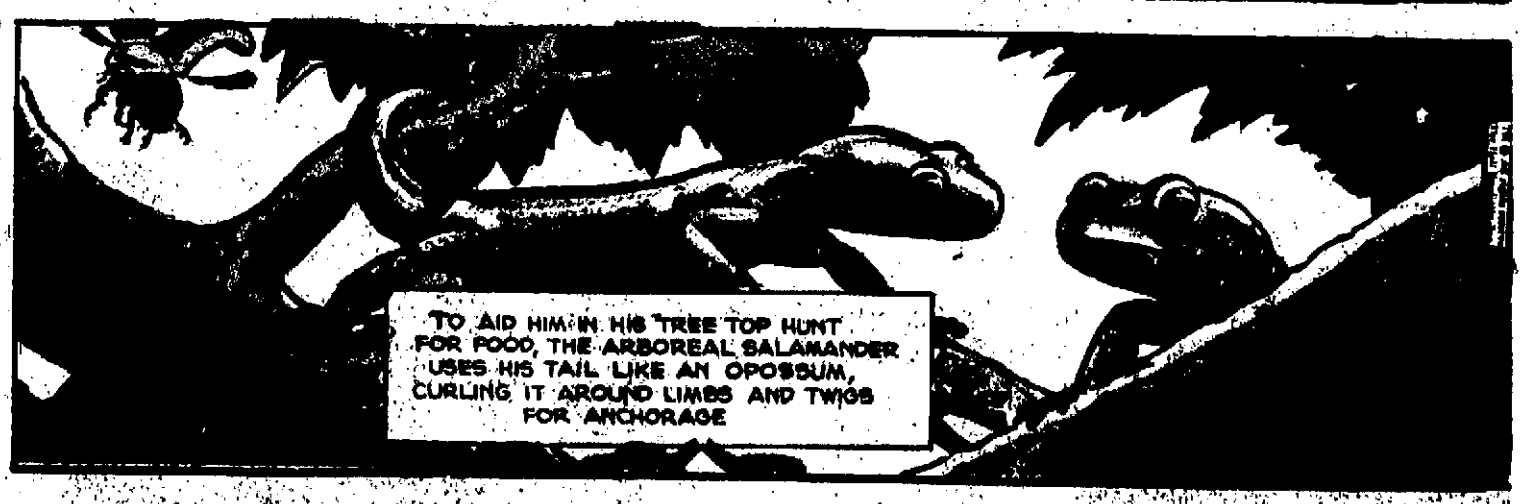

THE ARBOREAL SALAMANDER, HOWEVER, BREAKS THE RULES OF HIS CLAN BY LIVING IN TREES AND NEVER GOING IN FOR A SWIM!
SINCE MOISTURE IS AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY FOR HIS RACE, THE PERIODICALLY DRY PACIFIC MOUNTAIN SLOPES SEEM TO BE A POOR HABITAT FOR HIM

BUT THIS AGILE CLIMBER SHINNIES UP THE BARK OF A HUGE OAK TREE AND SEEKS OUT A DAMP CAVITY HIGH UP ON THE TRUNK...

AND WHILE THE SUN PARCHES THE EARTH BELOW HE LIVES COMFORTABLY IN HIS HIDEAWAY, COMING OUT AT NIGHT TO HUNT INSECTS AMONG THE TREE LIMBS

FINALLY THE FALL RAINS PERMIT HIM TO DESCEND AND SPEND THE WINTER FERRETING OUT INSECTS BENEATH GROUND LITTER, LIKE AN ORDINARY SALAMANDER

LUNGLESS SALAMANDERS, SUCH AS THE ARBOREAL SPECIES, ABSORB OXYGEN THROUGH THEIR MOIST SKIN AND MOUTH LINING

TO AID HIM IN HIS TREE TOP HUNT FOR FOOD, THE ARBOREAL SALAMANDER USES HIS TAIL LIKE AN OPOSSUM, CURLING IT AROUND LIMBS AND TWIGS FOR ANCHORAGE
